she says every wife should ask her husband, who has been "down to the club," and if he fails to give the correct answers the dear one will know that he is wandering in fields of imagination. She kindly offers to exhibit the series at the Buffalo International Fair in September next; so every husband will probably attend the exhibition with a pencil and note book, and come away ready to answer them even when he is half asleep.

L. A. W. 1513 writes from Cincinnati: "Sunday, July 22d, the Crescent Wheelmen, of Cincinnati, made a trip to Brookville, Ind., and back to Harrison for dinner, a distance of sixty miles. They were very joyfully and hospitably received by the Brookville Cyclers, which club accompanied them back to Cedar Grove and then on to Harrison. After a good meal each club left for home, we arriving at Cincinnati before six. We continued to ride through the city, finishing up ninety miles for the day. We then went home to take a good supper and a long (?) rest, thoroughly satisfied with our 'record' for the day."

It will be remembered that in late issues we printed the particulars of the Chase-Paul catastrophe and the sentence passed by Judge Montgomery on Chase. In brief, it was proven that Chase, through criminal carelessness while riding on horseback, ran down Prof. Paul and causing his death. The jury found manslaughter, and the sapient judge gave Chase thirty days in jail and a fine of $200. We are pleased to notice that the papers of Washington are expressing indignation at the ridiculously light punishment. The Post of that city interviews business men on the subject, and it gives over a column of short interviews, in which universal condemnation of Judge Montgomery's action is expressed.

The authorities of Millville, N. J., have issued the following ordinance: Section I, Be it ordained by the Common Council of the city of Millville, that no person shall be permitted to ride or propel over or along the sidewalks of any of the streets or roads of the city of Millville, any bicycle, tricycle or pushcart, and every person or persons so doing and offending shall forfeit and pay a fine of five dollars for each and every offense, to be recovered with costs in an action of debt in the name of the Treasurer of the said city, before the Mayor or any Justice of the Peace of the said city, for the use of the city. Section II, And be it ordained, that this ordinance shall take effect in twenty days from the date of its publication, after being approved by the Mayor of the city.

A WESTERN rider writing Mr. Henry E. Ducker says: "Knowing the hearty interest you take in all things relative to the bicycle and the sport in general, I send you herewith—not for the purpose of discouraging you, but rather to show how Springfield, the mighty, has fallen since your departure from here—a few wild flowers plucked from the Springfield track. With what emotion I stood on the weed grown track, and, sadly enough, gazed upon the ground where so many invincible records have been made, I shall not dwell, suffice it that of all that was but a fragment is left. It is no hard matter to observe now that all previous interest taken in cycling was buoyed up by the tournament only, and I for one am hoping for the day when Springfield will regain her lost position as a racing centre. I note the great interest in behalf of the Buffalo tournament in my travels in the East, and feel quite sure of a large contingent visiting you in your latest effort this fall."

The cycling editor of the Pittsburgh Bulletin seems to be very much exercised over the fact that the WORLD, the Wheel and the Spectator have taken such a firm stand against rowdism in the ranks of the L. A. W. The Bulletin man thinks we ought to stop, as capital enough has been made of it. Can it be possible we have been stepping on the Bulletin man's toes? We are flooded with letters from L. A. W. members commending our action. We shall not have space to print them all, but we shall pick out a few and publish same. Instead of "dropping" the subject we intend to continue as occasion may require, a vigorous crusade against the hoodlum contingent and its defenders. As for the Baltimore affair, enough has been said by us, to warn the past offenders that a repetition of their antics will not be tolerated. As for our Pittsburgh scribe, we are sorry for him that his toes happened to be under our and our contemporaries' heel of condemnation.

"PEDAL AND PATH," one of the most entertaining stories of a bicycle trip over and back across the Continent ever written, see advt. Send in 25 cents for a copy. It's value received.

The bench show of dogs at the Buffalo International Fair in September will probably be larger than that held annually in New York. We suppose the usual number of St. Bernards will be there with their blankets and their bottles of cough mixture, and their owners on hand with fresh stories of how the animals make pilgrimages every year to the Alpine mountains and rescue travelers in the snow.

My last was written amid the tolling of bells denoting another German Emperor and King had joined the spirits of his fathers and the hosts of the departed, and staying in Berlin until the day of the funeral obsequies, I arose early, and in company with my two friends, Woodside and Temple, and two American students, Messrs. Barnett brothers of Montgomery (Ala.), at 4.30 boarded an early train for Potsdam, in order to see how royalty and a nation care for their departed rulers, or their inanimate clay. It was nearly six o'clock as the train steamed into the Potsdam "Bahnhof," and after a short street car trip we found ourselves in the Central avenue (or Strasse) through which the funeral cortege passed. Already at this hour the windows, house tops, trees, reserved seats, and every point of vantage was taken up, and having a little reportorial work to do for a Welsh journal, Temple and myself paid one dollar for the privilege of standing (and sitting at times) on a stool. Having a copy of "A Tramp Abroad, by Mark Twain," in my pocket, the stool was of immense advantage during those four hours, with an empty stomach in a tropical sun waiting for the procession to appear, which it did eventually at eleven o'clock and not nine, the supposed official time by announcement. Before leaving the hotel I had suggested to the "boys" that they had better bring some lunch along, as "coffee" (?) is the only blessed thing that you can get in a German hotel in the early morning, a fare your Britisher or American would sneeze at. Well, we paid dearly for our lack of foresight in regard to the comforts of the inner man, as everything good, bad and indifferent had been gobbled up by the locust-like crowd in Potsdam, which had been increasing all night. Even the succulent but and sauerkraut was at a premium, a feed supposed to be inexhaustible in a German town. A keen shaft of hot and yellow sunlight found its way through the spreading branches of a friendly linden tree and down the back of my neck, causing me much discomfort, but at last a loud blare of trumpets announced some mounted troops, whose armor glittered with a brilliancy painful to the eye, warned me that the funeral cortege was moving towards us. Jumping on my stool with notebook in hand, I commenced a hurried observation of the theatrical and brilliant scene which was moving at my feet. Column upon column of the flower of the German and Prussian armies passed, with splendid bands, mounted on the most beautiful looking horses, bands playing funeral marches, and one hymn, "Jesus, Lover of my Soul," known to the civilized world found its way from column to column and band to band. This grand hymn was taken up by the soldiers and citizens alike, who sang it in German. To describe the military grandeur would encroach too much on your space, sufficient is it to say, although they tell me it fell behind the display at the Emperor William's obsequies three months previous, I question if there ever was a more brilliant yet mournful scene witnessed in Germany or elsewhere.

Preceding the funeral car, which was drawn by eight black horses, were the heads of the army and navy of Germany, and the strategic Moltke and Von Blumenthal walked abreast, followed by many lesser but still "big guns" in the military and civil government of Bismarck and the Kaiser. I put "Bizzy" in front, for it is generally acknowledged that the latter says "do it" and it is "done" by the German monarch, although Frederick III, if he had lived, I question if that liberal-minded monarch would have stood the "Iron Chancellor's" bidding at all times. Following the car walked the new Emperor, a manly looking young fellow, with one arm unfortunately hanging limp out of its position in the military coat. On one side walked Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, looking the thorough sporting gentleman he is said to be, and on the other side marched the King of Saxony, making the trio of mortals who will help to make history of monarchs in the future. Kings, Princes and Dukes followed at wholesale, with the high dignitaries of church and state. To the credit of the Germans be it said they mourned the loss of a ruler who promised well, sincerely and truly, and a more earnestly sympathetic concourse can not be seen. I was a little hungry when we reached Berlin again at 2.30. The officials of the railroad switched our crowded train off on another line a full half hour, in order to allow a fast special to pass, as our train was travelling at the terrific speed of nearly twenty miles per hour, and as Mark Twain puts it "was perfectly safe." Well, we don't see a royal funeral every day, so I thought we would just run down and see how Kings start out for heaven.

The event alluded to above, knocked all our continental operations as far as Germany was concerned into the proverbial "cocked hat," and our eight German engagements were cancelled, so we set our faces towards the Main (Frankfurt) as we had a little touring in view, by train and boat. Leaving Berlin on the 18th (evening) we arrived in Frankfort the next morning, and were received by Henerich Kleye, the largest cycle dealer on the Continent, and escorted to his splendid offices, salesrooms and factory. After looking over the fifteen hundred wheels (in stock) the manufactory and elegant offices; breakfast and a drive around Frankfort were in order, and many curious, old-fashioned and also stately edifices were seen, so was also the hotel where Prince Bismarck and Jules Favre signed the peace document which was the final act of the French and Prussian war. Having read and heard so much of the famous Heidelberg Castle, and same being only fifty miles by rail, twelve o'clock found us flying towards the old castle, passing through Hesse-Darmstadt en route. On arriving at the point aimed at, a guide who spoke sixteen languages (English being one) we did not question him further as to the other fifteen, but plunged into dissipation, or up a very steep hill I should say, and a right good down-pour of rain rewarded our temerity, and made our guide swear in the other "fifteen," of course, not knowing Woodside understood "Irish," Temple "Hebrew," and myself "Welsh." The latter tongues may safely be classed among the dead languages, however, as far as our party was concerned, as we talk United States.

THE ROWDY ELEMENT.

A SAN FRANCISCO VIEW.

Editor Bicycling World: Your recent remarks on "North End" rowdy manners, had a very timely application in San Francisco. The annual meet in Stockton, on the Fourth, was an orderly, interesting and in every way creditable affair; but the conduct of a small portion of the wheelmen late that night in the town and going and returning on the boats, was worthy of our Tar Flat hoodlums. Sleep was impossible on the boats. Even the loudest noises, the tooting of horns, the discordant singing of silly songs, "and the loud laugh that spoke the vacant mind," would have been endurable until midnight, and pardonable as a natural excess of youthful spirit on a holiday jaunt; but there was no cessation of noise nor "pranks" until morning. All night long there was tramping of feet on the decks and the clink of coin and "I call you," in the cabins. Benches were upset, oaths were bandied, stateroom blinds were rudely torn open, and the reclining (not sleeping) wheelmen and excursionists were greeted with shrill blasts from a trumpet or whistle, or a yell from a stout pair of lungs. The general disorder and ruffianly disrespect could not have been greater had there been no ladies aboard.

After the exhibition and dance at the pavilion, several leading wheelmen started out on "a tear," and, after imbibing freely, they "tore" down picket fences, overturned signs, broke windows, and otherwise deported themselves as hoodlums. The police gave chase, and the brave bicyclers fled to their hotel, where all but one found concealment. That one was caught and promptly "jugged." It is said the police were instructed to arrest, at sight, any man wearing "rebel" shorts. Be that as it may, the wheelman who volunteered to bail out their imprisoned comrade did not venture on the street, until he had borrowed a pair of trousers from the hotel clerk.

The shameful conduct of these rowdy wheelmen cannot be dismissed with an apologetic, "Oh, well—well! boys will be boys." These "boys" were men; and in either case, they knew better. The decent majority should discipline this disorderly minority, or expel them from club and League. On this coast, at least, it is becoming a question whether a self-respecting wheelman had not better remain or become unattached, and conceal his identification with the L. A. W. Cannot something be done to correct this rowdy evil? Cannot the nine-tenths formulate simple rules of decent behavior, the violation of which shall result in the immediate and formal expulsion of the boisterous and lawless one-tenth?

ACHORNE.

FROM THE SAME CITY ON THE SAME SUBJECT.

Editor Bicycling World: I enclose a few notes suggested by an editorial of yours. I took to wheeling for my health and have been benefited; but I have been disgusted, not with the unseemly boisterousness, but with the disregard of law, order and decency, by a small number of wheelmen. Their conduct on the Fourth at Stockton was exemplary, but on the boats and cars, and at 1 o'clock on the morning of the 5th, it was very disgraceful. There are hotels which will not accept bicycler's custom, and in every suburban town a man wearing shorts is looked upon as "off color." I think the custom of appointing League hotels is responsible, partly, for the state of things. Too many wheelmen congregate at one hotel, and they dominate office, hall, and dining room, and in the absence of restraint of the presence of the more numerous "civilians," the wheelmen, or the fraction with a not remote savage ancestry, quickly yield to their barbarian propensities.

Yours respectfully,

EDW. H. BACON.

AN APPEAL TO THE MEMBERS OF THE L. A. W.

SOME time since I noticed an item stating that Karl Kron, author of X. M. Miles on a Bicycle, was just ten thousand dollars behind on the venture. Now this "hadn't oughter be" for Karl Kron, in his way has done considerable to promote cycling; he is one of the "pioneers" of touring, and though not quite a Stevens, is deserving of the support of all wheelmen. I remember, when I first began to think of riding, that he was looked upon as one of the marvels of cycling, and hearing him talked about so much, and reading of his trips, had considerable effect in deciding me to become a cyclist myself, and I think that all wheelmen should be glad to keep him in the work that he has undertaken; so come gentlemen give him your support, and after all, what is required of you is a small thing, simply let each member of the L. A. W. buy one of his books, and the thing is done; and besides you are not giving your money away, but you get in return a work that as a book of reference and information is fully worth the price asked. I was one of the early subscribers, and I assure you that I am more than pleased with it, and I consider that I have had more than my money's worth of satisfaction out of it. I am not personally acquainted with K. K., so, do not write this from any personal motives whatever, but simply make this appeal from a feeling of justice. So let each member of the L. A. W. pitch in and purchase a copy of X. M. Miles on a Bicycle, and in so doing he will be paying a just tribute to an old and tried friend of the wheel.

MESSRS. HALL AND WILSON AT THE HERKIMER, N. Y. RACES.

Editor Bicycling World: An article in your July 13th issue under the head of "New York and Long Island Notes" makes an unjust attack upon the Fort Dayton Wheelmen, and is erroneous in every respect. I trust, therefore, you will give the same prominence to a correction of the charges that you did to the article itself. The truth of the matter is this:

Messrs. Hall and Wilson, as stated, were entered for the Central New York championship, and their names were published on the programme. Previous to the calling of this race, Mr. Wilson received a fall in the three-mile event, but none knew better than himself that he was not fouled or otherwise caused to fall by any participant in the race, and I doubt if he authorized any statement to the contrary. When the Central New York race was called a protest was made as to Mr. Hall, and the judges were engaged in deciding the case when the gentleman referred to unceremoniously left the track, avowing he wouldn't enter the race anyway. In doing so he voluntarily, and of his own accord, withdrew from the race and forfeited his entrance, and the race was run. That "the management" refused to refund any entrance fee is a palpable falsehood, as no application for such refunding was made to me or any officer of the club. That the above gentlemen, or Mr. Crickton, their manager, received any ungentlemanly treatment is also bosh. We paid the needed attendants and proffered any assistance in our power, and would have gladly paid the expenses of the entire party here, had not this article been published in your columns. For substantiation of the above we can refer you to fifty persons who heard and saw the entire affair. Very truly yours,

GEO. W. NELLIS, JR.,

Captain.

Herkimer, N. Y., July 23.

KNAPP AND CROCKER AT THE 1-4 MILE ENGLISH RECORDS.

W. F. KNAPP started out July 10th, on the Long Eaton track, to see what he could do with the 1-4 mile record. Eck gave his man a good push off, but Knapp seemed slow in getting on speed. When he did get to moving he flew, and came flying home in the good time of 37 seconds, beating Duncan's record by 1 4-5 sec.

After this trial H. G. Crocker came out, with the same object in view. Eck did the pushing off. Crocker picked up quick and rushed along at a terrific speed, crossing the line in 35 4-5, being 3 seconds faster than the best English and within 3-5 of a second of Rowe's best at Springfield. The day was cold and from the fact that this is the fastest English time on record, the reputation of the "Yankee team," as fast riders, has gone up several notches.

LANCASTER PIKE RECORD.

ANOTHER record for the Lancaster Pike, although world's record was what had been aimed at. F. M. Dampman, of the Wilmington Wheel Club, on Saturday afternoon, covered twenty miles in 1 hour, 14 minutes and 50 3-5 seconds, beating the previous record held by Mr. Merrihew by 36 2-5 seconds. Messrs. Leisen and Merrihew paced Dampman, the latter bringing him over the tape at a rattling pace. Messrs. Johnson, Randall, Spain and Crowther were time-keepers. Wells and Middleton, on a tandem tricycle, started with Dampman in an endeavor to break the record for that type of machine, but after working themselves nearly to death discovered that the repairer who had been fixing the machine had tightened the bearings to such a degree that they had to give up the attempt as worse than useless.

ROAD RACING AT NEW ORLEANS.

THE Louisiana Cycling Club held its third handicap road race July 15th, for the medal offered by President Renaud. The course was from Lee Circle to West End, via Carrollton, a distance of eleven miles. The men who faced the starter and the handicaps of same are as follows: W. E. Hobson (handicap 4 minutes 15 seconds), E. M. Graham (2 minutes), J. W. Joy (1.30), W. M. Hathorn (50 seconds), M. S. Graham and R. G. Betts (scratch).

Betts at once went to work to cut down the handicaps, and so fast did he ride that by the time he had reached White Bridge he had assumed the lead and was never headed again. Having got in front, Betts rode as he pleased and won handily by a good 500 yards. Joy and M. S. Graham had hard luck, as both fell twice while riding. E. M. Graham fell once, and his pedal coming loose he stopped. None of the men were badly hurt. There is some doubt as to the time, it being reported by independent timers as being too slow. One of the official watches being decidedly off. However, as no world's records were broken or claimed, no great damage is done. The times are as follows: R. G. Betts, 55:15; Joy second, 57:15; M. S. Graham third, 57:15.

ORANGE ROAD RACERS.

QUITE a crowd assembled on Central avenue at 5 o'clock on Monday afternoon, July 16th, to witness the start in the annual five-mile bicycle handicap of the Orange Wanderers. The course was from a point on the avenue, about 500 east of Grove street, up Central avenue to Harrison street, to Centre, to Central avenue and then east to the starting point. W. A. Belcher was starter and timer. The start was made at 5:52, L. H. Johnson and H. A. Wolcott on a Humber tandem bicycle, and E. J. Decker on a Springfield Roadster going from scratch. W. W. Walters, (1m. 15s.) rode a 45-inch pony Star; Amzi Dodd, (1m.); C. A. Lindsley, (2m. 30s.); F. P. Jewett, (2m.); C. W. Freeman, (2m.); Everett Townsend, (3m.) and J. S. Cramer, (3m.), rode ordinaries.

The roads were in good shape throughout, and good time would have been made had the riders not been compelled to dismount and trundle their mounts around a building which was being moved out into Centre street.

The finish was as follows:

	Elapsed Time.	Corrected Time.
Johnson and Wolcott, - - -	20:47	17:47
Walters, - - - - -	21:11	19:26
Dodd, - - - - -	22:43	20:43
Lindsley, - - - - -	22:31	21:51
Jewett, - - - - -	23:52	21:52
Freeman, - - - - -	23:39	22:39
Townsend, - - - - -	22:47	22:47
Cramer, - - - - -	22:57	22:56
Decker, - - - - -	Dropped out.

Great dissatisfaction is expressed at the result of the contest, and a lively time is expected at the next meeting of the club. Part of the dissatisfaction is on account of Messrs. Johnson and Wolcott having ridden a tandem bicycle, it being claimed that the affair is intended as a strictly individual contest, and that a "team" should not have been allowed to start. Another and very important claim against the awarding of the race to the "team," is based on the claim that Mr. Wolcott is not and has not been for some time a member of the club, and consequently, even if Mr. Johnson had a right to ride a tandem in the race, he had no right to do so in company with any one but a good standing member of the club. Mr. Walters, who has charge of Howard A. Smith & Co's Orange store, has made a protest against the awarding of the race to the tandem team, and claims the medal on the ground of having been the first member of the club to cross the finish and comply with all the stipulated conditions. Thus, the matter will stand until the meeting of the club, when lively discussions, pro and con, are expected. In the meantime nothing can be done but to watch and wait.

In regard to the above matter the Evening News of July 23 says: "The statement that dissatisfaction exists in the ranks of the Orange Wanderers because Llewellyn H. Johnson and Harry A. Wolcott were allowed to ride a tandem bicycle in the five-mile club race on Monday of last week, not alone because two men had been on one machine, but because Wolcott is not a member, is denied. Johnson and Wolcott won the race. An officer of the Wanderers said this morning that only one or two members were dissatisfied, and that they were so without cause. He said that Mr. Johnson was to have ridden on the tandem bicycle with J. Warren Smith, and that they were to have had fifty yards handicap. Mr. Smith could not ride, and before the race all the contestants were called up by President R. M. Sanger and asked if they had any objection to allowing Mr. Johnson to substitute Mr. Wolcott, who was not a member, they agreeing to waive their handicap and to consider themselves barred out if a single competitor objected. All declared their willingness to allow them to run."

The Orange Evening Mail of the 23d also says. "At the meeting which followed the race expressions of dissatisfaction were heard. They were silenced for the time being with the remark that they had a chance to enter protest before the race, and that as no one did so the result must remain as it was. Everyone interested knew that Mr. Wolcott was not a member of the club, they also understood that he was not a winner of the race. Mr. Johnson is the one to whom the medal belongs, Mr. Wolcott being simply an aid to Mr. Johnson. The team did not win the race; it was Mr. Johnson."

THE MERCURY WHEEL CLUB'S RECEPTION.

THE grounds of the Flushing Athletic Club were thronged last Saturday afternoon with the friends of the Mercury Wheel Club, both with wheels and without, from all quarters of the Metropolitan "deestrik." It was the most diversified gathering of its kind, ever come together hereabouts. Representatives were present from the following clubs, viz: Manhattan, New York, Riverside, Harlem, College Point, Queens County, Huntington, Massachusetts, Brooklyn, Universal, Kings County, Long Island and Mercury. In all over 130 wheelmen were on the grounds at one time, including several tandems, among the riders of the latter being two ladies from the Harlem Wheelmen, accompanied by a lady on a single.

Lunch was served in the large gymnasium. Many were the expressions of admiration called forth by the completeness of our establishment. The bowling alleys, tennis courts, and ball field were rushed for all they were worth, and the track was in constant use. As to the latter and its condition, we would like to explain that it had been next to impossible to obtain competent labor and a roller of sufficient weight to be of use, and we had to do the best we could in the short time allowed, with one man and a small hand roller. The races were started at 4:45. The one-mile novice brought out A. J. Menge and E. A. Powers, Riverside Wheelmen; C. C. Alden, L. I. W.; C. A. Newhall, M. W. C. Menge and Alden alternated in the lead for the first half, when Powers assumed first place and held it to the finish, winning in 3:20 2-5, Alden second. The Brooklyn Bicycle Club, Long Island Wheelmen and Kings County Wheelmen entered teams in the 9-lap (14-5min.) team relay race. The Long Islands rode with great dash and made beautiful connections at the line, winning in the good time, considering the track, of 6:40 1-5, K. C. W. second.

The winning team was composed of Messrs. Kreger, Schumacher and Wise. The first prize in the novices' race was a handsome gold medal; second, a pair of etched silver sleeve buttons. The prize in the team race was a hard wood wall dressing cabinet, with plate glass mirror.

After the races the party formed in line and paraded around the track and then took their way to College Point. The main party numbered over seventy, the balance having gone to Jamaica and elsewhere. But for mosquitoes, the College Beach Hotel would be an ideal spot, but when the wind is from any other direction than west to northeast, they become unbearable, and so they would have been on Saturday last except for the big verandah enclosed with netting. After supper, the reception at Flushing having been given up, services were held here, a la Talmage, Parson Spelman officiating. It will suffice to say that the evening was most enjoyably spent. Conspicuous among those who managed to squeeze lots of enjoyment into a small space was the Kid, whose dissertation upon the Irish question and the Queen's foreign policy will long be remembered. On Sunday the party split up, some going to Massapequa, some to Willet's Point, and the largest party to Sea Cliff and Roslyn, from whence the return was made by boat to New York. While the party was contemplating Oakland Lake, from whence Flushing takes its water, a friend of Captain Clarke, a skillful photographer, happened along, and "took" the whole party on their wheels, held up at the end by our old standby, Billy De G. We haven't seen the pictures yet, but they ought to be very pretty, as far as background goes, as we had the lovely lake and its beautiful wooded banks behind us. The boys behaved so well at the hotel that Mrs. Hallen promises to give us a hop before long. Perhaps before that time the Kid will be able to show how it was that Waldo rode his 540 miles on 50 dollars and 20 cents.

WING-FOOT.

MISSOURI DIVISION, L. A. W. MEETING.

The Missouri Division held a meeting July 15, at Missouri's club house, for the purpose of nominating officers for the coming year, and also to make such changes in the Division's Constitution and By-Laws as was necessary, to conform with the Constitution adopted at Baltimore. Chief Consul Brewster occupied the chair, and Secretary-Treasurer Ab Lewis attended to the minutes. After routine business, nominations were made as follows:

Chief Consul, W. M. Brewster; Vice Consul, F. A. Suda; Representatives, Geo. Boswell, St. Louis; G. A. Case, Joplin; H. G. Stuart, Kansas City. Committee on Rights and Privileges, A. M. Berry, St. Louis; A. C. Steward, St. Louis; T. H. McNeil, Kansas City. Touring Committee, Robert Holm, St. Louis; C. J. Case, Carthage; J. M. Tryon, Kansas City; J. H. Kelly, Sedalia; L. H. Parsons, Edina. Racing, W. H. Wylie, E. N. Sanders, A. M. Lewis, St. Louis; E. A. Clifford, Clarksville; E. A. Smith, St. Louis.

The League clubs who are entitled to and will elect their own representatives are: United Wheelmen, Kansas City; Cycle Club and Eurota Club, St. Louis. There were 24 members present, the nominations were all well received, excepting for the office of Vice Consul. A. M. Lewis came within a few votes of getting the position, and is by all means the right man for the place, although he was never an officer of the division, he has done more work for it and secured more members than half of the officers did. He has considerable time at his disposal, and, if elected, will surely do his share towards pulling the Division out of the rut it is in at present. There are at the lowest estimate at least 500 riders at present in St. Louis alone, and it seems unexplainable to me why the Division has not long since made a better showing than at present. The Division needs a good hard worker, to assist the Chief Consul, who has until now done most all the work, and for this reason I would urge the election of A. M. Lewis for Vice Consul. The Division will lose a hard worker in the person of Representative W. H. Cameron, of St. Joseph, who declines a renomination. Had he consented to run, his election would have been assured.

LINNEUS.

"CRANK" from Hagerstown writes: Wheeling news of much importance is a little scarce in our vicinity. Our club runs each Monday evening are not as well attended as they should be, and our efficient captain is greatly indignant. The probabilities are we will have no racing meet this season, and the "scorchers" are getting lazy. The travel stained tourist is with us as usual, for a short while, enjoying our excellent roads and streets, and then away leaving behind a cloud of dust and pleasant memories. President Albert Heard is entertaining a young lady at his residence, whose arrival was heralded a few evenings since. She has not expressed any preference yet, as to what wheel she will ride. "Burt" while grown an inch in actual measurement, "Swartz" Miller, while kicking his Star out on the pike last Sunday, encountered some road bullies, one of whom struck him with a whip as he was passing. Warrants are out, and Maryland justice will, no doubt, put a heavy foot on such jocularities.

INTO THE YOSEMITE.

(By S. F. Booth, Jr.)

I HAVE just returned from the far famed Yosemite Valley, whitener I went on a two weeks' wheeling jaunt, in company with Mr. G. G. Cox, of the B. C. W. I have been requested by a number of riders to give an account of our experience so that those who contemplate the trip may profit thereby.

There are quite a number of routes to the Valley, but after a careful study of them all we decided to take the train to Raymond and as we were both in the very best of trim, having trained a whole wheel from there to the Valley, a distance of sixty-five and three-quarters miles (Stoneman House).

Accordingly we took train June 13th at 8 P. M., taking with us the following sundries: Extra light undershirt, tooth brush, needles and thread, necktie, towel and soap, small bottle of phenol (for bruises), sticking plaster, road book, League ticket, tourists' cup, tool bags complete, with extra pedal pin and spring for saddle. We also had a small guide book giving points of interest in the valley. The above were wrapped in our coat and snugly tied on our bundle carrier, making a weight of about twelve pounds.

We would have done well to have left our coats and extra underwear behind, as we had no use for them. "Leave your coat" is my advice to anyone taking the trip.

We had a section on the Pullman car but slept little, as the engineer seemed to take a special delight in giving the train a tremendous jerk just as we were falling asleep.

We arrived at Raymond at 7 A. M., not feeling particularly bright but with an inward craving that meant mischief to something. We got breakfast as soon as possible, for which we paid a dollar a head. Rather steep we thought, but the fellow had a monopoly of the business, so that was the best that could be done.

We made our start on the wheel at 8.20, June 14th, my cyclometer (Butcher) registering 1693 7-8 miles, and the thermometer about 80, with a good promise of running much higher before noon, which promise was fulfilled.

The first mile was good riding, and the next about half ride and walk. At two miles out the road forks, and the one to the left should be taken. From the forks we had a down grade of two and a half miles; it is then all walk for a mile and a half, and then part walk and part ride for another mile, and then a ride of about three-quarters of a mile; at last we arrived at Lapella's ranch, my cyclometer registering 1701 3-4. The condition of the road was pretty fair, being of a rolling nature, with from an inch to two or three, in places, of sand. We were mounted on Rudge Light Roadsters, and preferred to walk when much push became necessary, and I think we would have done the same had we been on safeties.

From Lapella's ranch for two miles it was mostly down grade and rideable with an occasional short walk. At 1703 3-4 the road forks, and we took the one to the left. Then it's ride and walk up and down to 1706 5-8, Gambetta's mill. Here there is toll charged for horses and cattle of all kinds, but we were allowed to pass unmolested.

From Gambetta's mill to Grub Gulch (1707 1-2) is all up grade and good walking. The latter name is a good one to catch a cyclist's eye, but we were too anxious to press on and keep ahead of the stage to investigate.

From Grub Gulch to the summit of the hill is an eighth of a mile. Here, at 1707 3-4, the road forks again, and we took the one to the right.

Here the down grade begins, and as we rounded the corner a sight came in view to make a wheelman's heart leap with joy, especially after he has toiled laboriously up grade. We could see the road winding in and out like a huge serpent; a most beautiful stretch, all down grade and fairly smooth. We had on too heavy a bundle to coast but were well satisfied to ride, and merrily we spun down to the mountain side, making the canons ring with our songs and shouts.

It took us a very short time to reach Crook's, 1712 1-4. From Crook's the up grade starts again. Here we made a grand mistake. Our road books made the distance to Grants only about four and a half miles, but we found it to be over six and a half, and they were the hardest miles of the whole trip.

We reached Crook's about 12 M., still considerably ahead of the stage, which had started about five minutes after us. We should have stopped here and had lunch, instead of which we pushed on, intending to have dinner at Grants.

The first mile or so was all right, then the hot sun and our empty internal organs began to effect us in a very disagreeable manner. We could find no water, everything being parched and dry as a chip. We had some limes with us, and they helped increase our appetite, so we sat down and rested, and the stage overhauled us. There was a young lady in the first one, and she made the driver stop that she might admire the plucky riders who had beaten the stage so far; (they expected to get ahead of us about four miles out). She passed us some water and oranges, and Joe and I both voted she was the finest girl we had ever met.

We toiled on up the grade, resting every quarter-mile, and once in a while a large rattlesnake disputed our right, but we relinquished all claim in a somewhat hasty manner.

The summit was reached at last, and we had a half-mile down grade to Grant's Springs, cyclometer registering 1718 5-8. We reached this point at 3.30, pretty well fagged and hungry as wolves.

I was somewhat surprised at our weakened condition at this point.

month very steadily, and I concluded that a man with an empty stomach and a hot sun pouring on him can't stand everything. That we did full justice to the meals at Grant's goes without saying.

We stopped here over night, and next morning were up bright and early feeling finely. It cost $4.00 a piece at Grant's, and we concluded to take a flask of whiskey, a large bottle of water, and bundle of sandwiches. This we always afterwards made a point to do on leaving a place in the morning. Our first day's experience was bought rather dear, and we resolved to profit by it. We thought the price at Grant's rather steep, and as we had sent nearly all our money into the valley by express, we took an inventory and found we had about $14.00 between us, a rather gloomy outlook, as it might take two days and nights yet to reach the valley.

Grant's Springs is very prettily situated and has three fine springs of iron water, sulphur and magnesia. The proprietor is a very wealthy man and runs the resort as a pastime. He is just commencing to fit it up, and in the course of a few years it will no doubt be quite a famous summer place.

We left the Springs at 8.30, and commenced a splendid walk up grade eight and one-eighth miles, no riding whatever. About half way up the mountain we met a young fellow camped out. He was planting telegraph poles, and after exchanging courtesies we concluded to stop and lunch with him. He took quite a fancy to us, and made us some excellent tea. We made a good meal together, giving him our cake (which the dear girl at Grant's thoughtfully put in), a luxury which he highly appreciated.

Here we resolved on a new style of costume. We took off our undershirts, and rolled our stockings down to the ankle, lapping our riding shirt over our knickerbockers (which, by the way, were knitted, the best thing for travelling), and in this way proceeded up the mountain. We found this way of going so comfortable, that we adopted it in future. We might have looked more like racers than mere travellers, but we didn't care a straw for looks, besides there were few to see us. Having attained the summit we had a glorious down grade all the way to Wowona (1731 3-8). At 1726 3-4 there is a road to the right leading to the Mariposa Grove of big trees, eight miles distant.

We reached Wowona at 1.15 P. M., and resolved to take it easy the remainder of that day, and see the sights in the vicinity. We accordingly registered and started after dinner for a stroll. Found a small lake a short distance from the hotel, and after rowing a bit concluded to try a swim in the Merced. It was cold as ice, and after a very short swim we dressed and came back for supper. We were much impressed with our little darkey waiter and gave him a half, which caused him to skim around in immense style, and we got the best of everything. The meals here were something exceptionally good, and we did what we could to show our appreciation of them.

We were treated very nicely here, being charged but $2.00 a day, and our prospects of making the valley began to look brighter. We replenished the bottles and sandwiches and made our start at 7.15. I had one eye closed from mosquito bites and was otherwise bitten very badly by them. Cyclometer registered at start 1732. We made the "11 mile station" at 10.30, cyclometer at 1742 3-4. There was about one third riding, and the scenery something grand, often compelling us to stop and gaze in wonder at the ever changing views.

We decided to stop at the 11 mile station for lunch. Here we met two curious old characters, regular "forty-niners," but both of them as good and kindhearted as you'd want to run across.

During the preparation of the meal they amused us by an account of their past life and experiences in the valley, giving us much advice as to the route and where to go in the valley. We had an old '49er meal here sure, no milk or any civilized luxuries, but plenty of meat, raw onions and biscuits. It went all the same and we paid them a half a dollar each, which was all "Ole John Wiswood" charges up yer for you fellers."

We left them at one o'clock and pushed for the valley. From the "11 mile station," it was up grade and all walking to 1745. Then down grade over a nice road to 1748 3-4. At 1747 Cox's backbone broke, with a prospect of a good walk before reaching the valley. It was no use grumbling, so walk we did. From 1748 3-4 to 1750 1-4 was the steepest up grade we had yet struck being about one foot in six or seven, so steep in fact, we had to keep moving to prevent the wheel from rolling back.

This was our last hill, and we then began the descent into the valley. At 1751 1-2 we arrived at Inspiration Point, where we obtained our first view of the valley.

This is the place from which a general view of the whole district can be had, and where they say a person should almost go crazy so grand is the panorama presented.

I must say, however, our thoughts were far different. We were in truth disappointed. This was probably accounted for by the fact that we had experienced considerable hard work in getting there and also from the fact that the scenery from the start had gradually become grander as we progressed, so that it would take something supernatural to strike us as being very far beyond what we had been seeing the last few days. We gave the valley a searching glance and from my readings of it I was able to point out to my companion the various points, all the effect it had, however, was to bring forth the remark, "I am hungry, pass out the sandwiches."

The sandwiches appeased us somewhat, and we continued on down the mountain side. It could be ridden, but is full of granite chips and would doubtless break any kind or style of a wheel' up considerably, so I decided to walk with Joe.

We washed at a small brook running across the road and after a short respite continued and finally reached the bottom.

The Stoneman House was away at the upper end of the valley, so we had to traverse the entire length before reaching our destination.

We passed by the El Capitan, an immense block of granite that rises perpendicularly to a height of 3300 feet; so high was it that trees 3 feet in diameter and 150 high looked like mere boughs on its top. To the right the Veil Falls roared, but it didn't come up to our expectations even if it did fall 900 feet.

We also passed the famous Yosemite Falls which has a fall of 1500 feet in the Upper Falls, 400 in the Centre and 600 in the Lower, making a total of 2500 feet, but the volume of water was not very large, being only 30 feet wide, and it was impossible for us to conceive the height. Everything around was so large, that you would as readily believe a thing to be 1000 feet as 100. Both the Bridal Veil and Yosemite Falls run down the cliffs, they don't clear it at a leap as my ideal waterfall should.

We reached the Stoneman House at 6.30, cyclometer registering 1759 3-8. Total distance from Raymond being 65 5-8 miles.

There is another hotel in the valley called Barnards, just 1 1-8 miles from the Stoneman House.

TRADE NOTES, CLIPPINGS, AND ALL SORTS.

THE ELLIOTT QUADRICYCLE.

A GREAT deal of interest has been evinced in regard to the new wooden wheel quadricycle made by the Sterling Cycle Co., of Newton, Mass. Mr. Sterling Elliott has for the past two or three years been at work on a problem in cycle construction, the results of which are to be found in the machine as illustrated above. There are several very radical departures and novelties in this wheel, which can be enumerated as, first, the use of wooden wheels instead of the ordinary spider or suspension wheel; the mode of driving independent wheels without the aid of the usual balance gear; the use of wood for frame-work instead of steel tubing; the use of two steering wheels and the adoption of double steering. To be more explicit and give a description in detail we will take the wheel and driving construction. The driving wheels are 34 inch, constructed of the very best second growth hickory, with hubs of second growth rock elm. The rim has a steel tire shrunk on; this tire has two flanges that turn outwards from the outer edge, into this channel the rubber tire is compressed and 140 small rivets are used to aid in holding it in place.

The small wheel, 24-inch, has the same construction as the driver. The driving is accomplished with the usual chain gearing, and it is in the method of double driving, two independent wheels, that the novelty comes in. The axle is solid and runs in plain bearings and through each hub. On this axle is a ratchet which engages, as it turns by means of the chain, corresponding pawls fastened into the hubs.

With the exception of the rear axle, stay rods, steering rods, bearings, etc., the frame is also made of hickory. The steering is a feature and is under control of both hands. The handles are adjustable for height and also adjustable backwards and forwards.

The brake is applied to the rims of both drivers and when the brake is on, it can be locked in place by the turn of the hand. It can be locked with the brake just touching the tire, and from this pressure up to that sufficient to stop the wheel on any grade with any weight on same. By a simple device the pressure on both wheels is equalized.

The machine is fitted (when desired) with an attachment in front with seat for a child.

The workmanship, material and finish is of the best.

The firm have sold about twenty-one machines since the first of February, and so far as heard from they have given satisfaction.

At an early date we have been promised a machine for trial, the results of which we will advise our reader of later.

The Coventry Machinists' Co. have just received a large consignment of Lampleigh's new triple shackle spring saddles, which are a decided novelty in the way of saddles.

The Gormully & Jeffery catalogue goes everywhere, as was proven to us by the fact that a subscription was sent us from New Zealand, the subscriber stating, "I saw your paper spoken of in the Gormully & Jeffery catalogue." It is a stroke of enterprise of that company to put in a list of cycling publications in their catalogue which is sent all over the world.

The Coventry Machinists' Co. will have an exhibit at Buffalo next September.

JUDGE HILTON, of New York has purchased for his personal use at Woodlawn, Sarotoga Springs, a Columbia Light Roadster tri-cycle.

In our advertising columns will be found a cut and advt. of Carter's Anti-Pedal Slipper. We have a pair which we propose to give a good trial and we will report what we find. From the appearance of the device we should say it was all that is claimed. One thing is sure and that is the foot is perfectly free to leave the pedal in cases of voluntary and involuntary dismounts.

GROUND has been broken by the Overman Wheel Co. at Chicopee Falls for buildings which will double the present capacity of its factory.

THE Pope Mfg. Co. have received so many applications for their Columbia Racers that they have decided to rent a limited number of them to first-class racing men. Applications for terms, etc., can be made to them or through any of their agents.

Kentucky.

The Kentucky Division L. A. W. met in Covington July 4, 1888, with Chief Consul Croninger in the chair. Owing to the absence of Sec. Treas. Willison, Mr. R. C. Taylor was appointed Secretary pro tem. The minutes and Sec. Treas. report were read and approved. On motion of Mr. Lowe, Chief Consul Croninger appointed Messrs. C. F. Johnson, J. Adams and A. J. Lamb of Louisville a nominating committee for the election of officers in July. Mr. Lowe also moved that a committee of five be appointed to revise the Kentucky Road Book. Carried. After Mr. J. C. Taylor, in behalf of his fellow wheelmen had extended, in form of a motion, a hearty invitation to all wheelmen to visit his city, Danville, it was finally decided that the next meeting of the Division should be held in that city. Adjourned.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:
 "Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member.

Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

BICYCLING WORLD CO.,

No. 12 Pearl Street,
BOSTON, - - MASS.

MY CYCLING LOG BOOK. By "Papa" Weston. The transitory pleasures of cycling can be made as permanent as its physical benefits, by jotting down in a well devised log book, the distances and incidents of one's various journeys. Knowing that such a record is a most pleasant thing to have, and believing that the keeping of such should be encouraged, as tending to the permanent good of cycling in more ways than can be referred to here. The Log Book is hand-somely and strongly bound in red leather, will last for years of constant use, and is the best arranged book of its kind ever yet devised. It fills a want often felt by the cyclist who values records of interest for future reference. Price, post paid, $1.25 For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

Overman Wheel Co., Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen--I have just returned from a two hundred mile jaunt through Central Kansas on my '88 pattern VICTOR.

I have examined it carefully since returning, and do not find a point about it that needs attention or adjusting.

I never once used a tool on it while out, or adjusted a bearing, not even the head, and my wheel is perfectly quiet, although the greater part of the road was very hard and rough, and jarred the wheel very much.

I did not spare the wheel at all, as I kept the saddle on all occasions, both up and down all the hills, and in every rough place.

I cannot find a point in the 1888 VICTOR to criticise, and that is saying considerable about a wheel for me.

Yours very truly,

WM. TAYLOR,
Rep. Kan. Div., L. A. W.

DIFFICULT REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

WE'RE READY FOR IT.

What a hurrah there is over the September tournament!

We must wade in stream up to the arm-pits, and catch the trade in Bicycling Uniforms that belongs to us. Doesn't it belong to us?

The National Association says: "They make the best Uniforms."

Well, then, we're going to back up their say-so by making the best, and not one that doesn't deserve over and over the name of The Best Bicycling Uniform to be got. Yes, you'll say yourself: It's the best to be got anywhere.

Why shouldn't we? The railroads of this country, the crack military associations, the crack cadets, the crack bands get us to make their uniforms. It comes as natural to us to make good uniforms as if we did nothing else.

But we do do something else. We make the best everyday clothing and fine clothing in the country. If you sent to us for a Full Dress Suit for a wedding we could send it at a half-hour's notice. Or, a Suit to mountain-climb in.

The whole clothing business is at our finger-ends.

That's why we make the best Uniforms. Send your order along.

EDITORS:

C. W. FOURDRINIER.

J. S. DEAN.

BOSTON, 3 AUGUST, 1888.

THAT electric welding under the Thompson system is to play an important part in cycle manufacture is now an assumed fact. Up to the present time there has been no method known that would successfully weld tubing. To weld solid bodies of the same kind of metal has been accomplished ever since metal working has been an art.

The difference between the old way and the new electric method is that in the old way the metal is heated from the outside, while by electricity the centre of the metal is first heated, thus insuring a much better weld than by the old process, when it was by no means a sure thing, through lack of sufficient heat reaching the centres, to insure a proper weld. As this invention is one that will be of interest to the general riding public, we cannot do better than re-print from the circular of the Thompson Electric Welding Co. the following: "The principle involved in this new art is that of causing currents of electricity to pass through the abutting ends of the pieces of metal which are to be welded, thereby generating heat at the point of contact, which also becomes the point of greatest resistance, while at the same time mechanical pressure is applied to force the parts together. As the currents heat the metal, at their junction, to the welding temperature, the pressure follows up the softening surface until a complete union or weld is affected, and, as the heat is first developed in the interior of the parts to be welded, the interior of the joint is as efficiently united as the visible exterior. With such a method and apparatus, it is found possible to accomplish not only the common kinds of welding of iron and steel, but of metals which have heretofore resisted attempts at welding, and have had to be brazed or soldered.

Pieces of such metals and alloys as wrought iron, silver, copper, brass, lead, tin, zinc, bronze, German silver, platinum, gold and even cast iron, are not only welded to each other, but different metals can be welded one to another in many combinations, extending the applications of the process to the attainment of results heretofore impossible in metal working; while the tensile strength of the welds, as shown by mechanical tests under the direction of the United States Ordnance Department, are all that can be desired."

DEAN—SMITH.

We know that our many readers will heartily join us in offering congratulations to our associate editor, Mr. J. S. Dean, on the occasion of his marriage to Miss Smith, daughter of Prof. Walter Smith, late of Bradford, England, deceased. Prof. Smith was formerly Director of Art Education in the State of Massachusetts, and Superintendent of Drawing in the public schools of Boston. Mr. Dean was married to Miss Smith at St. Jude's Church, Bradford, England, last Thursday, August 2d. Mr. Dean is probably one of the best known cyclists in the country. Not only does he wield a powerful pen, but in the early days of cycling he was known as a hard road rider and a successful racing man. His profession is the law, and he has already made his mark among the younger members of the Suffolk Bar. He is a brilliant speaker and a thorough and conscientious worker. It is Mr. Dean's intention to enjoy the honeymoon on the Continent, after which he, with his bride, will return to this country October 2, and take up his abode permanently in Boston.

We wish the young couple all the prosperity and happiness that this world is capable of bestowing.

CHIEF CONSUL ATWATER IN BOSTON.

ONE of the most active men in Washington last June on the occasion of the visit of the wheelmen to Washington, and one who exerted himself to the utmost to entertain the visitors, was Chief Consul Geo. S. Atwater. The Massachusetts delegation were especially impressed with the kindly courtesy and untiring hospitality of Mr. Atwater on that occasion, when, therefore, the opportunity presented itself for the Massachusetts men to practically show the Washington gentlemen their appreciation they were not slow to grasp it. Mr. Atwater arrived in Boston last Friday morning, and was at once taken in charge by Dr. W. H. Emery, of Roxbury. Messrs. W. S. Atwell, J. B. Seward and A. W. Robinson also exerted themselves to show Mr. Atwater attention. These good fellows took Mr. A. in tow, and on Friday night managed to "do" Pompeii, promenade concert and a big supper at the Quincy House as a wind-up.

On Saturday this same party took the visitor to Marlboro's to dinner and then to the base ball game, on which occasion the Bostonians astonished the universe by actually winning, a surprise not relished by Mr. Atwater, as the defeated club bore the name of his city. In the evening Mr. A. was banquetted at Young's by some dozen of the men who visited Washington. On Sunday the roads round Boston were sampled.

Mr. Atwater left for Washington on Monday, and we hope he had a pleasant time.

We are advised that Mr. Atwater has secured the United States agency for the sale of the new Smith cycles, and is making arrangements to push the sale all over the country.

ABOUT a month ago Wm. H. Frisbie, President of the New Haven Bicycle Club, lost a tandem tricycle, which was stolen from the place where he left it standing in New York City. On Tuesday week the machine was recovered almost on the same spot. It was in charge of two boys who had rented it at a storage warehouse. Inquiry showed that it had been sold to the keeper of the place on the same day on which it was stolen. The man who bought the tandem for $7 had to return the machine and it is lucky for him that his loss is limited to that amount. The thief has not been caught. The tandem is worth $285 and was returned in perfect condition. Mr. Frisbie is to be congratulated.

MINNEAPOLIS NOTES.

"VERNON."

"Who finished second in the five-mile race at the Caledonian games?" was the question asked by those that were unable to go down. Colie Bell came in first, with a good six or eight lengths' lead; Hale and Lackor so near a dead heat that it was hard to decide either way. Hale was afterwards, though not without some kicking, awarded second place. W. Bickley, F. W. Stahl and Morris finished about one-half-mile behind. Colie Bell's entering the race was a surprise to everybody, as he had stated beforehand that he would stay out because of business. On account of a wind down the home stretch, no fast time was made, it being merely a procession until the last quarter, when Bell struck into one of his famous spurts and gained six or eight lengths in about a hundred and fifty feet, which lead he held to the finish. Young Lackor finishing so close to Hale was a surprise to everybody. With good training he could make the best of them hustle. Stahl and Morris (the "dark horses") were not seen during the race. The gold medal won by Bell is a beautiful and costly one, not only for its intrinsic value, but also because it was presented by Gov. A. R. McGill. Bell was called up in the grand stand after he was presented with the medal to show it to the ladies, and was requested to make a speech, but excused himself on account of a "pressing business engagement."

The race Wednesday practically settles the dispute, which was the better man, Hale or Bell?

MR. T. E. MOORE, a League member, from Oskatoona, Iowa, is stopping in town for a while before going to Dakota.

I WONDER if the Dakota boys are dead this year. They generally have a couple of meets a year, but I have heard nothing from them this year.

MR. T. M. SLOSSON has been mentioned as a candidate for Chief Consul, and I think he will have no opposition whatever. Mr. Slosson is a level-headed business man of this city and would make a good Chief Consul.

Two professionals in town have been telling each other what they could do, and what the other couldn't do, but I imagine one is afraid and the other dare not. I would like to see a race between these two. I am sure it would be for "gore," as "fixed" races do not pay now between professionals.

DURING the last week a few members of the M. B. C. have been talking about having a State Division meet some time in September. If they give a good list of events and have it well advertised I am sure they will have a good attendance, as the people here appreciate good amateur sports. This was proven by the good attendance at the Caledonian games alluded to above. There were about two thousand people on the grounds. It is to be hoped that we do have a meet, as it will not only boom bicycling, but also increase the membership in the clubs.

PITTSBURG and VICINITY.

"DUQUESNE."

Now don't all laugh at once. The way to settle this hill climbing is to build a four or five foot path on a steep hill side. The grade can be varied by changing the direction of the path. If parallel with the line of the hill it will be level, and any desired grade can be obtained by running the path more directly up the hill. The path need not be over three hundred feet in length. Have the first fifty feet level, the second fifty feet one in seven, the third fifty feet one in six, next fifty feet one in five, next fifty feet one in four, next fifty feet one in three, and if any one wants one in two give him the medal. A path of this description need not cost much, and the money could easily be raised by subscription. Now let those who consider this a crazy, hair-brained, chimerical scheme devise one better. This is better than any road hill as the surface would be uniform. Dodging stones and other feats of fancy riding would be relegated to the realms of oblivion, and hill climbing would be substituted for hill racing.

V. C. PLACE and C. F. Seidell are talking of entering the Buffalo races on the Ivel tandem. If they do all Pittsburg will be there to yell for them.

T. H. WILSON, of Minneapolis, passed through here last week on his way to Washington, D. C. He wheeled via Chicago, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Dayton.

THE wheelmen of this vicinity are anxious to have Wells and Greenwood climb on some of our hills instead of Corey. If a third climb is necessary the boys will chip in and give a medal to cost between fifty and one hundred dollars to the winner, and they will put them on a hill that is a hill. Corey is only considered a grade out here and not a hill. We have two men, or rather boys, who only began riding this season, that can climb Corey, at least we think they can. This Wells-Greenwood business is not a hill climb, it's merely a hill race. Riding grades at high speed is not hill climbing.

NEW YORK AND

LONG ISLAND NOTES.

"WING FOOT."

In reference to the Hall and Wilson Hermer dispute, I desire to call Captain Nellis's attention to the fact that I distinctly renounced, in reporting the affair, all responsibility for the same. Mr. Nellis's statements are very positive, and his accusation of falsehood forcible, but the case stands between he and Mr. Hall, not I. Perhaps Mr. Hall will have further remarks to make.

THE special train on the West Shore Railroad for the accommodation of those who desire to attend the Buffalo meet will leave New York on Saturday evening, Sept. 1st, at 6 P. M., and will probably stop at the larger cities below Albany to pick up wheelmen only, but will take on no passengers west of that city. The fare will be $8.50, or less, and tickets will probably be good through to Niagara.

If the track at the Huntington Fair Grounds is in good condition some very interesting races should be run this afternoon. The team race should be especially so, as each man is to ride one lap, namely one-mile. It remains to be seen whether a team can be gotten together which can touch that of the Long Island Wheelmen. The undertaking is a very difficult one, barring accidents.

RUMORS have been floating round this vicinity of late to the effect that our Philadelphia friends are quietly organizing an immense century run, and intend showing us, before the close of the season, just how it should be done. Hope you have better weather than we, gentlemen, and that we are able to get up as complete a reception as you gave the devoted twelve. When you do come, be sure to have J. R. L. C. properly groomed to do his great sub-marine bugle act.

MR. MEDOLE, K. C. W., is spending his vacation at the house of the Messrs. Ebbets, at Huntington, L. I., and enjoying his wheel in company with the redoubtable riders of that place.

MR. BARKMAN, B. B. C., in company with Mr. Potter, has been spending a few days off up the river as far as Rhinebeck.

CLUB life is at present rather slack in the Metropolitan District, on account of the absence of so many of the men on their vacations.

MR. LINCOLN, of the Mercury Wheel Club, intends taking an extended business trip a-wheel, on the way to the Buffalo meet, through New York, and would like company. He may be found at 52 John street, New York City.

THE memento pins of the great century run will be ready for delivery this week, after weary weeks of waiting. They were made by the Gorham Company.

THE Brooklyn Bicycle Club had thirty-four members in attendance at the hop tendered them by the management of the Massapeque Hotel, South Oyster Bay, last Saturday evening, twenty-seven of which number rode down by wheel. They report having a splendid time, and meeting lots of pretty girls. After the dance they were entertained by the Branch Order F. O. G. (Fraternity of Growlers). The Brooklyn's now number over 150 members.

MESSRS. BRIDGEMAN, Crichton, Hibsen, Smith, Douglass and Ward, K. C. W.; and Metzger, Manhattan Bi. Club, ran out to Pompton, N. J., last Sunday.

A NUMBER of New Yorkers were disappointed by Well's non-appearance at Eagle Rock on Saturday last.

BOWERY BAY BEACH is the latest acquisition to the list of pleasure resorts, within a half-hour's travel of the Metropolis, and is one that is destined to receive considerable patronage from wheelmen. The list of attractions includes good music, good dinners, fishing, boating and swimming. For the use of bathers they have erected a toboggan slide, with rollers on the slide, about twenty-five feet high. Regular toboggans are used, and the sensation of skimming on the top of the water for thirty feet or so is very exciting. As an attraction to Germans, there is, back on the hill, a genuine "stork-nest," such as is common in the Fatherland. "B. B. B." may be the best reached from New York, via Ninety-second Street Ferry and Astoria.

THE many friends of Billy DeGraaf will be pained to hear that that popular individual was unfortunate enough to receive a terrible fall in Central Park, on Wednesday evening, July 25th, as the effect of a collision with an equestrian mounted on a spirited horse, over which the rider lost control. William was pretty badly "chewed up," and has turned his fickle affections in the direction of a Salvo Safety.

A MRS. CLAUSETT is the latest recruit to the ranks of the lady bicyclists in New York City, and rides a Salvo as gracefully as can be imagined.

OUR friend from Rhode Island will have to hurry in order to beat Mr. Nisbett, of the New Yorks, this month. That gentleman, up to the evening of Monday, July 30th, had made, for the month, over 1500 miles. I doubt whether this has ever been beaten for genuine road riding.

MR. FINDLEY, same club, has ridden every day, consecutively, since the 27th of May.

CHICAGO

NOTES.

OLIVER, was the result of the meeting. The probabilities are that this ticket will win, as it has a practical issue, and is endorsed by leading officers of the Chicago, Lincoln and Fort Dearborn Clubs.

A BIG time is looked for during the Illinois Division Officers' Meeting here the 25th of August, races, lantern parade, run to Pullman, etc., being among the features proposed.

THE re-instatement of Geo. M. Hendee confirms the rumor of several weeks ago in this column, which you contradicted in a later issue. I understand that Mr. Hendee has long since made application for membership in the Chicago Bicycle Club.

A LARGE number of our riders have been spending their vacations at Fox Lake, a delightful summer resort about sixty miles from Chicago. About a dozen members of the Chicagos and as many more from the Lincolns were in that locality last week.

VAN SICKLEN, Tom Roe and George Thorne are reported as soon going into training for any races that may happen their way. They are all doing excellent work and have given the best of indications that they will better anything they have done in the past.

THE Illinois Cycling Club is located in their new $20,000 club house, with four floors and fifteen feet frontage on LaSalle avenue. It is certainly the equal of any cycling club house in this country, and excels anything in Chicago up to the present time.

THE election of Chief Consul and other officers of the Illinois Division seems to bother the guessers considerably this year, and well it might. With four or five tickets in the field, and no end of withdrawals, acceptances, issues and differences, every candidate is warranted in thinking that the "other side" will succeed.

TOM ROE, who was a delegate to this convention, as I learned from conversation after adjournment, refused to endorse the ticket nominated, and has placed himself in the field as a candidate for Chief Consul. This action of Roe's is entirely contrary to political custom, and does him no credit. He should have remained neutral or else refrained from attending the convention. I trust that a defeat will teach him a lesson not soon to be forgotten.

BURLEY AYERS, the newly-elected Captain of the Chicago Club, had a run called to Racine and Lake Geneva but a fine rain (from a farmer's standpoint) interfered with the starting, and but three or four members went over the route. The Wisconsin Division were holding an annual meeting at Racine at the time and had an elegant programme prepared for Lake Geneva, but the rain kept them in Racine so long that they were forced to alter their plans.

NEW ENGLAND.

"THE JOTTIST."

WE take the following from the Providence Telegram. It is a mysterious item, and the allusion to the "English regiments" puzzles us immensely. Can it be that little Rhody has fallen into the clutches of a foreign foe. "Providence bicycle riders who have tried the run up College Hill may be interested in the fact that one of the English regiments is experimenting with a machine called a centercycle, which has four small wheels a foot in diameter and one large one in the centre. It is said that the invention makes climbing a hill as easy for a cyclist as rolling off a log." The above report is a bit unsatisfactory, and we don't want to try the machine alluded to. Unless hill climbing can be reduced to an act easier than "falling off a log" we want none of it.

THE Lynn papers speak highly of Fred Alley, Rowe's new trainer.

FAIRFIELD, Me., will be the only place in the state which will have a track especially for cyclists. It seems the owner of the race track at that place has decided to build a bicycle track inside that used for horses.

THE Cambridgeport Club men have returned from their marine trip down to the Provinces. They were the recipients of kind attentions and courtesies on every hand. Especially are they enthusiastic over the reception given them by the St. John wheelmen.

AN exhibition of an electric tri-cycle was to have taken place on Columbus avenue last week. The trial was not a success. The machine was there and it was started but after a few revolutions "things" gave out. What the particular trouble was, we have been unable to discover.

WHILE coasting down a steep grade in Newton, Mass., Saturday afternoon, Stephen Clyde of Meriden, who had his feet thrown over the handles of the machine, took a bad header and suffered severe injuries upon his head and face, besides breaking his jaw. He was sent to the Boston City Hospital.

MR. FRED STAPLES, of Belfast, Me., took a header from a bicycle overboard from the steamboat wharf on Saturday. He attempted to wheel between the building and the edge of the wharf, a very narrow place, and missing went overboard, bicycle and all. It was about half tide, so the distance fallen was considerable. Fred swam to a boat, obtained a boat-hook, fished up his wheel, and vaulting into the saddle, came up town none the worse for his involuntary bath.

IT is proposed to form a club of tricycle riders living in or near Malden, Medford, Melrose, Maplewood, Everett, Wakefield, Stoneham, Cambridge, Mass., and adjoining towns, having for its aims: First, the cultivation of a friendly acquaintance between the numerous riders in these towns; second, the mutual interchange of information as to roads, points of interest on routes, etc.; third, mutual suggestions as to riding, dress, the care of machines, repairs, etc.; fourth, arranging for club runs, evenings or holidays. Please state if you would be willing to join an organization having the above objects in view. Please advise by August 6th, 1888, and address "Tricycle," Box 597, Melrose, Mass.

L. A. W. 3804 thus throws down the gauntlet to the doubting Thomases of Springfield, Mass.: "Your 'New England Jottist' says in your last issue that Springfield riders are inclined to doubt the time made by Burnett, of South Hadley, in a road race from Holyoke to Springfield, as the distance is fully eight miles, over rather heavy roads, the time claimed being twenty-two minutes. Allow me, as one of the timers, to correct the impression this item has conveyed. First, the race was ridden from the Holyoke Ferry to the North End Bridge in Springfield, a distance of about six and one-half miles; second, the road was not heavy, though perhaps not in its very best condition; third, the time made was twenty-two minutes fifty-eight seconds. In conclusion, if Springfield riders seriously doubt the time made, let them post $50 or $100 that Burnett cannot again make the same distance in less time, and they no doubt can become convinced."

NEWS

AND COMMENT.

WHILE riding in the cars the other day between Springfield and Worcester, we noticed bicycle tracks between the two lines of rails. We were told by Mr. E. W. Pope that quite a number of riders used the Boston & Albany track between Worcester and Springfield, as the highways were as a rule so poor.

THE Orange Wanderers are entitled to one Representative, and nominate Dr. R. M. Sanger.

A PECULIARITY of the Ohio Division meet seems to be that most of the time was spent in Michigan.

We have yet hopes that the deciding heat in the Wells-Greenwood hill-climbing contest will be had on Corey Hill.

PRESIDENT POPE, of the Pope Mfg. Co., sailed for Europe last Saturday on one of the French line of steamers. He will return to this country about the first of October.

MR. DUCKER as a manager is a familiar subject, but Mr. Ducker as an author is a new role. Yet it is so. Mr. D. comes out as an author and promises a "serial story in six chapters," the second chapter of which appears in this issue. This story is profusely illustrated, in fact illustrations are the principal part of the story. The first chapter was entitled "Preparation," this current chapter is called "Specials." By all means look out for Ducker's serial story.

In speaking of the proposed bicycle path between New Haven and New York, an exchange for the general press voices our sentiments exactly when it says: "How much better it would be if the towns between New York and New Haven would each macadamize the thoroughfare leading from one to the other, and thus make the old turnpike a boulevard from New York to New Haven. It might cost something, but in the end it would pay for itself." We would like to see these sentiments permeate every man, woman and child the country over, but the penny wise pound foolish doctrine seems to prevail in the rural districts, and jobbery has our municipal government by the throat so that the Utopian dream of good highways seems very far from fulfillment. Agitation is the only remedy, and so we "agitate."

In reply to our strictures on Mr. Wells for not reporting at Corey Hill two weeks ago, the Athlete has the following: "By the way, why is it that the World expected Mr. Wells to meet Mr. Shurman on Corey Hill when it this year excludes professionals from its road race, out of deference to the new opinions of the Racing Board?" We will say in reply to this that we "expected" it because Mr. Wells had agreed to be there. As to the possible complications that might arise in consequence of Mr. Wells and Mr. Shurman meeting in competition we have nothing to say, in fact this is the first time that the Athlete has suggested any such motive as intimated. We had always supposed that it was "business" that prevented Mr. Wells from appearing as agreed.

MR. WELLS, in the Athlete, in answer to our article defending President Kirkpatrick in his action at Baltimore, has the following: "But the Bicycling World, in answer to our editorial, puts itself on record as claiming that on account of the thoughtless and hot-headed actions of a dozen or so members of the League the President of the organization has a right to arbitrarily take away from the other 10,000 members the privileges and enjoyments of our annual meeting. Is this justice? Is it anything less than despotism?" For a long shot and a bad shot this takes the record. We have said nothing at all about the President's words on this subject, even if it is true he spoke them. President Kirkpatrick has not the arbitrary power claimed by the Athlete. However, the repetition of such actions has a tendency to disgust the rank and file and cause them to vote for a change in the by-laws of the League and abandon a social annual gathering.

"THE BICYCLING WORLD AND L. A. W. BULLETIN, commenting on the Murder Lane hill-climbing contest states that it is to be regretted that competition is open only to L. A. W. members. Such comment from such a source is calculated to strike dumb the faithful who pin their allegiance to the Association of American Wheelmen, the very existence of which is necessary, nay, vital, to the life of the paper that advocates such heresy. The benefits which accrue from membership in the League should not be accorded to the unattached, and entries for this contest, as in all L. A. W. races is very properly limited to members."—Pittsburg Bulletin. Is that so? Well, we did not know that the hill-climbing contest was to be run under the auspices of the L. A. W., in fact we thought that the L. A. W. Racing Board refused to encourage any form of road racing. Mr. Kalcher has the privilege of making this contest "open" or "limited," as he sees fit. The above eruption, however, leads us to ask, why limit to Pennsylvania members? This is the time that Mr. Kalcher should pray to be delivered from his friends—of the Bulletin.

THE "Piratical" editor of the St. John Globe writes thus of the arrival of the Cambridgeport Cycle Club in that city last Saturday: "A mysterious looking craft, with long rakish masts, carrying an immense spread of canvas, was seen feeling her way through the fog in the offing this morning, looking for a chance to get into the harbor. From her maintop the 'Stars and Stripes' were floating. Her deck appeared to be alive with men—a circumstance which gave rise to no little speculation. 'Who is she?' 'Where did she come from?' 'Why are so many men on board?' were among the many questions which the watermen asked each other, but no one seemed able to answer. Some ventured the assertion that it was some bold bucconer who was bent on a mission of rapine and plunder, others that it was a gang of Fenian raiders, and several that it was the Boston Base Ball Club, who had fled to Canada, to escape the wrath of an enraged public. But when the craft came up the harbor and was brought to moorings at Walker's wharf speculation ended. It was then ascertained that it was the Boston schooner-yacht Fleur-de-Lis, and that her crew was composed of twenty-six jolly, good-looking fellows belonging to the Cambridgeport, Mass., Cycle Club, who were bent on pleasure and not on plunder."

GERMANY, THE RHINE AND HOLLAND.

BY THE "SENATOR."

WE now entered the Castle Grounds, and the old ruins better preserved than any castle ruins in Great Britain, soon opened to view, and our classical guide deserted the "fifteen" live and dead tongues and, with a record-breaking rapidity, plunged into bad English, with the merits and demerits on the "wonderful" old pile. Situated on a very high promontory overlooking the town of Heidelberg itself, and the shining, winding river, Neckar, which flows practically through the town, the view is worth a climb, as it is a very grand panorama of landscape. Plunging into the deep recesses of the old ruins we were in the presence of the large wine barrel (or wine tun, as it is called), said to be the largest barrel in the world, a statement I receive with some doubt, as there are a few in the famous "Best" brewery in Milwaukee which I think, by my observation in 1883, will give this old "famous tun" a bit of start. However, this "wine bin" is said to have been full of wine on two different occasions, Napoleon and his "sojers" emptying it on one occasion. "Bony," like some other persons that I know, had little appreciation of big barrels, of peace or old relics, as he stored his powder in the cellars, and, vandal that he was, drank the wine which the old Nabob of the castle was preserving for the ages to come. We also had a peep at "Peppo," the renowned King's Jester, who was set up very much after the fashion of your Punch and Judy. The above departed individual is said to have had a daily allowance of twelve bottles of strong wine, and was seldom sober; no wonder, indeed. I thought what a splendid tandem companion this same "Peppo" would have been for some prominent English "pro," and how they would have made Rome howl.

Climbing up another two hundred feet we had still a better view of the town, the surroundings, the University, and the students' famous (?) duelling ground (or rather, building), being a large, farm-house-looking structure on the left of the river in a kind of ravine in the mountain side. Tuesdays and Fridays are the duelling days set apart by the two corps, of who hold no intercourse with each other, not even saluting in public or private, a custom so dear to Germany. There is no apparent enmity, but a kind of truce, which forbids any acknowledgment of each other. A number of fierce encounters had taken place the morning of our arrival, and one of the combatants was said to have been almost fatally wounded by the three-foot keen-edged foil or sword they foolishly gash each other with. The duelling code of the University prevents wounding or aiming at any vital part of the body, and the body up to the upper part of the throat is protected by bandages of material which would withstand a careless or unintentional thrust. The face, especially the cheek, is the principal point of attack, and we passed many students on the mountains whose red scarred faces (sometimes with freshly plastered wounds) spoke eloquently of recent encounters, which are debasing in the sight of their Maker, and a disgrace to the University of Heidelberg and their country's laws alike. Why a supposed intelligent country like Germany tolerates the flower of their race in keeping up a custom which is both degrading and a distinct type of barbarism, is a problem which the visitors to Germany cannot fathom. The result of the duel is plainly seen in the faces of hundreds of young men who walk the streets of Berlin, the livid marks testifying to the wearer's being an ex-student. They tell me the wearers of this brand of infamy and disgrace consider it a point of manly honor to carry "marks" on their persons which shows them to be courageous. Rather a "mark" of down-right imbecility, which an application of the cat-o-nine-tails should eradicate, for the country's good. It seems when a young man enters the University of Heidelberg, he is expected (not forced) to join one or the other of the two corps, which are distinguished by their red and white caps which are worn at all times. Volunteers are expected to represent either side in their "contests," and the Captains of the corps have a right to order any member to battle in case he thinks fit, if the member is thought to be shirking a "fight." Six battles are waged at nearly every meeting, and the students drink wine and beer and smoke cigarettes while the battle is on and while the surgeons are busy stitching up and staunching the wounds of their comrades. In many instances, I'm told, a young man goes to Heidelberg fresh from home and the kindly influence of mother, father and sisters, and worthless in all that should commend him to the world. No doubt there is much gold amid the dross, but to the minds of many people I conversed with on the subject, Heidelberg is the nursery of vipers in too many instances. First class professors of all kinds find the young men are much fonder of unseemly brawls than their Horace and Virgil. Even the son of the "Iron Chancellor" (Prince Bismarck) was confined in the University prison for three days for some misdemeanor—fancy a prison being necessary at such a place—and another young man was in prison all one session except three weeks, for infringements of the University laws, some of which are strict. If the duelling was put under the ban the place would soon become worthy of praise.

Well, to return to our visit to the castle. After climbing some four hundred feet, Temple discovered he was tired, but Woodside cried "excelsior" and I said "let her go," so the "romantic" took charge of the guide and conducted him back to the starting point, and having an evening engagement in Frankfurt, Temple boarded a train, and "Woody" and self went on climbing, until at last we surmounted the extreme peak of the very picturesque "Königsstuhl" mountain, and were soon sitting down near some students who were patronizing "Bacchus." Among them, strange to say, was a Chicago youth, who, after looking at our signatures in the visitors' book, jumped up and said, "Well, I'll be gol-darned, boys, I never expected to see you here, I saw you race in Chicago in 1883." In this youth we soon recognized an amateur who used to do some practice in the exhibition building on the lake front. A general introduction to the "white caps" followed, and as several of them spoke English I gleaned what I was after, "information" of the University. They seem a careless lot, but imbued with much good sense, and in reply to my condemnation of duelling in general, they said it was an old institution and custom, which was the only "charm" (?) to their college life in the mountains. Our newly made acquaintances soon left and went howling down the mountain path, their shouts and laughter were at last lost in the distance. Looking over the visitors' register, names and cities of America were frequently seen, New York and Chicago furnishing many. Two Irishmen, with the usual vein of Irish humor, had, of course, been up the mountains, and James Flynn, residence, Ireland; occupation, "Parnellite;" remarks, "Hurrah for Home Rule;" John O'Donnell, residence, Cork; occupation, "Moonlighter;" remarks, "Hurrah for Parnell." We climbed the 250-foot observatory tower, and as the setting sun illumined the landscape we looked towards eight famous places in European history. To our left with a golden brilliancy sparkled the waters of the Rhine, some fifteen miles distant; on our right was distinctly seen the far stretching Black forest; immediately facing us were the tall spires of the Strasburg Cathedral, and the city of Worms, a city and his defiance of temporal power in preference to possible death and retraction of his doctrine of the reformation. The town of Heidelberg looked like the miniature city of a peep show, and the river Neckar looked like a silver vein winding and squirming through the mountains and valleys. For two hours we were lost in awe and admiration of the scene. I can never forget the influence it had on me; a soothing influence, which deprived me of all energy. Never again do I expect to look on a more brilliant or impressive panorama.

"Woody," it is ten o'clock," was my exclamation, as my companion started from his dreamland reverie. "I had no idea of that, the time travelled so quickly," was the response, as we hurried down the steps, and after purchasing the inevitable "views" from the German female custodian, we made a hot pace down the mountain in the now fast closing gloom to catch our eleven o'clock train for Frankfurt. At eleven o'clock we drew up somewhere, I'll be hanged if we knew where. "We are lost as surely as were the two babes," said Woodside, and in truth we were amid pitch darkness and mystery surrounded us. We held a council of war, and the subject debated was "shall we proceed or rest in this cavern, a huge excavation in the mountain side?" "Proceed," was the reply, and so we journeyed on. It was nearly twelve o'clock when the moon arose, and in ten minutes we found we were ten miles to the left of the town of Heidelberg. Getting into a fair path we piled on steam and again soon found ourselves looking at the castle by moonlight. Hastening to the station we found the next train left at 4.30 A. M., and as we were booked for our trip down the Rhine the following day we visited the nearest hotel to the depot, giving the porter instructions to call us at four sharp. It has been reported that prowling bears had been seen on the mountains, and while resting near the cave loud growls were plainly discernible, and the rushing through and crackling of the broken, dried sticks in the path, told us plainly danger was at hand. Bracing ourselves against the side of the cavern, we drew our bottle of Schnapps and pen knives, and were preparing to sell our lives, when—"Get up, or you will be late for your train," was heard through "the keyhole in the door," and I jumped out of bed, glad to find my bear dreaming, fighting fancies were not realities.

HASTILY SWALLOWING A VILE CUP OF COFFEE,

which we had bribed the porter into furnishing, we sought the station. Here we were able to see the sun rising in all his majesty from above the mountains, and flood the valleys with its rays, so we were fortunate enough to see the sun set, moon rise and sun rise over Heidelberg within twelve hours. Arriving in Frankfurt at 7.30 (it took our train three hours to do fifty miles), and as Mark Twain puts it "were perfectly safe," Taking train for the Manz (or Mayence, as it is called in English,) we found, on arrival at the latter place, we had only ten minutes to catch a fast steamer down the Rhine to Cologne, and as the distance to the boat was a full mile we did some "hustling," and the driver who carried our not small quantity of baggage and ourselves evidently thought people with no small amount of impatience and energy were aboard. Making the "cabby" beat record, we reached the side of the pretty steamer just as the Captain had given orders to cast the gangway plank off. Throwing our baggage pell mell into the steamer, and creating a regular panic, we jumped aboard, much to the amusement of the German skipper and the crowd of well-dressed passengers who witnessed the energy displayed.

SPECIAL RATES TO BUFFALO.

NOTICE TO MEMBERS.

To New York State members—Special excursion tickets from Binghamton, N. Y., and point west of a vertical line drawn through Binghamton at one fare for round trip, with price of admission to fair added, sales to commence Sept. 3, return tickets to be available within five days from and including date of sale. Special excursion tickets from other points in Trunk Line territory at one fare for round trip, with price of admission to fair added, tickets to be sold September 3, 4, 5 and to be good for return passage within ten days from and including date of sale. Wheelmen in New York State and on the N. Y. C. and connections, will correspond with George R. Bidwell, 313 West 58th St. New York City, who has special rates and arrangements made for a special train.

Massachusetts members—The fare for the round trip from Pittsfield, Mass., will be $7.32, Springfield $8.49, Worcester, $9.71 Boston, $10.65. These rates will be good for fifteen days. The carriage of wheels will be free, but they must come on certain trains, which will be designated hereafter. Wheelmen at Florence and Turner's Falls, will take train to Springfield. These rates have been secured through the kindness of the Boston and Albany Railroad, and wheelmen are respectfully requested to form small parties and inform Mr. Ducker of Buffalo of their number. It is hoped to arrange this matter so as to start a special train from Boston especially for wheelmen and their friends. The Boston and Albany Railroad in making this concession are deserving of the patronage of wheelmen. They will also return over their line free all exhibits sent to the Exposition. Wheelmen are requested to write Mr. Ducker regarding rates and time of leaving train at their earliest convenience.

ROUTE FROM WICHITA TO HUTCHINSON, KANSAS.

No. 16,827 wishes to know something about Kansas roads. An excellent road is that between Wichita and Hutchinson. Leave Wichita, via Oak street bridge, ten miles west to "ten-mile post;" north seven miles to Colwich; between these points a mile of sand will work up one's appetite. At Colwich I will make "16,827" at home. From Colwich to Andale, seven miles, due west six miles, north one mile; Andale to Mt. Hope, one mile north, two west and four miles north; Mt. Hope to Haven, eight miles west and angle northwest, one and one-half miles; Haven to Hutchinson, north west angle fifteen miles. Good roads to speed on most of the way. Whole distance, 55 1-2 miles.

A. Jos. Henley and Harry West, of Wichita, made 100 miles Sunday, July 22, 1888, in ten hours and a few minutes, actual running time.

No. 16,228, Colwich, made a quarter in 39 3-4 seconds on a sixty-inch Spalding last Saturday, July 21.

Wichita has a club of forty members. About seventy-five wheels in town. 16,228.

NEW YORK DIVISION.

CHIEF CONSUL BIDWELL of New York has sent out a strong circular to the Division members and Consuls asking their aid in making the Division Meet at Buffalo, September 5th, the largest and most successful in the history of that Division. The transportation committee is hard at work perfecting transportation arrangements. As fast as perfected the particulars will be printed in this paper. By referring to page 279 there will be found some facts on this matter.

THEY DID NOT CLIMB MT. WASHINGTON HILL.

Editor Bicycling World: I see your correspondent from this place mentions Messrs. Stone, Suda and Lewis as having taken part in the Mt. Washington run at Baltimore, and as having climbed all the hills, Mt. Washington included, without a dismount.

Now I would not like to come right from Mt. Washington hill and countenance an assertion so wide from the truth as the above, and the more as it is known to many of the readers of your paper, who were there, to be untrue.

We of the St. Louis did not climb the hill, did not try to. Got off on various occasions. When we do dally with the truth we have the judgment to do it when there are not so many acquaintances available as witnesses.

Truly yours, C. H. STONE.

GRADE OF HOG BACK HILL, ROCKPORT, OHIO.

Editor Bicycling World: In your collection of big hills, please place Hog Back Hill, in Rockport, Ohio, 9 miles southwest of Cleveland, as our local terror. It is 810 feet long (horizontal), 115 ft. 2 inches rise, average, 1 foot in 7.04. The last 80 feet from the top rises 1 in 4.6, the next 60 rises 1 in 5, and the next 100 rises 1 in 5.6, and near the bottom is 30 feet with a rise of 1 in 5. The hill has been climbed but 4 times, each on Stars, 1st Robert Ruck, August 29, 1886; 2nd, H. E. Chubb, September 5th, 1886; 3rd, Walter Collins, October 3rd, 1886; 4th, Robert Ruck, July 22, 1888. Compared with the famous terrors, this is not a long hill, but it is the steepest of any I've heard of being climbed on a bicycle. We would like to have some of the cracks try it, and let us know just how tough it is; out here we have the utmost respect for it. This hill was surveyed September 5th, 1886, by Herman Stearns, now of Boston, who has the original survey. I only copied the steepest grades given above. To encourage some of the champions to try it, I wish you would publish this. Yours, RAMBLER.

THAT RACE OF THE ORANGE WANDERERS.

Editor Bicycling World: The newspaper prerogative of attempting to be funny, led your gifted pen into one or two misstatements last week, in speaking of the Orange Wanderers' road race. In the effort to afford a little harmless amusement, you were compelled to make assumptions and draw inferences without the slightest foundation of fact, and now that everybody has had a good laugh over the "queer ruling" of the Orange Wanderers, I trust you will permit me, by a short statement of fact, to correct the misapprehensions caused by your article.

In the first place the Wanderers have never held a club race that was not open to any and every class of machine. The first road handicap of the club was won by two members on a Humber tandem tricycle, and numerous entries have been made on safeties and single tricycles.

Secondly, neither of the tandemers have uttered a word in print until your quotation from a local daily, which without the slightest grounds, you credit to them, compels this protest. The paragraph in question was written by a green reporter of a paper, without the knowledge or authority of any club member whatever. In view of this fact, an apology would not be out of place, Mr. Editor.

Finally, there has been no protest, nor are there any indications that any will be made, and the whole affair is evidently a case of making a mountain out of a molehill, occasioned by the usual mid-summer scarcity of news bicyclic.

I enclose a paragraph from last week's Orange Chronicle, which should close the controversy. L. H. JOHNSON.

[We received the account of the affair, as printed last week, through our regular channel, and we had no reason to suppose it was not correct. We are pleased to give Mr. Johnson's letter space.—Ed.]

IN DEFENCE OF THE ACTION OF THE NEW YORK AND NEW JERSEY ROAD RACING ASSOCIATION.

Editor Bicycling World: Your criticism of us for allowing a change of teams when running off the Alphabetical Association's tie, prompts me to say a word on behalf of the Executive Committee; a word which we had hoped would be rendered unnecessary by the sober second thought, not perhaps of the cycling correspondents, but at least of cycling editors. The fact is, that you all fail to grasp the idea that our association has practically founded a new kind of race; not a race between teams, but a race between clubs. It was established primarily for the purpose of determining semi-annually which club in the vicinity of New York had the best average of road riders, as evidenced by its selection of four men for representatives at a semi-annual race. Nowhere does our Constitution recognize individuals, but only clubs; and therefore Messrs. Kluge, Baggot, Stenkin and Gubleman did not tie Messrs. T. J. Hall, Wilson, Beasley and Marion on Decoration Day, but the Hudson County Wheelmen tied the Kings County Wheelmen. This is a condition altogether different from those of the races to which you have been accustomed, and requiring different treatment.

Whether or not this was a fair condition of things or an expedient one, is something with which the Executive Committee had nothing to do: they were governed by the technicality of the law as they found it, and could not be influenced by any questions as to what hardships it might work. Speaking for myself, I think it is the fairest possible arrangement, as otherwise one of the clubs might be compelled to forego running off the tie by reason of death or illness of a man who had ridden for them in the original race, as would have been the case with both clubs in this instance; since Mr. Baggot had been seriously injured and Mr. Marion out of training on account of having to nurse his brother. In the case of an ordinary tie, if one of the competitors is in any way incapacitated from running it off, it is his own loss only; but if an entire club is thrown out on account of an accident to one of its members, it would certainly work injustice.

Under all the circumstances, therefore, your illustration strikes me as what we would have called in 1876 ultra vires.

Yours truly, E. J. SHRIVER.
Baltimore, July 27, 1888.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR THE LEAGUE

Editor Bicycling World: Having just won a victory over the anti-cycling powers in the town of Tracy, in this State, I feel constrained to give you a brief account of the affair. Tracy is a town of some 1,500 inhabitants, in the southern part of Minnesota. In June, 1888, the village Council passed an ordinance prohibiting the use of cycles on certain streets of the town. Under this ordinance several wheelmen were arrested and fined, notably, Rev. J. H. Long of Currie, an account of which appeared in your columns. The Minnesota Division of the League became interested and decided to investigate. On Saturday, July 21st, I rode into town and spent half an hour riding over the prohibited territory, one block in the centre of the town. The village Marshall failed to appear, and the Mayor and Councilman squinted at me from around corners, but didn't interfere. Later I left the town, to spend Sunday at Lake Shetek, some ten miles out, leaving word at the hotel that I would be back on Monday or Tuesday. As soon as I left the town, the authorities "braced up," talked loud, and threatened to send out to the lake and arrest me. But the talk was all wind. Monday afternoon, Rev. Long and myself rode into town and put up at the hotel, as usual. We then called on the Mayor, and endeavored in a fair and gentlemanly manner, to induce him to secure the repeal of the ordinance, telling him the League would be perfectly satisfied with an ordinance keeping wheels off the sidewalks. If this should not be done, however, we told him we would send men in, have them arrested, sue the town for heavy damages, and in all probability win our suits. He wouldn't listen to reason, but blurted out with, "No one with any brains rides a bicycle, unless he is an invalid," and continued to pour out a torrent of abuse upon wheelmen in general, and myself in particular. We soon bowed ourselves out, and went to supper. Later we hunted up the Justice and Marshal, as the Mayor told us a warrant was out for our arrest. But those worthies said there was no warrant, so I could not get in limbo. As nearly as we could ascertain, the Mayor, after his interview with me, ordered the Marshal not to make the arrest. The upshot of the whole matter was that on Wednesday evening, the Council repealed the obnoxious ordinance, by a unanimous vote, and the Mayor has signed the repeal. Thus, once more has the power of the League been demonstrated. In justice to the citizens of Tracy, I should say that almost to a man, they were opposed to the ordinance, and that it was kept in force only through the obstinacy of the Mayor, Dr. H. M. Workman. Please put his name on the black list.

Redwood Falls, Minn., July 27, 1888. A. M. WELLES, L. A. W. 4241.

[We append below the ordinance as a literary and typographical curiosity. We reproduce exactly, with errors and remarkable spelling, as it appeared in the local paper.—Ed.]

"An ordinance to prevent the riding of velocipedes, bicycles and roller skates in the village of Tracy.

The village council of the village of Tracy do ordain and establish the following ordinance.

Sec. 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to ride velocipede, bicycle or roller skates on the streets or on the sidewalks on Third and Fourth streets or on that portion of South and Morgantstreets lying between Second and Fifth Streets.

Sec. 2. Any person violating the provisions of this ordinance, on the conviction thereof, shall be subject to a fine of not less than 3 nor more than $10, or by imprisonment in the village jail not to exceed five days and costs of prosecution.

This ordinance shall be in force from and after its passage. Passed June 17th, 1887. CHAS. W. MAIN, Recorder. H. W. WORKMAN, President."

A LADY'S RECORD RIDE.

MISS MAGGIE KIRKWOOD, of Maplewood, rode a century on a tandem, in company with her brother, on July 29th. She rode from her home in Maplewood to Newbury and return, and made up the distance by a run to Cliftondale. We think this is the first century made by a New England lady.

THE POSTPONED NEW CASTLE (PA.) RACES.

THE race meeting of the New Castle Bicycle Club that was postponed on July 4th, on account of rain, will be held on August 30th. The programme has been rearranged, and new prizes will be offered. The L. A. W. half mile championship and the Pennsylvania one-mile championship will be decided.

Arrangements are being made with the rail roads to secure special rates from Buffalo, which will enable racing men training there to run down and take part in these races.

GOOD ROAD WORK OVER HILL AND DALE.

MESSRS. JO B. NORTHERN and Ed. D. Fisher left Nashville, (Tenn.), last Sunday, July 22, for a day's run (24 hours), and completed 138 1-4 miles, over common country roads, this now being the long-distance record of the State. Mr. Northern was mounted on a 52-inch New Mail. He was one of the party who made the 108-mile run a few weeks ago. Mr. Fisher rode a 53-inch New Mail. He was one of the party who wheeled from Nashville to Niagara Falls last summer, the longest day's run being 105 miles, from Cleveland, Ohio, to Erie, Pa. He also rode the 108-mile run on July 1. The Butcher hub cyclometer on his machine shows at present 3,471 miles wheeled since June of last year.

MCCUNE AND LEAVITT.

AN impromptu, though very interesting little match, was run off at Chesnut Hill Reservoir the other day between W. M. McCune and E. F. Leavitt. The distance round the basin is 1 1-16 mile, and the time made was 3:30 1-2, not very fast, as the surface was not in bang up condition. The men being together all the way round, and on the rounding into the straight 1-4 mile, speed was put on, and determined effort was made by each man. Leavitt rode hard, but McCune calculated his powers, and put on a "little bit left" just a few yards from the finish, winning the race by a bare length. McCune rode a Springfield Roadster.

100 MILE STATE OF KANSAS RECORD BROKEN.

IT has been noticed for some time the enthusiasm of the Wichita (Kansas) wheelmen is on the increase. On the morning of July 22 could be seen on the bulletin board at the Henley sign studio this inscription: "July 22, Off for Peabody. 2 Lieuts. Wichita Wheelmen." A. Jos. Henley and Harry Lesh had concluded to try their speed on a hundred mile run. They started from corner of Douglas avenue and Main street, Wichita, at 3:45 A. M.; arrived in Newton at 6:45, where they stopped forty minutes for breakfast; arrived in Peabody at 9:25, at which place they stopped until after dinner, leaving Peabody at 2:10 P. M.; arrived in Newton on return trip at 4:10 P. M.; left Newton at 5 o'clock, and arrived in Wichita at 8 o'clock, making actual time of riding ten hours and distance one hundred miles.

The hundred-mile record for the State of Kansas was made at Leavenworth on the Government pike in twelve hours by C. C. Candy, ex-Consul. Messrs. Henley and Lesh say if they would have had such roads as that they could have made it in two hours less time. The Wichita men traveled over the ordinary prairie roads, taking everything as it came, and report some of the road between Newton and Peabody so rough that it would make a pedestrian shiver to walk them.

The record breakers are to be congratulated on their pluck to tackle and success in accomplishing so long a run in so short a time, especially during such warm weather.—Exchange.

SYNYER WINS THE ENGLISH 5-MILE CHAMPIONSHIP

THIS event at North Shields, lately, brought out a splendid field, not in numbers but in quality. When such men as Synyer and Kilkelly meet, there is always sure to be blood on the moon. In the draw for position, Kilkelly got inside, Carruthers, on a safety, came next, and Synyer got outside place. Carruthers made pace, and very hot pace it was, several times he tried to run away from the others, but he could not do it. Three laps from home the racing became terribly hot, and it was not until after a game effort that Carruthers had to drop to third place. From this to the finish Synyer and Kilkelly rode neck and neck, until 50 yards from the tape, Kilkelly made his supreme effort, but Synyer proved game, and came in a winner by a few feet, time, 15m. 4 3-5s. Carruthers came in about 10 yards behind. It was a grand race.

THE WAIONTHA BICYCLE CLUB RACES.

THE Waiontha Club at Richfield Springs, N. Y., will hold a race meeting at Richfield Springs, N. Y., August 15. The following programme will be presented:

10:30 o'clock A. M.—Parade. Prizes for club having the largest number of members in line; for best drilled club; for best uniformed club, and for handsomest rider in parade. 2:00 o'clock P. M.—Races.

LIST OF EVENTS.

1, one-mile novice; 2, half-mile club novice; 3, half-mile open; 4, two-mile, Oswego County championship; 5, half-mile, hands off; 6, three-mile record; 7, one-mile team race (teams of three men); 8, fancy riding (15 minutes); 9, five-mile (15 minutes class); 10, one-mile, W. B. C. championship; 11, one-mile dash; 12, half-mile consolation.

Entrance fee fifty cents for each event. Entries close August 13th at 12 M., with August Kinne, Richfield Springs, N. Y.

RACING AT PITTSBURG.

THE Pittsburg Cycling and Athletic races, on the 25th, were well attended. The track is much better than on July 7th, when they held their first meet. The first event was the quarter mile open, won by A. C. Banker, in 42 1-5; Lenz made his effort on the home stretch, slipped a pedal, took a header; W. D. Banker tried to get around him, but failed, and bruised his knee when he fell. Lenz very foolishly, rode a machine that he was not accustomed to. Half-mile handicap, A. C. Banker, scratch, 1st, in 1:31 1-5; W. M. Justice, 40 yards, 2nd. One mile open, A. C. Banker, 1st, in 3:22; W. D. Banker, 2nd, by half a wheel. Half-mile run and ride against the record, by W. D. Banker, was made in 20.9 4-5; he fell, making the pedal mount 1-8 mile from finish; he was well inside the record and would have succeeded had he had a step on his machine. He will certainly do the record next time. The half-mile safety handicap was won by W. C. Coffin in 1:33, with Gloninger, (scratch), second. Coffin won considerable more than his handicap—next time let Coffin concede the same handicap to Gloninger, and then we will see a race. Consolation race, one lap, Justice, 1st, in 40 sec., Gloninger second.

A. C. Banker rides well, and, barring his ankle, which is poor, would make a good one—he is fairly of good physique and ought to make a good stayer.

Coffin surprised nearly every one by his speed; he rides wild on the turns, and should remedy it by a little practice.

It was a day of surprise. Gloninger was considered pretty near a sure winner in the Consolation. DUQUESNE.

WE have had occasion to try the Carter Anti-Pedal Slipper, and we found it a great aid in holding the foot firmly in place on the pedal. We found it excellent for those who use the ankle motion, as quite a good pull can be secured on the up-coming pedal. Riders should understand that this anti-slipper in no way binds the foot to the pedal. The foot is absolutely free, and can be taken as quickly from the pedal as though the anti-slipper was not attached. The price, $1.50, is ridiculously low, and they are for sale by W. B. Everett & Co., 6 and 8 Berkeley street, Boston. See advt. and cut of same on page 272.

A WALK-OVER FOR GREENWOOD.

WELLS HURTS HIMSELF.

As about 150 impatient cyclers were waiting at the foot of Eagle Rock last Saturday for Mr. Wells to put in his appearance, an excited and heated rider dashed up and announced the fact that Mr. Wells had taken a very bad header on the Ridgewood road in South Orange, breaking his machine, spraining his wrist and cutting his knee, thus incapacitating him for riding that day, at any rate. The referee at once asked Mr. Greenwood if he desired to ride over the course and claim the race. Greenwood's position in the matter was mainly in the extreme, as he refused to do this until he had seen Mr. Wells, and had communicated with his principals. In the evening Mr. Wells and Greenwood met, and it was decided that if Greenwood's principals would consent he would stay and ride the race next Saturday, Wells agreeing to pay all his expenses. The reply from the Meacham Arms Co., received on Sunday, instructed Greenwood to ride over the hill and claim the race. This was not to Greenwood's taste, but he did as he was bid, therefore, at 5.30 on Monday, Greenwood was started. The condition of the hill was horrible, being very muddy and heavy. Notwithstanding this, he struck a good pace, standing on his pedals, as he always does, and not touching the saddle. It was evident that he was going to make a record time, and this was proved, as he finished the distance in 7m. 34.4-ss., the best previous made by Chickering, Aug. 5, 1885, when the time was 9m. Greenwood then made the following proposition: That John A. Wells was to ride over the course Aug. 4, and in case his time beats that made by Greenwood, then Wells is to meet Greenwood on Son-of-a-Gun Hill, St. Louis, within four weeks. It is hoped this generous offer of Greenwood's will be accepted. He has a right to the championship and a right to the medal, so his sportsmanlike behavior in this matter will gain him many friends and admirers. Greenwood intended to have left for St. Louis to-day, but he missed the train. The length of the hill is placed at 4650 feet, with an altitude of 185 feet 4 inches. In 1400 feet the grade ranges from 7 to 11 feet in 100; the average grade is 8 feet in 100, the lightest grade being 7 feet, and the heaviest, extending 150 feet, being 12 1-2 in 100 feet. RATCHET.

SPECIAL.—July 31, 1888—Hal. W. Greenwood left for St. Louis at 9 A. M. to-day, and took with him the good wishes of a host of friends. RATCHET.

OHIO DIVISION MEET.

In accordance with your instructions I herewith hand you an account of the meet of the Ohio Division held at Toledo, July 23, 24 and 25. I also send you an official programme. [A very neat specimen of typography.—Ed.]

"Business first and pleasure afterwards," was the idea of the officers, and so the first thing we find on the programme is the business meeting. Chief Consul Dunn called the meeting to order shortly after 10 A. M. Mr. E. O. Brown, on behalf of Toledo wheelmen, extended a hearty welcome to the visitors. Among other things Mr. Brown said: "Unfortunately the President of the club is ill, and the former President, the gentleman who could more fittingly welcome you than I, is detained by the death of a relative, and it falls upon me to bid you welcome to Toledo. On behalf of the Toledo Cycling Club and the generous city of Toledo, I extend to you a most cordial welcome. You already know the programme. We shall entertain you by a moonlight ride upon the lake upon one of the finest steamers. Shall wheel or walk you through a portion of the Peninsula State, where it is claimed they have the finest roads. You will visit the City of the Straits, and finally return to Toledo, where you will again be welcomed, and be sent on your way rejoicing." Chief Consul Dunn made a fitting reply.

T. J. Kirkpatrick, President of the L. A. W., made a telling speech, in which he showed the great advance the League had made towards financial soundness and prosperity. Mr. F. C. Meyer, of Canton, Ohio, the Secretary-Treasurer, then made a report.

The present division membership is 831, an increase of 63 over last year.

Cincinnati, with 100 members, heads the list; Toledo comes next with 90; Cleveland, 83; Canton, 54; Springfield, 47; and Columbus, 26. The balance range from 11 to 22 members. The financial report shows a balance on hand of $152.41, as against $10.65 for last year.

The Division Constitution and By-Laws were made to conform with that of the national body. The meeting adjourned at 1.30.

Dinner was then in order, and at 4 o'clock the photograph was taken and was formed and put in motion, with about 150 men in line. A squad of mounted police did efficient service. It was the intention to start the parade at an earlier hour but a threatening storm delayed the event. By the time to start on the the sky had cleared up, and a more perfect night for a trip on the water could not be imagined. The music started up and the cyclers sought fair partners for the dance. A more enjoyable evening it has not been my lot to ever have. Toledo's daughters were bright, pretty and excellent dancers. We were all sorry when the Greyhound reached her wharf, and when the order "all ashore" was given.

The following morning, July 24, was bright and pleasant, and the thoughts and faces of the wheelmen were turned

TOWARDS ANN ARBOR,

Mich., for which point a special train was taken at 8 A. M. The principal part of the day was spent in riding over the fine roads of the city of Ann Arbor and vicinity, and with riding to Ypsilanti and return. At about 5 P. M. the was called. G. W. Smith Kamp, of St. Marys, made the best time up the hill but was ruled out of the race because he was not a member of the League of American Wheelmen, and the first prize was awarded to Edward J. Bamatt, of Springfield; time 2m. 54s. The second prize, L. A. W. pin, was given by this ruling to C. V. Richardson, of Bryan; time, 2m. 57 1-2s. Smith Kamp's time was 2m. 49s. He has since made application to the League for membership. The time was the best ever made in a half-mile-up-hill race, and distanced the best time made last year by the Michigan Division by 30 seconds.

After the hill contest it was "scorch" for Ypsilanti, and the last man in to sleep on the roof and be food for the festive mosquito. I have been unable to find out the name of the unfortunate one. I am sorry to report an accident that happened to Mr. Davison, of Ann Arbor. He fell and fractured his arm.

THE LAST DAY

was full of pleasure. The majority of the excursionists rode into Detroit, and under pilotage of local wheelmen "did" the city. Dinner was taken in the city, and at 6 P. M. the good steamer Greyhound was taken for Toledo, which city the excursionists reached at about 9 P. M., and then, in the language of the programme, "Good-bye."

Hospitality and cordiality on every side.

D. A. C.

FOUR DAYS' RACING INSTEAD OF THREE AT BUFFALO.

THE desire and demand for races is very great on the part of racing men, while the promised attendance of wheelmen all over the country will far exceed that of any cycle meeting ever held in the world. With this condition of affairs confronting us, supplemented by the demand for more races by wheelmen, the Fair Association has been obliged to take some action, and accordingly has voted to add one more day to the meeting, and will give races September 5. This will make the tournament days September 4, 5, 6 and 8.

The total value of prizes will be $6500. There will be ten races each day, making forty races in all. Our great 100-mile road race will make in all five days of good sport.

On the 7th the great 100-mile road race, under the auspices of the BICYCLING WORLD, but managed by Mr. Ducker, will be held, starting from Erie, Pa., and finishing on the fair grounds at Buffalo. This race will be run over the finest course in the country and valuable medals will be given.

CONNECTICUT DIVISION MEET.

THE annual meeting of the Connecticut State Division of the league of American Wheelmen was held last evening in the rooms of the New Haven Bicycle Club in Todd's block. Members of the division from other cities and towns in the state arrived early in the afternoon, and were escorted about the city and to East Rock Park by members of the local club. The business meeting was called to order at 9 o'clock by Chief Consul Tracy of Hartford. The report of the Chief Consul showed a gain in membership during the past year, both in the State and National Leagues. The membership of the League at large now numbers 10,626, an increase of 1146 since June, 1887. The report of Secretary-Treasurer D. J. Post of Hartford showed the State Division to be free from debt, with a balance of $210.10 in the treasury. The following nominations were made by President W. M. Frisbie of the New Haven Club, and confirmed by the State Division: Chief Consul, Charles E. Larom of New Haven; Vice Consul, C. E. Brockway of Middletown; Secretary-Treasurer, E. A. DeBlois of Hartford; Representatives, D. J. Post, Hartford; W. H. Squires, Meriden; W. T. Williams, Yantic; C. D. Knox, Lime Rock.

The division voted to present ex-Chief Consul Huntington of Hartford with 20 copies of the division road book, in recognition of his labors in its compilation.

The constitution and by-laws of the division were amended to conform to the laws of the National League.

After the meeting, a collation was served, impromptu speeches were made by several of those present, and the lights burned brightly in the pleasant rooms until a late hour.—New Haven News.

HARTFORD TOURNAMENT NOTES.

CYCLING talk hereabouts mainly relates to the Wheel Club's big tournament. The club men are jubilant over the prospect that their present venture is bound to eclipse any previous Hartford meet, which is certainly counting upon a good deal. Advices from prominent racing men out of Connecticut indicate a field of starters to remind one of the old days at Springfield. Comments on the programme, which is exclusively short distance in its make up, are of the congratulatory order, and show that long races are disliked by riders as well as spectators. All of the best amateur and professional riders, American and foreign, are booked for Hartford, and the local and State racing interest is at a pitch never equalled before.

During the last two years the wheel club has brought out a dozen riders, any of whom can do 2.50 and better. Most of them are now in training for the tournament. The best men are undoubtedly De Blois, Harding, Dresser, Fahy, Chapman, Gruendler and Hatch, the last named being a new rider who handsomely won the road race a month since. The club also has a unicyclist, Reed, who will pedal his single wheel against time at the tournament. Among Connecticut men outside of Hartford who are expected to add to the interest of the meeting are Hart and Arnold, of New Britain, the former now State champion; the two Fosters, of Elmwood; Backus and Pickett, of New Haven, who are now training in Hartford; Miller, of Meriden; and Lyman, Steele and Miller, of Bristol. F. F. Ives, of Meriden, ex-champion and later promateur, will make his debut as a full-fledged professional.

To the prize list has been added a Columbia Light Roadster, presented by the Weed Sewing Machine Co. "G."

JUNIATA WHEELMEN.

THE Juniata Wheelmen, of Huntington, Pa., held an impromptu hill climbing competition on the 23d, followed by a moonlight run, in honor of Mr. Scheffey, the genial representative of Messrs. Gormully & Jeffrey, of Chicago. The boys started out at a swinging gait, and kept the pace with a regularity of rhythm over the hills and through the dales of what is known as Stone Creek Road as far as Black Bridge, which had a tiring effect on the biceps of some of the juniors. On the return journey a scorch took place all the way home, which brought the boys up hills they had never climbed before, in consequence of which the hill climbing fever is now one of the special features among the wheelers of this Puritanical village. A. C. Willison, mounted on his new Springfield Roadster, and with an enthusiasm equal to that of the redoubtable P. M. H., essayed to get up School House Hill, one of the deepest graded of our many natural excrescences in this district, in consequence of which a number of persons turned out to see the heroic attempt made. Willison made a bold effort, and finally got to the top, a salvo of deafening cheers going up from the people at the foot of the hill at this exhibition of pluck and perseverance.

A run out was afterwards made in the direction of Snyder's Hill, our second steep grade, which was successfully mounted by both Willison, and D. L. Drake, mounted on a Singer Challenge; Willison afterwards climbing the grade on a 52 Singer Apollo.

Snyder's Hill is a very steep grade, has a sharp turn, and is in a very bad state of repair, consequently the two successful climbers feel that their names should be recorded amongst the immortals, while their dignity has increased two-fold.

On the 21st the Juniata Wheelmen attended an ice cream festival, held by the Ladies Loyal League of the G. A. R., attracting a motley crowd, which added somewhat to the funds of a charity having for its object the promotion of patriotism, and graced by the "sweetness and light" of the fair daughters of one of the most charming natural scenic spots in Central Pennsylvania.

Bert Miller, the efficient Captain of the Juniata Wheelmen, and whose amateur racing records are well known, has accepted a position in the commercial world that will preclude his riding for some time. He has therefore resigned his rank, and his wheel is for sale. The duties of Captain have been transferred to the shoulders of W. M. Teban, who will endeavor to fill the void left vacant by so efficient a leader as the former Captain was conceded to be. "R."

WHERE THE COLUMBIAS ARE MADE.

THERE is a homely phrase which presents itself to our mind, and which we think particularly appropriated to the fix in which we found ourselves last Thursday week. The phrase we refer to, "He has bitten off more than he can masticate." The occasion on which we felt this phrase applicable, was that of our visit to the Columbia factory at Hartford, at which time we expected to "do" the factory in a couple of hours. When we arrived there, and announced our intention of going through the factory in 120 minutes and reporting all that we saw, expressions of surprise and incredulity were manifested by Treasurer Pope and Mr. Day, the President of the factory. And when we ourselves reached the factory, and the vastness of its proportions dawned upon us, we felt that we were way off on our calculations of time, required to report what we saw, and what was worth seeing, satisfactorily. In fact, two days instead of two hours would be nearer to the mark. However, we were in for it, so under the pilotage of President Day, we commenced a race through a portion of the building. There is little doubt that this factory contains machines and tools in sufficient variety and number, to be able to turn out work of every description, and of the most complicated and varied patterns. In the matter of fitting the factory with machinery, the question of expense is never considered. It is simply a question of utility and usefulness. If it is found that there is a certain machine in existence, which they do not possess and which does certain work better than has heretofore been accomplished, that machine is at once purchased and put into active operation. This liberal system of having the best to produce perfection, is a policy which has governed the Columbia people in fitting up of this factory. The concern has many specialties in the methods of building their cycles. It will be simply impossible for us to mention one tithe of these specialties. One of them which struck us as being a good thing was the rear fork of the Volunteer, made in such a way that the gauge of the metal was much thicker at the top portion, which spans the wheel, than it was at the ends which fastened to the axle. This causes strength where strength is needed. As lightness is desired when strength is not sacrificed, a great deal of useless metal of the Columbia Light Roadster is bored out. For instance, the plug, the part of the neck to which the backbone is brazed, is usually solid; but in the case of the Light Roadster the plug is bored out, and a neat sheet iron cap is fitted in and fastened by means of pressure. This removes a great deal of weight, and at the same time in no way detracts from the strength. This system in the construction of the Light Roadster is followed whenever it is proven that the strength is in no way affected. The method of construction of the axle and hubs of the Light Roadster is also curious and expensive. In most makes the axle and hubs are made from drop forgings in one piece. This was not good enough for the Pope Manufacturing Co., and so they employed the very finest quality of steel for the axle. On to this the flanges and hubs are screwed, and, after they have been screwed home tight, they are keyed into position, so that it is impossible to get them off. So fine is the joint where the shoulder of the hub and that of the axle meet, that when turned down and finished the eye is not able to detect the joint made. It is claimed by the Pope Manufacturing Co. that by this method only, are they able to secure an axle and a hub which will not break or bend.

We were taken into the forging shop where they were placing two large extra hammers, and, as the machinery was stopped in consequence of the change, we did not see the machines at work, but there were a great many of them, and of all sizes. We were informed by Mr. Day that in a couple of weeks they expected to be fitted with an apparatus for welding by electricity, so that the old method of brazing joints would be entirely done away with. There is no doubt that this new method is far in advance of anything yet devised. It is capable of welding solid or tubular bodies, and it will weld metals of varied ductility. In fact, we were shown a rod, composed of sections of steel, iron, German silver, copper and brass, welded in one solid rod, with the joints as perfectly marked as though each section of metal was alone.

We were then taken to the engine room, where an enormous Corlis engine was running the machinery of the vast shop. "When we are out of work," said Mr. Day, "we shut down the engine for repairs, which is the usual way, I believe, and from the fact that we have not had to 'repair' the engine in two years, it can be seen that we have not run out of work."

From the engine room, we were taken to an immense fire-proof brick and iron building. "In this building," said Mr. Day, "we keep the parts of 1000 machines, so that in case of fire, we would be able to supply the market during repairs and rebuilding." It was a great sight to see the parts of these machines hung all over the building, from racks and from the roof. About four feet from the wall and eight feet apart, were two wooden frames filled with small boxes containing all the small parts of these thousand machines, each box being labelled and numbered. From here, we were taken and put on the elevator and run up three stories. This elevator passed through the centre of long machine shops, filled with machinery and busy workmen. We did not have time to get off the elevator, but stopped about half way between the floor and ceiling, and took a birdseye view of each floor. It was a most aggravating position of things, as we are particularly curious and interested in all methods of the cycle manufacture, and here we could only get a distant view of it. On one of the top floors was a large store room, filled with parts of bicycles, tricycles and safeties, ready to be put together at a moment's notice, for it is a method of the Pope Mfg. Co. not to assemble any more machines than are required to fill orders, as the daily mails may bring in. In this way the machine is newly set up, and the machine is sent from the hands of the inspector ready for the road, and with no chance for time to thicken the oil, or dampness to rust the parts. All the rooms are fitted with patent sprinklers, and at convenient points racks are placed on the wall, containing chemical fire extinguishers and glass bombs. The workmen of the shop are also organized into a thorough fire department, so that in case of an alarm, each man knows his place, and will repair at once to his duty. A fire-proof shed is in course of erection for the storage of their dies, valued at over $50,000.00.

The factory at Hartford and the office in Boston are connected by a long distance telephone over a private wire. For the comfort and the convenience of the employees a large reading room, capable of accommodating fifty men, has been fitted out with all the New York, Boston and Hartford daily papers, all the latest magazines, and illustrated papers, and all the cycling periodicals and publications of the world. Coffee is also served to the men from this room.

Mr. Day, the President of the factory is a wonderfully active and efficient man. He commenced as a boy with the Weed Sewing Machine Co., but by sheer force of character and ability, he has placed himself in the highest and most responsible position in the gift of the corporation. He is not only a thorough mechanic, but a business man, full of energy, resources and enterprise.

INTO THE YOSEMITE.

BY S. F. BOOTH, JR.

We were ready for supper at seven, and we had a delicious meal. The regular charges at the Stoneman House are $4.00 per day, but I secured a reduction to wheelmen of $1.00, making it $3.00, and if they do not wish to sit at the first table they can secure even a greater reduction. The Stoneman House was built by the State, at a cost of $40,000; contains ninety rooms, seventy-nine of which are bed-rooms, so that it possesses ample accommodation, the visitors being mostly transitory, few staying longer than one day.

While at the Stoneman House we lived very high, and sat at table with lords and noblemen galore, and we were doubtless taken by the foreign noblemen to be dukes in disguise, at any rate we were treated as though we were.

Having telegraphed for a new backbone we were ready to retire, and secured from mine host his topmost room, where we would be free from noises, as we had had some experience on the road, of people getting up at 4.30 and tramping around the verandas.

Next morning we were up bright and early and found it raining quite hard. Hastily dressing and despite the rain we were soon outside, where a beautiful sight was presented as the clouds drifted through the valley. A thunder storm was expected, but we were disappointed in that regard. After breakfast we repaired to Wells Fargo's office and got our shoes, which we had expressed to the valley to do our tramp with. Here we met the Guardian of the valley, and found him to be an old Franciscan. Having many mutual friends we were soon on good terms and secured lots of information.

After a look at the great register, wherein is recorded the names of the visitors to the valley for about ten years, we visited the Big Trees station and viewed several hundred photos. of different points of interest in the valley. Here we were kindly introduced by the Guardian, and as it was still raining we endeavored to amuse the ladies by singing some bicycle and college songs.

At one o'clock, the rain having slackened up a bit, we strolled up distant about two and one-half miles from the hotel. It was a fine walk up a gentle grade, the trees forming a perfect shade from the sun, which was now out in all its glory and fervency.

We hadn't gone very far up the trail before we came in sight of a rushing torrent tearing down over huge boulders. We both stopped and gazed in wonder, giving vent to our astonishment in a series of "grand" adjectives.

We pushed on slowly, drinking in the grand panorama, till we arrived at a bridge which crosses the stream. Arriving in the middle of it we came in sight of Vernal Falls in all its sublimity. (I'm afraid I'll exhaust my supply of adjectives before I get much farther, but I'll keep it up as long as possible.) Both our arms shot out almost simultaneously, and as we shook hands, Joe said, "That's what I have long wanted to see; a large volume of water, shooting clear from the rocks, not running down, a narrow stream, like the Yosemite." That was my own idea of what a waterfall should be, and accordingly we sat down and gazed at it till we thought we'd recognize it most anywhere.

The Vernal Falls, when we visited it, was about 80 feet wide and from two to four deep, and it sweeps over the granite cliffs with one magnificent bound to a depth of 330 feet.

I must confess that as we gazed we had an overpowering sense of the sublime sweep over us, so we determined to gain a closer inspection of such grandeur.

After crossing the bridge, we took a path to the left, which our guide had told us was a short cut. It was a short cut too, there being places where there was barely a foothold and a single misstep would have hurled us to eternity. We got round all right and soon found ourselves in the mist and spray created by the falling water. Having passed through this we found ourselves soaked through, but knowing that our Jersey suits would quickly dry, that fact didn't worry us.

We got up to a point about 20 feet off and having feasted our optics on the beautiful vision, climbed a series of ladders, we gained the summit and were soon at the brink of the falls. We drank some of the cool water, as it rushed over, perhaps a when you think of it in cold blood, but at the time, we didn't consider it so. From the top of the Vernal we had a fine view of the Nevada Falls, which is the next finest fall in the valley with a descent of 617 feet, but is not so heavy or wide as the Vernal, nor does it fall so grandly, nevertheless, as we had come to get on top of everything we walked on, up a winding, twisting trail, and soon stood on a bridge looking over the falls, from whence we had a lovely view of the canyon we had just ascended.

LEAGUE HEADQUARTERS:
12 Pearl Street, - - - Room 27.
ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary.

WE are now in the twenty thousands. Wonder how long it will be before the two steps out and lets three take its place.

MEMBERS who go away for two week or more at this time should not burden us with a change of address on our mail list. We have very many changes each week and mistakes will occur. A two-cent stamp left at the local office will secure the forwarding of the paper and save the risk of mistake always attendant upon two changes.

IN checking the names of voters in the present election the Returning Boards should not use the mail list, for it is not and cannot be accurate. Mr. A lived in Boston when he renewed, and he was credited to the Massachusetts Division. He has no right to vote in any other division, but he has removed to Chicago, and his name is in the Illinois mail list. Frequent changes of this kind are going on. Every Secretary-Treasurer is furnished with a list of renewals, and the names of applicants appear in the BULLETIN each week. It is the duty of these officers to keep an accurate list of division members, and this list should be used in sending out ballots and checking voters.

Maryland Division.—Important.

I take the pleasure in announcing that from this date and until further notice, wheelmen will be allowed the free use of all carriage drives in Druid Hill Park of Baltimore at all hours, with the exception that between the hours of 3 P. M. and 8 P. M. they will not be allowed on the drive around the Druid Lake, the plateau in front of the Mansion House, nor on the Prospect Hill. Other than these three points, which are not desirable for wheeling between the hours named above, the wheelmen can go where he may choose, yet I trust that at all times the riders will exercise the greatest possible care, and use every means to avoid any accidents, and to be especially careful when passing carriages driven by ladies. These privileges are extended by the Park Commissioners as a trial, and should there be any accidents from carelessness on the part of the wheelmen they will be taken from us, and be the means of throwing us back upon the old privilege of two through drives to the Pimlico drive. Hence I hope the wheelmen of Baltimore and vicinity will so appreciate this extension that they will not only exercise care themselves, but they will keep a watch on other riders, and stop them when they are seen violating any of the Park ordinances. Should the police stop any wheelman in the Park from riding on other than the three drives mentioned, they will please report same to me at once together with the number on the officer's helmet.

Rate of Speed.

Bicycle, tricycles and other vehicles will not be allowed to travel at a greater speed than six miles an hour.

Path Riding.

At no time and under no circumstances will a wheelman be allowed on any of the foot-paths nor the promenade going up to the Grand House in the Park. The Park police are instructed not to warn, but to arrest any wheelman violating this ordinance. In case of an arrest for such an offence, the Maryland Division L. A. W. cannot protect the offenders.

Sidewalk Riding.

I would also call attention to the fact that riding upon sidewalk within the limits of the city of Baltimore is a direct violation of the law and is punishable by a fine of $10 or imprisonment. Since the annexation of what was formerly known as the Belt, the police of the city have received special instructions to arrest any one caught riding upon the sidewalks. Hence I would caution all wheelmen against this sidewalk riding, which is still practiced by some from North avenue to the various entrances to the Park. This must be stopped. If the wheelmen want their rights asserted they must abide by the laws of the city. The Maryland Division will protect its members so long as they protect themselves by abiding by just laws. But they cannot take any action in cases that are in direct violation of such laws. Trusting our members will guard their Park privileges as a sacred trust, and take warning about footpath and sidewalk riding, I am most

To the L. A. W.

The photographs of the ninth annual meet held in Baltimore on June 18, 19 and 20, are now ready for delivery, and I am pleased to state that taking into consideration the difficulty of making a picture in the glare of a noon-day sun, it has made a very creditable picture; so much so that nearly every one of upwards of 700 faces can be easily recognized, and together with the handsome background of the Mansion House presents a very fine appearance. Members of the L. A. W. or clubs desiring to procure copies, can do so by addressing the Secretary-Treasurer of this division,

Mr. R. M. Lockwood, 1731 McCulloh St., Baltimore, Md., at the cost of $2.50 each for the large size.

Indiana Nominations.

I nominate the following ticket for Indiana Division: Chief Consul, J. Fred Probst, Terre Haute; Vice Consul, Geo. P. Davis, Rushville; Secretary-Treasurer, L. M. Wainwright, Noblesville. W. A. HUGHES,
L. A. W. No. 40—9192.

In making up the ticket, Josh neglected to name a candidate for Representative, so in behalf of his many friends I nominate Josh Zimmerman of Indianapolis for the above place.
L. W. OTTO.

New Jersey.

To New Jersey Members;

The Nominating Committee present the following ticket for your consideration:
Chief Consul, Dr. J. H. Cooley, Plainfield.
Vice Consul, Dr. G. Carleton Brown, Elizabeth.
Secretary-Treasurer, Robinson Pound, Plainfield.
Representatives, John B. Linger, Newark; Frank Eveland, Jersey City; W. B. Banker, Passaic; Dr. Fred A. Kinch, Westfield; E. F. Burns, Smithville; Henry B. Thomas, East Orange.
ROBINSON POUND, Sec.-Treas.

Michigan Division.

A reduced rate of one and one-third full fare to delegates attending the State meeting at Grand Rapids, August 18, has been obtained over the following railroads:

Chicago and West Michigan.
Chicago and Grand Trunk.
Detroit, Lansing and Northern.
Detroit, Grand Haven and Milwaukee.
Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic.
Flint and Pere Marquette.
Grand Rapids and Indiana.
Lake Shore and Michigan Southern.
Michigan Central.

Grand Rapids, Lansing and Detroit.
Cincinnati, Wabash and Michigan.
Grand Trunk (Detroit Div.).
Toledo, Saginaw and Muskegon.
Wabash and Western.

The following conditions must be adhered to, to obtain the reduced rate:

Delegates must purchase regular full fare tickets from starting points to Grand Rapids, and secure from the ticket agents at starting points a receipt on the certificate sent them, showing that they have paid full fare to destination, and on arrival at Grand Rapids have E. M. Moor, Chairman Local Transportation Committee, sign certificate on the back; this will show that you have been in attendance, and the ticket agent at Grand Rapids will, on surrender of each certificate, sell delegates a return ticket at one-third regular unlimited fare, via route as traveled going to the meeting.

Delegates should be particular to have their certificate properly filled up and signed by agents at starting points, if they wish the benefit of the reduced rate returning.

Do not buy your ticket before August 17, as certificates will not be honored if it is. E. M. MOOR, Chairman Local Trans. Com.

Annual Meet Iowa Division.

L. A. W. meet at Grinnell, Ia., July 17, 1888, called to order by Vice Consul C. W. Dibble.

The Secretary-Treasurer made a brief report; full financial report to be made Sept. 1.

The Touring Board reported that they had planned a tour per instructions of Division, and were ready to start.

Committee on Constitution and By-Laws reported, and report was adopted.

The Chief Consul then appointed Messrs. Emerson, Cropper and Sherman as Nominating Committee, who reported at once as follows:

For Chief Consul, R. L. Thompson, Muscatine; Vice Consul, C. W. Dibble, Osceola; Secretary-Treasurer, J. F. Rall, Cedar Rapids; Representative, H. L. Chase, Cedar Falls.

J. F. Rall positively declining to serve another term, Mr. H. B. Cropper of Cedar Falls, was nominated as Secretary-Treasurer, after which the report of the committee was adopted.

The following was then unanimously adopted: The Iowa Division, League of American Wheelmen, recognizing the courtesy we have received from the railroads of Iowa,

Whereas, There is great difference in the methods of transporting bicycles on the various roads;

Resolved, That we respectfully ask you to consider the subject of making uniform the methods of transporting wheels as baggage, and request that a genera order be given us for publication at our expense in the guidance of Iowa wheelmen; and Resolved, That we respectfully favor the check system of carrying bicycles.

 J. F. RALL,
 Secretary-Treasurer.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member."

Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The Tenor of Testimonials of

NEW MAIL

And coming to us every day. No question about this Wheel's standing in the estimation of riders.

The Wheel of Wheels!!

The demand keeping up all the time.

TESTIMONIALS:

NEW YORK.

MESSRS. WM. READ & SONS:

Dear Sirs—I must give you the praise that is due the New Mail.

I have been a rider for the last 12 years, and have been on almost every wheel in the market, but have at last struck my favorite of all, the New Mail, one of which is now in my possession. It is, without exception, the truest, easiest and lightest running machine I was ever on. I was first struck with its handsome appearance, and when I tried it I immediately disposed of my old one and purchased this one I now have. I can recommend this wheel above all others, and you are at liberty to use this.

Yours truly,

G. F. PERRIN.

Volume XVII.

Topeka, Kansas, July 17th, 1888.

Overman Wheel Co., Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen--I have just returned from a two hundred mile jaunt through Central Kansas on my '88 pattern VICTOR.

I have examined it carefully since returning, and do not find a point about it that needs attention or adjusting.

I never once used a tool on it while out, or adjusted a bearing, not even the head, and my wheel is perfectly quiet, although the greater part of the road was very hard and rough, and jarred the wheel very much.

I did not spare the wheel at all, as I kept the saddle on all occasions, both up and down all the hills, and in every rough place.

I cannot find a point in the 1888 VICTOR to criticise, and that is saying considerable about a wheel for me.

Yours very truly,

WM. TAYLOR,
Rep. Kan. Div., L. A. W.

DIFFICULT REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

WE'RE READY FOR IT.

What a hurrah there is over the September tournament!

We must wade in stream up to the arm-pits, and catch the trade in Bicycling Uniforms that belongs to us. Doesn't it belong to us?

The National Association says: "They make the best Uniforms."

Well, then, we're going to back up their say-so by making the best, and not one that doesn't deserve over and over the name of The Best Bicycling Uniform to be got. Yes, you'll say yourself: It's the best to be got anywhere.

Why shouldn't we? The railroads of this country, the crack military associations, the crack cadets, the crack bands get us to make their uniforms. It comes as natural to us to make good uniforms as if we did nothing else.

But we do do something else. We make the best everyday clothing and fine clothing in the country. If you sent to us for a Full Dress Suit for a wedding we could send it at a half-hour's notice. Or, a Suit to mountain-climb in.

The whole clothing business is at our finger-ends.

That's why we make the best Uniforms. Send your order along.

CUT THIS OUT and show it to your fellow wheelmen. It will no appear in every issue. Do you want a $10.00 or $5.00 Cyclometer? We will send you one Free, any make you desire, and this is the way we propose to do it: Every wheelman who orders a within the next 30 days will get mailed with his carrier a number corresponding with one which will be placed in a Box. At the expiration of 30 days the numbers will be thoroughly shaken up together, and one drawn out; the party holding the number to correspond with the one drawn will secure a $10.00 Cyclometer. The numbers will be thoroughly shaken again, and a second number drawn, the lucky holder of which will secure a $5.00 Spoke Cyclometer.

Now is your time. You have got to buy a luggage carrier, and you may as well get a cyclometer with it Free. Every wheelman wants a cyclometer (you stand a good chance of getting one of the two), and every wheelman needs a luggage carrier. There is none equal to the "Ross Improved; fits either crank, Star or safety bicycles. Our Carrier is new, and not known at all by thousands of wheelmen; therefore we make this splendid offer in order that wheelmen who have not seen it may know what a convenient carrier it is. Believing every wheelman who has not a carrier, and many that have, will avail themselves of this grand opportunity to get a new carrier at regular price, and a first-class cyclometer gratis. The Ross Carrier is detachable, and is made stronger and better than ever before. Do not fail to send your order at once. You can have the use of the carrier from now on and secure a chance on two prizes.

Carriers finely made and nickeled. Price only $1.00. By mail $1.10. In ordering be particular and state name of wheel and year of manufacture.

J. S. DEAN.

BOSTON, 10 AUGUST, 1888.

WE are requested to make a prominent notice to the effect that wheelmen who do not make some early provision for lodging at Buffalo during the tournament next month "may have to sleep on the soft side of a plank," as our correspondent forcibly puts it. A reference to our columns under the head of Buffalo Tournament will give much valuable information on this point and others.

ENOUGH has been said by us for the present, we hope, on the matter of the behavior of certain wheelmen at Baltimore to make a lasting and salutary impression on the minds of the offenders and of those who are inclined to do likewise. We therefore dismiss the subject, trusting that occasion may never again occur to refer to the painful episode. Reposing in the pigeon holes of our desk we have at least twenty letters sent us for publication endorsing our position in this matter, and handling the subject and the offenders in no gentle way. We must thank our correspondents for their evident interest in the cause of law and order, and we must crave their pardon if we relegate their contributions to the waste basket. In dropping the Baltimore affair we do not wish to be understood as having abandoned our intention of hitting the first head of similar ugliness that may unfortunately presents itself.

TWO THOUSAND MILES A-WHEEL.

A wiry sun burnt young man walked into our sanctum the other day and introduced himself as Elmer P. Junkins, of Abilene, Kansas. Mr. Junkins impresses one as being a modest man, but one of determination and grit. He has made a trip on his wheel from Abilene to Boston, a distance of some 2000 miles, in forty-one days of actual riding time. He started May 16th, and arrived in Boston August 30. His route lay through Kansas City, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Columbus, Cleveland, Buffalo, Syracuse, and thence via the Mohawk Valley to Albany. He came into Boston via Pittsfield and he found some pretty tough roads. He states that some of the worst roads he encountered were found in Missouri, and he also found some very fine roads in that State. The best roads he found in Indiana and Ohio, and he speaks in high terms of the route picked out for our 100-mile road race Sept. 8. "A finer stretch of 90 miles it will be hard to find," so he says. The trip was taken entirely for pleasure, and he kept his plans quietly to himself, as he was not anxious to pose conspicuously as a great tourist. He speaks in terms of gratitude of those wheelmen who showed him courtesies on the way. This is Mr. Junkins' first trip east, and he proposes to see what we are like before he returns to his home in Abilene. He will railroad it to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, and from this place he may take to his wheel again and complete his trip as he commenced it. Mr. Junkins has held the position of Deputy Registrar of Deeds at Abilene for four years. He rode a 54-inch Expert Columbia, and he speaks in the highest terms of praise in the manner the machine carried him without a break through his long and hard journey.

W. S. DOANE ON HIS WAY EAST.

HE HAS SOME HARD EXPERIENCES.

We are in receipt of advices from W. S. Doane, dated Omaha, Neb., August 1, in which he states he left Denver, Sunday, July 21, and then proceeds to give an account of his weary journeying over the mud roads, the dry sand, and the mire holes of the district between Omaha and Denver.

After a terribly hard trip of ten and a half days, covering a distance of 597 miles, he reached Omaha. Over 80 miles of that distance was covered on foot. On the second day out he walked 27 miles through deep sand, during 10 of which he did not see a house nor was he able to procure a drop of water. Hard luck still pursued him, for on the third day out on the prairies, he lost his way, and to add to his misery he got mired in an overflowed irrigating ditch. Here deep mud took the place of deep sand, and in order to get his wheel to revolve he had to stop and clear out the mud from the forks. After a pretty hazy time, he arrived at North Platte, and here he was delayed half a day by a heavy rain storm, making the roads impassable. On the fourth day out he fell into a mud hole, sinking up to his waist. This was a short distance from Plum Creek, at which place he found an enterprising Club, and an excellent quarter-mile cycle track. Mr. N. T. Fisk, a local rider, showed the tourist many kind attentions, and sent him on his way towards Kearney, rejoicing, the next day. At Kearney, Mr. S. F. Spafford took Doane in hand, and showed him the attractions of this western town. Mr. Spafford took him up to the Kearney Driving Park, where there is a nice pond for swimming and boating, and a hall for dancing. In the winter they have tobogganning, and thoroughly enjoy themselves. While walking the railroad track between Plum Creek and Kearney, Mr. Doane met a boy, who after looking hard at the wheel for quite a while, asked "if them sticks didn't ever break," meaning the spokes. He met Mr. B. W. Cole, a very enthusiastic wheelman, at Grand Island, and was well looked after by him. Mr. Cole has quite a name as a fast road rider in Eastern Nebraska. Doane has waded through about twenty creeks with his shoes on, and one morning walked 17 miles with wet feet. The roads he found in very poor condition. He has taken about fifty headers so far, but as yet has not been badly hurt, although he is kind of sore. His machine, a 50-inch Apollo, is in first-class shape. He cannot speak in too high terms of its strength and running qualities. He expects to reach Boston about Sept. 1, and will keep us posted as he goes along.

Mr. Doane may be a contestant in the BI. WORLD 100 mile road race. He will have a chance to see the road, as it is right on his course.

The Denver riders expect to have a strong team to represent them at the Buffalo Tournament.

A ROCHESTER paper says: "To show how interest is increasing in bicycle racing, there were at a recent tournament held in Boston 30,000 people." This item only goes to prove that we have to slide away from our native hearth once in a while in order to get the news.

ENGLISH LETTER.

"SENATOR."

AFTER completing two engagements at Amsterdam and Scheveningen, on July 14 and 15, against horses, which commanded a large attendance of spectators, Allard and Temple returned to England the following day, the former going to Coventry to prepare for his match in tricycles with Frank Moore, who is known, in fact both men are favorably known to American cyclists through their visits to Springfield. The match was to take place at Ashton, on Saturday last, and I would not be surprised to see Frank Moore win, as the training Allard received in the Continent was slight indeed, owing chiefly to bad weather. Temple wished to spend a day or so in London, for the purpose of rest, and to order some "purple and fine linen" wherewith to astonish his western friends, and was to have taken some practice on the Crystal Palace track, but in a note he says, "I thought a few days rest would be better, and Mr. Hillier thought so too." If Ralph had said "I thought the sweet company of an Islington young lady much to be preferred to slogging around the Crystal Palace track," he would have been nearer the mark. This same "demon pedaler" is a cute one.

TEMPLE is fast recovering from his fall, the result of which, strangely to say, was the almost total collapse of his memory for ten days, a fact Dr. Turner of London, assures me happened to a friend of his some time ago. He says it was the result of the shock and fright attendant to a sudden and unexpected concussion of the head. The "little un" meets Fred Wood at Leicester, next Saturday, at a quarter, half, and one-mile, two out of three, to run. I expect he will give Ralph some trouble, as Wood lives on the track, and Temple is not impressed favorably with the corners of same, since his match with Howell over the same course.

I FINISHED my business on the Continent, and so we proceeded to London, via Flushing and Queensboro, and arrived at Modern Babylon at midnight, the 31st. The following day Temple thought the Coventry air would suit him for a few days, so he skipped, and will train with Allard there, and then proceed to Leicester. Woodside, feeling patriotic, thought the North Coast of Ireland and some sea bathing for three days would improve his looks and health, so he skipped also, and will join Temple in Leicester, on Tuesday. This left me to battle against the sins of London single-handed, and alone I took in the N. C. U. five-mile Tricycle Championship on Saturday, being commissioned by the Sporting Life to give their readers an account of same in Mondays issue. The race took place at Paddington Grounds, in the West End, over the new three-and-a-half-lap track, which is a good one, and will in another year be fast. The race, if it can be called such, was one by F. J. Osmond, after a disgraceful exhibition of loafing tactics, which caused loud groans and hisses from the people, to remind the competitors that they had paid to see a "race," and not a burlesque. It was the most un-amateurish proceeding I ever saw, and "head-work" was carried to the extreme. Dr. Turner, a strong London favorite, was the only competitor that could be dignified by the title of "sportsman." The others showed themselves to be little better than hardened "pot hunters." A moderate company, only, saw the race (?), and proved quite enough for the quality of same. A mile handicap served to cover the champions who took part in the tricycle event with disgrace, and an University contest between raw riders helped matters further. Osmond, Wood, Bower, Edge, and Langley should have been all fined and suspended for loafing, but as the race was run in heats, the fastest in each, and no fastest, loser, and the fact that the best men being drawn together in their heats, was the cause of the loafing. If one good man, and two who went for time medals were put in each heat, as per Hillier's suggestion, the loafing would have been stopped.

I WENT to Ripley yesterday, on a tandem, with H. J. Swindley, London editor of the Cyclist, and dined with Osmond, Gatehouse, Swindley, Hillier, Dr. Turner, Wood, Edge, and others. I enjoyed the trip very much, and the little service in the church, in which Hillier read the lesson, was attended by a host of riders. I saw the Cortis Memorial Tablet and Window, and was introduced by Mr. Hillier to the Reverend Hooper, who officiated, and who was pleased to learn that the little Ripley Church was known in America. On the road we met "Papa" Nain, W. McCandlish, of Wheeling, and many others. The latter, riding a Safety, accompanied us most of the way back. I was toggled in a handsome road suit of Mr. Swindley's, and the distance from Mr. Swindley's house to Ripley and back is 42 miles. The scenery to Ripley is grand, and the roads yesterday only fair. The American Team, according to present arrangements, sail from Liverpool home on August 11. A cable will apprise you of the sailing.

ST. LOUIS.

"LINNEUS."

HAL GREENWOOD got back from New Jersey last Thursday. He states that he was well received by the wheelmen in and about Orange, and speaks particularly of the fine treatment received at the hands of L. H. Johnson and H. A. Smith & Co. He claims the hill, Eagle Rock, is not to be compared to our "Son of a Gun," it being more like Solomon, with exception of a little stiffer grade above the stone crusher. He saw Wells at Newark, previous to the race, "monkeying with a Safety," and seeming to be in no hurry at all to get his machine or himself to the scene of the contest. He claims further that Wells was not hurt so badly by his fall as he claimed, and could have ridden the race had he so wanted. Greenwood climbed the hill in a trial on Monday, in 6.35. The time of the "official climb" was 7.37.45. The telegram which Wells claimed to have received from E. W. Beach was bogus. The whole affair in a nutshell looks like a case of crawfish on part of Wells.

WALTER WYLIE and E. N. Sanders, I am happy to state, have both recovered from their attack of typhoid fever, and are able to be about again.

D. M. LEWIS, of Omaha, was in town Sunday and Monday, seeing the sights. He spoke of wheeling as being on a boom in Omaha, and all agencies doing a good business.

HARRY CRANZ, took his first ride of the season while at Clarks-ville, and Dr. Em Senseney, ex-Chief Consul of Missouri Division, took his first spin since his return from Europe.

EDGAR FLOYD-JONES, when returning home from the League meet, toured through part of Ohio, from Cincinnati to Springfield and other points, and is lavish in his praises of Ohio's roads.

THE St. Louis Wheel Co. have again put up a bulletin board in their store, and as in the past, parties searching for news, will come to the agency. N. B.—A little more work in getting League members, would not hurt you, Percy.

ALEX AND AB LEWIS returned from their trip to Lake Maxinkucki last Saturday. They spoke as having had a fine time, and will be sure to go again next year. This place is getting to be a regular wheelmen's Mecca, and I hear of a large number of riders who will spend their vacation there next season.

THE votes for the coming election are coming in slowly, and Geo. Boswell, Chairman of the committee to count the votes, stated that all told there were about 100 votes received to date. Division members should remember that the time to vote is limited to August 15. Be sure to vote before then and vote for A. M. Lewis for Vice Consul.

W. H. BREWSTER, was at Clarksville only a few days ago, and states that he never saw the town so dead, as far as wheeling is concerned. The boys were as cordial as usual, but no one with the exception of Mr. Minlar, rode a wheel while he was there. That's too bad, Messrs. Clifford, Coke, et al. With your fine roads there is no excuse for this.

THE Missouri Division Meet will be held at Kansas City, in September, and if a good track is provided, and the races are above the scrub order, a large attendance from the "Future Great" can be reasonably assured. Ladish is a hustler whom we all know, and no doubt will duplicate his Clarksville successes, providing he takes hold of the races in earnest.

E. C. KLIPSTEIN, I am sorry to state, is going to leave us, he having accepted a fine offer made him to take charge of the Drawing Department of the public schools of Springfield, Mass. I commend him most heartily to the Springfield wheelmen. They will find him to be a whole-souled, generous man, and a wheelman in all that the name implies.

THE Eurota Club, fourteen strong, went to Clarksville two weeks ago, and had an elegant time spinning over the fine gravel roads of Pike Co. So little has been heard of the Eurotas lately that I thought them dead, but this proves the contrary to be the case. I also understand that even in spite of their small membership, they turn out more members on club runs than any of the other clubs.

THE steamer "Bald Eagle" has made wheelmen a special rate to Clarksville of $3.50. This includes meals and stateroom and also lodging on boat Sunday night and return by rail. Those that wish to go down on the 3 o'clock train will be awakened by the boat's watchman, and will arrive at St. Louis 7.30 A. M. Monday. The rate is very cheap and should be an inducement to wheelmen to make the trip.

NOT a single applicant for membership in the L. A. W. from the Missouri Division was published last week. From being the seventh or eighth largest division, Missouri has dropped to about tenth place, and such divisions as Maryland and California have passed her long ago, and now even Michigan leads by a few members. By all means, something ought to be done to change this condition of things.

PERCY STONE met with a serious accident last Thursday. In attempting to push down a window he had the misfortune to slip, thrusting his hand through the window, cutting it in a fearful manner. He now wears the member bandaged, and all hopes of his taking part in the Buffalo Tournament have vanished. His accident, particularly at this time, is very unfortunate as St. Louis' hopes were placed in Percy to bring back the amateur championship.

NEW YORK AND LONG ISLAND NOTES.

"WING FOOT."

Seems queer, as we never have any at Flushing.

THE Southern road is now in its finest condition.

THE Brooklyn had a party of ten down at Captain Stillwell's, Bath, last Sunday.

LIEUTENANT WISE, of the L. I. W., spent last week in a little trip of 329 miles down the island to Shelter Island.

MR. BORLAND, B. B. C., holds the record for the club for July, with over 800 miles, as does Mr. Murphy, K. C. W., of his club, with 1200.

MR. WATERS, B. B. C., has given up wheeling, on the advice of his physician, for a month or so, on account of the threatened impairment of his health.

TWELVE of the Kings County Wheelmen rode down to Patchogue on Saturday afternoon last and returned on Sunday afternoon, after a most enjoyable visit, during which they had a sail on Great South Bay.

ONE of the Oakland Lake photos, of the Mercury's party, can now be seen at my office. I have not yet received the negative, but will announce where the prints can be obtained, in this column, when received.

A PARTY of ladies and gentlemen from the Harlem Wheelmen spent Thursday afternoon, the 2d, at Bayside, a-wheel, taking supper at "Crocherons," and returning by the S. P. M. boat from College Point.

THE proprietor of the Mansion House, Roslyn, complained last Sunday that three cyclists from Brooklyn had ordered dinner at his house and then decamped, without waiting to explain. This sort of thing hurts the fraternity in general.

THE Kings County Wheelmen are down for a run to Roslyn tomorrow afternoon, and will probably go on to the hop at "Gardner's," Sea Cliff, in the evening, or return by the boat to New York. A picnic run is spoken of for Sunday at Success Pond.

THE Long Island Wheelmen's club house is used to such an extent by the members for the storage of wheels as to necessitate an increase of floor space in their wheel room, and have introduced an elevator in the rear of the first floor, which permits of taking wheels of any size down into the basement, which is light and dry. The L. I. W. number 128 members at present.

IN order to best reach Sea Cliff, Glen Cove or beyond, the road through Roslyn should be followed to the left, past the horse fountain, and steamboat dock, direct up the hill to the big sign of "Central Boulevard," turning right at Blind End, and left at top of long hill.

I HAVE the straight tip that a certain capitalist of New York is negotiating for the purchase of the entire town of Sea Cliff, and if he succeeds, just watch the fur fly. The situation of Sea Cliff is possessed of great natural beauty, and under a liberal management could be made a veritable garden spot. The individual I have in mind never goes into an undertaking except to succeed, if only by reason of the power of his wealth, which is very large. There are already several fairly good hotels and numerous boarding houses, and it makes a splendid point for a short morning trip from the metropolis, returning by boat in the afternoon. College Point to Sea Cliff is about 18 miles by the North Shore Turnpike direct, rather sandy, but better by way of the Jericho Pike.

NEW JERSEY NOTES.

"RATCHET."

A JERSEY CITY paper is responsible for the statement that "Stenken will not do any more road racing, but will confine himself to the track. He will enter races at Hartford, Binghamton, Poughkeepsie, Albany and Pittsburg. He weighs 172 pounds, and rides a 28-pound wheel." What's the matter with Buffalo and Roseville, Charley? Kluge goes to Buffalo in a few days to "prepare."

E. P. BAGGOTT is coming round in good shape. His fall on the Fourth was a "shaker," and he was in luck to escape more severe injuries.

THE Orange Athletic Club will give a series of open-to-all games at Roseville on October 6. The events will comprise a one-mile and two-mile bicycle race.

ON Saturday, July 28, John F. Kilgour was riding a bike through Passaic street, when suddenly the little wheel went up, and young Kilgour went "over the handle-bar," landing on his head. He was picked up unconscious, and carried to the depot, where he was attended by a physician. He afterward came to, and was removed to his home in a carriage, but it will be some time before he will be out as well as ever.

TWO wheelmen, one of whom was D. R. Bassett, of the Passaic County Wheeling and Athletic Club, started to ride Eagle Rock on Sunday morning. Mr. Bassett depended entirely on back pedalling as his machine had not any brake. When about one-third of the way down Mr. B. lost control and was dashed violently, head first, into a pile of stones. He was unconscious for a long time, and at first, concussion of the brain was feared. He was removed to Memorial Hospital, and at last accounts (Tuesday) he was reported out of danger, though still too low to be moved to his own home.

BUFFALO.

"MERCURY."

A PARTY of Rochester wheelmen were the guests of Mr. Ducker and the Ramblers Bicycle Club. They intend holding a tournament of their own the latter part of August; it will not, however, prevent them from attending the World's tournament.

DR. SARAH MORRIS gave a talk to the ladies' wheel club on physical development.

ROWE has arrived. Watch for interviews in the local papers; they are sure to come.

THE moonlight runs of the Buffalo Club have become quite popular and are largely attended.

THE team race between the local and Rochester Clubs will be one of the most exciting events on the programme.

HERE'S a regular Baltimore-Druid-Hill-Park-cry; especially when coasting: "Hey! young feller, that's going faster than six miles an hour."

THE proposed repair shop of J. H. Isham's that was to have been built on the avenue has failed to materialize as yet. What's the matter?

THE lantern parade by the Ramblers of last Wednesday was quite a success. They made a very brilliant appearance. Try it again, Captain Hanenstein.

PRESIDENT KELLNER and ex-Captain Fuch of the Ramblers B. Club, are taking a two weeks' trip in the Northwest. They intend booming the tournament as they go along.

CAPTAIN HANENSTEIN has announced a club run to Fort Niagara, Youngstown, 40 miles, for August 4th, also a run to Rochester and Charlotte, 80 miles for the latter part of August.

THE Buffalo Club have almost reached their limit, the Ramblers have doubled their membership since last March, the Zigzags (newly organized) has a membership of forty. What is the cause of this increase? "The World's Tournament."

MESSRS. VERNON HALLIDAY, George A. Schofield and W. F. Kingan of the Peterborough Bicycle Club and Mr. Douglass of the Lockport Bicycle Club were entertained by the Ramblers at their rooms the past week. They are touring through Western New York.

NEWS

AND COMMENT.

Bicycle Company.

ENTRIES to Buffalo tournament races close August 27.

OUR road race will take place Sept. 8, instead of Sept. 7.

SEE particulars in regard to this race in another column of the paper.

ENTRIES to BICYCLING WORLD'S 100-mile road race from Erie, Pa., to Buffalo, N. Y., close September 6th.

CHECKERS and timers are wanted by Mr. Ducker all along the route of our 100-mile road race.

THE Hyde Park (Mass.) Ramblers are fast completing arrangements for its race meeting August 25.

"SENATOR" MORGAN and his aggregation of "merrie men" sail from Liverpool to-morrow, August 11th.

It is probable that Caldwell's accident on the Boston Common July 4 will disable him permanently for racing. We are sorry to hear it.

A CURIOUS accident happened to Mr. F. A. Gilmore of Waterville, Me., the other day. He dropped his whistle and it caught in between his wheel and the fork causing him to come down to Mother Earth with great force.

We have tried hard to see Mr. C. S. Howard since his return to Boston. We have called at his office three times, but failed each time to connect. We are pleased to hear that the trip has been of benefit to Mr. Howard.

THE Williamsport (Pa.) Wheel Club give substantial evidences of being a good riding club. Fifteen members up to June 19 show a total mileage of 16,019 miles. There have been twenty century runs made by eight members during the same period.

ON Sunday, August 5, 1888, Wm. A. Mills, of Taunton, Mass., succeeded in climbing College Hill, Providence, R. I. Mr. Mills is the first member of the Taunton Bicycle Club who has ever climbed this hill. He mounted his machine on Market Square, and rode to Hebronville without a dismount.

"THE B. WORLD thinks there is only one paper in Kentucky, and, as usual, fails to credit properly."—Louisville Commercial. We beg our esteemed contemporary's pardon. We should have credited the Commercial and not the Courier Journal for our excerpts of the Indiana tour. We, however, take exception to the words "as usual."

MESSRS. WHEELER, Williams and Steuber, of the Williamstown Wheelmen, expect to start August 4, on Niagara Express, for a two weeks' trip, wheeling from Elmira to Buffalo via Rochester, the route continuing to Niagara Falls, Lewiston, Toronto, and over the celebrated Kingston road to Kingston, and through the Thousand Islands to Montreal. The return trip has not yet been definitely decided upon.

THE Richmond and Danville Railroad Company, of Virginia, have swung into line and have issued the following circular to its baggage masters: "Bicycles accompanied by owners and plainly tagged, with the address and destination corresponding with ticket held by them, may be transported free in baggage cars at owner's risk. When the above conditions are not complied with, bicycles must be turned over to the express company or the freight department for shipment."

OUR correspondent, "Star," from Cincinnati, sends us the following notes "thrown off": "Mr. A. B. Norton, of the C. B. C., is experimenting with an air-brake for safeties, and is very sanguine as to his ultimate success. Mr. Thomas Shultz, of the same club, was seen riding his safety up Taylor Creek Hill with his feet on the foot-rests and only one hand on the handle-bar. What was he doing with the other hand? Why, he was just pushing a loaded market wagon up the hill in front of him, that's all. The extreme fondness that some wheelmen manifest for milk whenever they visit Miamitown is at last explained; the cow that gives the milk was raised near a distillery."

A SYRACUSE (N. Y.) man writes: "L. A. W. '18405' and 'yours truly,' No. '18404,' have just returned from a run to New York City, a distance of some 325 miles, which we covered in five and one-half days, actual riding time nine hours per day. Roads from here to Illion, fair, but from Illion to Albany, poor. From Albany to New York the roads are grand, and just out of Poughkeepsie they are 'fine as silk,' a la New York road book. From Albany we rode in company with Messrs. Brinsmade and Shannon, of the 'Forest City Ramblers,' Cleveland, Ohio, and on the 12th July, in one run into Rhinebeck, N. Y. (the home of Levi P. Morton), we made 12 1-4 miles in 49 minutes, over a beautiful macadam road. Let every New York wheelman try the 'Old Post road' from Albany to New York."

THE District Columbia Division met last week and passed the following preamble and resolutions: "Believing, that the police regulation requiring bicycles and tricycles to be provided with bells and lights is unnecessary, and that it is better and safer for us to get out of the way of pedestrians, than to signal them to get out of our way; and Believing, that we have the same rights as horsemen and the owners of private vehicles (who are not required to carry bells and lights) and that fewer accidents, and of a less fatal character, occur through the carelessness of cyclists than through the carelessness of drivers; and Whereas, nearly 4000 cyclists in this city are put to a great inconvenience and annoyance by this regulation; Be it resolved, That we respectfully request that the same be repealed."

No. 19846, of Grand Rapids, Mich., propounds some questions which we are pleased to answer. We number his questions and answer each separately:

- (1) Can a rider who has previously ridden in a race or races be classed as a novice?—A novice race is open to those who up to date of event have never won a prize except in a club contest.
- (2) Can a professional enter an amateur race?—No.
- (3) Can an amateur enter a novice race?—Of course he can, that is provided he has never competed or won a prize other than as above.
- (4) Can a novice, if he chooses, enter an amateur race?—Certainly, providing he is an amateur according to the League ruling.
- (5) As to the racing rules in full, if our correspondent will address Gerry Jones, of Binghamton, N. Y., with stamp, Mr. Jones will send him a copy of the rules complete.
- (6) The best amateur quarter-mile, 37 1-5; half-mile, 1.14; both done by Percy Furnivall. The best mile, 2.32 2-3; made also by Furnivall. The quarter and half mile records above are "world's records." Rowe, professional, holds the one-mile world record, in 2.29.

WELLS FAILS TO GET THERE.

(Special to the World.)

WELLS climbed Eagle Rock this afternoon; started at 4.30; time, 9 min. 30 2-5 sec. Officials same as when Greenwood climbed. This gives Greenwood the championship and medal. RATCHET. Newark, N. J., August 9th, 1888.

TEMPLE AGAIN WINS.

HE BEATS HOWELL FOUR TIMES IN SUCCESSION.

AN Associate Press dispatch, dated London, August 8th, says: "At Birmingham today, Temple of Chicago won the half-mile and 10-mile bicycle championships, defeating the best English bicyclists and several Americans. Temple during the week has defeated Howell, the English champion, four times in succession."

MR. HOWELL DENIES THE CHARGE.

Editor Bicycling World: There appeared in the issue of the Wheel of July 26th an insulting article charging me with unfair riding at Cape May, this accusation is absolutely false. I did not foul Halsted, or any other competitor, and can produce affidavits from witnesses to that effect. Hoping that you can give me space for this, I am, Yours respectfully, LEWIS A. HOWELL. Milleville, N. J., July 30, 1888.

By far the most essential quality in a tandem next to ease of running and excellence of manufacture is

PERFECT PRACTICABILITY.

This is contained in the highest possible degree in the American Challenge Tandem

Which is the only tandem tricycle in the world that can be successfully run on Every Sort of American Roads.

It can be steered, too, and braked by both riders, and can be ridden by two ladies.

Between the two riders is ample room for a child's seat, which we furnish at an extra cost of $5.

By all means see this machine before purchasing the ordinary three-track type, lest you become burdened with a practically useless tandem for touring purposes.

GERMANY, THE RHINE, HOLLAND AND BELGIUM.

BY THE "SENATOR."

ONE of the most delightful trips on the water that a being can enjoy is down the famous Rhine to Cologne, famous for its cathedrals, crown jewels, elegant carvings, etc. On the Rhine you pass the long stretch of vineyards, which produce the "deep, deep draughts of the good Rhine wine" in song, and which Samuel Clemens says is "easily distinguishable from vinegar by the labels." Numerous castles (or Schlosses) are passed, with towns famous in Prussian history, and which "Bonaparte" visited on sundry occasions in his irregular trips over other people's domains; one of them, by the way, was to Cologne, where he helped himself to the State jewels. Enjoying a splendid table d'hôte dinner of nine courses in the "Deutschland Klaser," the name of our boat. We landed in Cologne at four o'clock, after seven hours steaming up the river famous in German national song by the "Watch by the Rhine." Cologne is an old-fashioned, interesting city outside of its cathedral, which is 532 feet high, said to be the third highest in the world. Cologne was built with the idea that no persons would want to walk in the streets, as they evidently thought sidewalks were not required, so they only put a little curbing to divide the narrow streets from the houses. Baedeker said that a picture in St. Peter's Church, by Rubens, of the Crucifixion of St. Peter was worth seeing, so after tea we sallied forth on foot, looking for the church and picture. Seeing a church which we were told was St. Peters we walked in through the open door, and were soon in the midst of a quite remarkable scene. The lights were burning on the altar, and two pretty maidens were praying. Sitting at the foot of the cross were two very old women, I should say nearly the age of ninety, busily counting their beads. Men and women of all grades were worshipping, and after stealthily looking round, satisfying ourselves we had made a mistake, we left. Finding the right place, we were soon in deep contemplation of one of

RUBENS' MASTER-PIECES.

It is of the highly colored character so common to the school of the Great Master. A thorough examination of the magnificent cathedral, and a stroll through the Zoological Gardens served to wind up a very interesting day. At early morn we proceeded by rail to Holland, and were passed through the customs with the utmost dispatch, quite in contrast to the humbugging of British and American custom authorities, who seem to think by scattering a person's "goods and chattels" all over creation that they are doing their duty. The men of Zevenaar, on the Dutch frontier, have earned my eternal approbation and gratitude. Arriving in Rotterdam, the second largest city of Holland (or the Netherlands, as the land of Von Trump and William of Orange is familiarly called), we steered to the Williamsbridge Hotel, sounding as it did rather English, and we were not disappointed, for on enquiring of the pretty little girl who received us if "English was spoken," she replied, laughingly, "Oh yes, I studied English for one year in London," and in truth she spoke like a native Londoner. The Dutch are linguists of the first water. Even the boys and girls of the hotel spoke English, German, French and their native jargon with the fluency of your college professor. Nearly all the best people of Holland speak all the above tongues with fluency, and the advantage of French and German was never more apparent than during our tour on the Continent. Rotterdam is a smart place, full of business, and mighty sharp business people they are too, which the visitor will find out if he attempts to drive a bargain on his own account without the assistance of a native friend, as they are apt to stick fifty or an hundred per cent. on the price of the desired article. Rotterdam has her picture gallery, and the Dutch painters, especially Rembrandt, have left many evidences of their genius in the goodly collection. Cycling in Rotterdam is somewhat limited, as the streets are of the cobblestone variety, but a great many safe and tricycles may be seen in the evening. Rotterdam in cycling is celebrated in one way, by being the birth-place of that champion tricyclist, a champion in every sense of the word, who created such a furore in London by defeating Gatehouse, the University crack and record holder, also Frank Moore, and winning the race at Cathcart's London tournament in such a sensational manner. The little Dutchman's racing days are practically over now, but his long, successful Continental career will be ever remembered. His business career on the completion of his University term, will commence, and his father being one of the largest gin distillers on the Continent and the owner of several valuable patents, the son Edward will take charge of a large distillery in France, controlled entirely by himself, as he being the only son no expense or trouble was spared in "his bringing up," chemistry being his principal study. The American team opened the new quarter-mile track at Amsterdam Saturday, June 30th, and a splendid crowd patronized the races inaugurated by the Society of Racing Cyclists, of Amsterdam, although unfavorable weather prevailed. Amsterdam is the largest city in Holland, with four hundred thousand souls, and they take very kindly to cycling. The professionals made the best times in the races, and Temple, through the effects of a late fall, only started in one, and retired immediately, leaving Woodside to finish second to Allard in the mile, and won the two miles in 5.49, splendid time for the day, which was a very windy one accompanied by rain. The race meeting was a pronounced success, and the evening was given up to a dinner provided for the visiting cyclists in the American Hotel, the latter place being our abode during our week's stay in Amsterdam. The hotel is a place of interest to Americans, and the arms and mottoes of each and every State in the United States of America is painted in splendid style in the breakfast and dinner rooms, which are of immense dimensions. To gaze at Massachusetts, in miniature as it were, was followed by that soothing influence, which follows on the knowledge that we are on the home stretch of our trip, and that the Statue of Liberty (D. V.) will soon loom in view in New York's harbor. Well, returning to the dinner, it was a first-class affair, and speeches in German by Carl Luck, of Berlin, in French by P. Dawson, of Brussels (the Belgium Cyclist's correspondent), in Dutch and English by the President of the Amsterdam Racing Cyclists' Society, and your correspondent delivered himself in "United States." The prizes were presented, and a good day's sport and amusement came to an end.

EDWARD KIDERLEIN,

Returning to Scheveningen (near the Hague, the capitol of Holland and the King's palace), we have been industriously dividing our time between bathing in the surf, and teaching the Dutch amateur to sprint, on the new quarter-mile track at this, the fashionable seaside resort of the Netherlands, and the tournament, which opened to-day showed the Dutch amateurs are flyers of the first class, as P. Schetema Bedoun defeated Edge, the Londoner, in the tricycle scratch race of two miles, and as the latter won the one-mile N. C. U. championship at Halifax last Saturday from England's fastest men, you can see our tuition has not been lost on the Dutchmen. Von Tromp, the great Dutch naval commander, once fitted a broom at the masthead of his man-of-war, as a token that he had swept the sea with his fleet. Holland, at this rate of progression, will follow suit in cycling, as a more promising lot of amateurs I have never beheld in any nation. The attendance to-day was moderate, but to-morrow (Sunday) will see a goodly crowd, as much interest was evinced in to-day's programme. Temple, in his old form, won the half-mile scratch race, and Woodside won the ten kilometres (six and one-half miles); Temple, second; Allard, England, third. The races were all fast, considering the high wind.

We are now looking towards America, and the second week of August will find us aboard a Cnnarder en-route for the land of the setting sun. Our trip is rapidly drawing to a close, and the results will be left to the cycling historian; in our own minds we feel benefited in no slight manner by the trip; we have at all times worked hard, and endeavored to do our duty to the public, and our own consciences. We started from America to make a trip of Great Britain and the continent; we have accomplished that we started out to accomplish, although we expected imitators, we have no fear of comparison or results, and although in the future possibly faster men will cross the ocean, they will not succeed in creating any more excitement or genuine interest in honest racing, than created by the Original American Team.

WELLS DID NOT SHOW UP.

JOHN A. WELLS did not appear on Saturday, August 4, although Referee Collins telegraphed him that his wheel was ready for him. For the accident of the previous Saturday, Mr. Wells was personally responsible, as he should have posted himself on the times of the different trains. According to the Philadelphia Press, of August 5, Mr. Wells was out of town on the 4th and consequently, did not receive the referee's dispatch in time to reach Newark on that day. The time has been extended to Wednesday, August 8, when Mr. Wells will, barring another accident, climb to beat 7.37 4-5. It is hoped that no more "hitches" will occur in the programme.

Greenwood's time for the Eagle Rock climb on July 26 should have been 7.37 4-5 instead of 7.34 4-5 as printed. He coasted down in 4.37 4-5. RATCHET.

RICHMOND, Va., will hold a big bicycle tournament October 23 and 24, particulars later. This will be an excellent time for riders and racing men to make arrangements to go South for a few days, in the charming month of October.

EASTERN ROAD CLUB.

THERE will be a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Eastern Road Club on Monday next, August 13, at Dr. Kendall's office, 176 Tremont street, at 8 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of re-organization, and to arrange for a road race. Clubs wishing to join the association should apply immediately.

Boston, 18 Arch St.

WILLARD H. FORBES,
Secretary.

BUFFALO TOURNAMENT.

THE Eastern Traffic Association have given reduced rates on all railroads for wheelmen attending the Buffalo Tournament, that of one fare for the round trip. This includes all points as far as Boston, New York, and intermediate stations, that is, the larger class of stations.

Wheels will be free on certain conditions only. The wheelmen from Boston and vicinity will have special baggage cars attached to trains which will leave there at 3.00 P. M., and 9.15 P. M., Sept. 2 and 3, and wheelmen must notify Mr. Ducker in advance of their intentions to use these cars. All pedals must be removed, or full tariff rates will be charged. The special car will be side tracked at Boston for the reception of wheels, about half a day in advance. The same car will be used for the reception of wheels at Worcester, Springfield, and Pittsfield, which stations will sell excursion tickets, from Boston, $10.65; Worcester, $9.71; Springfield, $8.49; and Pittsfield, $7.91; tickets good to return for ten days.

BUFFALO'S HOTELS.

This is a list of the principal hotels in Buffalo with their rates. Wheelmen are advised to secure rooms in advance. Next week we shall publish a list of lodging houses with rates. All of the hotels are located on asphalt streets, or not one block from same. Wheelmen desiring to live cheaply and well are advised to secure lodging without board, and get their meals at restaurants and on the grounds. By this method, time and running back and forth will be saved.

Those in need of rooms can call on Mr. Ducker, when in Buffalo, or write him, and he will send them a blank giving names of parties having rooms to rent. Those who neglect to send Mr. Ducker notice may get left as the crowd will be tremendous.

WHEELS.

Wheelmen attending the Buffalo meet will want to carry their wheels with them on account of the fine riding and the parade, coupled with the distance to the grounds of most of the lodging houses and hotels. Wheelmen are advised to bring their wheels with them, as the carriage of wheels will be free, and in most cases, special cars for their accommodation. Wheels will arrive safely in Buffalo. Large storage rooms will be engaged, and checks given for wheels, thus insuring their absolute safety. While at the grounds, a large building will be used for the storage of wheels. While horse cars and steam cars all run to the grounds, it is a little unhandy. With a wheel you can ride direct to either entrance of the grounds and be independent.

ENTRIES.

Entries for the Buffalo races close August 27th, and must be in Mr. Ducker's hands at that time. Entry blanks will be mailed to all racers this week, and anybody wishing same, will find a supply at the leading dealers in the large cities, or will have them mailed to them on receipt of postal. The prizes in all events at Buffalo are as follows:

Professional—World's championship, cash prize, $1000; each one-mile race, cash prize, $100; each two-mile race, cash prize, $125; each three-mile race, cash prize, $150; each five-mile race, cash prize, $300. For professional tandem races, double the above amounts, each race.

Amateur—Each one-mile race, a prize costing $50; each two-mile race, a prize costing $75; each three-mile race, a prize costing $100; each five-mile race, a prize costing $150; each ten-mile race, a prize costing $300. For amateur tandem races, double the above amounts.

All prizes will be divided as follows: 50 per cent. to the first, 30 per cent. to the second, and 20 per cent. to the third, except in the world's championship, which is divided: $400 to the first, $300 to the second, $200 to the third, $100 to the fourth, and 10 per cent. additional to all prize takers in any event in which a record is broken.

BICYCLING WORLD'S HUNDRED-MILE ROAD RACE.

THE hundred-mile road race from Erie to Buffalo under the auspices of the BICYCLING WORLD, will this year be held September 8th, starting at 6 A. M., instead of the 7th, as formerly announced. This change will make Saturday one of the biggest days of the meeting. Wheelmen and others wishing to assist in this race, either as checkers, starters, or in many other ways, will do well to address Mr. Ducker at Buffalo immediately, as it will take nearly one hundred men to take care of this race, and wheelmen are requested not to hesitate about coming forward. This race this year is strictly for amateurs, and it is hoped that a full field will start. Mr. Frank Fairbairn, of Erie, Pa., will have entire charge of the start and route at that end. Any information as to boarding places or the roads in the vicinity of Erie, should be addressed to Mr. Frank Fairbairn, Erie, Pa.; otherwise, all communications to Henry E. Ducker.

The prizes are handsome gold medals, in two colors of gold and blue enamel. The design is one made especially for us by John Harriot for our road race of last year. It is not large, but the quality and workmanship make it one of the handsomest medals ever given. Those who have seen the medals we gave last year to Hollingsworth and Rhodes will bear us out in saying they are one of the most satisfactory and handsome ever given.

All those who can officiate please address Mr. Ducker, 47 Chapin Block, Buffalo. Entrance fee, $1; entries close Sept. 6th. Entries should be made to Mr. Ducker as above.

MASSACHUSETTS DIVISION MEET.

To start at the wrong end but to enable me to express my pleasure and the enthusiasm of all others, let me say that the Massachusetts Division meet just passed at Cottage City was one of the most delightful gatherings of the kind ever participated in by your correspondent. There was not a thing to mar the pleasure of the event.

The business meeting, a report of which will appear in your official column, was one in which the merest routine. The present membership of the division is 1149, and the treasury has a balance of $332.43 to the good.

The "City" began to fill with cyclists Thursday night, and by Friday noon the clans had assembled and the meet could be said to be in full blast. One of the principal events of the first day was the game of base ball between a nine of the L. A. W. members and the Vineyard Herald nine. The exhibit of ball was by no means one to be ashamed of, and though the local club won by a score of 5 to 0, the L. A. W. team showed excellent individual talent. There was some dissatisfaction on the ruling of the umpire, but he did the best he could. The Vineyards had seven errors and the L. A. W.s had eleven, not a bad showing for scratch teams.

The excursion to Katama in the afternoon of the first day was not as well attended as might have been, the base ball game and numerous private excursions on land and water and the memory of last year's experience keeping nearly all of the members away.

The Sea View Cottage was the official headquarters, and a great number of wheelmen put up there. The boats during the day had been bringing large numbers of wheelmen, and also riders of the fair sex, so that by evening everybody was on hand. The evening was spent in jollification and fun galore.

At 3 A. M. of the second day "eight or ten lone wheelmen" (to paraphrase the Jameson style) were seen to mend their way down to the wharf and embark on a boat of the cat species. Among the party were Chief Consul Hayes, Chief Consul Bidwell of New York, C. K. Alley of New York, and Dr. Kendall of Boston. The spirits of the party were high and the wind was fair, and the orders were given to sail away to Cape Poge, at which place the cyclers expected to capture the festive fish. The Cape was reached, and lines went over board. The fish refused to bite, and the wind died out and positively refused to zepher one bit more. Chief Consul Hayes gave orders to heave anchor and sail for home. The skipper "heaved;" the anchor was secured on board, and all conditions favorable to a quick return except the wind. Here was a predicament. Ten miles from home, no wind, only one oar and parade at 10 A. M. Result, hard work at the one oar, and a good deal of "forcible conversation." After much work shore was reached near Edgartown, a team was secured after much further tribulation, and the City was reached just in time to see the parade dismissed.

The parade was started soon after 10 A. M., with about 300 riders in line. The ladies' division was in charge of Secretary Bassett, who had for aids Mr. J. Rush Green and Mr. L. R. Spear. Directly behind the Marshal rode Mrs. J. Rush Green, of Somerville, and Miss Keim, of Washington, on ladies' bicycles. The ladies rode these very gracefully, and attracted not a little attention. The division contained some thirty-five ladies on singles, tandem and quadricycles. Mr. Elliott rode his wooden-wheel quadricycle, with Mrs. Speare's daughter (aged 3) on a small seat in front. My natural gallantry would prompt me to say that this division was the most attractive in line, and I am glad to know that I exercise no economy of truth in stating this.

Many other ladies were in line, and all told there was not less than fifty. The Somerville Club had several ladies with them, and the Rhode Island Wheelmen were conspicuous in this direction. Among the lady riders from Rhode Island were Mrs. Charles S. Davol, Mrs. Thurber, Miss Fredericka Cooke, Miss Emma Blackmer, Miss Webb, Miss Ashley, and Mrs. Davis.

The Fitchburg Band furnished music. After the parade came the photo., as a sort of inevitable "Amen" to this part of the meet.

The afternoon was a perfect one for racing. The track is none of the best, and its corners and grades are rather productive of caution or headers. The audience was large and ready to enthuse at the slightest provocation. The Fitchburg Band discoursed sweet music while the men were getting ready to ride.

The first race was the one-mile novice, and this was won by F. Wood, of Somerville; time, 4.34. H. L. Smith finished a close second.

Second race, one-mile open, was won by E. A. Bailey, of Somerville; F. A. Delabarre, of Conway, being second. Time, 3.29 1-2.

Third race, one-mile tricycle, was won by A. S. Hill, of Boston, in 5.57; J. W. Bean a very bad second.

Fourth race, one-mile rear-driving safety, was easily won by B. Y. Bruce, of Providence, with A. J. Newman as his only competitor second; time, 4.41 1-2.

Fifth and last race was a one-mile handicap. The starters were H. W. Smith, of New Bedford, who had 150 yards' start; George W. Harvey, of Somerville, 150 yards; Frank A. Delabarre, 100 yards; J. E. Wood, Somerville, 100 yards; E. A. Bailey, Somerville, scratch. This was the best and only "race" of the day. Wood, Harvey, Smith and Delabarre had things their own way for a bit, but Bailey soon began to crawl up, and he looked a winner. Delabarre, however, had something up his sleeve, and when it came to the home stretch, Bailey could not head him, and so Delabarre won in 4.22.

The Casino was the scene of a brilliant gathering in the evening, over 300 couples being present. Chief Consul Hayes and Miss Dorr, of Cambridge, opened the ball. There were twelve numbers and several extras, and it was not until early Saturday morning that the last dance was reached. C. M. N. Sylick acted as floor manager, and he was assisted by the following aids: Charles P. Dennis, Asa P. Prevere, W. F. Young, F. R. Dorr, H. H. Bates, Dr. L. E. Allen, Fred M. Cummings, W. G. Kendall, E. J. Ryder, H. D. Corey.

The prizes to the successful contestants in the races were awarded.

The morning of the last day found the visitors and entertainers very much tired out, but by 9.30 A. M., found the majority on board the Island Home, bound for Gay Head. It was a lovely day for the trip. Gay Head was reached and a stay of two hours was had to enable all to go ashore and procure a specimen of the curious clay. At 2 P. M. the boat was headed for the "City."

Of those who did not go to Gay Head, some went to Nantucket, others took trips a-wheel in different directions.

The band concert in the evening was spoiled by the rain. This same rain spoiled several excursions and plans, but the wheelmen managed to pass a pleasant evening under cover at the different cottages and hotels.

Thus ended the 1888 meet of the Massachusetts Division, and I cannot close without saying a word to our kind and generous entertainers, the Martha's Vineyard Bicycle Club. They are a royal set of fellows, and the division is under lasting obligations for the splendid way in which they aided in making the meet a grand success.

NOTES.

Abbott Bassett's crystal wedding day was Thursday, the 2d. He and his wife spent it at Cottage City.

Hayes, Bidwell, Kendall & Co. have no faith in the treacherous winds of Martha's Vineyard Sound.

Some of the papers erroneously state that Joseph Goodman, of Hartford, started in the tricycle race.

Why is it that the reports in the dailies almost ignore the most interesting feature of the parade (i. e.), the presence of some fifty lady riders.

Around the cottage of W. W. Stall in County Park, centered a very great interest. Mr. and Mrs. Stall had as guests several of the "North Shore tourists," including Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hopkins, Wellington; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Southwell, of Charlestown; Mr. and Mrs. Abbot Bassett, Newtonville, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Elliott, Newton; Dr. E. Y. Bogman, of Providence, and Miss Iona Southwell. Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Corey, Newtonville, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Rush Green, of Somerville, were at the Naumkeag, and Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Speare, Newton Centre, were at the Wesley. They also rendezvoused at the Stall cottage, on the occasion of runs and for the evening entertainment. The Rhode Island ladies were at the Naumkeag, and were frequent visitors to County Park. On each evening of the meet there was vocal and instrumental music at the cottage.

The banner offered to the club having the greatest number of League members in line has not yet been awarded. The clubs reporting the largest numbers to those who canvassed the line, were the New Bedford Club with 27, the Somerville Club with 25, and the Cambridge Club with 22. These numbers were scaled down to 14 for New Bedford, 23 for Somerville, and 25 for Cambridge when the Captains found that none but League members could be counted. The statement of the Somerville Club was protested by the Cambridge Club on the ground that some of those who rode with this club were not members of the club nor of the League. The Referee, Secretary Bassett, then called on both clubs to submit a statement in writing, giving the name and League number of each rider, and withheld his decision until this list should be received. Captain Kimball for Somerville, and Captain Perkins for Cambridge agreed to furnish this list, and when they are verified by the League books a decision will be made.

TEMPLE BEATS HOWELL IN TWO RACES.

A CABLEGRAM to the Boston Herald dated London, Aug. 4, 1888, says: Temple of Chicago won the 20-mile bicycle championship at Leicester to-day, defeating Howell and Wood. Temple also defeated Howell in a five-mile race. The American team sails for New York on August 11 on the steamer Aurania.

PROGRAMME OF THE MICHIGAN DIV. MEET.

This meet will be held at Grand Rapids, August 18, and below we give the programme as at present decided on: Saturday, August 18, 10 A. M., business meeting of the Michigan Division; 11 A. M., hill climbing contest; 12 M., photograph of wheelmen will be taken; 12.30 P. M., dinner at Sweet's Hotel; 2 P. M., parade from Fulton Street Park; 3 P. M., races; 6 P. M., Supper at Sweet's Hotel; 8.30 P. M., banquet.

RACING AT KINGSTON, N. Y.

ON August 3, a bicyclers' tournament, in which wheelmen from along the Hudson River participated, was held here in the afternoon. The results were as follows: One-mile dash, Herman Venderlinden of Poughkeepsie winner. Time, 3.25. Half-mile dash, Edward Merritt of Kingston winner. Time, 1.44. One-mile dash, W. H. Boshart of Poughkeepsie winner. Time, 3.26. There were other minor events.—New York Times.

RECORD RIDING AT PITTSBURG.

If the distance ridden by W. D. and A. C. Banker at Pittsburg August 5 proves to be a full mile, then the time, 2.43 3-5, they made on a tandem tricycle will stand as a world's road record. Of course a chain measurement is the only one that would be accepted in such a distance as that. We hope the course, which is on Forbes street, from the top of the Soho Hill to a point near the Junction bridge, will be measured by chain. The world's record on the track was made in England, and is 2.37. The best American track time is 2.43 3-5.

20-MILE ROAD RACE AT SPRINGFIELD.

We clip from the Springfield (Mass) Union an account of a race between teams representing the Armory Hill and Central Young Men's Christian Associations held last week. "F. C. Frese and H. O. Bennett represented the Armory Hill Club and W. M. Haradon and George H. Lewis the Outing Club. Frese was the general favorite. He ran third in the Fourth of July race over the same course.

The start was made at 6.36, and all the riders went off at a lively pace. Frese led for the first five or six miles, but Haradon gained on him steadily and finished a winner, in 1 h. 22 m. 30 s. Frese was second in 1h. 22m. 50s., and Lewis third in 1h' 26m. Bennett was last man in. Haradon's time, though very good, does not quite touch the record of 1h. 19m. 50s., which is held by Captain F. A. Eldred of the Springfield Bicycle Club. It was much better than the time made by Thomas, the winner of the Fourth of July race. Thomas's time was 1h. 27m. 2 1-2s. Haradon was in fine form and had been more certain as to the capabilities of his competitors he would have made a try for the record. Haradon rode a 48-inch New Mail, Frese a 50-inch Victor, Lewis a 54-inch Columbia Light Roadster and Bennett a 51-inch Light Roadster. The course was in excellent condition being better if anything, than on the Fourth.

KNAPP TAKES SOME RECORDS.

W. F. KNAPP got among the records from 30 mile up to 100. at Leicester, July 17. All the English records have gone for the intermediate miles for the distance, and from 52 to 61 miles the world's records were taken as follows:

52	-	-	2:46.27	57	-	-	3:04.40
53	-	-	2:49.53	58	-	-	3:08.18
54	-	-	2:53.31	59	-	-	3:11.52
55	-	-	2:57.15	60	-	-	3:15.30
56	-	-	3:00.58	61	-	-	3:19.19

From 64 up to 100 miles Dingley holds world's records. Knapp's 100 miles' record of 5:55.21 beats the English record made by J. Lees, of 6:36.36 4-5. Dingley's world's record for 100 miles is 5:38 44 1-5.

RACES AT HUNTINGTON, L. I.

The races at Huntington on Friday afternoon last, resulted as follows: Half-mile dash, five starters, won by F. G. Brown, K. C. W., time, 1m. 30s.; W. F. Murphy, second. One-mile novice, five starters, won by F. W. Lincoln, Mercury Wheel Club, time, 3m. 14s., the best of the day; F. Ashbury, second. Two-mile, 6.45 class, four starters, won by H. P. Mathews, Brooklyn Bi. Club, time, 7m. 2 1-2s.; H. Quartropp, Q. C. W., second. One-mile open, three starters, won by F. G. Brown, K. C. W., time, 4m. 3 1-2s.; Mathews, second. Huntington Bi. Club championship, one-mile, three starters, won by S. C. Ebbetts, time, 3m. 21 1-2s.; Scudder, second. Three-mile handicap, with F. W. Lincoln at scratch, won by H. P. Mathews, time, 12m. 11s.; F. W. Murphy, second. The team relay race was omitted from lack of entries. The consolation race, one-mile, was won by S. C. Ebbetts, H. B. C., time, 3m. 37 1-2s.; J. Magee, Q. C. W., second.

Judges, T. C. Irwin, Q. B. Street; Scorers, C. P. Rogers, E. Gruman; Timers, J. D. R. Cogswell, L. W. Smith.

The prizes were mostly useful articles of use in wheeling. The races were followed by several interesting horse trots, and a ball game between the Cuban Giants and the local "Suffolks," the latter winning by a score of 5 to 3. My curiosity is somewhat excited on the question as to why Sam Ebbetts was allowed to run in the consolation race after winning the club championship, and as to why Mr. Lincoln, of the M. W. C., was made to ride from scratch in the handicap. Mr. Lincoln never rode in a race previous to the novice race at this meeting, and to put him scratch against such men as Mathews, strikes me as a little unjust, especially as he had ridden out from Flushing, thirty miles, that morning.

WING-FOOT.

THE WISCONSIN DIVISION MEET.

We are indebted to the Milwaukee, Wis., News, for the following excerpts.

"The annual meet of the Wisconsin Division of the League of American Wheelmen, held at Racine, July 28, was a grand success. The parade started at 2 o'clock with astonishing promptness. Sixty wheels were in line, making a very pretty appearance. The Milwaukee Wheelmen made a good appearance in their blue uniforms, with black stockings, it being the only club in line wearing the full club color. After parading the principal streets a run was made to Kenosha, Capt. Van Arsdale of the Racine Bicycle Club, setting the pace. At Kenosha refreshments were taken, after which the return trip was made to Racine. Arriving at Racine, there was an opportunity for the wheelmen to rest, to meet again at the festive banquet board which had been prepared by 'mine host' Lewis, of the Merchants' Hotel. After the banquet, the business meeting of the division was held, F. K. Bull, of Racine, presiding, owing to the absence of Chief Consul Bloodgood. Jay A. Hinman, of Oshkosh, was elected chief consul, and J. H. Bloedel, of Sheboygan, as secretary and treasurer for the new term. Hinman was elected with almost no opposition, and the division is to be congratulated on selecting such a worker as Mr. Hinman has shown himself to be, and with J. H. Bloedel as the second man at the board, it is to be hoped that the division will enjoy a more rapid growth than it has heretofore. The Racine Bicycle Club showed itself to the best advantage by having all the arrangements complete and satisfactory.

A few accidents happened during the first day of the meet, none of them proving serious. In the morning, Fred Schmitz, Fred Avery, A. C. Swallow, V. J. Schonecker, Jr., and H. P. Andrae left Milwaukee at 8 o'clock, arriving at Racine at 11 o'clock. This is good time, considering that they stopped at all pumps(?) on the route.

After the return trip from Kenosha was begun a number of scorches left the main body of riders and began a regular road race, to see who would reach Racine first. Hinman was riding at a fearful pace when he slipped a pedal, taking a bad header, bruising his shoulder and cutting his head some. F. T. Andrae of the scorching party was the first to reach Racine."

AT BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

The first annual tournament of the Binghamton, N. Y., Club took place at Riverside Park, Thursday, August 2. The public showed its appreciation of the Club's enterprise by being present in goodly numbers. Mr. Ducker refereed the races.

RESULTS.

The first event was a one-half mile dash. W. W. Windle, of Lynn, Mass., got away nicely and held the lead easily to the finish. J. F. Midgely, of Worcester, Mass., was second, and E. Budd, of Elmira, third.

One mile novice race, C. J. Iven, of Rochester, was the winner in 3:00 1-4. F. Carroll, of Elmira, held the lead for two laps, but there he weakened and Iven took the piloting. A. I. Fuller, of Rome, was second.

One mile L. A. W. State championship race. For this, there were entered H. C. Hersey, W. S. Campbell and J. S. Roberts. They were all bunched until the last lap, when Campbell began to show the way and finished first amid the wildest cheering. His time was 3:16 2-5. Hersey second.

Two mile race—6.45 class. E. L. Sheffer, of Williamsport, set the pace for three laps, then one of his pedals dropped off and he was compelled to dismount. He took another wheel and pluckily began the task of overtaking the other racers. Toward the finish Sheffer had to stop. C. J. Iven, of Rochester, won in 6:21 1-4. W. E. McCune, of Boston, second.

Elsa VonBlumen and Jessie Oakes rode a half mile and Von Blumen finished ahead.

The one-half mile Junior Wheel Club was won by W. Loveland. W. Schulz made Loveland do his best.

One mile open race was one of the best on the card. There were four entries: W. S. Campbell, W. W. Windle, J. F. Midgely and C. J. Iven. Midgely had the lead three times around the course. On the fourth lap Windle began hustling and held his lead, winning in 2:52 1-4, Campbell second, Midgely third.

The Binghamton Wheel Club race was won easily by John Cutler, time 3:20; F. J. Cox second.

Von Blumen and Oakes rode the second one-half mile heat and this time Oakes was the winner.

The three-mile handicap was a rattling race, and in this Windle took another trophy. His time was 8:57 1-4, and he had plenty of reserve to spare. J. F. Midgely was second.

The safety one mile was between W. E. McCune and J. F. Midgely, who won in 2:58 3-4.

Von Blumen took the third heat in her race and the poor girl was awfully fatigued.

The one-mile team race was won as announced on the board, by "East." As they crossed the chalk line Midgely was first and Windle second.

The consolation race went to C. Conolly of Rochester, Sheffer second, time, 3:08 2-5. Taken altogether the races were good and the wheelmen are to be congratulated.

"WILLIAM FENTON and Fred Gibson of the Ramblers were at the Point of Pines, Mass., last Sunday, and left their wheels chained in the usual manner, while they wandered about the grounds. On returning they found that some malicious scamp had unscrewed the handles and brake grip of Fenton's machine and carried them off. They had also broken the lock and chain. A more contemptible trick is seldom recorded."—Chelsea Record.

"PEDAL AND PATH," one of the most entertaining stories of a bicycle trip over and back across the Continent ever written, see advt. Send in 25 cents for a copy. It's value received.

R. Philip Gormully and Thomas B. Jeffery.

PERHAPS there are no gentlemen interested in the manufacture of cycles who personally are so little known to wheelmen generally, and whose names at the same time are so thoroughly familiar to every knight of the wheel, as the Messrs. Gormully & Jeffery of the manufacturing company of that name, whose portraits we take great pleasure in publishing.

We believe we have the honor of being the first cycling periodical favored with a likeness of Mr. Gormully and the following facts obtained from Mr. Oliver at an interview in Chicago:

R. Philip Gormully was born in Plymouth, England, in 1847, and is therefore the youngest of the presidents of American cycling corporations. He received a thorough English education, but at an early age developed a decided aptitude for business, and his ambition led him to seek his fortune in the United States in 1868. He was well acquainted with the then existing business methods of England, which knowledge was his only capital. As soon as possible he became a naturalized citizen, and has since become so identified with America and its ways that it would take a cute observer to discover in him other than the typical successful American. His business career from the start has been a series of successes, and when he joined hands with his old schoolmate, Mr. Jeffery, some years since, he was a comparatively wealthy man, and that, too, without ever having touched speculation in any form. In fact his strict idea of business morality and integrity are substantially evidenced by his never having figured as a defendant, excepting in the cases of the Pope Mfg. Co., when his position on every point at issue was sustained by the full and complete decisions of Judges Gresham and Blodgett. Mr. Gormully is well proportioned, of a rather dark complexion and of a quiet demeanor. He is modest to a degree that avoids personal notoriety. He has attended but few of the League meets, Chicago and St. Louis being the only ones, so it is not surprising that, outside of the trade, so little is known of him.

THOMAS B. JEFFERY.

Thomas B. Jeffery was also born in Plymouth, England, but in 1845. He came to this country early in life and has long been known to the mechanical world as a mechanical expert of no mean abilities. The following sketch, published in the Wheelmen's Gazette, in March, 1886, covers his cycling connection, and is well worth reprinting:

"Mr. Thomas B. Jeffery, of Chicago, is one of the pioneers of the bicycle industry in this country, and has been constantly identified with it as far back as 1878. His attention was first called to the bicycle on a visit to England during the year mentioned, and adaptability to the wants of the American public the work, prevented the appearance of his bicycle until 1879. The announcement of their appearance on the market was met with opposition by the Pope Mfg. Co., at that time but recently organized, and armed with the Lallement patent, a royalty was demanded and paid for the machines then completed, which found a ready sale, as they were furnished with Rudge ball bearings, closed head and hollow forks, in marked contrast to the cone bearing and so-called Standard Columbia, and as a natural consequence their further manufacture was prohibited. Wishing to retain his identity with the business, Mr. Jeffery turned his attention to the manufacture of smaller machines, this being the only manufacture permitted by the corporation then controlling the sale of bicycles in the United States, and also repairing machines of other makes. It was about this time that he made the first pair of wheels for the Overman tricycle. The confinement to the smaller grade of machines was gradually made more and more unnecessary, and, as an advantageous association with Mr. R. Phillip Gormully largely augmented the finances and the business reputation of the concern, higher and higher grade machines were successfully produced. Mr. Jeffery has invented many improvements both on the parts of bicycles and the machinery used in their manufacture. He superintends the mechanical departments of the Gormully & Jeffery factories, and thousands of riders of the American Cycles will bear testimony that it is efficiently done. By the above it will be seen that Mr. Jeffery was the first maker in this country of high grade machines, the claims of others to the contrary notwithstanding"—Wheelmen's Gazette.

INTO THE ROSEMITE.

BY S. F. BOOTH, JR.

The view from this point was one long to be remembered, and but for a very persuasive remonstrance from our digestive organs we could almost have believed we were in fairy land. It was getting on towards dinner time, so we started for the hotel, where we arrived in due course, satisfied and fully repaid for all our hard work.

We rather astonished the "colored gent" at dinner, but he got bravely over his amazement in a few days, and was more and more convinced that we were noblemen in disguise as his bronzed flippers closed round a good silver dollar.

The next day we planned for a visit to Mirror Lake, and were off early, as it must be reached before the sun rises. The lake is distant about three miles from the hotel, which latter place we left at 5:45, and were at the lake an hour later. The lake is only about one hundred yards long by fifty wide, and an average depth of about a foot or so, a mere frog pond, but the reflections are something indescribably beautiful. At the head of the lake stands Mt. Watkins, while surrounding it on all sides are huge cliffs of granite, thousands of feet high.

The effect of the reflection of the cliffs and trees is truly sublime. It cannot be painted, neither is it possible for the pen of man to adequately describe it. We were accompanied on this trip (or rather followed) by an artist of some note, and although he made a masterly "attempt," yet I could not justly call it more than an "attempt," and as I gazed at his effort, the following doggerel drifted through my brain:

"Oh peerless gem, oh Mirror Lake,
Thy charms from thee we ne'er can take.
What skillful brush or facile pen,
Though wielded by most gifted men,
Can e'en thy smallest beauty show?
Yes, man must see, if he would know."

Of course you will see at a glance that there is considerable merit in that stanza, and that I have mistaken my calling.

We saw the sun rise over Mt. Watkins, and as old "Sol's" resplendent rays shot over the summit, through a clump of pines, a sight was presented that almost caused us to leap into the lake in our ecstasy, but as that would have ruffled the water and spoiled the reflection we desisted.

On the north side of the lake there is a splendid echo. Of course we had to try it, and we yelled till we were hoarse, succeeding in getting five good echos, though they say it has repeated nine.

On our way back to the hotel for lunch I proposed which Joe readily acceded to. I cut across the field, and coming to the river walked down looking for a place to cross. Finally I discovered that there was no bridge for about a mile and a half, and as the river was very rapid, running about fifteen miles an hour, it looked rather dubious about lunch. At last I found a place which looked about a foot deep, and taking off stockings and shoes, I started across. In the middle I found it all I could do to keep on my feet, as it was very swift, and the water dashed over my head, thoroughly soaking me. Being determined not to end my career so soon, especially on an empty stomach, I got over. Then Joe started, and I enjoyed his discomfiture quite as much as he did mine. He crossed in safety in a similar condition to that I was in.

A SHORT CUT,

Then a new danger threatened us. We were on the right side, but in the midst of a dense undergrowth and forest. In which direction the hotel lay we knew not. After cutting our way through a little, I caught sight of Glazier Point, and knowing the hotel to be below it, we made a bee-line for it. We shortly arrived at our destination, Joe declaring that he wanted no more of my "short cuts," that the regular beaten path would satisfy him, and while I was inclined to side in with him, I kept my counsel.

After lunch, we visited the Lower Yosemite Falls, which is 487 feet high. Having selected a spot from which we could get a good view, we sat down to read a little, or rather we tried to, but we came to the conclusion that novels were too tame amid such scenes. In the evening we planned a distant twelve and one-half miles, from whence can be had a grand view of the valley and surrounding mountains.

We left the hotel next day with our lunch at 6.30, going by the Vernal and Nevada Falls, and thence over the mountains by a trail, which at times was extremely hard to follow. After we had gone probably ten miles, we got on the old Mono trail leading into Nevada, and were making for that State in great shape, getting within about five miles of the State line, when we met a shepherd and inquired for Cloud's Rest.

He pointed to a mountain of granite, which we forthwith began to climb. It was straight up and down, and my hob-nailed shoes came into fine play. It was one of the riskiest climbs I ever tackled, and after we gained the summit, we looked straight down a distance of over 2000 feet, enough to make one shiver. We had a powerful pair of field glasses with us, but we searched the horizon in vain for the valley. We could see snow-capped peaks all around us. We came to the conclusion that we were on the wrong summit, at the same time we found mountain climbing hungry work, so we despatched our lunch in short order. We then determined on getting on top of the highest peak in sight. I wanted to take a short cut but Joe wouldn't have it, and as I didn't like to lose him in those wilds, especially as we had heard the growlings of bruin a short time previous, I submissively stayed by him. We skirted the ridges, making for a peak which afterwards turned out to be Cloud's Rest. Near the summit we met a horseman, who assured us we were on the right trail. We got on top at last, and it fully repaid us for our long tramp, in fact this trip should never be omitted. You don't see everything unless you visit Cloud's Rest. It is 10,000 feet above the sea level, and when we arrived we found four feet of snow on its summit.

Here our glasses came into fine play, and we could sweep the horizon for a distance of over a hundred miles. All around us were the snow-capped Sierras, glittering in the sunlight, it being a cloudless day, while here and there, nestling in the valleys, lay numerous lakes. The view of the valley from this point is rather distant, the waterfalls looking like silver threads even through the glass. It was a sight we shall never forget, but we could not linger long as we had a weary tramp before us, and so we made a start at 1.40, and arrived at the hotel at 5.30, having tramped between twenty-eight and thirty miles. This is considered a two days' trip, as visitors generally stop over night at the head at Vernal Falls, and take horses there next day, getting to the valley in the evening. The guide told us, however, it could be done in a day, and if we were good walkers it was much preferable to riding a horse, as it was less work and we could get along faster, beside being cheaper. We took his advice and it worked admirably, as we had neither horses nor guide while in the valley.

TRADE NOTES, CLIPPINGS, AND ALL SORTS.

A REFERENCE to our "Coming Events" will show that September will be a busy month among the racing men. We are sorry to see so many events crowded into so short space of time.

The first and second prizes of the Ohio State Division Meet and the Hill Climbing Contest were won on Columbia Light Roadsters.

The Rambler Safety, of the Gormully & Jeffery Mfg. Co. make has at last arrived in Boston and is on view at the store of J. S. Murray, 243 Columbus avenue. We propose to give the Rambler a trial on the very first opportunity.

Those who have worn Holmes' Self-Supporting Stockings will bear us out in saying that these articles are one of the most convenient inventions ever given to the public. A reference to our advertising columns, page 291, will show that Spalding & Bros. are offering an immense bargain in these stockings this week.

At the Ohio State Division Meet, held at Toledo, July 23, the total number of wheels in line were 186, 109 of which were Columbias.

The Chicago Times is responsible for printing the alleged fact that Mrs. T. W. Eck is suing for a divorce on the ground of cruelty and adultery. Mrs. Eck was married to the T. W. Eck about one year ago.

"The Bay State Bicycle Club of Worcester, Mass., had a hill climbing contest last evening on Walnut Street that attracted a large crowd of spectators. Several attempts were made by the members, and James Wilson, who has previously made the ascent of the hill, did it the first time quite easily."—S.P.

ONE of the handsomest framed show cards we have ever seen is that of the Gormully & Jeffery Mfg. Co. The drawing is excellent and the coloring beautiful.

MR. DUCKER continues his serial story this week. The beauty of Mr. Ducker's language in relating the story is that it is one that can be read by any civilized person. It is true that he does use a few words to aid the slow brained, but the pictures tell their own tales, and as each chapter appears it should be carefully scanned by our readers. By referring to our advertising columns it will be noticed that entries to the races close August 27.

If you want a bargain in the stocking line refer to page 291, and see what Spalding & Bros. are offering Holmes' Self-Supporting Stockings for.

LEAGUE HEADQUARTERS:
12 Pearl Street, Room 27.
ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary.

THE Massachusetts Division has just held one of the most successful meets that it has known. We do not wish to institute a comparison between this affair and those that have been held by other States, but we desire to remark that this meeting has been an important factor in convincing Massachusetts wheelmen that it is an advantage to belong to the League. The officers saw to it that League privileges should go to League members only, and those who were not of us found themselves out in the cold. Discounts were refused to non-League men and many such hastened to unite with an organization that would do so much for them. Other Divisions should take the lesson home to themselves.

WHAT a convenient expression "I told you so!" often becomes. The committee on Reorganization prepared its Constitution, submitted it to the Board of Officers, printed it in the Bulletin and asked for criticisms and suggestions. They received very few words of commendation or disapproval. One fraction made up of those who represented the smaller States objected to the Territorial Division scheme, and asked to be put where they were located under the old rules. The arguments presented were convincing and, although they had to abandon an important feature of their scheme, the committee yielded the point and complied with the request. Mr. Shriver also offered objections and presented them with force in the cycling press. Neither the committee nor the meeting were convinced that Mr. Shriver's ideas were good ones and they did not prevail. But Mr. Shriver has won the right to object to the Constitution as no other man has. He will object, be assured; but this gentleman is one who fights fairly and squarely and when he is defeated he does not slink into a corner and refuse to play any more. He is loyal to the League and always on deck. We admire Mr. Shriver's system of warfare though we do not always endorse his ideas. The moral of all this is that the criticisms now being made on the Constitution are untimely and of no possible advantage to the League nor to the makers thereof.

League Clubs.

The following League Clubs having qualified have been entered on the books:

202—Jamaica Cycle Club, Jamaica Plain Mass.
203—Nursery Wheelmen, Franklin, Penn.
204—No. Easton Wheel Club, No. Easton, Mass.
205—Quixote Cycle Club, Haverhill, Mass.
206—Star B. Club, Detroit, Mich.
207—Carrollton Wheel Club, Carrollton, Ill.

Pennsylvania.

I make the following appointment: Martin Rudy, League Repairer, No. 9 East King street, Lancaster, Pa.
GEORGE A. JESSUP, Chief Consul.

Delaware.

According to the directions of the L. A. W. Constitution, I held a meeting of the Delaware Division Thursday evening, August 2 at 8 o'clock. There were 25 members present. As our Sec. Treas., Mr. Charles W. Todd, has left the state and located in Washington, William F. Kurtz of this city (4th Poplar, Wilmington) was elected Sec. Treas.
After transacting the usual business the meeting adjourned.
J. E. PALMER, Sec. Treas.
C. C. Del. Div. L. A. W.

Virginia.

On recommendation of Mr. F. R. Webb, Local Consul of Stanton, I have this day appointed the hotel at Stribling Springs, Messrs. Chichester and Stewart, the L. A. W. hotel for that vicinity. Regular rates $2 per day, to L. A. W. members $1.50 per day. It is thirteen miles from Stanton and is reached by an excellent dirt road, and tourists thro' the valley will find it a charming ride and first class accommodations.
J. C. CARROLL, Chief Consul.

Tennessee.

Not having time to devote to the duties of the office of Secretary-Treasurer of the Tennessee Division of L. A. W., if elected, I must decline the nomination kindly made by No. 147.
I nominate Mr. B. A. Patch of this city for the office of Secretary-Treasurer of Tennessee Division of L. A. W., believing he will fill the office very creditably to himself, to the Division and L. A. W., if elected.
Very Respectfully,
L. A. W. No. 17936

Illinois Election.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are Chief Consul, W. A. Davis; Vice Consul, Charles Hunsel; Secretary, Thomas Sheridan; Representatives, Harry G. Rouse, Charles Sieg, C. F. Gross, W. H. Osman, T. C. White. Signed, W. C. Thorne, T. L. Sloan, C. E. Randall Canvassing Committee.
A. J. STREET, Sec. Treas.

District of Columbia Election.

The election of officers for the District of Columbia Division L. A. W. was held Wednesday, August 1, 1888, resulting in the election of George S. Atwater, Chief Consul, Edward A. Demaray, Vice Consul, E. T. Pettengill, Division Representative, and Edson B. Olds, Sec. Treas., George R. Ide, Club Representative of the Washington Bicycle Club.
Yours Respectfully,
EDWARD BALZLEV, Secretary-Treasurer.

To Members of Kansas Division.

In a few days blanks will be mailed to all members, a mail vote, for the purpose of changing Sect. 1, a, Art. 2 of By-Laws of Kansas Div. L. A. W., from "There shall be an annual meeting of the Division at such a time and place as the Chief Consul may determine, such meeting to be held within two months after annual meet of L. A. W. Thirty days notice to be given of said meeting."
To
There shall be an annual meeting of the Division at such a time and place as the Board of Officers may determine. Thirty days notice to be given of said meet. Which please sign and return by August 13, 1888, else they will not be considered. By order of Chief Consul,
OTTO H. WULFEKULHER, Sec. Treas., Kans. Div.

Kansas Division.

In accordance with Constitution of L. A. W. our Division is entitled to a Chief Consul, Vice Consul, Secretary-Treasurer and one Representative, same to be elected between July 15th and August 15th, therefore blanks will be mailed with the above for a mail vote. All blanks must be properly signed and returned to undersigned on or before August 13th.
OTTO H. WULFEKULHER, Sec. Treas., Kans. Div., L. A. W.

Minneapolis, Minn.

In behalf of many active wheelmen, I would respectfully nominate the following names to represent the officers set opposite their names for the League year commencing August 16th: T. M. Slosson, Minneapolis, Chief Consul; C. A. Roach, St. Paul, Vice Consul; A. D. Laird, Winona, Secretary-Treasurer; A. M. Welles, Redwood Falls, Representative. Trusting enough interest will be taken in the proposed ticket to poll at least a complimentary vote.
I am fraternally,
L. B. GRAVES, L. A. W. No. 1614.

Ohio Nominations.

The Committee on Nominations have reported the following names of candidates for the offices of Chief Consul, Vice Consul, Secretary-Treasurer and Representatives for the Ohio Division for the year beginning Sept. 1, 1888, viz.: Chief Consul, T. J. Kirkpatrick, Springfield; Vice Consul, Frederick Boice, Toledo; Secretary-Treasurer, Joseph W. Spahr, Springfield; Representatives, A. E. Mergenthaler, Fostoria; Marcus Moses, Gallipolis; Dr. C. H. Griffin, Ravenna; E. R. Eastman, Ottawa; W. P. Harmony, Sidney; H. B. Hane, Marion; E. A. High, Cincinnati.
I congratulate the Division upon the fact that Mr. Kirkpatrick has been induced, in view of the important questions pending, to accept the nomination for Chief Consul.
Volting blanks will be issued from this office to every member entitled to vote in this election, i. e. all who were fully qualified members on the first day of July, 1888, and I trust due attention will be given to this important election.
JAMES R. DUNN, Chief Consul.
Massillon, O., August 1 1888.

Annual Meeting of the Connecticut Division.

The annual meeting of this Division was called to order in the parlors of the New Haven Bicycle Club at 9 o'clock on the evening of July 26, Chief Consul Tracy in the chair.
Records of the last annual meeting were read, accepted, and ordered on file.
Report of Chief Consul, a worthy document, reviewing the progress of the L. A. W., and calling strict attention to matters more particularly concerning the Division, was read, accepted, and ordered on file.
Secretary-Treasurer's report, showing balance of $210.10 on hand, was read, accepted and ordered on file.
Representative Ward moved several amendments to the rules governing the Division.
Upon motion of Mr. Post they were considered separately.
Each being separately adopted, President Frisbie of the New Haven Club moved their adoption as a whole, and the motion prevailed.
Under miscellaneous business Mr. Frisbie moved the following nominations for the coming election: For Chief Consul, C. E. Larom, New Haven; Vice Consul, C. L. Brockway, Middletown, Conn.; Secretary-Treasurer, E. A. DeBois, Hartford; Representatives, D. J. Post, Hartford; W. H. Squire, Meriden; W. T. Williams, Yantic; Chas. D. Knox, Lime Rock.
Upon motion of Mr. Ward the Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer were ordered to publish in pamphlet form by January 1 next a list of the rules adopted at this meeting, together with a list of the Division of officers, League hotels, &c., and that a copy be mailed each member by the Secretary-Treasurer.
The Road Book account showed that while books had been furnished Division members at less than cost a profit of $49.43 was already assured.
Upon motion of Mr. Frisbie Mr. Huntington was presented with 20 copies of the Road Book as a slight recognition of his services in compiling it.
The thanks of the Division were tendered the retiring Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer; also the New Haven Bicycle Club for the use of its parlors.
Adjourned.

It is to be regretted that so few were present. The meeting was of vast importance, as all who have perused the last few Bulletins should have known. Then again, with so few out of town members the New Haven boys were barely accorded an opportunity to do justice to their well established reputation for entertaining.
An excellent spread together with songs, banjo playing, speech making and a well worded address and recitation by ex-Secretary-Treasurer Wm. H. Thomas were among the many good features of the entertainment.
DAVID J. POST, Sec. Treas.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member.

Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The Tenor of Testimonials of

NEW MAIL

And coming to us every day. No question about this Wheel's standing in the estimation of riders.

The Wheel of Wheels!!

The demand keeping up all the time.

TESTIMONIALS:

NEW YORK.

MESSRS. WM. READ & SONS:

Dear Sirs—I must give you the praise that is due the New Mail.

I have been a rider for the last 12 years, and have been on almost every wheel in the market, but have at last struck my favorite of all, the New Mail, one of which is now in my possession. It is without exception, the truest, easiest and lightest running machine I was ever on. I was first struck with its handsome appearance, and when I tried it I immediately disposed of my old one and purchased this one I now have. I can recommend this wheel above all others, and you are at liberty to use this.

Yours truly,

G. F. PERRIN.

Volume XVII.
Number 16.

Topeka, Kansas, July 17th, 1888.

Overman Wheel Co., Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen--I have just returned from a two hundred mile jaunt through Central Kansas on my '88 pattern VICTOR.

I have examined it carefully since returning, and do not find a point about it that needs attention or adjusting.

I never once used a tool on it while out, or adjusted a bearing, not even the head, and my wheel is perfectly quiet, although the greater part of the road was very hard and rough, and jarred the wheel very much.

I did not spare the wheel at all, as I kept the saddle on all occasions, both up and down all the hills, and in every rough place.

I cannot find a point in the 1888 VICTOR to criticise, and that is saying considerable about a wheel for me.

Yours very truly,

WM. TAYLOR,
Rep. Kan. Div., L. A. W.

DIFFICULT REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

WE'RE READY FOR IT.

What a hurrah there is over the September tournament!

We must wade in stream up to the arm-pits, and catch the trade in Bicycling Uniforms that belongs to us. Doesn't it belong to us?

The National Association says: "They make the best Uniforms."

Well, then, we're going to back up their say-so by making the best, and not one that doesn't deserve over and over the name of The Best Bicycling Uniform to be got. Yes, you'll say yourself: It's the best to be got anywhere.

Why shouldn't we? The railroads of this country, the crack military associations, the crack cadets, the crack bands get us to make their uniforms. It comes as natural to us to make good uniforms as if we did nothing else.

But we do do something else. We make the best everyday clothing and fine clothing in the country. If you sent to us for a Full Dress Suit for a wedding we could send it at a half-hour's notice. Or, a Suit to mountain-climb in.

The whole clothing business is at our finger-ends.

That's why we make the best Uniforms. Send your order along.

EDITORS:

C. W. FOURDRINIER.

J. S. DEAN.

BOSTON, 17 AUGUST, 1888.

AUGUST is usually a bad time for us and a good time for our correspondents. It never rains but it pours, and half a dozen notes and postals have been received stating in more or less elaborate language that "I have gone to the country for a two weeks' vacation; no letter this week." These gay youths never think of the misery entailed on the editor by the failure of copy to appear.

THE American team of professionals, under the leadership of "Senator" Morgan, will have arrived in this country before our next issue goes to press. The record of this team while abroad has been one of credit to the members thereof, and we trust one of profit to them also. Ralph Temple, the present star of the team, was a year ago a comparatively unknown man. He had excelled as a trick rider, and it was the original intention of himself and his manager to devote his efforts principally to this special branch of cycling. Shortly after his arrival in England he developed such undoubted ability to travel fast that it was decided to give him more room on the racing path than was originally intended. The wisdom of this decision has been demonstrated, and the success of Temple has been phenomenal, he having won about ninety-five firsts, a percentage of over ninety per cent. of races started in, and the brilliant manner in which he has wound up his campaign by beating Howell four times within two weeks, is a record we are all proud of as Americans. We have particulars elsewhere of his winning the quarter and half mile match races with F. Wood, the Leicester crack.

In thus speaking so highly of Temple we should not ignore the fine work done by Woodside on the path. His successes have not been so remarkable as those of his younger confrere, but Woodside has done some excellent work, and he has made his mark as a thorough sportsman. The material Manager Morgan has had to work with has been of excellent quality, and we know that Temple and Woodside appreciate as well as ourselves that "the Senator" is largely to be credited with the success of the team from a professional as well as a financial standpoint. It is a pleasant and gratifying fact that nothing but kind and complimentary words have been spoken in the cycling press of Great Britain as to the methods of Morgan and his "merry men." Regrets are expressed on every hand in England that the "team" has left her shores.

As to the personnel of the European contingent that Morgan will bring with him, we can only say that it was his intention to bring Howell, Robb and Dubois and two or three other well known professionals.

LATER.

Since writing the above we have received the Cyclist, giving an interview with Temple. It reports him as saying that the team would sail on the 22d. As Morgan promised to cable us on the day of sailing, and as the cable has not come to hand the above date (the 22d) may be the correct one.

THE FINISH OF THE 100-MILE ROAD RACE.

THE Union's kick on having six miles of the BICYCLING WORLD'S 100-mile road race from Erie to Buffalo, September 8 run on the cycle track has brought out an explanation from Manager Henry E. Ducker. After stating that The Union had misunderstood the matter, he adds: "In the first place there will not be any of the race run on the cycle track, but whatever is necessary to complete the 100 miles will be run on the trotting track and at the most will not exceed 2 1-2 miles. That is about what is due when they get here but we propose to go around a hill at Eighteen Mile creek and that will take up part of it. As it is, there is about six miles to run in the park, but that is not all on the fair grounds, as, in order to get into the city, we are obliged to use four miles of the parkway that is in the city park and cannot be avoided. I did not go into the fine details as I did not think any one would pick it up. As I knew it would be all right when we run the race, I did not fear any criticism. I know The Union likes to have things right, and therefore I have written you thus fully."

Notwithstanding Mr. Ducker's explanation, there is still objection to having any portion whatever of the race run on any track, be it trotting track even. A road race is a road race and should be run as such. There is no objection to having the race finished on the fair grounds, but even a half mile of track racing, in the opinion of The Union, would prevent it being strictly a road race.—Springfield Union.

If the time made is a matter of seconds over the best, then we can see that the objections of the Union might be valid, but the fact that a half mile of track racing at the finish of 100 miles on the road should invalidate the claim that the race was a road race, seems to us very much like straining at a gnat. Certainly, the fact that the finish was to be made on the trotting track would be one of the most interesting features of the tournament, and it could be witnessed comfortably by thousands. A trotting track unraveled, is not of the easiest riding, and, unless our information is faulty, we believe that there are miles of road between Erie and Buffalo of much better surface than that of a trotting track.

A BROOKLYN paper thus describes the fast road rider, Mr. W. T. Murphy, of the K. C. W.: "He is twenty-one years of age, and weighs about 140 pounds. He is good looking, intelligent and good natured, and is trying to raise a mustache." The last seven words of the above item will arouse the sympathy of every male rider whose hirsute embellishment of the upper lip is coy and not anxious to thrive as luxuriantly as the owner of the lip would wish. We have a fellow feeling for Mr. Murphy, as we have "been there" in years ago.

NOTES BY

THE "CAVILER."

I do not know, Mr. Editor, what cognomen you are going to fasten on to me, but when you send me out into the wide, wide world of Boston City with a commission at large to find fault with and criticize men and matters I felt my gorge rise and my stock of milk of human kindness dry up. I never wrote a line for a newspaper before, and the methods of the item hunter are as a hidden mystery. I, however, had taken the contract, and so on Saturday last and on Sunday I girded my loins and pitched in. I was in the proper frame of mind to find fault and criticize. Strange as it may seem, I found myself in the position of defending and arguing against criticism. A certain individual took a very strong and positive position to the effect that the effete East and Boston as its centre was fast falling into the tail end of the cycling procession, and that now its clubs and its racing men all had to take a back seat. Now if "London W." had been your representative he would have turned up his nose because my friend wore black tights, but as I am also a wearer of the dreadful things I did not turn away (in fact I am dead against your good old "London W." in this matter as to the horrors of black tights, they are comfortable and in their place they are all correct). Well, our friend gave it warm to Boston wheelmen, and he "wept hot, salt tears of woe." "Bosh," said I, Boston's all right, and the sport is on a sound footing. True it is that large clubs of purely cycling element have seen their most prosperous days, the members have not faded away and blown into thin air, they are still to be seen as individuals skimming over the roads as of yore. Club runs do not seem to take, and though such men as Kendall and Perkins make strenuous efforts to get the club members out in force the effort seems to be futile, they prefer to go it alone or in twos or threes. As for racing men, well, we have a few left in New England. Can any one say that while such men as Roop and Carmen are riding, that this particular locality is not well represented on the road? Just you tackle these men, Mr. Editor, and see if I am not solid in my opinion. I can point to some men in the Jamaica Bt. Club and the Dorchester Club that on the road can make the best in the land hustle. Out on these chaps who are forever crying woe! they need medicine, a dose of anti-bilious pills.

HAYES does not like to talk about the quality of fishing he found off Cape Poge a week ago. He seems really sensitive on the subject, and so after being stiffened out by a cold, stony stare, I went about on another tack, but the usually genial V. P. failed to materialize his thoughts into matter for an item.

You told me, Mr. Editor, that it was quantity you wanted and not quality in these articles. I'm so glad, as I like to write for space. In the meantime I will adjust my lorgnettes, to see what I can see for my next effusion. [Our friend is incorrect, it was quality we asked for, and alas, see what he gives us!—Ed.]

YE gods and little fishes you ought to see Charley Howard. He comes back from the Azores "bearded like a pard." Howard is not cut out for a sailor, as he informed me that his diary was one steady record of seasickness. "Every day," said Charles. "Come in and see me again soon, and I will give you my impression of the Azores from a cyclist's standpoint."

IRAN across Dr. Emery the other day as he was flying down Milk street. I stopped the Doctor and asked for an item. He at once became emphatic in his language. I failed to get at the "item," but I judge from the remarks dropped that a certain editor in New York was to be laid out in great shape. The train is fired and the explosion may take place at any time. It had something to do with "the Constitution," whether of the U. S. or the L. A. W. deponent knoweth not.

I SAW two members of the Eastern Road Club the other day, and I asked them where the corpse of the Eastern Road Race Association had been buried. They said the association was to have a meeting on the following Monday [last Monday.—Ed.]. I said I would like to be present to drop a tear at the obsequies, and somehow or other the joke did not seem to take well. What was the matter do you suppose? [The club is alive and make no mistake, see report of meeting.—Ed.]

SAN FRANCISCO.

"SPARROW."

MATTERS in California cycling circles are rather dull at the present time. Nothing of importance is on the bills, if the Consular election is excepted. Messrs. Mohrig and Houseworth, the latter Captain of the San Francisco Bicycle Club, are the candidates. Polls close on the 15th.

NIGHTBLUE, long-distance champion of Australia, arrived in this city Saturday. He intends to try to break the American records for 100 miles and over.

H. H. EGBERT rode from Sanceleto to Bolevas Saturday. The distance is twenty-two miles, and the road lies among the mountains. He made the run in four hours.

THE Outings united with the San Franciscos Sunday on a club run to Haywards. The riders were divided into two squads, scorers and non-scorers. A very sociable day was had, dinner being taken at Haywards.

R. M. WELCH, the retiring Chief Consul, has, during his incumbency, made himself one of the most unpopular cyclists in California. His lack of discretion displayed in so many instances, is the chief reason. One case in point of this was his proposing three groans, during a League run, for Secretary-Editor Bassett, because the latter inadvertently happened to make a decision at which Mr. Welch chose to be offended, and endeavored to get even by such small means. The groans, however, were not heartily given, only a few very young riders joining in them.

MINNEAPOLIS NOTES.

"VERNON."

THE following division ticket was endorsed and declared all right at the last meeting of the Minneapolis Bicycle Club: Chief Consul, Mr. T. M. Slosson; Vice Consul, Mr. Chas. Roach; Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. A. D. Laird; for Representative, Mr. A. M. Wells.

H. P. LEACHMAN leaves for Chicago Sunday night.

ELMER AMERICUS SAVAGE drives a "white" horse now instead of his tricycle.

GEO. BARTLETT has already done some hard work on his tricycle and is getting in good form.

A. J. BLETHEN JR., has returned from Chicago. He speaks very highly of the way the Chicago men treated him while he was there.

W. MONASH was out riding with the boys for the first time in several weeks at the last club run. He has just recovered from a severe sickness.

HARRY LACKOR, Harry and John Prichett left here Thursday for Alexandria, on their wheels. When last heard from they were at St. Cloud, waiting for the St. "Clouds to roll by." (No diagram with this.)

It is expected a good deal of sport will be gotten out of the team race to be held the 25th. It has been agreed upon that E. J. Hale and Collie Bell, the two fastest riders, choose up sides in the same way we boys used to in selecting sides and playing a "scrub" game of base ball. This race will be three miles, for points, the defeated side pays for supper. The men are to be picked from the M. B. C. only.

In all probabilities, a twenty-five-mile road race will be run after we have our tournament. Nothing is known positive about it, but it is one of the things of the future. The bicycle dealers here are to be thanked for the way they are helping us out. There is one firm that refused to extend any aid. It is the same firm that fired one of the boys out for looking at their machines. Such a concern as this we could just as well get along without.

NEW ENGLAND.

"THE JOTTIST."

THE cognomen of goat, as applied to the rear-driving safeties, seems to have fired the imagination of a certain Rhode Island youth to such an extent, that the conceived idea of teaching a goat to furnish the motive power. Our information states that the quadruped is a great hill climber, but that he is no great shakes on speed.

THE Danbury, Bridgeport, Stamford, Norwalk and Waterbury cyclists will have a joint parade on Labor Day at Danbury, Conn.

THE Fitchburg Railroad make a strong bid for the New England wheelmen's patronage to Buffalo and return. We call attention to their advertisement on page 323.

RAIN, rain is what has destroyed the Sunday riding of the New England cyclist for the past two weeks. We hope the West has been more favorably treated by Old Prob.

A SPECIAL despatch to the Boston Herald states that the value of cycles owned in Rhode Island is over $1,000,000. We doubt the accuracy of that statement, as those figures would represent over 7000 machines.

P. H. COLLINS, an expressman of Providence, R. I., has been arrested for running down Mr. W. M. Leavitt. It was a deliberate act, and the wheelmen of Providence propose to make an example of Mr. Collins.

A SCRATCH quarter-mile road race between a well-known Attleboro' cyclist and a "2.45 nag" driven by its owner resulted in a victory for the wheelman, much to the astonishment of the owner of the quadruped.

A "REPUBLICAN Cycle Corps" has been formed in Worcester, Mass. There are forty members in the organization. As their name implies they will parade during the campaign in the interests of "Harrison and Protection."

A STRONG and very proper protest is made by a New Britain citizen against the custom of many of the cyclists of that town, using the sidewalks. This same writer states his determination to make "an example" of the first cyclist he catches on the sidewalk.

NOTICE in another column that the Rhode Island Division are to have a race meet Sept. 25. Rowe said of the meet of the Rhode Island Division L. A. W. last year that it was the best managed of any he had attended. They intend this year to make it even better than it was then.

MR. GEORGE DARLING, of Waterville, Me., while riding his bicycle, was run down by a reckless driver of a horse attached to a buggy. Mr. Darling received a severe gash upon his throat, and bruises upon his legs, though fortunately no bones were broken. The brute in the buggy then made haste to escape, which achievement we are sorry to say he accomplished successfully.

A MERIDEN, Conn., exchange says: "Frank S. Ives denies the published statement that he has turned professional in the bicycle ranks. He has never raced for money, and has no intention of so doing, although he might as well as still belong to the promateur class." Our informant was positive that Ives intended racing in the professional events this season. If our informant is not correct we shall be pleased to publish Ives' denial over his signature.

WE received a mysterious bottle the other day from a friend, with instructions to "try it." Now, when we receive a bottle, with a tight-fitting cork, well wired down, and a general "champagne" look, and we then cannot find a cork screw, we feel that the apex of tantalization has been reached. However, with the aid of our editorial shears, manipulated by our "assistant," the cork was extracted, our parched throat irrigated, and serenity reigned once more in our editorial being. We have only one fault to find, and that is, we would like to have a case instead of a bottle, but as modesty is one of our amiable weaknesses, we do hope that this item will not reach the generous donors' eye, and that the case will not be forthcoming. We should be very angry if it did appear.

NEWS

AND COMMENT.

WE had a call from Mr. Percy Harris last week. We were rather surprised to have Mr. Harris deliver himself of the belief that the rear-driving safety was a mere passing fad. We cannot agree with Mr. Harris. Although the machine will never supplant the ordinary it will steadily grow in popularity.

ENTRIES are already being received for our 100-mile road race.

WE print elsewhere the corrected programme of the Buffalo Tournament.

WE would respectfully remind "Tangent" and others that anonymous letters are consigned to the w. b.

OUR exchanges are full of assurances that their particular locality will "be well represented at the Buffalo Tournament."

THE burden of the song from most of our correspondents this week is "I have gone to the country, no letter this week."

JOHN HARRIOT has the contract for the medals for our road race. They will be in Mr. Ducker's hands on the 1st or 2d of September.

MESSRS. W. R. BURRIS and C. S. Bidwell, of Columbus, Ohio, have just returned from a most delightful two week's trip through Northern Ohio, Michigan, Canada and New York.

C. H. LAMSON, of Portland, Me., has just returned from a trip to California. It was a tour principally of pleasure, and he takes hold of the grind of business once more with renewed vigor.

THE Dart is rapidly growing in favor with lady riders. There are two young ladies stopping at the Pemberton, Hull, Mass., who are certainly most graceful exponents of the possibilities of this new wheel.

IN answer to several enquiries, we would say that the change of date of our road race to September 8 will in no way interfere with the track races of that date. If any sort of time is made, the finish should be made before 2 P. M. on that day.

LOUISE ARMAINDO emerges from the retirement of matrimonial life, and once more pines for the excitement of the racing path. She wants to race "any man in the world 142 hours, straightaway." She thinks she can do 1400, in a straightaway 6 days' race.

WE were somewhat puzzled to read in a Memphis paper, that the "Wheel" put in a full opposition ticket to the Democratic nominations. We wondered if the League was going into national politics, but we finally discovered that the "Wheel" were not a body of cyclists, but an organization of grangers.

MR. PERRY WEAVER, of Louisville, Ky., distinguished himself the other day by riding after a runaway horse, he captured and stopped the quadruped, thus saving the occupants of the vehicle—two young ladies—from a serious smashup. Now, if the usual romantic termination will only take place, we shall feel happy.

WOLEVER makes a wager that he can make the journey from Lafayette to Indianapolis in five hours. The wager is a purse of $10, and will be settled one day this week. Members of the club here will be stationed at each town along the route to see that fair play is given.—Exchange. We wonder if Mr. Wolever appreciates the fact that in case the above item is true, he forfeits his amateur standing. Such, however, is the case.

WM. J. CORCORAN writes us from Woodstock, Ontario. Among others, he sends us the following items: "Rowe is here training, and will be big help for Foster. I have a good novice look for him at Buffalo. Foster will do some good work, as he is in good shape; his work so far is a surprise. This is a splendid place to train, good air, good hotel and fair track. The local club have a meet here August 20th, when Rowe will attempt to lower the Canadian professional record which stands at 2.49."

A CORRESPONDENT from Detroit writes us: "Some time since the Messrs. Traub brothers, leading jewelers of Detroit, Mich., offered a gold medal to each member of the Detroit Bicycle Club that could make one hundred miles on the road in ten hours. The first attempt was made on July 24th last. Messrs. C. H. Smith, H. A. Adams and B. J. Holcombe started for Windsor at 8 o'clock A. M. The first twelve miles was made in just one hour, when Mr. Adams, who was not in good condition dropped behind. Smith and Holcombe continued on together and covered twenty-four miles in one hour and fifty-nine minutes. At this time both were feeling good and confident of making the run successfully. When riding the side path over the sandy hill just entering Leamington, Mr. Holcombe struck a bad sand hole, taking a header that (as was afterwards learned) fractured one of his right ribs. As Mr. H.'s watch was stopped by the fall it was found that the thirty-three and one-half miles to this point was made in two hours and forty-six minutes, thirty-five minutes ahead of time. After losing about ten minutes he started on again, but Mr. H. soon found that his side was causing him so much pain that he would not be able to complete the distance, so he returned by train. Mr. Smith succeeded in making the hundred miles in nine hours and fifty-two minutes, thus being the first member of the club to win the Traub medal. Mr. Holcombe will make another trial as soon as he recovers from the effect of his fall, when he hopes to better the time made by Mr. Smith."

A KANSAS RECORD GOES.

JUST as we go to press we received news of the breaking of the five-mile State Kansas record by A. J. Henley, of the Wichita Wheelmen. In spite of a heavy track and a header, Henley put the State record at 18.45. The header disabled his racer, and he had to finish on a road machine too large, and loaded with a lamp and tool bag. It is claimed that but for this accident 16.30 would have been made.

RACE MEETING OF THE SAN FRANCISCO BI. CLUB.

On the tenth of September (admission day) the San Francisco Bicycle Club hold a race meeting. The programme will be as follows:

Half-mile dash; one-mile novice (ordinary), no racers allowed; one-mile scratch; one-mile Rover type safeties (record), no medal will be awarded unless a record is established in this race; one-mile club handicap, for members of the San Francisco Bicycle Club only; two-mile handicap; three-mile handicap; five-mile League of American Wheelmen State championship. Entrance fee, $1 each event; 50 cents returned to starters.

UNION RUN.

The energetic Captains of the Boston, Cambridge, Cambridgeport, Somerville, Dorchester and other clubs have decided to get up a grand "Union Run" on Labor Day, in which all clubs of the State are invited to participate. The general plan is as follows: Assemble at Harvard square at 10 A. M., from thence take a run over a route to be decided on later; dinner at the Medford House, Medford, then ride back to Cambridge and have some races on the college track. A game of base ball will also be indulged in between "scrub nines." This, in brief, is the scheme to be perfected in detail and reported on in our next issue. It is hoped that the clubs of the city and State will make this event the means of meeting together and becoming acquainted. Any information will be furnished promptly by addressing Dr. Kendall, 176 Tremont street, or any of the officers of the above named clubs.

PROVIDENCE DOES NOT PROPOSE TO BE "LEFT."

The annual race meet of the Rhode Island Division will be held September 25th, at Narragansett Park, Providence, R. I., and the following list of races will be run: One-mile R. I. championship; one-mile novice; one-mile handicap, open; two-mile safety handicap; one-mile tandem; three-mile handicap, open; one-mile safety; three mile special; one-mile tricycle, handicap; one-mile boys, 18 or under; one-mile team race (3 men each).

The prizes in all events, except the team race, will be gold and silver medals, and we can guarantee that no better amateur tournament will be held this year. I would like this placed among your fixtures. We are to have a big time and we want people to know it.

GEO. R. McAUSLAN,
Chairman Racing Board,
R. I. Div. L. A. W.

THE EASTERN ROAD CLUB.

As announced in our last issue the meeting of the Eastern Road Club was held at the office of Dr. Kendall, 176 Tremont street, Boston. The clubs represented were the Boston, Cambridge, Massachusetts, Cambridgeport, Dorchester, Newton and Chelsea. It was decided to hold a twenty-five-mile road race on Saturday, the 23d of September. The start will probably be made from the Faneuil House, Brighton, and a committee composed of Perkins, Pillsbury and Forbes will decide and lay out the course. In addition to this team race it is proposed to give a ten or fifteen mile race for both single and tandem tricycles, and the committee on these races is Messrs. Kendall, Pillsbury and Williams. Any one desiring information and particulars can procure same by addressing W. H. Forbes, Secretary, 39 Arch street, Boston, or any of the above named committee men. We would suggest that clubs which are not already in the association should make application at once if they desire to take part in the September event, as the time is limited.

TOURNAMENT AT MINNEAPOLIS.

A MEETING of the Minneapolis Bicycle Club was held August 3, and the Racing Committee, consisting of E. J. Hale, Chas. Barwick and Colie Bell, was instructed to see what could be done in regard to holding a big bicycle tournament. The Committee met the next evening at Hotel De Wilbur, with Chas. Barwick, and started the ball a rolling. The races agreed upon will be as follows:

One-mile, novice; one-mile, professional, heats 2 in 3; two-mile amateur, open; one-half-mile, boys 16 and under; one-mile amateur, 3 to class; three-mile amateur, open; one-mile Star, handicap; five-mile club championship; one-mile, 3 to class; one-mile amateur tricycle, open to Northwest; club team race; one-mile amateur, Rover type safeties; one-mile consolation. The races will be held August 25th, at the Minnehaha Driving Park. The track is a very good one, and will be put in first-class condition for the day of the races. The races are gotten up for the purpose of raising money to build us a track. The Driving Park association made a proposition to the M. B. C., to build a bicycle track inside the trotting track, but this track is too far out of town to suit most of the riders. On August 24th, the night before the races, the boys will have an immense lantern parade. The lanterns will be furnished by the Minneapolis Bicycle Club. Our big exposition opens the 22nd, and the city will be full of strangers.

VERNON.

HARTFORD TOURNAMENT.

At a regular meeting of the club here Tuesday evening, August 14, it was voted to give a lantern parade on Sept. 12, the evening before the races, and the New Britain, East Hartford, and other out of town clubs are invited to take part. The lantern parade was a pleasant feature of last year's tournament, and elaborate plans will be made to insure a grand demonstration next September.

The Racing Committee have been hard at work the last week selecting prizes for the various events. The professionals are offered great inducements in cash purses, and the amateur list of prizes is the best ever offered at a Hartford tournament, among the number being a Columbia Light Roadster bicycle, diamond pin, Colt's sporting gun, traveling bag furnished, fine engravings. The entry blanks will be ready for delivery about August 25th, and can be obtained of Joseph Goodman, P. O. Box 14, Hartford, Conn. Entries will close Sept. 5th.

Mr. Henry Goodman will represent the Hartford Wheel Club at the Buffalo tournament, and will furnish entry blanks and other information regarding the meet.

F. T. Reid, one of the Wheel Club crack riders, made a practice mile on the unicycle, at Charter Oak Park, the past week, in 3 42 1-2 and will probably break the record at time of the tournament.

ILLINOIS DIVISION MEET.

THE Illinois Division of the L. A. W. will hold a grand cycling tournament at Cheltenham Beach on Saturday, August 25. There will be no less than seven championship events, including three State, viz., one one-mile, two-mile and five-mile race, for the championship of Illinois.

The Chicago Bicycle Club, Fort Dearborn, Illinois and Lincoln cycling clubs will each give a one-mile race for the championship of their club.

Aside from these races there will be a one-mile novice, two-mile handicap and one-mile handicap, quarter-mile dash from scratch, two-mile race for safety bicycles, and two mile consolation.

This is a programme that has never been equalled in the West. Such speedy men as N. H. Van Sicklen, H. R. Winship, A. E. Lumsden, M. A. Horsford, W. B. Greenleaf, H. W. Fordham, H. E. Loveday, and others will compete. There is not the slightest shadow of a doubt but that this meet will prove the most exciting that it has been the privilege of any of us to see. The medals are far above the average, those for the State championship, three in number, being magnificent gems of the jeweller's art.

Entry should be made to S. A. Miles, of the Referee, at 288 Wabash avenue. The officers of the day will be, S. A. Miles, Referee; R. D. Garden, C. F. Stokes, F. E. Gerould, Edwin Oliver, Judges; L. W. Conkling, Starter; Frank Riggs, Clerk of the Course; Captain Frank Yates, E. L. Ferguson, C. E. Randall, Timers. Entries will close August 22d.

There will also be splendid music and dancing in the evening. Lovers of the cycle should not miss this opportunity to have a good time, and witness the closest contested races ever run in the West.

CHAS. H. SIEG.

R. TEMPLE VS. FRED WOOD.

From the Cyclist we take the following facts in regard to the 1-4 and 1-2 mile match races, between Temple and F. Wood, and in which the "merry little Yankee" beat his man handily. Heavy rains had made the track heavy, and a drizzling rain was falling as the men came up for the quarter mile spurt. "The coin fell in favor of Temple, who took up his position on the inside. At the start the Yankee moved away just in front of his opponent, and at the first turn he was half-a-length to the good. Half-way down the railway side of the track Wood raced level, but the Yankee would not let him get in front. At the bend for home they were riding at a big pace side by side, but when fairly on the straight Temple put all in, and stalling off a fine challenge from Wood, he won amid considerable excitement by half a yard. Time, 40 1-58."

After half an hour's rest the riders went to the starting place for the second race, the result of which was looked upon as a foregone conclusion for the American. Wood had the inside berth, and when the pistol was fired they moved away side by side at a very slow pace. Ultimately the local celebrity settled down half a length in front, and in this order they passed the post the first time, having now one full lap to complete. Half-way up the hill Temple shot ahead, with Wood hanging on. Along the top stretch the Englishman drew level, and at a rattling pace they came down the hill together, and rounded the bend for home. Here Temple made his effort, and coming along the straight like the shot from a gun, Wood was settled at the stands, and the American won by fully three yards. Time, 1m. 33 2-5s. The winner was loudly cheered, and when he left the grounds half-an-hour later he was again the recipient of a hearty farewell greeting.

MISSOURI DIVISION MEET.

PROGRAMME OF RACES AT KANSAS CITY NEXT MONTH.

The Kansas City National Exposition Inter-State Bicycle Tournament will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 27, 28 and 29. The Missouri Division has been invited to hold its annual meet here during races, and Chief Consul Brewster has accepted the invitation. Chief Consul Everest, of Kansas, was also invited to hold its State meet here, as a courtesy, not as a possibility. That, however, will not interfere with a large number of wheelmen from the Sunflower State being present.

As already outlined a banquet will be tendered the visiting wheelmen, a parade held and a picnic lunch at one of the parks, and the photograph taken of the wheelmen. At the next meeting of the United Wheelmen complete arrangements for the reception of visitors will be consummated.

The track will be constructed at once, and will be a quarter mile in circumference. If possible it will be made of clay and gravel. The corners will be raised. The back stretch will be twenty feet in width, and the home stretch will be forty feet in width.

The tandem bicycle race will be the first ever held in this country. There are three half-mile races, 14 one-mile, 10 two-mile, nine three-mile, six five-mile, two ten-mile. There will probably be added one race to each day for deaf mutes only. Entries close August 27th, to Henry E. Ducker, Buffalo, N. Y. Entry blanks on application as above.

NEW ORLEANS RECORDS.

A WEEK ago, J. W. Dodge, of the N. O. B. Club, started in to beat the best previous, local 24-hour record of 166 miles. He started at 6 P. M. Saturday, and finished at 6 P. M. Sunday, having ridden 178 miles, cyclometer measure. While Dodge was doing the 24-hour record, R. G. Betts and J. W. Jay, of the Louisiana Club, went in to see what could be done with the HUNDRED-MILE LOCAL RECORD.

The start was made at exactly 7.32 P. M. At exactly 5.15 A. M., the hands of the cyclometer crossed the 100 mile mark and the century ride was over. The actual elapsed time for the century was 9 hours and 43 minutes, but deducting the four stops of one hour and twenty five minutes the actual riding time was but eight hours and eighteen minutes, excellent time everything considered.

THE BEST LOCAL 24-HOUR RECORD YET.

Just one week from the date of Mr. Dodge's successful assault on the 24-hour record, R. G. Betts, Capt. of Louisiana Club, was sent on his way to see what he could do in 24 hours. The weather was not propitious, it being damp and muggy, and some times it rained hard.

The start was made at 6.20 P. M., Saturday, August 4. The first stop (30 min.) was made at 9.45, when the cyclometer marked 44 1-2 miles. At 11.25 he stopped 15 min., having made 64 miles. He then rode until 1.10 A. M., with 86 miles to his credit, when he was compelled to wait 60 min. on the account of the exploding of his lamp. The hundredth mile was made at 3.20 A. M., just nine hours after starting. Betts rode leisurely along through the night, and at 6.02 A. M. he had 131 1-2 miles, and at 8.02 A. M. he finished 150 1-2 miles. The rider rested an hour and twenty minutes, and then increased his pace a little and rolled up 168 miles by 10.55. The rain stopped him then and he halted for 45 minutes. At 12.40 o'clock he reached the record made Sunday, the 29th, of 178 miles. Every mile over that would count as ahead of the record. At 2.15 he had ridden 194 miles and rested 40 minutes. The two hundredth mile was made at 3.40. At 5.02 the cyclometer showed 214 1-2 miles. At 6.20, just 24 hours after starting, plucky Betts had ridden 226 1-2 miles. His stops amounted altogether to four hours and thirty minutes, making his actual riding time 19 hours and 30 minutes. This is the longest record made south of the Ohio river, and is good work in any company. In all these records of Dodge, Betts, and Jay and Betts, the American Champion bicycle was ridden. Bt.

WHY NOT THE FITCHBURG RAILROAD?

Editor Bicycling World: I would respectfully call your attention to the item in the BICYCLING WORLD of August 3d, on page 279, entitled "Special Rates to Buffalo" for wheelmen wishing to attend the tournament to be held in September. Owing, I suppose, to an oversight, our old friend, the Hoosac Tunnel Route, has not been mentioned. As the Massachusetts wheelmen are aware, they have always carried bicycles free, and it is to-day, I believe, the only road running out of Boston doing so, and do not specify any day or train on which the wheelmen shall travel. They are always welcomed upon this line, and treated courteously by the baggagemen, as I for one can testify, having had numerous occasions to carry my wheel upon its trains. The rates to Buffalo, I am informed, are as low as those offered by any other line, and the General Passenger Agent, Mr. J. R. Watson, has informed me that if the party is large enough they will carry us by special train, free of extra charge, and have baggage cars expressly for our wheels.

The WORLD has always advocated the idea of the wheelmen sticking to their friends, and I would ask if the Fitchburg and West Shore roads are not friends to the boys, having carried their wheels free for years? Yours truly, L. A. W. No. 5527.

MR. HALL ON THE HERKIMER RACES.

Editor Bicycling World: In your issue of July 27, is a letter from Mr. Geo. Nellis, Jr., headed "Messrs. Hall and Wilson at the Herkimer N. Y., Races."

In reply, I beg to state, that Mr. Wilson and self have no complaints to make against the members of the Fort Dayton Wheelmen, but our treatment by the judges was most unfair and unsportsmanlike.

In the three-mile race Mr. Wilson was fouled in the most deliberate manner. Mr. Nellis thinks otherwise, but I was riding directly behind Wilson and saw the foul. I entered a protest against the party who was in fault, but the Judges (the Referee had nothing to say) ruled no foul.

In the mile C. N. Y. championship, Wilson and self were on the programme to start, but Wilson was so badly hurt from his fall in the three-mile, that he could not, and a Mr. Metz, of Utica, entered a protest against my riding.

Again the Referee was silent, and the judges took twenty minutes to think over the matter. In the mean time I had to stand in the wind and sun, while still heated after the three-mile race, and rapidly getting too stiff to even think of riding. Mr. Metz had not started in the three miles and so was not much put out by the delay. Twice during the debate of the Judges, I was informed I could start, and then again told to wait. Finally I told my friend, Mr. Crichton, to remove my wheel to our dressing room, and I left the track. If the Judges decided that I could ride it was their place to have had me informed of the fact, and had I then decided not to start I should have had no cause for complaint, but this they did not do, but started the race before I was fairly in the dressing room.

There was no question in the minds of anyone except the Judges and Mr. Metz as to my being eligible to ride, but as Mr. Metz had no one in the race but myself to fear, it was self evident why he entered the protest.

Both Mr. Wilson and self refused to accept prizes already won, as we had gone to Herkimer simply for the championship race.

As for the Fort Dayton Wheelmen being willing to pay our expenses, that is, to quote Mr. Nellis, "bosh." We are not searching for clubs to pay our expenses. We did say we should consult a lawyer as to the advisability of compelling the club to settle, but when cooler, reconsidered the matter. Mr. Nellis states that the club paid for all attendants, etc., this I do not understand, for we even paid for our dressing room, the quarters provided being too much exposed to the wind and visitors.

The several "rather strong" paragraphs by Mr. Nellis I will pass over with no further comment, as I do not wish to inflict the readers of the WORLD with correspondence of that character.

In my conversation with my friend, "Wing-Foot," I stated the facts as above, also saying that as we had paid entrance fee for the C. N. Y. championship, and the same had been accepted, I should have been allowed to ride, even if under protest, and matter referred to Racing Board.

"Wing-Foot" being in a rush for a train took his notes rapidly, and undoubtedly misunderstood me as regards the return of any entrance fees, as we did not ask for same. The treatment I complained of was that of the Judges, not the members of the club, who in justice to them I must say used us well. Yours truly,

H. J. HALL, JR.

WINDLE TAKES THREE RACES.

RICHFIELD SPRINGS, N. Y., August 15, 1888.—W. W. Windle, of Lynn, Mass., won the half-mile open, the three-mile record and the one-mile dash in the Waiontha Bicycle Club's tournament at the driving park to-day.—Associated Press.

THE SPRINGFIELD BICYCLE CO.

We believe that the firm, the name of which heads this article, is the very youngest in the select family of manufacturers in this country, yet we were therefore very glad to accept an invitation from Messrs. Yost and McCune to take a trip to Worcester and look through their factory in that city. In connection with this subject we know it will be a matter of interest to state that the Springfield Bicycle Co. have purchased a valuable factory property, located at Newton Highlands, Mass., a distance of about eleven miles from Boston. An expensive and special plant has been contracted for, and is now being placed in position, so that by the first of October it is expected the new factory will be in operation. It is, however, the intention of the company to continue to manufacture at their factory in Worcester for some time to come, or until such time as the capacity of the factory at Newton Highlands is made equal to the present large demand for this machine.

We can scarcely call our visit to the factory at Worcester an "inspection." It took more the form of a "scamper" through the well appointed shops, in fact former similar experiences had shown us the utter impossibility of giving very particular details. One thing did impress the writer, and that was the fact that thoroughness and system were on every hand apparent.

Having been turned over to a "Guide" we entered first the blacksmith shop, in which were found the drop forges for the heads, levers and gearing parts of the machines, and here also were the brazing forges. There is always a certain fascination to us in the workings of the trip hammer. The powerful manner in which it bites and cuts into form, is one of the operations we never tire of watching. This shop presented the busy appearance of a miniature Hades in full blast, and as the simile presented itself to our minds we concluded to lead a better life for fear our experience hereafter might be passed in the midst of the "only original" Hades of the Good Book.

We cannot tarry here, and so we pass on and find ourselves in the room where the rough forgings are partially perfected. After watching the work for some minutes, we started on and came into the polishing room where the sparks flying from the emery wheels and from straps, were rather too numerous and gritty for our unaccustomed and unprotected eyes.

In this room we were shown a unique machine made specially for boring the rims and the hubs. A rim is fastened firmly in place and the machine is started. It works automatically, and bores the holes all round the rim, and then when the regular number of holes have been made the machine stops of itself and waits for the bored rim to be taken off and another put in. We were told that this machine did not have its duplicate in the country, and certainly we have never seen one before. Time was pressing and we had so much yet to see. The machine shops, with the many lathes and shaping machines had to be hurried through.

Responsible inspectors are employed and every machine in part and in whole has to go through a "competitive examination," so to speak, before it can enter upon its mission of pleasure and usefulness in the hands of its new owner.

It speaks well for the Springfield Bicycle Co. to say that they have had hard work to catch up on their orders. They are now in position to be able to fill all demands promptly, and with their increased facilities at their new factory at Newton Highlands there will be no trouble in the future as to their ability to meet the increasing demand for their now deservedly popular machine.

LEAGUE HEADQUARTERS:
12 Pearl Street, Room 27.
ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary.

NOT nearly all the States published their election laws this year. We trust that all such have held elections and that no State will default. It would be awkward should a State find itself without officers.

A CHIEF CONSUL'S position will be no easy one in the future, under the new rules. Much of the work that has been heretofore done by the National organization will hereafter come upon the States, and the Chief Consuls will have to conduct it. There will be no lack of funds for use, for the States will have the lion's share of the money paid in, and they should give good report of it.

THE Special Committee whose duty it is to prepare new by-laws for the League will meet at Buffalo, September, 7th. They invite suggestions from League members and all such will receive due consideration. Now is the time for those who have ideas regarding League management to say an effective word. Address communications to Charles H. Luscomb, Esq., 280 Broadway, N. Y.

BY this time each State Division should have chosen its Board of Officers, and it is only necessary to elect the delegates to the National Assembly in order to complete the organization of the League under the new Constitution. Each Division Board of Officers must hold a meeting during the month of September and elect one delegate for each two hundred members upon its roll on September 1st. The list of names published this week will qualify August 31, and those who come later than this week cannot be counted in estimating the representation of States.

THERE should be some provision in the League rules for transferring a man from one division to the other. Mr. Blank lived in California during January. He renewed from that place, and California received the portion of his fee that she was entitled to. In March he moves to Massachusetts. He desires to be transferred to Massachusetts for he will ride over her roads and he wants a road book that the state has issued, but Massachusetts has received no money from him, and she hesitates to present him with a road book, and other favors and California is anxious to count him in estimating her quota of Representatives, but she cannot do so, for this quota is based on "resident" League members. In a few words, a man who moves is a man left out in the cold. He cannot vote, he cannot draw perquisites, he cannot hold office. Wouldn't it be well to get him under cover?

THE Secretary has prepared and caused to be printed what may be called a "Recruiting Circular." The question often comes to us, as it no doubt does to many another League member, "What are the advantages of membership in the League," and this circular undertakes to answer the question and point the way to membership. Packages of these circulars have been sent to the several Chief Consuls, from whom they may be obtained by those who are willing to place them where they will benefit the League. Representatives and Consuls in every State are earnestly requested to draw up lists of men who are likely to be persuaded to membership and send the same to the Chief Consuls of their respective States, that a circular may be forwarded. Members who desire to do a little missionary work will do well to forward lists of this kind. In the outlying districts and in States where there is no Chief Consul the list may be sent to this office.

ONCE again the courts have emphatically pronounced the cycle to be a vehicle, and entitled to all the rights on the highway that any other vehicle has. This time it is in Providence, R. I. The case was that of William H. Leavitt. He complained in the name of the State against Patrick H. Collins, an expressman. On July 30, while riding on Broad street with two other wheelmen, Leavitt saw Collins driving toward him. The expressman was 300 feet away, and on the left side of the road. Four danger signals were given by Leavitt, but Collins drove on, crowding Leavitt into the gutter, exclaiming, "D—n you, get out of the way or I'll run over you." Leavitt then ran into the gutter, and was struck by Collins' wheel, breaking three fingers of his left hand. B. Y. Bruce, a safety rider, was there, and overhauling the expressman, obtained his number. The three wheelmen told the same story in court, and then came the test motion. Rathbone Gardner, for Collins, moved for a dismissal on the ground that the statutes defined what kind of carriages should travel on the road, and quoted from Webster to show that a bicycle was not a vehicle. Judge Cooke overruled the motion, first by saying that Webster died before a bicycle was invented and came into use, secondly that a bicycle was a vehicle, and third that the statutes said "a carriage or any vehicle." The defence then attempted to prove that the reason they did not go to the right of the road, was because a horse car, a carriage of some description and a bicycle were in the middle of the road, and Collins produced two men who were on the express team with him at the time to sustain his story, but they contradicted him materially, and one said that if he had had the reins he would have done differently. Judge Cooke imposed the full penalty of the law in his court, which is $5 and costs, but Sec. 2 of Chap. 66 affords Leavitt full satisfaction, as it says that whoever wilfully neglects to seasonably drive to the right out of the centre of the road, "shall be liable for the damages sustained in consequence of any neglect to comply with said provisions." This makes Collins responsible for Leavitt's doctor's bill, the injury to the bicycle, and the loss of wages. The decision gives the bicyclists of Rhode Island all the rights accorded to any horse owner.

New York Division.

The Annual Meeting of the New York State Division will be held at Buffalo, September 4th and 5th. The general business meeting of the Division will be held September 4th, at 8 P. M. at the Genesee House, Buffalo, N. Y. All members are requested to be present, as a full attendance is desired. G. R. BIDWELL, Chief Consul.

New York Division.

The Annual Fall Meeting of the New York State Division Board of Officers will be held at the Genesee House, Buffalo, N. Y., in the evening of September 4th, immediately after the adjournment of the general business meeting of the Division. GEO. R. BIDWELL, Chief Consul.

Missouri Division.

In response to a very cordial invitation from the United Wheelmen of Kansas City, the Fall meeting of this division will be held in that city September 27th, 28th and 29th, in connection with the Exposition Interstate Bicycle Tournament. The arrangements will be in the hands of the United Wheelmen, and the programme will be announced later. All the members of this division are requested to note the above dates and make their arrangements to attend the meeting. W. M. BREWSTER, Chief Consul.

Club Representatives.

The following clubs have elected Representatives for the States in which they are respectively situated: Jamaica Cycle Club, Jamaica Plain, Mass.—Wm. A. Mosman. Chelsea Cycle Club, Chelsea, Mass.—John B. Seward. Hyde Park Rambler Bi. Club, Hyde Park, Mass.—Theodore Walter. Capital City Cycling Club, Springfield, Ill.—Waldo S. Reed. Roxbury Bicycle Club, Roxbury, Mass.—Irving E. Moulton. Cambridge Bicycle Club, Cambridge, Mass.—George A. Perkins. ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary.

To Members R. I. Div. L. A. W.

If members of the Division, who intend visiting Buffalo, will notify me as soon as possible, I will furnish them full particulars in regard to trains, transportation of wheels, tickets, etc.

On page 300, BICYCLING WORLD, August 10, is a list of first class Hotels, and members can make their own Hotel arrangements.

It is necessary that I should know the number of members that will attend, also those who intend carrying wheels.

Reduced rates are only obtained from Boston, and sleeping car arrangements must be made previous to date of starting. Fraternally, CHAS. S. DAVOL, C. C.

Maryland Division.

The annual business meeting of this Division will be held at 8.30 P. M. on Friday, August 31st, at the Town-hall of Arlington, Md. All members of the L. A. W. in Maryland are earnestly requested to assemble with hub-lamps, if possible, at the Tower on Druid Lake, in Druid Hill Park, promptly at 7.30 P. M. From this point the entire Division will wheel in a body to Arlington (3 miles.) Our annual meeting this year promises to be one of unusual interest, and every member should make it a point to be present. For the first time since our organization, the new officers will be installed in an open meeting. A new Constitution and By-laws will be submitted for adoption, reports will be received from the League Meet Committee, Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer, all of which will be of much interest to the Division at large. Other than the above, there is much business of importance to be transacted, and each member in the State should feel it his duty to be present and lend his voice and vote on all matters, calculated to further the interests of the Wheelmen in our midst.

Fraternally,
A. E. MEALY,
C. C. Maryland. Div.

Massachusetts Division Meet.

The annual meeting of the Massachusetts Division was held in Town Hall, Cottage City, August 2, at 9.30 A. M., Chief Consul Hayes presiding. In the absence of Secretary Lawton, Mr. A. W. Robinson was chosen Secretary pro tem.

The Chief Consul made a brief verbal report. The Secretary's report was presented and contained the following statistics:

Membership, including List No. 149..... 1152
District 1..... 412
District 2..... 221
District 3..... 118
District 4..... 131
District 5..... 111
District 6..... 157
Non..... 2

Receipts to date, August..... $1607 53
Expenditures..... 1374 10

Balance on hand..... $233 45
The following amendments to the Constitution were passed. These are made merely to make the Division Constitution consistent with the National:

Art. 11. After the word Consul in second line insert "Vice Consul."
Art. 14. Substitute "fifteen" for "twenty-five" in second line.
Art. 5. Substitute "June" for "March" in seventh line.

The next business in order was the election of a Secretary-Treasurer, and on motion of Dr. Emery the secretary pro tem was ordered to cast one ballot for Mr. Sanford Lawton, and he was declared elected. Mr. Bassett moved that the road book be presented free to every person joining the Division, until the present edition is exhausted, reserving 150 copies only for official use. Carried.

Mr. Bassett moved that the Committee on Rules and Regulations consider the expediency of framing a rule whereby a member of another Division, taking up a residence in Massachusetts, shall be admitted at once into the Division on paying a proper fee to the Division. Carried.

Mr. Bassett moved, that the thanks of the Division be tendered to the Martha's Vineyard Club for their hospitalities and that the Secretary be directed to notify them of this vote. Carried.

On motion of Dr. Emery, the meeting was adjourned.
ARTHUR W. ROBINSON,
Secretary Pro Tem.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member."

Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct.
Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

BICYCLING NEWS—the Cyclers' Illustrated Paper—Every week by mail for a year, $2.50. Contains sketches of the latest inventions and of well-known European and English routes. Also special correspondence from the United States and all countries; useful information and accounts of tours. The oldest and most interesting cyclists' paper in the world.

MY CYCLING LOG BOOK. By "Papa" Weston. The transitory pleasures of cycling can be made as permanent as its physical benefits, by jotting down in a well devised log book, the distances and incidents of one's various journeys. Knowing that such a record is a most pleasant thing to have, and believing that the keeping of such should be encouraged, as tending to the permanent good of cycling in more ways than can be referred to here. The Log Book is handsomely and strongly bound in red leather, will last for years of constant use, and is the best arranged book of its kind ever yet devised. It fills a want often felt by the cyclist who values records of interest for future reference. Price, post paid, $1.25. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

IN AND AROUND CAPE ANN, by John S. Webber, Jr., being a hand book of that most charming section of Massachusetts. It is a book equally valuable and interesting to the wheelman, tourist, the student and resident. It is illustrated finely and bound handsomely. It is one of the most complete and well written little books of the kind ever published. Price 50 cents, post paid. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

HEALTH UPON WHEELS. By W. Gordon Staples, M. D. Contents: What is meant by Health; Health of the Skin; Baths and Bathing; The Morning Tub; Rules for Seaside Enjoyment; Dyspepsia; Errors in Diet; The Man and the Stomach; Remarks on Diet; Drinks on the Road; Advice on Training and Exercise; Medicines in Training; Road Comforts; How to Ride; Clothing; Care of the Feet; Care of the Hands; Soap—Toilet Requisites; Calmatives—Nervousness—Sleeplessness; Mineral Waters; A Tourist's Filter. Price by mail, 50 cents. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

THE CYCLIST, the leading paper of England, is a well-filled newspaper, containing the earliest, the best and fullest reports of all wheel matters. No other paper covers the ground as the Cyclist does, and it is not only the largest in size, but has by far the largest circulation of any wheel paper. Edited by Henry Sturtevant and C. W. Nairn. $2.50 per year, including postage.

TRICYCLING FOR LADIES. By Miss F. J. Erskine. "For some time past there has been a real need with many ladies who have had their interest awakened on the subject of tricycling for some small book which should put them in possession of the most useful and necessary information without having to pay for it by their own experience. This want is now supplied, and in Miss Erskine's book will be found hints on the choice and management of tricycles, with suggestions on dress, riding and touring, etc., adapted to a lady's special requirements." 25 cents. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

Volume XVII.
Number 17.

Topeka, Kansas, July 17th, 1888.

Overman Wheel Co., Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen--I have just returned from a two hundred mile jaunt through Central Kansas on my '88 pattern VICTOR.

I have examined it carefully since returning, and do not find a point about it that needs attention or adjusting.

I never once used a tool on it while out, or adjusted a bearing, not even the head, and my wheel is perfectly quiet, although the greater part of the road was very hard and rough, and jarred the wheel very much.

I did not spare the wheel at all, as I kept the saddle on all occasions, both up and down all the hills, and in every rough place.

I cannot find a point in the 1888 VICTOR to criticise, and that is saying considerable about a wheel for me.

Yours very truly,

SPECIAL.

WE'RE READY FOR IT.

What a hurrah there is over the September tournament!

We must wade in stream up to the arm-pits, and catch the trade in Bicycling Uniforms that belongs to us. Doesn't it belong to us?

The National Association says: "They make the best Uniforms."

Well, then, we're going to back up their say-so by making the best, and not one that doesn't deserve over and over the name of The Best Bicycling Uniform to be got. Yes, you'll say yourself: It's the best to be got anywhere.

Why shouldn't we? The railroads of this country, the crack military associations, the crack cadets, the crack bands get us to make their uniforms. It comes as natural to us to make good uniforms as if we did nothing else.

But we do do something else. We make the best everyday clothing and fine clothing in the country. If you sent to us for a Full Dress Suit for a wedding we could send it at a half-hour's notice. Or, a Suit to mountain-climb in.

The whole clothing business is at our finger-ends.

That's why we make the best Uniforms. Send your order along.

J. Harry Shurman of Lynn, Mass. Witnesses by E. H. Banks, N. Y.; L. S. Klox, E. N. Y.; Harry Spence, Newark, N. J.; W. H. White, Newark, N. J., and C. S. Silver of Concord, N. H.

WHAT NEXT.

Stickney Hill, Lynn, Mass. Try it. We got there.

L. A. W. run at Baltimore, June 19th, 1888. Out of 150 wheels, 3 only surmounted the hill, 2 of these were Springfield Roadsters, ridden by Messrs. Harris and Decker.

L. A. W. races, Baltimore, June 19th 1888. The SPRINGFIELD ROADSTER scored three victories—2-mile safety, by J. Fred Midgley, 1-2 mile dash, and 3-mile handicap by W. E. McCune.

J. R. Weld, Jr., of Medina, N. Y., writes: "We believe in the SPRINGFIELD ROADSTER out here. In a club of 20 members, 16 of them ride your make of Wheel, and still we want another."

BOSTON, 24 AUGUST, 1888.

EVERY voluntary organization is a law unto itself. It can make and unmake laws at its pleasure. We fail to see, therefore, the point of the Wheel's argument when it declares the new Constitution to be "unconstitutional."

THE American team has arrived in this country, and we are advised by Manager Morgan that he is ready to make satisfactory terms with clubs and associations which may wish to have the members of the International championship team appear at their race meetings. See advertisement in another column. All communications should be addressed to "Senator" Morgan, care of this office.

AND now the Athlete takes a fling at the new Constitution, and gives what it calls the "inside history" of the Constitution's birth. Here is the "inside history" as given by the Athlete:

"The cold facts are that two of these 'three intelligent gentlemen' had the interests of the League so vitally at heart that they gave the Chairman of their committee no assistance whatever previous to the first publication of the document. The Chairman, after waiting until he could wait no longer for some communication from the other members of the committee, sat down at his desk and dashed off the Constitution as it was first printed, between 11 P. M. and bedtime!"

As we happen to know a little of the "inside history" of this document we think we can show up the absurdity of the Athlete's story in no better way than by giving the facts. The Re-organization Committee met in Buffalo last winter. Three of the four members were present, as also were President Kirkpatrick and Secretary Bassett. The Chairman, Mr. Luscomb, presented a draft of a new Constitution, and so did Dr. C. S. Butler. The committee worked two days over the business of making one code by selecting the best from the two that were presented. The President and Secretary also offered valuable suggestions, and Mr. W. S. Bull lent his aid. The document is not the work of one man but of many, and the midnight yarn of the Athlete is of the stuff that dreams are made of.

"SENATOR" MORGAN IN BOSTON.

WITH overcoat on arm and satchel that showed evidences of hard travel a sun-browned man, clad in clothes of an English cut, walked into our office last Tuesday, and before we could realize that the individual had opened the door our hand was clasped in that of "Senator" Morgan, and our hearty welcome was extended to the successful Manager of the American team. A telegram had already advised us of the arrival in New York of the American and the European contingent of cyclists, and so we were not so much surprised as we might have been. We at once asked the "Senator" why he had not notified us by cable the day of his sailing, as promised. "Why," said the "Senator," "I did write the cablegram, or board the tender at Liverpool, and gave it to a friend to send, and I cannot for the life of me understand why it was not sent."

"I am glad to get back to the States, and I was sorry to leave dear old England," continued the "Senator." "The Continent is a pleasant place to travel through, but I would not like it as a place of residence."

"We have had a splendid trip, and it is one of the pleasantest things to know that our efforts to please our patrons on the other side have been appreciated, and that our leaving there has caused regret."

In reply to a question as to why Howell did not come, the "Senator" replied: "Howell will probably sail on the 18th, that was the understanding at the time of our leaving." We congratulated the "Senator" on the achievements of the members of his team and especially those of Temple. "Yes," he replied, "we have nothing to be ashamed of. Temple's record is without parallel, and the way he did up Howell four time within four days was a brilliant winding up, and one of which we are proud. The manner in which he romped away from his men in the last race he ran in England proved his superiority over England's best men beyond a shadow of a doubt. He is most popular among the masses, and the appearance of the merry little Yankee and his success was the signal for the most hearty applause."

The history of the past eighteen months of the team's successes in Europe are no doubt fresh in the minds of the readers of the World, as this paper has faithfully chronicled its doings from time to time. The members return to this country with the flush of victory and success still on them, and eager for the fray on this side.

As to the members of the European contingent, Mr. Morgan said: "I believe Lee to be the best man in England, and he is ready to establish the claim in case R. Howell chooses to dispute it. In fact he has lately beaten Howell six times in succession, and he has beaten both the Woods, and other crack English and American riders (Temple excepted) repeatedly during the past month, thus establishing his claim to being the fastest English rider at the present time without a doubt. As to F. W. Allard, his name is not unknown as being a successful rider on an American track, he having ridden to victory as an amateur at Springfield in 1885. Since then he has won every safety championship in England, and he has also been very successful as a tricycle rider. In fact on these two machines it is hard to find his peer. Allard is now a full fledged professional having joined the professional ranks at the polite suggestion of the N. C. U. At the same time the hint was given Mr. Allard by the N. C. U. they also made a like suggestion to J. Lee."

The French representative, Jules Dubois, has blue blood in his veins, being a direct descendant of General Dubois, a distinguished soldier who fought under Napoleon I. in the Spanish and Italian wars. As a rider he stands at the head of the French profession, holding most of the French bicycle and tricycle records. He is of most pleasing manner, and is grit to the backbone. His endurance in keeping up a hot and steady pace is wonderful.

Taking all in all the representatives brought over are from the cream of the European profession; that they will establish themselves in favor with the American cycling public we have no doubt. We extend them a hearty welcome, and we bespeak for them treatment such as will make a lasting and pleasant impression on their minds in the future.

NOTES BY

THE "CAVILER."

Don't talk to me about the unfeminine practice of a lady riding a bicycle. I, myself, have a large bump of prejudice, and it sometimes swells. It especially asserts itself when I see a lady do anything "mannish." "A lady on a bicycle," good heavens!" exclaims that dear old fuss of a woman, Mrs. Grundy. Of course the imagination is at once fired by the mind picture of the lovely Miss — in Bloomer costume astride of an ordinary, or if not in Bloomer attire, then—! Oh well, my sense of modesty forbids me to paint the awful possibilities in case of the retention of the usual lady's apparel. I am glad to say that all the fears of our being shocked and all the proprieties being violated are without foundation. I know Harry Corey by sight, and I was therefore pleased to meet that gentleman and a lady, whom I took to be Mrs. Corey skimming along the road on a tandem bicycle. The lady rode gracefully and fast, without apparent effort. I was on an ordinary, and though I am no scorcher still I manage to keep up with the procession, yet the pace Mr. and Mrs. Corey were travelling did not admit of any loading tactics on my part. I was much pleased to see this pair, as it was my first sight of a tandem bicycle with a lady as one of the riders.

I HOPE it will not be long before these lady's bicycles will be a more familiar sight. One thing I like about them is that the bicycle compels the lady to be graceful, because the position of the rider must be one more vertical than is usually adopted when riding a trike. While on the subject of feminine grace (of which I am an admitted judge), I want to propound a riddle, and that is, why will the majority of lady tricyclists persist in riding a saddle too far back and too low down, and why do the same majority ride with the handles so high that the chin is in danger of knocking against the handlebar? I have noticed these faults so often, and many times on meeting a pretty girl riding a badly adjusted machine, I have been tempted to speak up and try and prevail on her to assume a normal and more graceful, upright position. "Drop the handles and raise the seat and turn your toes in" is my urgent advice to those fair ones who now ride "all in heap."

SPEAKING of the lack of grace and beauty, the fair sex are not alone in the want of it in riding. The other day I saw an object mounted on a bicycle coming towards me, his legs looked like this, (). How many of these fellows you do see in a day's ride. The "object" I especially allude to wore the uniform and badge of one of our best known clubs—I won't say what club. Now I know that bow legs cannot be helped in some cases, but the many who ride like this () are in fault themselves, they turn their toes out, consequently the knees go out also; result, extreme awkwardness in appearance and a vast loss of power. "Dear reader," watch your toes and see that they do not turn out or in further than your heel. To use the expression of an old rider, "rub your forks with your knees if you ride an ordinary." We don't all ride ordinaries, but we can keep our legs straight so that when we are "end on" we won't look as if we were trying to make our lower limbs form the letter "O."

Now, Mr. Editor, you must prepare yourself for a magnificent, large fish story, for is not "the only" Dr. Kendall and a party of of choice comrades about to invade the briny depths in the neighborhood of Scituate, and then and there to try, endeavor and attempt to inveigle the festive though confiding cod by means of tempting bait? I notice the Doctor promises that "good spirits" will be taken along. I am glad of this assurance on the part of the Doctor, as I know him to be a judge of "good spirits." Had he been careless and allowed common every day "Jersey lightning" to be taken along I fear the captured fish would have been so numerous and of such vast proportions that even my capacity for swallowing fish stories without a wink would have been tested to the utmost.

I now understand why Friend Emery was in such a state of excitement the other day. He and Prial have a four-page fuss in the last issue of the Wheel. Right on the heels of this, vague rumors of secedings in the New York Division reach my ears.

Growlings and mutterings, portentous and sublime, indicate that the mountain is in labor. I sincerely trust that the mouse may survive if it is brought forth at all, but I doubt its ability to survive. A certain New York man gave me "the tip" on this point the other day. All I have to do is to brace myself and breathlessly wait for the supreme moment.

I MET the "Senator" at his hotel the other day, and I at once began to "gather him in," but he congealed my efforts by stating that "the editor of the WORLD had pumped him dry." I think this is poaching on my "exclusives," and I am naturally and properly indignant that the material for a first-class interview had been taken away from me so unceremoniously. The "Senator" looks quite English, and he seems happy over the history of the past and the prospects for the future.

PORKOPOLIS NOTES.

"STAR."

WITH those to whom the beaten paths generally pursued by wheelmen have grown somewhat chestnutty the following routes may meet with favor among Cincinnati wheelmen: First, going by way of the Harrison pike, turn to the left at the seven-mile house just beyond Cheviot and take the State road through Bridgetown and Dry-Ridge to Cleves, distance, sixteen and one-half miles from Ninth and Race. This latter road is in fair condition, and can be ridden without a dismount, the grades are all easy except the one going down into Cleves, which is so steep that the brake will hardly hold the wheel. From this point to Miamitown the distance is six and a half miles over a road on the west side of the river, for a mile of which the walking is excellent; return by Harrison pike—distance, fifteen miles—or from Cleves to Delhi—five and one-half miles—and from there to starting point—twelve miles. Dinner can be had at Delhi at the boarding house of a Mrs. Smith. Another, going by way of Colerain pike, take the Blue Rock Pike, which is the second road that turns to the left just after leaving Mt. Airy. This road leads through White Oaks and Barnesville to New Baltimore and the Big Miami, distance, fifteen and one-half miles. By the beginning of September this latter road will be in fair condition. There are three steep hills, but they are not much over one hundred yards long. The last coast is a duplicate of the hill going into Cleves, only a little bit more so. From the foot of this hill, however, there is a stretch of over two miles that is a gradual down grade, and nearly the whole distance can be coasted. From New Baltimore to Miamitown turn to the left at each intersection. The road is gravel, no grades to speak of, and is in tolerable condition—distance, six miles. One advantage in these routes is that the longest part of the journey is taken before dinner.

It costs $10.00 now to ride on the sidewalks of Carthage or Hartwell.

SOME local wheelmen have lately been taking in Coney Island instead of attending their club runs. Wonder what the attraction is?

THE second road race for the medal offered by Mr. A. A. Bennet is off for the present, to the great disappointment of Levy, Greenwood and other fast young men.

BARNEY KLUM, who was so unfortunate at the Baltimore meet, recently met with another accident. He took a header on Race street and—disarranged his bangs.

FIVE wheelmen from Jacksonville, Ill., visited our city August 15. They intend to visit Mammoth Cave, Ky., and to tour through Southern Indiana and Illinois to St. Louis.

By omitting the street and number in mailing the tickets for the Ohio Division election, several local wheelmen failed to get their tickets and considerable dissatisfaction is the result.

THREE members of the Cincinnati Bicycle Club who were caught in the rain at Arlington on Sunday, August 12, were taken in out of the wet and handsomely entertained by Mr. Millholland.

It has been suggested that the Centennial Commissioners set apart a certain day as bicycle day, and that all neighboring wheelmen be invited to attend and participate in a grand wheelmen's parade.

A PECULIARITY in regard to that Miamitown cow has lately been remarked. It is only when milked by certain persons, who shall be nameless, that her milk possesses that exhilarating effect and highly prized flavor.

HERMAN HUSEMAN, whilst riding the tow path near Chesterpark, took a header into the canal. After fishing out his wheel, he hung his clothes on some bushes, and then hid in the shrubbery for over three hours, while his togs were drying.

A CERTAIN wealthy and public spirited citizen proposes, in the near future, to build a club house for the Cincinnati Bicycle Club, which he will lease to them at a moderate annual rental. The details have not been decided upon as yet, but this much is known, the building will be three stories and a basement, and will contain a commodious wheel room, bath rooms, reception room, billiard room, gymnasium, reading room, smoking room, dressing rooms, sleeping rooms, etc. The C. B. C. boys are evidently playing in luck.

PENNSYLVANIA.

"ARIEL."

YOUR St. Louis correspondent has gotten himself into hot water, Mr. Editor, by his insinuation that Wells sent a bogus telegram in order to crawl-fish out of the match with Greenwood. Wells is justly indignant over this assertion and told me to-day that he had sent you the original message. He does not believe that Greenwood ever said anything to that effect, and certainly the latter wants to clear himself of the charge about as quickly as he knows how. Mr. Wells was not fit to ride, whatever Mr. "Linneus" may have to say about it. I saw him, myself, and he was a badly used up man.

FOUR big men in a boat is the latest development of the Reading B. Club, Scheele, Wilhelm, Roland and —, and they are ready to take odds that no cycling club in the country can beat them on water. They row in the Columbia regatta next week.

THE Tioga Cycling Club are going to hold a race meet on Saturday, Sept. 29th, on the three-lap track at Tioga, which is to be the race meet of the year here. Mr. Geo. D. Gideon is Chairman of the committee in charge of the affair, and no more need be said about its being run as it should. Full particulars later on.

THE club tandem bicycle of the Century Wheelmen, which has been laid up for repairs during the last three weeks, is once more in use, and great is the joy thereat among the members, who have fair friends, these moonlight nights. Lieut. Shaffer, they say, has a great weakness for the tandem, when the front seat has a wheel-woman upon it.

ON Saturday a delegation from the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club started on a two weeks' bicycle tour up to the northern part of the State. They go by way of the Water Gap to Dingman's Ferry and Pike County. Messrs. Harper, Longacre, Battersby, Harvey, Hall, Single, Grigan and Kohler comprise the party, which is under command of Lieut. Kohler.

READING is doing well in cycling this season. I ran up to that city over Sunday and dropped in at the rooms of the Reading Bicycle Club, which are on Penn street above Fourth, and are as nicely arranged and furnished as any club rooms I have seen for a long while. The club members are all greatly exercised at Wilhelm's defeats by Halsted at Lancaster and New Castle, and one of them, who was at the latter place, said to me: "Ah, if the race had only been a little longer, you'd have seen how Irv would have beaten him!" "Yes," said I, "and if the dog hadn't gone to sleep he'd have caught the rabbit!" Wilhelm is training hard for Buffalo and expects to lay Halsted out there. He never was in such condition in his life, they tell me, and if the Harlem man beats him now they'll give in that he's the better man. But he'll have to work to do it. Irv Wilhelm is a hard man to beat, and if careful preparation and a hard race can avert a third defeat why it's going to be done.

MESSRS. LUKENS, Allen and Geyler, of the Luray tourists, returned home from Harrisonburg, Va., by train. They report the Shenandoah Pike in poor condition, owing to newly metaled roads. Messrs. Shaffer and Bonnett rode up the Cumberland Valley on their bicycles, returning to Philadelphia by way of Harrisburg and Reading. They reached the city on Saturday. I had expected to meet them at Reading on Saturday night, but they had gotten a day ahead on their programme. I was disappointed in my charitable object of piloting them over the best bits of roads we have in Reading, and as the Reading Club has almost entirely given up club runs I had to wheel it alone. I spent a couple of hours down toward the Oley Pike, but found the roads in poor condition, with lots of new stone on them. Nevertheless, the old familiar places seemed real to me. Here's where Potter and Billy nearly busted themselves over my practically illustrated argument that you could take a header from the Facile. It was my first attempt at coasting, and I coasted squarely into a ditch. Yonder, below the Black Bear, is where we put Schmidt through the mount and dismount on his new 58-inch Victor, when the big Captain's evolutions would have made an acrobat grow green with envy. Well, well! turn home again, old wheel, for those days are in the storehouse of the past, and the old friends have gone forth into the world.

BUFFALO.

"MERCURY."

I WISH to impress upon the minds of all wheelmen who intend visiting Buffalo during the coming tournament with the importance of bringing their wheels. Firstly: Buffalo, with its fifty miles of asphalt streets, and its beautiful park roads, is a veritable wheelmen's paradise. Secondly: The track and fair grounds are three miles and more from any hotel; the walk is long, and under a hot, sweltering sun, very disagreeable; a ride in a crowded street car (and you may depend upon it, they will be packed), is far from comfortable. How much more pleasant it would be to mount your wheel, ride up Ellicott street, over Chippewa and up Main to E. Ferry, and out E. Ferry to the grounds; a continuous run of asphalt with the exception of two short blocks (Chippewa street, which will be spread over with tan bark). You will arrive at the grounds in a much shorter time, and also avoid many unpleasant happenings that are invariably connected with the modern street car. Thirdly: Captains Hanenstein and Hotchkiss, of the Rambler and Buffalo clubs respectively, are arranging tours to Niagara Falls, Lewiston, Angola, Bowmansville, Lancaster, Hamburg, and other equally pleasant places to which our cycling guests are respectfully invited. The roads, with one or two exceptions, are very good. Lastly: You are earnestly requested to bring your wheel. The committee on parade are using every effort to make this parade the cycling event of the season, and hope that every visiting and local wheelman will participate. Arrangements have been made with the railroad companies to carry wheels free of charge; there is no reason why the wheel should not be included in your necessities. The little trouble if any that you will have will be fully compensated by the enjoyable time spent riding. Do not depend on renting a wheel; the majority of rented wheels are back numbers, and the pleasure of wheeling is lost when you ride a "bone-shaker."

A MEETING held August 12th, at which Mr. Bidwell (Chief Consul), Mr. Bull (Vice President of the L. A. W.), and H. E. Ducker (General Director of the World's Tournament), were present, it was decided to change the date of the parade from the 1st to the 2d of September, thus giving wheelmen more time to arrive and participate in the parade. It will be divided into three divisions: the first will include the New York State Division, the second the L. A. W. wheelmen other than the New York State Division, and the Canadian Association, and the third all unattached non-League wheelmen. C. W. Adams, 132 College street, Buffalo, has been appointed Adjutant of the parade, and Captains of clubs which intend to participate are requested to write him at once and obtain full information as to details of route, etc.

GEO. BUCHHEIT, JR., of the Ramblers, took a very serious header, while coasting on the Thayer Hill, near Brockton, bruising one side of his face and body in a horrible manner.

ROWE and the other fast 'uns express themselves as well pleased with the track, which is now in the pink of condition.

TICKETS granting the holder permission to use the track for practice have been issued, and can be had from H. E. Ducker, Chapin Block; L. H. Rathmann, Room 13, City Hall; and Mr. Bowen, Main street, near Chippewa street.

CHICAGO

ITEMS.

CYCLING matters are a little quiet here at present, as compared with the excitement of the past four months. Many wheelmen are away on their vacation, while those who are not are keeping themselves pretty much out of sight. The awakening is expected at the occasion laid out for August 25th, when the Division Board of Officers holds its meeting here.

QUITE a party is beginning to make arrangements to attend Buffalo next month, and I think that the Chicago contingent will prove to be much larger than expected.

FOURTEEN cycling clubs in Chicago; just think of it! The members of most of these clubs would undoubtedly get better returns for their time and money by advocating consolidation with some of the larger clubs.

A SCHEME for consolidating the Chicago and Lincoln Clubs, and perhaps the Fort Dearborns, is afloat. A combination of these three clubs would be very powerful, and the harmony resulting from such a union would further the good of the sport.

SECRETARY SCHMIDT reports a large demand for the road books published by his club. All who have not secured a copy should send him fifty cents at once (address 103 Adams street) before the edition becomes exhausted. It will be found invaluable on all tours.

THE L. A. W. election in this State proved a disappointment to a great many who worked hard for Oliver's election. Tom Roe was determined to run, even without support, the result being that all of Roe's votes were detracted from Oliver's side, and Mr. Davis was elected, the split in the opposing ticket making Davis the only one of his ticket that was successful, Oliver's ticket having a sweeping majority, with the exception of himself. It is to be hoped that Davis will make us a good Chief Consul, but those who know him best have doubts of his ability to do this.

I AM sorry not to see more of our strong riders, especially members of other clubs, joining the Chicago Club. This club has a fair membership, it is true, and they are all of the most substantial sort, it is conveniently situated in the heart of the city, has elegantly furnished rooms, is well officered, and the dues are not unreasonable, benefits and privileges considered. Half an hour or more can be congenially spent at noons, and the club is the most forward in the city when it comes to evening amusements, socials, dances, etc. The Captain, Burley Ayers, said that all runs hereafter, would be at a pace that would accommodate the most conservative riders, and in future no one would be left behind.

A NEW club, known as the Cheltenham Athletic Club, was organized August 9th, and over fifty members have been obtained already; all cyclists so far. The officers are as follows: Wm. C. Thorne, President; T. T. Roe, Secretary-Treasurer; N. H. Van Sicklen, Captain; H. R. Winslip, Lieutenant. The club has control of the best quarter-mile track hereabouts, besides a fine club house and three or four acres of excellent grounds for athletic purposes. I understand that cycling, tennis, foot ball, lacrosse, base ball, cricket, and all classes of gymnastics, running, etc., will be cultivated, with a branch and Captain for each sport as the growth demands it. The dues are so nominal that a large and successful membership will certainly result. The club was organized and is officered by cyclists entirely. A challenge for a team race for any distance was officially sent to St. Louis at the last meeting of this club. The membership list is significant to any one who is well informed, as there is hardly a man among them who cannot make a mile under three minutes, with a dozen around 2.50, and three or four who can beat 2.45. If they do not capture all the prizes I am much mistaken.

MINNEAPOLIS NOTES.

"VERNON."

By the time this is published, our tournament will be a thing of the past. If it is not a success, nobody is to blame except the chief promoters of it. If they had taken more time, say six weeks, the meet could have been worked up in better shape.

ABOUT twenty-five Minneapolis riders rode out to the Couro Hill to meet the St. Paul boys, the 18th of Aug., but St. Paul failed to show up.

H. P. LEACHMAN returned from a trip to Chicago, 17 August. He seems to remember nothing about the trip, however. They must have very, very bad drinking water down there.

HARRY LACKOR, John and Harry Pritchett returned from their trip up to Alexandria, August 16. They report the roads very poor in some places. At one place they walked twenty-three out of twenty-eight miles. All three took the regular amount of headers, but never the less they had a good time.

E. J. HALE, Colie Bell, N. J. Reid, Geo. Thompson and Geo. Bartlett are camping at Lake Harriet. They are all in one tent, and talk about noise! The other campers are already talking of throwing them into the lake. They are out there more to get the benefit of riding on the boulevard, than to enjoy quiet camp life. They rise at 5 A. M., have a spin around the lake and take a good rub down and then run into town.

HARRY LACKOR, while coasting, struck a stone which threw him in among some tin cans, etc., in a farmer's wagon, while his wheel, not to get left, plunged under the wagon and was run over by one of the wagon wheels. Harry was not hurt, and only one spoke was broken out of his wheel. The farm wagon was quite heavily loaded, and so, considering all things, we consider that Harry and his little bike got off very easily.

H. P. LEACHMAN and Colie Bell are talking about publishing a book on the "Mysteries of the Draw Bridge." It is said they stood on the "off" side of one, about a stone's throw from the depot, and saw three trains, bound for their destination, pull out without being able to get on board one of them. Eye witnesses say that the heat generated by friction, caused by the rapid and ardent sound of speech indulged in by this gentleman on that occasion, made the water under the bridge fairly boil and steam.

ST. LOUIS.

"LINNEUS."

Alton by wagon road. This trip has been seldom, if ever, made before, and Tivy deserves credit for reporting it.

ALL those that intend to go to Buffalo should notify Geo. Tivy, as I understand he has a special rate for a party of wheelmen who will go together.

CHIEF CONSUL BREWSTER, E. B. Kidson and others intended to start Saturday afternoon and spend the night at Maxwell and push on to De Soto Sunday morning, but the rain no doubt put an end to their trip.

RETURNS are all in for the election of officers of the Missouri Division, and the whole ticket was elected as nominated. A number of votes were cast for Consul J. C. Piggot for the Touring Committee and his name will perhaps be added.

DR. FRANK, one of the new members of the Missouri Bi. Club, is beginning to master the wheel in great shape. A trip to Bartold's, in company with Lieutenant Hildebrand is in contemplation, and before long Ballwin will be the objective point.

THE proprietor of the Galt House, St. Charles, Mo., writes that the rock road is in fine condition, and that he would like to see some of the clubs come over. No runs have been called to this place on account of the bad condition of the road for some time.

AB. LEWIS resigned the Captaincy at the last meeting of the Missouri Bi. Club, but it was not accepted and upon motion was laid upon the table. Too much work at business is the reason therefor, and not, as a party claimed, a "squib" in my letter a few weeks back.

MR. E. BARNARD was run down on the Jefferson avenue bridge Friday, August 10, and narrowly escaped serious injury. As it was his bicycle was smashed by the horse falling on it, and he escaped with a few bruises. Luckily he has the names of the scoundrels, and they will have to pay dearly for their fun.

SUNDAY, August 12, Ab. Lewis, Prof. Stone and L. C. Balkley made the trip down to De Soto. They found the road to be rough and hills badly washed in places, caused by the late heavy rains. They trained it back to St. Louis. The ride was greatly enjoyed by all, and full justice was done to the good things set before them at dinner at De Soto.

EUGENE VALENTINE, the Brooklyn flyer, was in town Friday and was taken in tow by some of the local wheelmen. His opinion of Kluge's speed is greatly at variance with that of "Ratchet's," who claimed Kluge could do 2.34 or better. Valentine stated that he did not believe Kluge could get under 2.40, and that the road was his forte, and not the track.

PERCY STONE's hand is getting along nicely, and although he has decided not to go to Buffalo he will take in the races to be given by the Knights of Honor at Fair Grounds next month. The amphitheatre's track is in horrible shape, but Percy promises to have it put in good condition. He will also take in the Kansas City tournament, having received a special request to be present.

THE Cycle Club are gradually having their house fitted up in elegant shape, and will soon rival any club house in the country. At their last meeting Secretary Mockler resigned and F. W. Seager, Jr., was elected to fill the vacancy. Hy Oellein did some cigarette smoking extraordinary lately, and as a consequence was rewarded by receiving a fine framed picture of Theo, which now adorns the walls of the club's parlor, for 340 wrappers of Duke's cigarettes. He still lives.

CONSUL PIGGOTT, of Booneville, writes: "In regard to rock roads, all that has been accomplished so far is a petition presented to the County Court to order an election to levy an assessment on property adjoining the proposed road, which will be done in a short while. The city has just put down one thousand feet of macadam, and will let the contract for as much more some time this fall." It is a pity that some of the other cities and counties in the interior will not follow Booneville's example, and build rock roads.

By far the most essential quality in a tandem next to ease of running and excellence of manufacture is PERFECT PRACTICABILITY.

American Challenge Tandem

Which is the only tandem tricycle in the world that can be successfully run on Every Sort of American Roads.

It can be steered, too, and braked by both riders, and can be ridden by two ladies.

Between the two riders is ample room for a child's seat, which we furnish at an extra cost of $5.

By all means see this machine before purchasing the ordinary three-track type, lest you become burdened with a practically useless tandem for touring purposes.

Price, Ball Bearings all Over, $180.

CUT THIS OUT and show it to your fellow wheelmen. It will no appear in every issue. Do you want a $10.00 or $5.00 Cyclometer? We will send you one Free, any make you desire, and this is this is the way we propose to do it: Every wheelman who orders a within the next 30 days will get mailed with his carrier a number corresponding with one which will be placed in a Box. At the expiration of 30 days the numbers will be thoroughly shaken up together, and one drawn out; the party holding the number to correspond with the one drawn will secure a $10.00 Cyclometer. The numbers will be thoroughly shaken again, and a second number drawn, the lucky holder of which will secure a $5.00 Spoke Cyclometer. Now is your time. You have got to buy a luggage carrier, and you may as well get a cyclometer with it. Free. Every wheelman wants a cyclometer (you stand a good chance of getting one of the two), and every wheelman needs a luggage carrier. There is none equal to the "Ross Improved"; fits either crank, Star or safety bicycles. Our Carrier is new, and not known at all by thousands of wheelmen; therefore we make this splendid offer in order that wheelmen who have not seen it may know what a convenient carrier it is. Believing every wheelman who has not a carrier, and many that have, will avail themselves of this grand opportunity to get a new carrier at regular price, and a first-class cyclometer gratis. The Ross Carrier is detachable, and is made stronger and better than ever before. Do not fail to send your order at once. You can have the use of the carrier from now on and secure a chance on two prizes Carriers finely made and nickeled. Price only $1.00. By mail $1.10. In ordering be particular and state name of wheel and year of manufacture.

BICYCLE TACTICS. By Capt. T. S. Miller. A complete manual for drill by clubs. 20 cents. New edition now ready. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

SUNDAY, August 5, a number of wheelmen were on top of the Western Hotel, Ballwin, from which an extended view can be had, and the United States signal pole, showing the highest point in St. Louis County, was pointed out to them, and also, the road leading to the place. Alex Massey, Harber, Holm and a few others immediately resolved themselves into a discovering committee, and taking the first mud road to the right west of Ballwin, which ran by acres of orchards, they soon reached the pole, and subscribed themselves thereon. This is the first time, I was told, that any wheelmen ever happened over this (Kerr's mill) road.

THE Chicago Referee, last week's publishes a challenge, signed by N. H. Van Sicklen and Tom Roe, to the St. Louis wheelmen to compete with a team on the Cheltenham Beach board track, a place where such men as Van and Roe have put in all their spare moments at training. This challenge has occasioned a good deal of talk, and it ought to be ignored entirely, as St. Louis wheelmen have repeatedly requested to be allowed to enter the Pullman road race, and were each time flatly refused. Our events were always open, and if Chicago did not feel like "taking" some of our prizes it was not our fault. Besides this, St. Louis wheelmen never claimed to excel on the track, but have at all times stated that the road was their stronghold. Now as Chicago does not possess anything that could be classed as anything but park drives, St. Louis wheelmen ask that, they being the challenged party, the race take place over the Manchester road or, if preferable, Clarkesville, either one of these courses is an average road, up and down hill, and just the thing to test a road rider's ability. C. C. Brewster stated that he had written R. D. Garden on the matter, and asked him and Burley Ayers to be down Sunday and talk the matter over. Although three of our best men, Stone, Sanders and Wylie, are on the sick list, we still have a team left in Hildebrand, Tivy, Ed Smith, Snyder, Alex and Ab. Lewis; that will make the best of them hustle.

NEW YORK AND LONG ISLAND NOTES.

"WING FOOT."

TWELVE wheelmen had dinner at the Mansion House, Roslyn, last Sunday, and three were at Sea Cliff. At the latter place, there is always lots of fun on Saturday night, and it makes a nice trip to go out there on Saturday afternoon and return on Sunday. As is generally the case at such resorts, there is a superfluity of girls, and the "men" are always in demand. Ask for Mrs. Baldwin's Cliffwood Cottage; supper, lodging and breakfast, $1.50. Fine bathing and boating.

Up to August 1st, Mr. W. F. Murphy, K. C. W., had ridden 4030 miles.

THE Brooklyns will have a large and thoroughly representative delegation at Buffalo.

THE Long Islands had a club run to Coney Island on Wednesday evening, August 22nd.

A LARGE party of Brooklyns, as Lieut. Billy puts it, "did up" Staten Island last Sunday.

MR. G. M. NISBETT, N. Y. B. C., claims to have lately ridden a measured mile, in the park, in 2.49.

A YACHTING party, numbering among its members several Brooklyn Bi. Club men, is at present down the Sound for a week or so.

MR. BEASLEY, K. C. W., on Saturday afternoon last, rode from the Park to Babylon in five hours and nine minutes, with but one dismount.

THE K. C. W. will run to Pompton tomorrow, weather permitting, and probably to Massapequa on the first Sunday in September, "after Buffalo."

THE ancient project of a cinder-path from Brooklyn to Jamaica is underway again, and under such auspices as warrant the belief that success is more than likely.

I SAW veteran Pitman up at the Polo grounds, one day last week on his "Surprise." He says he is getting to be a "krank" and wants to see all the good games.

MR. HALL's letter of last week concerning the Herkimer dispute was a classic in its way, and, in its temperateness, thoroughly characteristic of its gentlemanly writer.

ONLY harm can accrue to the Huntington Bi. Club, as the result of the delay in the delivery of the medals won by outsiders at their recent race-meeting, nearly four weeks ago.

CAPT. CLARKE, finds himself out of pocket to the tune of $8 as a consequence of the neglect of certain of the "Great Century Runners" to pay up their rightful share of the expenses. He has presented one of the memento pins to each of the three gentlemen most prominently connected with our reception in Philadelphia, and included the cost in the general expense.

THE roads along the North Shore, wherever sandy, are now in frightful condition, as a natural consequence of the recent heavy rains, and the lack of funds wherewith to make repairs.

AT the Staten Island Athletic Club, on Labor Day, Sept. 3, 1888, among the various athletics sports, a two-mile bicycle race will be run. Entrance, $1, to F. W. Janssen, P. O. Box 125, New York City.

ON the same day the N. J. A. C., at Bergen Point, will give a one-mile handicap, one-mile novice and a one-mile club championship. Entrance, 50 cents, to B. Arthur Sallinger, P. O. Box 3029, New York City. Entrance in all the above close on 27th inst.

MR. HARRY J. HALL, has been rusticated at Northport, Me., but is now in Buffalo preparing for the tournament. Capt. Bridgemans expects to be present and to have charge of a large part of the K. C. W. at that place.

LONG ISLAND WHEELMEN, six highest mileages for July: Wm. Schmid, 1053; L. H. Wise, 882; R. Evans, 602; C. C. Alden, 453; F. B. Monell, 495; G. W. Kreger, 378. Mr. Wise stands at the head for the season with 3326 miles.

"CHAMPION of the World," Ralph Temple, under the protecting wings, figuratively speaking, of Editor Prial and Mr. Furst, L. I. W., made a tour of the Brooklyn model club houses on Monday evening, meeting a good many of the boys, and creating a good impression by his quiet and unassuming gentility.

SEEING the old track at the Polo grounds, brought back to memory the good old days at "791," and the first race meet held on this track, when Wm. M. Wright was at the helm. It seems like a century, but it was only eight or nine years ago. Mr. Wright was one of the organizers of the present Mercurv Wheel Club, of Flushing, and is at present an honorary member. I saw his brother Sidney the other evening on a ferry boat, and he has changed but little. Old N. Y. men will remember the Wright brothers and the jolly party we had on the "Bristol," going to the second League meet at Boston.

MR. LOYD, of Queens, the gentleman-sportsman, whose liberal management of the Queens track has made him justly popular with Metropolitan Wheelmen, has a scheme underway, which if carried out on the same scale as his first enterprise, will fill a long felt want most acceptably and furnish us with a track commensurate with the ability of our peerless racers, and be equal to, or better than any in the country. The location is a dead secret. Mr. Lloyd has great faith in his ability to build a track upon which 2.29 will be knocked out, and thinks that that time will soon be relegated to the forgotten past, and that we have the men, right here at home who can do it, "and he knows his business."

NEW ENGLAND.

"THE FOTTEST."

A NEW kind of a run is proposed by the Rhode Island wheelmen. Our informant who signs himself "The Goat rider," states that the "R. I. wheelmen have a watermelon run to the rural district of Riverside, and I suppose that there will be big records made by our Div. Secretary Gibbs and Capt. J. L. Spiers. The Quartermaster of the club has instructions from the Executive Committee to fill up a double decked ambulance with Jamaica ginger and a few powerful stomach pumps. In case of any fatalities the club have voted a special fund to be used in furnishing a proper and decent burial!"

NEW ENGLAND produces another great man on the racing path, and his name is W. Windle. He is a great little man, and Asa Windle is his trainer.

ENTRIES to the Eastern Road Club races should not be put off until the last moment. Clubs intending to join the association, should do so at once.

THE Somerville Club have been awarded the banner for having the largest representation at Cottage City, on the occasion of the late Massachusetts Division Meet.

TICKETS to Buffalo and return will be on sale, via Fitchburg Railroad, September 1, 2, 3, 4. The reduced rates can be taken advantage of by all riders, and non-riders.

F. T. READ, one of the Hartford's crack riders, made a practice mile on the unicycle at Charter Oak park, the past week, in 3.42 1-2, and will probably break the record at the time of the tournament.

RACING AND RECORDS IN ENGLAND.

HOWELL beat Crocker in a ten-mile bicycle lap race at Wolverhampton, August 1st. The score was Howell 23, Crocker 16.

FRED WOOD took the 15-mile championship August 4th, beating English, Robb and Fleetwood. Time, 49.13 2-5.

S. G. WHITTAKER broke the quarter mile safety record at Long Eaton, August 3d, doing the distance in 36 seconds dead.

JACK LEE then went for the tricycle, flying start, quarter mile, and did the distance in 35 2-5 seconds, which is record.

R. H. ENGLISH beat W. F. Knapp in a ten mile match August 1. Time, 30.30.

R. HOWELL, in his 20-mile match with W. Wood, at Leicester, August 11, beat his man with great ease. Twenty thousand people witnessed the race.

W. F. KNAPP broke the 50-mile world's record in England, Aug. 18. He made the distance in 2h. 29m. The best previous, 2-33 54, was made by F. Ives at Springfield in 1886.

RECORD RIDING AT PITTSBURG.

A CORRESPONDENT writes us as follows: "In your issue of Aug. 10th, I notice an article headed, 'Record Riding at Pittsburg,' which states the Banker Bros., on a tandem tricycle, made a mile in 2.43 3-5 on Forbes street. Your article further states, that if the distance is correct, it is the world's road record.

"Forbes street is an asphalt pavement, and from top of Soho hill to the junction road is down grade (sufficient to coast) at least two thirds of the way, which makes it much faster than a track. Can time made on such a course be claimed as a road record? Will you explain through your paper what kind of a course should be chosen for road records, and oblige a member of the Pennsylvania L. A. W. Division."

[If our correspondent is correct, we should say that the performance in question can be regarded only as a good performance and not as a record. An asphalt surface and down grade are not the proper conditions to make a road record. We should hold that in order to make a road record the surface travelled should not be paved, and that the grade should be level or varying. Certainly, a claim made under the above named conditions, as per our correspondent, should not hold good.—ED.]

MICHIGAN DIVISION SIXTH ANNUAL MEET.

SWEET'S Hotel, at Grands Rapids, Mich., presented a very unusual amount of activity yesterday morning, Saturday, Aug. 18th, and among the citizens at large there was a general air of expectancy. The cause of the stir was the fact that the sixth annual meet of the Michigan Division was to take place, and while the members were interested in the business and social events, the general public were all agog, and anxious to see the parade and races.

The results of the annual election were extremely gratifying to the Grand Rapids wheelmen, as Mr. A. B. Richmond, of this city, was elected to the office of Chief Consul. The new officers are: Chief Consul, A. B. Richmond, Grand Rapids; Vice Consul, William Seyffardt of Saginaw; Secretary-Treasurer, C. A. Conover of Coldwater; State Representatives to the National Meet, J. E. Beal of Ann Arbor, H. M. Snow of Detroit, and G. M. Eddy of Detroit. The Officers' business meeting was held in the A. M., Chief Consul J. H. Johnson presiding, and Secretary-Treasurer J. F. Beal, of Ann Arbor; Representatives C. A. Conover of Coldwater and A. B. Richmond of Grand Rapids present.

The Transportation Committee reported that all the Railroads in the State had agreed to carry bicycles free, as baggage, subject to owners' risk.

The Secretary-Treasurer reported a much better financial standing for the Division, and instead of being in debt as it was a year ago, all debts had been paid and a small balance of $13.25 was still in hand. The Division now numbers about 350 members, and with proper effort this should be made to double within a year.

The parade, in the afternoon, had about 125 wheelmen in line. The Detroit club led, and then came the Detroit Stars, the third in line being the Grand Rapids Club. Delegations from all over the State then came, in proper order.

On arriving at the race track the paraders continued on around the track, and dismounted on signal given by the Chief Marshal. A goodly crowd, among which the ladies seemed to be in equal numbers to the men, had assembled on the stand and in the field to witness

THE RACES.

President Kirkpatrick was present, and was requested to act as referee, which position he accepted. The Malta Castle Band played lively airs before and between the races. The half-mile novice race was first called. The prizes in this were a silver medal and a pair of bicycle shoes. There were seven starters; F. H. Wheldon of the Detroit club won in 1.31 3-4, with E. W. Walbourn a close second and the others straggling.

One mile Grand Rapids Bicycle Club championship race. The prizes were a gold medal and the "booby." In this the starters were William Melville, J. B. Hain and C. E. Bennett. On the first half Hain led, with Melville a good second and Bennett coming. In the second half Melville came to the front and won in 3.00 2-5, Hain second. This is record time for Michigan.

One mile open. The prizes for this race was a gold and silver medal. On the home stretch J. D. Lamont and Osborne challenged for first place, and they came under the wire in that order. Lamont winning in 3.08 4-5.

The half mile ride and run came next, and the prizes for this were a gold L. A. W. pin and a silver medal. The starters were E. W. Walbourn of Woodstock, Ont.; William Melville city, and J. D. Lamont of Chatham, Ont. Melville and Lamont came up in good style to the dismounting point, Melville being about a yard ahead. They alighted gracefully and ran under the wire in the same order, Melville winning in 1.42. Walbourn came in about twenty yards behind the others. The five mile lap race was next called and in this the starters were J. D. Lamont, H. D. Osborne and J. B. Hain. This was to be contested on points, the one being first at the end of each lap counting three points, the second two and the third one. In the first three laps the order was Hain, Lamont, Osborne, then Osborne moved up to second place and they remained in that order for three more laps. At this juncture Hain eased up and allowed Osborne to lead in the remaining four laps. Lamont had been losing and he finished his ninth lap as Osborne finished his tenth. Osborne made the five miles in 19.57 3-4. Hain finished about one quarter behind Osborne and Lamont made his last lap in good style, coming under the wire at full speed ran into a small boy, and took a header, and was carried off unconscious, but soon revived. On counting points it was seen that J. B. Hain and Osborne had scored the highest, 24 each, and they were ordered to ride it off in a one lap dash. It was a fine race from beginning to end, and Hain bare won by about one yard. Time, 1.28 1-4. Another state record gone.

Consolation race was won by Will Strauple, G. F. Hain second.

THE BANQUET

was served at Sweet's Hotel, at 9 P. M., and some 200 ladies and gentlemen sat down.

The menu was up to the well-known reputation of Mine Host Johnson, and after same had been done justice to, Toastmaster F. H. Escott rapped the company to order and introduced Mayor Weston. The Chief Magistrate spoke words of welcome, and his speech was cheered to the echo. Retiring Chief Consul Johnson then made a very nice speech.

Then came singing by a male quartet, after which some of the City Fathers and others spoke, as also did President Kirkpatrick. Secretary-Treasurer Beal then presented the prizes to the successful riders.

The Detroit Club, as having the largest club represented, was awarded the silver bugle.

Chief Consul Johnson elect, then made a speech, and after that all was over and every one went away satisfied with the good time they had enjoyed. SOLUS.

OPENING OF THE FAIRFIELD, ME., BICYCLE TRACK.

SATURDAY, August 11th, was a red letter day for Maine wheelmen. The new cycle track at Fairfield was dedicated with some of the most exciting races ever seen in Maine. The new track is built on the Fairfield Driving Park on the inside of the pole, which makes it about two laps and one-third to a mile. The home stretch is twelve feet wide and gives a perfectly straight course for over a third of a mile. A large number of wheelmen were present. The races were one-mile State championship, half-mile dash and team race. The interest centred in the State championship race. R. T. Patten, of Skowhegan, has held this honor for three years, and had never been beaten in any race. Besides this rider were entered G. W. Ames, Captain Lewiston 3. C.; F. H. Neal, Captain of Kennebec Ramblers, and C. F. Weyer, of the same club. On the start Patten took the lead, with Neal a close second, to the quarter, when he was displaced by Weyer, who pressed him hard till all turned into the home stretch, when Ames, who had kept in the rear made a tremendous spurt, passed the leaders easily, and finished a winner by thirty feet. The excitement was intense, and Ames was carried around the track on the shoulders of his friends. The prize was a magnificent medal in solid gold and blue enamel, and valued at fifty dollars; time, 3.37. The half-mile dash was won by Patten in 1.42; the team race by the Skowhegan team. These events have created a boom in cycling in this part of the State, and extensive preparations have been commenced for a grand meeting in September.

The wheelmen of Fairfield, Waterville and the vicinity have formed a club of thirty lively riders under the name of the Kennebec Ramblers. F. H. Neal, of Fairfield, is Captain.

IT IS NOT THE "RAMBLERS" TOURNAMENT.

Editor Bicycling World: Knowing your desire to print only the truth, and all the truth, I wish to call your attention to the following misstatement in "Mercury's" letter from Buffalo, in July 27th issue of the WORLD. First, I presume the first four words of the opening sentence escaped the editorial eye (or they would have undoubtedly been blue-penciled), viz., "The Ramblers' World's Tournament." For the information of your readers who do not know, as you, Mr. Editor, do know, and who are asking why the old Buffalo Bicycle Club, with its glorious record of the past, having entertained the L. A. W. in 1885, the New York Division in 1886, and given no less than six successful tournaments of its own, has allowed this opportunity to slip through its fingers, I desire to state, the "World's Tournament" is not a club affair, but is entirely under the auspices of the Buffalo International Fair Association, who have employed Mr. H. E. Ducker, of world-wide reputation as a successful manager of cycling tournaments, as manager of their world's tournament; not the "Ramblers' tournament," nor the Buffalo's.

Another gross misstatement and of equal absurdity, is that "the Ramblers will have exclusive use of the track after the tournament." This track is on the grounds of the Fair Association, is built by the Association, is controlled by them absolutely, and is not by any means the private property of the Ramblers' Club. The truth of the matter is, and "Mercury" must know it, that members of the Buffalo and other clubs will be allowed to use it on presentation of membership tickets.

The recent publication of track officers for the tournament would seem to bear "Mercury" out in his statement that this is the "Ramblers' tournament." It was deemed advisable after due consultation with the officers of the Buffalo Bicycle Club and with their approval and consent that all the petty track offices should be given to the Ramblers. The Buffalo Club is the entertaining club, and will naturally have its hands full entertaining the New York State Division, as well as the thousands of other wheelmen whom we hope to see here. It is therefore thought no more than fair that the Ramblers should do their share of the work by attending to the races at the track.

The Buffalo Club some weeks ago invited all racing men, professional and amateur, to make the Buffalo Club house their headquarters while training for the tournament. This includes the gymnasium and bath privileges.

In conclusion let me add that the Buffalo Club has and will continue to aid the Fair Association in every possible manner to make this tournament a grand success.

The club recognizes the fact that the Fair Association is doing a great thing for cycling in Buffalo in building a permanent track, and in holding what will in all probability be the greatest tournament ever held. At the same time they do not propose to be ignored nor misrepresented by your Buffalo correspondent, just because he happens to be a member of a rival club and cannot distinguish between fair partisanship and truthfulness.

Fraternally,

C. W. A.

Club and Racing Associations, TAKE NOTICE.

THE INTERNATIONAL TEAM OF CYCLISTS,

Under the management of "Senator" Morgan, has arrived in this country, and will be open to engagements during the Fall months. The team consists of the fastest riders of America, England and France. Write for terms, which will practically guarantee the club against financial responsibility, and at the same time insure good racing and good gate. Do not delay, as it will be "first come first served." Address, for further particulars,

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary.

MEMBERSHIP, SEPT. 1, 1888.

The list herewith gives the total membership of the L. A. W. by States up to and including date, September 1.

It is published at this time for the benefit of State Officials who are entitled to choose delegates to the National Assembly under Section 4 of Article 4 of the Constitution.

"Sect. 4. Each Division Board of Officers shall hold its annual meeting in the month of September, and shall then elect from the Division one delegate for each two hundred members upon its roll on September 1st. Such delegates, together with the Chief Consuls of Divisions and Subdivisions and Vice-Consuls, shall constitute the National Assembly of the League of American Wheelmen."

In connection with the totals to Sept. 1, we present the total membership obtained by each State during 1887. This may tickle the vanity of those States that are ahead of last year's record, and spur to action those who have fallen behind.

The National Assembly will be composed as follows:

Chief Consuls.....29
Vice Consuls.....17
Delegates.....40
Officers and Chairmen of Standing Committees.....11

It may occur that a Chief Consul or Vice Consul will be also an Officer or a Committee Chairman. In that case the total above will be reduced.

BENJAMIN MILLER appeared before Judge Stoneman, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on Tuesday of last week, to show cause why he should not be fined for frightening a horse with his bicycle, causing the animal to break from the control of his driver and upset the buggy to which he was attached, throwing the occupants, a lady and gentleman, against a barb wire fence, fortunately, however, injuring neither of them.

The Republican says: "The evidence disclosing nothing to charge the young man with criminal carelessness, he was discharged, the judge delivering an opinion, which, on account of its interest to a considerable class of our citizens, we append, as follows:

The rider of a bicycle has the same rights in the public streets of this city as the driver of any other vehicle and no greater right. He has the right to peaceably and in a prudent manner, and with a reasonable rate of speed, to travel along the highway. He is, alike with the driver of other vehicles, liable for all damage, or injury to person or property of others, caused by his negligent conduct. He has the right to use the street for travel, not for circular evolutions, crossing the street to and fro, so as to interfere with the free use of the same by other travellers. The rider of a bicycle has no right to use the sidewalks of a street, to drive his bicycle, no more than a drayman would to use the sidewalk to drive his dray thereon. The ordinances of the city prohibiting using the sidewalk for the traveling of vehicles, applies to both alike. Persons violating this ordinance are liable to a fine not exceeding $100."

Transportation Arrangements.

To the Annual Meeting, New York Division, L. A. W., and the World's Championship Tournament, to be held at Buffalo, Sept. 4th to 8th:

For Boston and Vicinity.

Wheelmen from Boston and vicinity who desire to attend the above meeting can make arrangements by conferring with A. A. Smith, 300 Washington street, Boston, who will do everything in his power to make the journey pleasant and provide ample accommodations, both as regards sleeping cars and special baggage car for wheels.

A special rate of $10.65 from Boston to Buffalo and return has been secured. The sale of tickets will commence on September 1st, and will be good to return until up to and including the 15th. The most desirable train to use will be the one leaving Boston at 3 P. M. by the Fitchburg Railroad on the 1st, 2d and 3d, which will connect with the wheelmen's trains on the West Shore Railroad, arriving at Buffalo at 7 A. M.

New York City and Vicinity.

Wheelmen residing in New York City, Brooklyn, N. Y., Jersey City, Newark, N. J., New Haven, Conn., Bridgeport, and other cities near New York, will find it to their advantage to use the special accommodations provided by the West Shore Railroad for wheelmen, who attend the meeting and tournament. Arrangements have been made with the West Shore Railroad to attach special baggage and sleeping cars to their fast trains leaving New York City on September 1st, 2d and 3d, at 5:40 P. M., from foot of Jay street, and 6:00 P. M. from foot of West 42d street, for our accommodation. Full particulars as to rates of fare, etc., will be furnished promptly on application to me.
Geo. R. BIDWELL,
313 West 58th street, New York.

For Transportation Committee.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member."

Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct.
Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M. on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

BOSTON, 31 AUGUST, 1888.

Volume XVII.
Number 18.

Topeka, Kansas, July 17th, 1888.

Overman Wheel Co., Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen--I have just returned from a two hundred mile jaunt through Central Kansas on my '88 pattern VICTOR.

I have examined it carefully since returning, and do not find a point about it that needs attention or adjusting.

I never once used a tool on it while out, or adjusted a bearing, not even the head, and my wheel is perfectly quiet, although the greater part of the road was very hard and rough, and jarred the wheel very much.

I did not spare the wheel at all, as I kept the saddle on all occasions, both up and down all the hills, and in every rough place.

I cannot find a point in the 1888 VICTOR to criticise, and that is saying considerable about a wheel for me.

Yours very truly,

WM. TAYLOR,
Rep. Kan. Div., L. A. W.

DIFFICULT REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

WE'RE READY FOR IT.

What a hurrah there is over the September tournament!

We must wade in stream up to the arm-pits, and catch the trade in Bicycling Uniforms that belongs to us. Doesn't it belong to us?

The National Association says: "They make the best Uniforms."

Well, then, we're going to back up their say-so by making the best, and not one that doesn't deserve over and over the name of The Best Bicycling Uniform to be got. Yes, you'll say yourself: It's the best to be got anywhere.

Why shouldn't we? The railroads of this country, the crack military associations, the crack cadets, the crack bands get us to make their uniforms. It comes as natural to us to make good uniforms as if we did nothing else.

But we do do something else. We make the best everyday clothing and fine clothing in the country. If you sent to us for a Full Dress Suit for a wedding we could send it at a half-hour's notice. Or, a Suit to mountain-climb in.

The whole clothing business is at our finger-ends.

That's why we make the best Uniforms. Send your order along.

BOSTON, 31 AUGUST, 1888.

TO OUR READERS.

TO the end that we may give results in full of the races at Buffalo, our issue next week will not be mailed until Monday, September 10. We are bound to give the results in full, but as copy for the Saturday's races cannot reach us before Sunday, A. M., we cannot go to press before Monday, A. M. We hope the arrangement will meet with approval of our readers.

MR. HOWARD P. MERRILL of Springfield will represent the BICYCLING WORLD at Buffalo during the tournament as our correspondent.

MR. GEO. D. HAZARD will represent the BICYCLING WORLD as our advertising manager. He will have a desk in a convenient location and will look after our interests in the advertising department.

LETTERS from H. J. Hall, jr., and members of the Fort Dayton Club of Richfield Springs, N. Y., have appeared in this paper from time to time as to the right of the officers of the race meeting lately held by that Club to bar Mr. Hall from contesting the Central New York championship. If we are advised correctly that the programme and the entry blanks only stated that the race was "for the Championship of C. N. Y." then the position taken by Mr. Metz is not a tenable one. If the programme and the blanks had stated that the race was for the "Championship of C. N. Y., open to riders of Central New York only," then the barring of Mr. Hall was correct. The ground taken by Mr. Metz, the contestant who protested Hall, that "Brooklyn was not in Central New York," and consequently Hall could not start, is not well taken, providing our information as to the wording of the entry blanks is correct. It has been held time and time again, that championships for any section or country can be competed for by non-residents, unless it is distinctly stated that such a race is open to members of section named only. The judges' ruling that Hall could start is correct. In another place will be found a letter from Messrs. Cole and Hinds, the judges.

MR. HALL AND THE HERKIMER COUNTY RACES.

Editor Bicycling World: We had hopes that Mr. H. J. Hall, jr., would get through the Herkimer races without the necessity of a word from us, but, as in the last issue of the WORLD, he has backed square down as to his controversy with the captain and members of the Fort Dayton Club, and has withdrawn his imaginary suit for damages, and tries to blame "Wing-Foot," who undoubtedly reported him correctly, turns his whole attack squarely upon the judges, we are fairly forced to do battle in self defence, which we will do in the plainest manner possible. Now in regard to the foul which Mr. Hall has had so much to say about. Mr. Hall came into the judges' stand and claimed a foul against Mr. Marquise, of Utica, who finished second, and claimed that Mr. Hammes, who finished third, was entitled to the second prize. Mr. Marquise claimed that he did not foul Wilson, and Mr. Hammes said in the most emphatic manner that Mr. Marquise was entitled to the second prize, and that he had no complaint to make. All the riders except Wilson, who was hurt, were in the judges' stand and were questioned closely, and all agreed except Hall, that Mr. Marquise did not foul Wilson. At this point Mr. Hall backed square down and admitted that he must have been mistaken but he certainly thought he was right, but that as other riders were in much better position to see they must be right. What could the judges do but give the second prize to Mr. Marquise?

Now in regard to the race for the championship of Central New York: When this race was called, Mr. Metz protested Mr. Hall on the ground that Brooklyn was not in Central New York, and that a man from Massachusetts might as well ride for the championship of Ohio as for a Brooklynite to ride for the championship of Central New York. Mr. Hall admitted that he did not understand that it was Central New York championship race when he sent his entries, but he thought that as the Club had accepted his entries, he should be allowed to ride. We do not think that the mere acceptance of his entries entitled him to ride any more than it would had it been proved that he lived in Chicago. In regard to the delay, we will say that there was a misunderstanding as to who were the judges, as the timers were put on the score cards as judges. As soon as the matter was settled as to who were the judges, it proved as we supposed, that we were both judges and a majority, we decided that Mr. Hall could race. Just at this moment he ordered his wheel withdrawn, and publicly announced that he would not race, that he should bring suit, employ a lawyer, and have his rights, and such-like nonsense, and left the track. We will simply add that the judges did not at this time leave the stand and follow Mr. Hall to his dressing room and try to coax or persuade him to come back. We believe that this whole matter took five minutes,—not twenty as stated by Hall.

E. A. HINDS,

S. F. COLE,

Judges Herkimer Race.

THE YANKEE TEAM HOME.

HOWELL NOT COMING.

The Etruria arriving in New York Sunday, brought T. W. Eck, W. F. Knapp and H. G. Crocker of the team. Whittaker did not come with them, but it is likely he will be here in time for the races. Dick Howell will not come, and in view of the fact that the past few weeks Howell has been beaten repeatedly, we are not surprised that his judgement has kept him at home.

The team bring J. West, a one-legged professional. The Yankee team have not scored a financial success, but they have done faithful work while abroad. Knapp has done some big work among the long distance records on a bicycle, and Crocker has done good work on the tricycle. The team are now in Buffalo.

NOTES BY

THE "CAVILER."

I WENT out for a walk with a friend last Sunday afternoon. The reason I walked was because I could not borrow a "bustle and hoop-skirt safety bicycle," for the use of my friend. We walked out Commonwealth avenue way, and picked out the kind of a house we would like to live in after the time when it would be proper for us to go to Cottage City bicycle meet, unaccompanied by a chaperon. Many cyclists passed us, some I knew and some I didn't, but I said I knew them all, which did just as well. We had reached Berkeley street, when my friend grabbed my nigh arm excitedly and exclaimed, "Look! look! here come the contestants in the Eastern Road Club's race. It must be that race, for I read in the papers that it was to be on Sunday. I don't think it right, do you? Oh, who do you think will win? See how fast they are going. I think that tall, thin young man ahead is the fastest rider, don't you? But I think on Sunday he ought to wear something over those black tights, which seem to fit him to the bone."

At the first opportunity I explained to my talkative companion that the speeding riders approaching were not in a race of the Eastern Road Club, for that Club never had thought of holding a race on Sunday. The mistatement that such was the Club's intention was made by a profane newspaper-man. I further explained that the mistatement had been the cause of much trouble and embarrassment to Captain Dr. Kendall. He had been busy for the past fortnight setting at ease the minds of shocked friends, who had written to him to mend his ways. The day after the paragraph appeared, the doctor had to neglect his patients, such a throng of protestors descended upon his office. Among those who called to protest was the Mayor of Newton, who stated in a kind but firm manner, that "the guardians of Newton's peace and safety would take into custody any wheelmen who undertook to race through that city on the Sabbath." A little newspaper mistake sometimes makes a pretty big row.

"Well, if they are not Eastern Road Club racers, who are they?" inquired my charge, as we stopped to gaze at the wheelmen, as they sped by at a 3-minute clip. "My dear," I returned, "they are not racers at all, they are simply members of one of our clubs returning from a 'quiet' afternoon run. It would not be a 'quiet' run for certain classes of riders unless they came home in that reckless fashion. The rather stout young man with unreliable stocking supporters, and a stream of water running down between his eyes and off over his nose, is known as one of our best 'scorchers,' and he will enter for the Eastern road race. You see he rides easily in second place, close to the young man in tights you admire so much. I suppose he is getting practice for the race."

THERE were six of the riders, and they raced down the avenue reckless of their own appearance or the safety of pedestrians. Near us, a little girl broke away from her nurse in the park and ran across the street, just in front of the leading rider. It was almost a miracle that he did not run over her. Had he struck her the cyclists behind him must have fallen too, they were so close together. The child would have been underneath all, and would have surely suffered severe injuries. I do not consider the damage that would have resulted to the wheelmen, for they would have deserved all they received. Such racing performances through the streets on a Sunday are disgraceful as well as dangerous, and nothing would please me better than to hear that half a dozen wheelmen who are given to the practice, had been arrested and fined a good round sum. It would be a wholesome lesson to others.

WE continued our walk on the avenue to Chester Park, and then went across the street to admire Col. Pope's fine house, which is situated just at the entrance and near the home of one of the West End Railroad magnates. The doors and windows of both the houses were heavily boarded, which told me very plainly that the owners did not have to indulge in a five-cent horse car ride or a stroll in the Back Bay park when they wanted a sniff of fresh air or a glimpse of green trees. But it did not make us envious; we only drew a little closer together and walked on. I mentally wished that the Colonel was at home. If he was I knew that he would invite me in, and most likely offer me something good from his cellar. The Colonel generally wears a blue ribbon himself, but he had a very kindly consideration for the comfort of his friends.

SUDDENLY I heard exclaimed at my side, "Oh! who is that? I mean that handsome man who is coming towards us so fast, wearing such lovely gold braid on his hat and a beautiful yellow design on his coat sleeves. 'Who is he?' 'Why that is Captain Lonny Peck.' 'What is he Captain of, a base ball club?' 'Nonsense, he is Captain of the Massachusetts Bicycle Club.' 'Oh, I thought that club had gone out of existence long ago. I suppose that this is a club run Captain Peck is making. Does any one ever go with him a club run?' 'I don't know,' I answered. 'What does he do for his club?' she asked. 'Oh, he wears gold braid for its sake,' I replied. Then our conversation drifted into topics which would not prove interesting to the general reader.

By the way, I want to thank Harry Corey for the invitation to ride with him on his tandem you forwarded to me. It reached me at my summer "Schloss." I'm not accepting such invitations this year, and I have only to congratulate Harry on his shrewdness in thus attempting to discover the identity of the "Caviler."

MR. EDITOR, when you first wrote me calling for "copy," I could not imagine what it meant. I soon caught on, however. I now have another definition, which I call good, and I think it is certainly a very appropriate word for what we are given to read in some of the cycling columns of the daily newspapers; it is all "copy" from the WORLD.

BUFFALO.

"ALI BABA."

IN making my bow before that austere personage, the Editor, my courage well nigh fails, as disquieting visions of blue pencil and waste basket loom up and dash away the poetic dreams which might bless a sweltering nation and soothe the heated brow of the mid-day wheelman. But for fear that I might trespass too much upon your valuable space, I will not afflict you with anything of the sort this time, in view of the many attractions which claim our attention.

PERHAPS it is as well for me to say it now, as later, that the Old Buffalo Bicycle Club, of which I am proud to be a member, must pardon me if I shall preach a few pointed sermons from time to time,—text, on and off the wheel. And Mr. Editor, as I haven't got name, and am pining for one, please christen me at once. [We christen you Ali Baba.—ED.]

THE reception and entertainment for next week is in the hands of the Buffalo Club, and is that not enough to say that this department will be done brown? The members of that committee are W. S. Bull, chairman; R. B. Hoffman, secretary; R. C. Chapin, W. S. Jenkins, C. W. Adams, and A. J. Russell, and they with the assistance of their Club associates, have been hard at work, and now all the arrangements have been perfected and all we need is the crowd.

THERE is, however, a limit to human possibilities, and therefore, while the Buffalo Club will have its full force out to act on the reception committee it is clearly beyond their ability to meet every one of the 130 incoming trains. No visitors need feel slighted, however, as the Fair Association will have a bureau of information established at every depot and in case where the Reception Committee cannot have members to meet every train, wheelmen and visitors will be able to secure any information needed for their guidance and comfort.

A STRONG movement is being made among the residents along the line of the parade to decorate their houses and lawns.

THE Women's Wheel Club of this city will give a reception at the Buffalo Bi. Club house on Thursday forenoon to all visiting lady cyclists and ladies accompanying wheelmen.

ON Friday the tour to Niagara Falls will take place. The distance is 22 miles. The excursionists will leave the Buffalo Club House at 9 A. M. and will return by wheel or train.

THE parade will start Wednesday, Sept. 5th, at 9.30 and all wheelmen participating in the parade will be given an admission ticket to the Fair Grounds for that day only.

DON'T make the fatal mistake of coming to Buffalo without your wheel. This is last time before the great event that I shall have a chance to urge all to come and we will guarantee to send you home feeling that you have had the best time of your life.

WE are told that Bidwell, who will lead the parade at Buffalo, will have none but riders of the ordinary, on his staff, which the same authority states that Mr. Bull, Marshal of the 1st Division, will insist on his aides all riding the rear-driver safety.

THE business meeting of the New York State Division will be held at the Buffalo Bicycle Club House, 132 College st., on Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

NEW YORK AND
LONG ISLAND NOTES.

"WING FOOT."

THE Riverside Wheelmen, according to a note lately received from Lieu. Miller, are very active this summer. A long run is taken every Sunday, weather permitting, and their club runs are always well attended. On the 19th they had a fine run to Patchogue and return, meeting some of the Glen Cove Wheelmen, and Prospect Wheelmen, of Brooklyn, en route. On Sunday they wheeled up to Tarrytown, crossed to Nyack for dinner, and returned down same route. The Riversides will have a large delegation at Buffalo, and "dark horse" Menge is being groomed to show what there is in him, in one of the novice's races.

MESSRS. J. R. Veale and F. de G. Kane, of Swartzoza, were visitors on Sunday last at the Manhattan's club house.

A PARTY of wheelmen from the Brooklyn Bicycle Club leave New York to-day for a little ride to Buffalo, via Albany.

THE New Yorks are keeping up their enthusiasm in the matter of road record to a wonderful degree, and August's records will be as large as any on the list.

I ENJOYED a novel ride along the beach from Far Rockaway to Rockaway Beach, last Sunday. This can only be taken at low or ebb tide, and only on machines having good sized tires, as otherwise it is like climbing a hill, and very tiresome.

THE Manhattan Bicycle Club, the one of the clubs who are not going to Buffalo, will run down to Patchogue tomorrow and not return until Tuesday, the 3d. They also have arranged for runs as follows: Sept. 16th, to Far Rockaway; Sept. 30th, Babylon; Oct. 14th, to Orange; Oct. 28th, to Tarrytown.

THE new club house of the New York Bicycle Club is very slowly approaching completion, but will by no means be ready for occupancy on the date that the club must give up their present quarters, September 1. All the front is finished with the exception of the porch and entrance, but none of the windows have yet been put in place.

IN fact, "all roads lead to Buffalo," just now. The West Shore train will take a memorable gathering of wheelmen out of the city to-morrow evening, and on Sunday, too. I have heard it rumored that every wheelman in the parade will be presented with an admittance ticket to the Fair, good for the whole period.

[Our correspondent is misinformed. Free admission to the grounds Sept. 5th, will be given to all wheelmen participating in the parade.—ED.]

KANSAS CITY.

"MENTOR."

LAST Saturday evening (18) at the rooms of the United Wheelmen was the scene of unwonted animation and gaiety, the occasion being the opening reception of the club since occupying its present suite of apartments. Upward of 100 attended, and enjoyed the hospitality of the United Wheelmen. The event was a great success, and will be long remembered as such. The United Wheelmen are now comfortably housed in a suite of rooms right in the very centre of the business portion of the city, making it convenient to the members. The rooms are large and nicely furnished. There are three rooms—billiard room, parlor and reading room, all connecting. In the billiard room there is a fine Brunswick-Monarch table. A fine upright grand Fischer piano. The reading room has a book and periodical rack, besides a number of card tables. The rooms all are finely carpeted. The walls are all adorned with fine pictures, especially cycling groups. The furniture is all in harmony with the corresponding surroundings.

BUT the reception. A number of fine guitar, mandolin, piano, zither, and flute selections were rendered by members of the club. Later in the evening a fine collation was served in an improvised dining hall. The feast consisted of fruit, cake, wines, etc. Afterwards choice Havanas were smoked. At a late hour the guests departed, having spent a very enjoyable evening. This is the first of a series of entertainments to be given this winter. A series of annual balls will be inaugurated, which promise to be quite swell affairs. It will, of course, be knickerbockers and silk stockings. A public entertainment will probably be given this winter. There is a fine array of musical talent in the club, and it will probably result in a minstrel show or something on the same line.

LAST Sunday Messrs. R. B. White, Ernest Wood, Bimpson, John White and H. L. Whipple, of the Quincy Bicycle Club, Quincy, Ill., and Messrs. Harry Woodruff and Locking, of the Marion County Wheelmen, Hannibal, Mo., arrived in town, to see our bustling city. They were met at the depot by members of the United Wheelmen, and escorted to the club rooms, where they were regaled with a lunch. In the afternoon a line was formed, and the visitors were shown over the town, visiting the fine residence sections. Late in the evening they returned home, and they say they enjoyed their trip hugely, which we are glad to know.

MESSRS. ALBERT OTT and Harry Keefer, of the Olathe Wheelmen, Olathe, Kan., were in the city last Saturday and Sunday. They attended the club's reception.

BOB LEE, an ex-Rambler from wayback, has been here several times lately.

NED JEWETT, Captain of the Leavenworth County Wheelmen, Leavenworth, Kan., will attend the Buffalo tournament. Ned is the Kansas champion, and he is going to get a few additional points how to pedal faster.

NEW JERSEY NOTES.

"RATCHET."

A MEMBER of the Hudson Co. Wheelmen made a go at Eagle Rock a few days ago. He did well, going as far as the stone crusher before being forced to dismount. He tried to coast down, but managed to lose control of his wheel, the result being a header which put both himself and machine in the repair shop. No bones were broken.

A PARTY of Hudson County men under the leadership of Capt. E. R. Baggott went to South Beach, Staten Island, on Sunday, and spent a very pleasant day.

VICTOR HESSE of this city, on a Springfield Roadster, and his fourteen-year-old boy riding a 36-inch Ideal, rode from the State Camp to Highland Beach, (25 miles), on Friday, and made the return trip on Saturday. The little chap stood the trip like a Trojan.

SPEAKING of the State camp reminds me that I saw three side steers, two Crippers, two rear-driving Safeties, two Stars and one Ordinary there during the last week. Having my hands full of military business I was unable to do more than note the styles of the machines.

HOWARD SMITH tells me that the Misses Nellie and Nettie Mulford, of this city, were the first ladies in New Jersey to own and ride the ladies' bicycles. The young ladies are fast developing into graceful riders and are on the road nearly every fair day. Their machines are Royal Salvos.

ON Saturday Mr. Wells made an attempt to establish a twenty-mile track record for the tricycle, riding a Quadrant weighing but little above 35 pounds. The track was in such bad shape that he was compelled to give up the job at the fifth mile, his times being 3.50, 7.25, 11.06, 15.08, 19.23.

THE writer met the Rev. Mr. Glazebrook, a member of the Elizabeth Wheelmen, at the State camp at Sea Girt, a few days ago. Mr. Glazebrook holds the position of chaplain with the rank of captain in the Third Regiment, N. G., N. J. If the genial chaplain is as much of an enthusiast in matters of cycling as he is in matters military, it is no wonder that he is popular.

NEW ENGLAND.

"THE FOTTIST."

QUITE a little breeze has been raised in Northampton, Mass., over the question of whether wheelmen shall use the sidewalks or not. A lady who signs herself "H." champions the cause of the wheelmen and she says she hopes the cyclists will be permitted the use of the sidewalks under proper restrictions. We thank the lady for her zeal in behalf of wheelmen but we decidedly question the wisdom of allowing cyclists the use of the sidewalks in a populous village or city.

A. H. OVERMAN has returned from Europe much refreshed and rested after his six weeks' trip.

MR. FRANK DRULLARD of the Buffalo Bi. Club has been spending a few days in Boston, the guest of Mr. H. D. Corey.

THE Cycle Club of Nashua, N. H., will take a century run from Nashua to Echo Bridge Newton next Sunday. The start will be made at 4 A. M.

NEW ENGLAND just now is filled with wheeling tourists. The mountains regions of Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine seem to be favorite sections.

W. VANWAGONER attempted to ride 100 miles on the road at Newport, R. I., without a dismount. The wind blew a gale, and at the end of the 84th mile he had to stop.

MR. N. C. FOWLER, of the advertising department of the Pope Mfg. Co., is taking a much needed rest and vacation. He has taken a steamer down East, and will go as far as Pictou and Charlottetown.

THE fishing party that visited Scituate, Mass., under the pilotage of Dr. Kendall have reported. They report "some" Cod, a good deal of sea sickness and of course a "high old, and most enjoyable time."

SEPTEMBER 25th is the date set for the races at Providence under the auspices of the Rhode Island Division. Keep your eye on the columns of this paper for the particulars which will appear from time to time.

THE Keene, N. H., Observer, in an editorial, properly takes the ground that the sidewalk is not the place for bicycles. This paper says: "The bicycle is a perfectly legitimate vehicle but its proper place is on the roadway."

THE call lately made through these columns to lady and gentlemen riders of the tricycle, living in the vicinity of Malden, Medford, Stoneham, Wakefield and Melrose has resulted in the formation of a club of ladies and gentlemen to the number of 63.

DOANE writes that he has got as far as Schenectady, N. Y., and will be in Boston Sunday, A. M. He says "I bring up at the Reservoir Sunday morning sure." With this fact in view, we have no doubt but there will be a big delegation out to meet him.

F. A. McMASTERS and F. H. Thompson of Nashua, N. H., have just returned from a wheeling tour to New York City. In the Telegraph of that city, McMASTERS is reported as saying: "You will never catch me wheeling to New York again. The only decent wheeling part of the road is between here and Worcester and Providence and home. The rest of the way is terrible. Besides the bad road it rained hard much of the way and we were drenched. When we got to New York we could not use our wheels at all and had to store them, besides paying $2 to have them taken across the city, as we could not ride them in the crowded streets."

NEWS

AND COMMENT.

A RAILROAD tricycle has been constructed for one of the surgeons of the Union Pacific road which can be run at speed of fifteen miles an hour. The machine has two large wheels to run on one rail, one 30 inches and the other 26 in diameter, and a 14 inch wheel to run on the opposite rail. It is built with ball bearings, cranks and pedals, like an ordinary tricycle.

From Buffalo to Hartford.

THEY speak of a man who is training out in Minneapolis, as "rolling dust."

It is said that Washington may invite the League to hold its 1889 meet in the Capital.

ANOTHER cyclist, named Waldman, seriously injured in Washington, through the reckless driving of an unknown man.

The Park Commissioners of San Francisco are about to frame an ordinance compelling wheelmen to carry lighted lamps after dark.

THE Hartford Recorder is responsible for the startling statement that the American team, during their sojourn abroad, "won nearly 200 watches!"

MESSRS. Henry Goodman & Bro. will issue the official programme and score card at the Rochester, Buffalo, Lockport and Hartford tournaments.

LABOR DAY, next Monday, and the Union run of the Massachusetts wheelmen, from Cambridge Bicycle Club house, No. 81 North avenue, Cambridge.

B, No. 97, writing from Detroit says: "From your Detroit correspondent's report of the 100-mile run for the Traub medal, on July 24, it might be inferred that Mr. Adams dropped out after riding twelve miles. Mr. Adams wheeled over the entire route covered by Mr. Smith, excepting the eight miles between Wheatley and Romney, and made thirty-three miles the first three hours. The run on the return was made leisurely, and Windsor was reached at 8.30 P. M. His Butcher cyclometer showed a total distance for day, of ninety miles."

THE city of Detroit is about to repave some of the principal avenues of the city, so the Detroit Bicycle Club is circulating a petition praying that the paving will be of asphaltum, or some similar smooth cement.

OUR Mr. J. S. Dean writes us from England, and says, "even I am astonished at the wonderful hold the rear driving safety has on the cycling public of this country." Mr. Dean will not return to this country before the first of October.

MESSRS. HENRY GOODMAN & BRO., of Hartford, have compiled a book of records from data, furnished by the BICYCLING WORLD. This valuable reference book is now in the hands of the binder, and will be issued by the time this paper reaches our readers.

MR. AMSTEAD WEBB, the bugler of the Baltimore Club, has purchased a new pup, and he proposes to train so that he will answer and obey bugle calls. At first, it is said, the dog refused to be comforted, but sat on his tail and howled, after the manner of his kind, when hearing music.

THE L. I. Wheelmen of Brooklyn, have had a janitor who rejoices in the name of Rudd. This same Rudd became invisible a few days ago, much to the real surprise of the members of the club, the feigned astonishment of Mrs. Rudd, and the chagrin of certain and numerous creditors of the aforesaid Rudd. Up to the present writing, the naughty janitor has not materialized, and from what we can learn there are certain cash debts due tradesman and the L. I. members, that will fail to materialize also.

"It is without doubt the longest advertisement of a single book that is until now on record." So says the Publishers' Weekly, concerning the 96 pages of "newspaper notices of 'X M Miles on a Bicycle,'" which Karl Kron has inserted in the "Publishers' Trade List Annual for 1888." The "ad" in complete pamphlet form comprises 150 pages, however, and Karl Kron, having returned from his tour to West Springfield, is now mailing copies freely to all who apply to him by postal, at the University Building, Washington Square, N. Y.

AN exchange tells the following story: "Curious enough was the recent adventure of a Lewiston, Me., boy, who was riding home on his bicycle from Boston not long ago. He and his brother were coming down a steep hill, this side of Danville Junction, when the wheel 'lifted' and he went over the handle, like a shot out of a catapult, and struck full on his head. He got up, walked along by the side of his wheel and said nothing. His face was cut and lip bleeding. This was on Saturday. From then until Sunday night, he knew nothing about the header, and could not remember anything about the hill this side of Danville Junction. Again and again he asked how the crystal of his watch had been broken and what cut his lip. His memory of the country between Lewiston and Danville Junction was simply nil. He was told of his mishap on Sunday evening, but said that he didn't know it and couldn't understand it. Of course he is all right now and says he has experienced no ill effects of the fall, but it is a curious lapse of memory, just the same."

BUFFALO.

TAKE your wheel.

The Boston & Albany make special rates for wheelmen.

We shall be late next week, but we propose to give the full report of the tournament week at Buffalo.

The Buffalo Club house, 132 College street, will be open every evening during the week. Lemonade, cigars and cigarettes will be served.

Eastern riders and the public at large should remember that the Fitchburgh are offering great inducements to go via their route.

We shall be represented by Mr. Howard P. Merrill, as correspondent, and Mr. Geo. D. Hazard will look after our advertising interests.

The 100-mile course was measured by a party of five gentlemen, under the leadership of E. N. Bowen. Each rider had a good cyclometer on his wheel. This will give five distinct and separate measurements.

W. A. Doane writes us from Buffalo as follows: "Have ridden from Indianapolis in 6 days, riding 88 miles a day. Took a very hard fall yesterday and was picked up insensible. The 100-mile

By far the most essential quality in a tandem next to ease of running and excellence of manufacture is

PERFECT PRACTICABILITY.

This is contained in the highest possible degree in the American Challenge Tandem

Which is the only tandem tricycle in the world that can be successfully run on

Every Sort of American Roads

It can be steered, too, and braked by both riders, and can be ridden by two ladies.

Between the two riders is ample room for a child's seat, which we furnish at an extra cost of $5.

By all means see this machine before purchasing the ordinary three-track type, lest you become burdened with a practically useless tandem for touring purposes.

INCER CYCLES

Extract of Letter from W. S. Doane, now on his way from Denver to Boston, (Dated August 25.)

"I can fully agree with you regarding the Apollo, and would say that I have thorough confidence in the wheel, and that is saying a great deal more than I could about the ——. I think without any doubt that the Apollo is the finest, easiest-running and strongest wheel I ever rode, and I only hope that I shall always be able to ride one, as up to the present date there is no wheel in the market that suits me better, and I can tell you I have ridden very, very hard for the last week, hard enough to tear any ordinary wheel to pieces."

For details of these Machines see our regular catalogue, which will be mailed free to any address on application.

Belden, Hartford, Ct.; Dr. C. S. Butler, Buffalo, N. Y.; Dr. W. H. Emery, Boston, Mass.; C. H. Luscomb, Stewart Building, N. Y. City; B. R. Ayers, Chicago, Ill.; Chas. H. Potter, 99 Superior st., Chicago, Ill.; Gerry Jones, Binghamton, N. Y.; John C. Gulick, Vanderbuilt Building, N. Y. City; N. Mahlon Beckwith, 21 W. 37th st., N. Y. City; Thomas Stevens, care "Outing," N. Y. City; H. E. Ducker, Buffalo, N. Y.; I. B. Potter, Potter Building, N. Y. City.

First Division will consist of New York Division L. A. W. Clubs. Second Division will consist of L. A. W. members, other than New York.

Third Division will consist of unattached riders and the juvenile riders.

Each Division will be headed by a band. The line will form at 9.30 A. M. on Linwood avenue, right resting on Summer street. The parade will start at ten o'clock sharp, over the following route (eight miles of asphalt pavement and park road, with the exception of one short block): Linwood avenue to Ferry street, to Main, to Chippewa, countermarch up Main to Edward, to Franklin, to Allen, to Delaware, to North to Richmond, to Massachusetts, to the Front. At the Front a group photograph of the cyclists will be taken. The residents along the route are urged to decorate their houses and lawns in honor of the visitors. Clubs and wheelmen unattached to organizations should advise the Adjutant at No. 132 College street of their intention to turn out in order to be assigned proper position in line.

SOME UNICYCLE RECORDS.

W. H. BARBER, the fancy rider of Rochester, made a mile on his unicycle, Aug. 21st, in 3.27, ten seconds faster the world's record.

ANOTHER.

A TELEGRAM, dated Peoria, August 23, [to late for our last issue], states that "Bert Myers broke all unicycle records, one to 14 miles. One mile 3.34 1-2, 14 miles one hour 7 seconds, without dismount." This gives Barber the one mile record, and the hour record goes to Myers. The best previous hour record was 12 11-16 miles.

A RECORD FROM NEW HAVEN TO NEW YORK.

J. E. DAUCHY, a member of the Winsted Wheel Club, rode an Expert Columbia, 56-inch, from New Haven to New York in 9 3-4 hours, a distance of 90 miles.

This was done while Mr. Dauchy was on his vacation trip, from Winsted to New York via New Haven, from New York to Yonkers, back to New York, from there to New Haven, from there to Boston, and from Boston back to Winsted. Dauchy rode alone and says he had a fine trip.

WELLS TAKES THE "CRANK" RECORD ON EAGLE ROCK.

JOHN A. WELLS made another attempt on Eagle Rock on Thursday (23) with an American Rambler. He made nine round trips on the hill before dismounting, his times being 14 minutes, 14 minutes 15 seconds, 16 minutes 46 seconds, 15 minutes 14 seconds, 16 minutes 15 seconds, 15 minutes 30 seconds, 18 minutes, 17 minutes, 16 minutes. This sets Fred Coningsby three trips in the shade. The time made is better by some 17 minutes than that made by Sherman in his great feat for the nine rounds trip. This is record for any kind of Crank machine.

EASTERN ROAD CLUB.

THIS club held a meeting at the office of Dr. Kendall on last Monday evening, and the route presented by the committee for the race to take place September 22, is as follows: Start at Faneuil House, Brighton; ride through Chesnut Hill avenue to Chesnut Hill reservoir; Beacon street, through the Newtons, to Wellesley avenue; then by Wellesley avenue and Great Plains avenue to Needham; from there back by Highland avenue to Newton; then return to Woodland Park Hotel, and from there direct to Faneuil House, making a distance of 25 1-8 miles according to the cyclometers.

STATE OF MAINE CHAMPIONSHIP.

DURING the past season much friendly rivalry has existed between G. Ames of Lewiston, Me., and S. T. Patten of Skowhegan, Me., as to their relative speed. Patten has for some time been looked on as the fastest rider in Maine and he has been able to make this claim good until within the past four weeks at which time he met Ames at Fairfield, Me., and was defeated by the latter. This was a great surprise to the Skowhegan contingent and they were confident that the next time they met the result would be changed. On Monday, Aug. 27, the men met at the same place and again Ames defeated Patten in a closely contested one mile race. The time, 3:23, is the best ever made in Maine.

RACING AT WOODSTOCK, ONT.

THE races at Woodstock, Ont., Aug. 21, resulted as follows: One mile, green, road machine—In this race there were five starters, Hurst, Lee, Case, Flood and Howell, all of Woodstock. Howell won as he pleased, with Lee second. Time—3:26 1-5.

One mile, open handicap—Rossicoe, Woodstock, started from the scratch; Carman, Norwich, got twenty yards, and Fitch, Brantford, sixty yards. They finished in the order named. Time—3:12.

W. A. Rowe, who holds both the amateur and professional bicycle records of the world up to 22 miles, tried to lower the track record for one mile. He covered the distance in 2.43 2-5, failing to lower the record, which is 2.42 made by Foster. He then rode a quarter with a flying start in 36 2-5 seconds.

Two mile club race—Howell and Revell were the only starters. They finished in the order named in seven mins.

Five-mile handicap, open—Foster scratch, Rossicoe 300 yards, Carman 440 yards. This was the finest race of the day. Foster was unable to catch Carman, but overtook Rossicoe at 4 1-2 miles. Foster ran the five miles in 14.51, beating the Canadian amateur record of 15.28.

RACING AT BERGEN POINT.

THE second of the series of four Saturday afternoon bicycle races, under the auspices of the New Jersey Athletic Club, took place in presence of quite a respectable sized audience, on August 25. The first of the series took place on the 18th, and the one mile race was won by W. H. Caldwell, of the Elizabeth Wheelmen, who took the lead on the start from S. B. Bowman, N. J. A. C., and J. E. Day, Hudson County Wheelmen. Caldwell won in 3m. 6s. Day was ten yards behind Bowman at the finish. E. P. Baggott and S. B. Bowman started in the two mile race. Baggott made pace for the first mile. Here Bowman turned on some steam, and scorched Baggott home and won, 6m. 24 1-4s. for the two miles. Baggott was not in good form for fast work.

Saturday's racing was considerably better, although the small number who have entered is surprising in view of the valuable prizes offered. When the one mile was rung up, W. H. Caldwell J. E. Day and Pendleton, N. J. A. C., faced the starter. Pendleton, who is a Star rider, merely entered as a pacemaker for "Wonder" Caldwell. All started from scratch, and Caldwell at once jumped into the lead, fairly romping away from Day. Caldwell finished with nearly a quarter-mile to the good. Time, 3m. 1s. This was five seconds better than his time of the previous Saturday, and is the track record.

For the two mile the starters, as on the previous Saturday, were Baggott and Bowman. Baggott cut out a fair pace for the first half mile, Bowman trailing him closely. The "Vegetarian" from Elizabeth then took the lead, and succeeded in maintaining it to the finish, despite some spurring acts by the Hudson County flyer. Bowman won by a scant foot in the record time for the track of 6m. 17 3-4s.

The track is in much better condition than it was on the Fourth of July, the corners having been raised more, and the surface much improved. The next contests will be on September 8 and 15. The races on Labor Day, September 3, promise to be exciting, as Baggott, Caldwell and Bowman seem to be riding about even—up just now. The races will start at ten o'clock, and comprise a one-mile open novice, one-mile open handicap and a one-mile club championship.

THE RAMBLERS BICYCLE CLUB TOURNAMENT.

THE Ramblers of Hyde Park, Mass., held a race meet at Readville, Mass., last Saturday. The racing was good, and the attendance satisfactory. The results were as follows:

Five-mile amateur race, the following started: P. J. Berlo, Arthur B. Benson, E. A. Bailey, J. P. Clark, David Drummond and R. S. McCombie. Bailey and McCombie did the pacing at first, but when near the end Benson, Clark, Berlo and Drummond began to race hard. Benson won, with Clark second. Time, 16 35.

The five-mile team race, between the Hyde Park Club and the Ramblers, created a great deal of interest. The teams were as follows: Hyde Parks, W. Joubert, S. Elbert Young, Albert H. Rhodes, W. F. Waddell and H. Jenkins; Ramblers, E. H. Gallup, A. H. Morse, Peter Hussey, William Scott and Edward Frost. The result was a decided victory for the Ramblers, their men scoring 32 points to the Hyde Parks 22. The position of the men, as they crossed the line at the finish, was Gallup, Rhodes, Morse, Jenkins, Scott, Hussey, Young. Waddell did not finish. Time, (Gallup), 17.16.

In the half-mile running race, there were two starters, J. C. Cochran and J. J. McKeon. McKeon won handily in 3.31.

The slow race brought out Drummond, Berlo, Clark, Sawyer, Sherman, Benson, Young and Hanchett. They all fell, excepting Young, who took the prize.

Half-mile race, open to Rambler members only, was won by H. Jenkins, after a very pretty race. A. H. Rhodes second.

Two-mile race, also for Rambler members only. A. H. Rhodes managed to turn the tables on H. Jenkins in this race, and beat him by about ten feet. Time, 7m.

The three-mile consolation race was won by Drummond, with McCombie a good second. Time, 9.54 1-2. This was the best contested race of the tournament.

"PEDAL AND PATH," one of the most entertaining stories of a bicycle trip over and back across the Continent ever written, see advt. Send in 25 cents for a copy. It's value received.

THE MISSOURI DIVISION MEET PROGRAMME.

THE race meet is progressing nicely, and a big attendance is expected, and a good time is assured all those who will attend. At the next meeting of the club, final arrangements will be made for the entertainment of the visitors. The programme outlined, subject to changes, is as follows:

FIRST DAY, Thursday. Morning—Arrival of wheelmen; afternoon—Races at Exposition base ball park; evening—Reception tendered visiting wheelmen by United Wheelmen.

SECOND DAY, Friday. Morning—Business meeting of the Missouri Division; hill-climbing contest at Rosedale; afternoon—Races at Exposition ball park; evening—Visit to Exposition.

THIRD DAY, Saturday. Morning—Parade of wheelmen through the principal residence streets; afternoon—Races at Exposition base ball park; evening—Banquet.

FOURTH DAY, Sunday. General reunion of wheelmen; evening—Departure of wheelmen for home.

The Pope Manufacturing Co. will present a fine silver cup to the winner of the United Wheelmen championship race, instead of medal, as incorrectly reported in my last letter.

The prizes will probably be made by the Jaccard Jewelry Co. Messrs. Eugene, G. E. and Walter M. Jaccard, of the above company, are well-known wheelmen, formerly of St. Louis. They are engaged in business here, and their host of friends wish them abundant success. They have both joined the United Wheelmen.

PROGRAMME OF RACES AT PROVIDENCE, R. I.

The Rhode Island Division will give a tournament to amateurs only, September 25, and the following list of events is presented. Handsome gold and silver medals will be awarded to the first, second, and in some cases the third men.

One-mile bicycle Rhode Island championship, one-mile bicycle novice race, one-mile bicycle handicap, two-mile safety bicycle handicap, one-mile tandem tricycle, three-mile bicycle handicap, one-mile safety bicycle, three-mile bicycle special match between W. A. M. Scott, present three-mile champion of Rhode Island, and G. P. Hutchins, champion of the Rhode Island Wheelmen, one-mile tricycle handicap, one-mile bicycle for boys 18 years old or under, one-mile Club Team race (three men each).

These races are for amateurs only, and will be run under L. A. W. rules. The committee reserve the right to refuse any entry. Entries close Saturday, Sept. 22, and must be accompanied by entrance fees, or they cannot be accepted. The entrance fee in all races will be $1.00, except tandem race, where it will be $2.00 for each machine, and team race, where it will be $3.00 for each team entered. Entries in the handicap races must fill out the enclosed blanks and send same to committee. Otherwise they can't expect to receive a favorable handicap. The state championship will be confined to the L. A. W. members of the State of Rhode Island. The team race is confined to clubs only; three men each, and each man in the team must be a resident of the city in which the club belongs. The safety tandem and tricycle races are for road wheels only. All safety bicycles will be admitted, the diameter of whose wheels is not more than 40 inches. Address

THE HARTFORD TOURNAMENT.

THE Grand International Tournament to be held at Charter Oak Park, September 12 and 13, under the auspices of the Hartford Wheel Club, bids fair to excel anything ever before given in that section of the country. The Race Committee, after busily working the past month perfecting plans and making the necessary arrangements incident to such an undertaking, are now able to report that weather permitting, they will be able to furnish the public and wheelmen with two days of magnificent sport. To begin with, the track, always a fast one, was never in better condition, and the generous inducements offered the racing men in purses and prizes, will bring together all the crack riders, professional and amateur, in the country to-day.

One innovation which will be appreciated by the lovers of 'cycle racing, is the limit to be placed on the various events. In the one-mile professional championship race a purse of $50 has been added, to be divided between the leaders at each quarter in a prescribed time or better. This will prevent loafing, which has become too common in past meets. In the other races the limit will be made according to the conditions of the track, wind, and weather, and if any race is not run within the limit, it will be declared off, and no purses or prizes will be given.

Below is given the revised official programme and list of prizes. First Day, Wednesday, Sept. 12. 1. One-mile novice—first prize gold medal; second, silver medal. 2. One-mile professional championship of America—first prize, championship gold medal and $50; second, $30; third, $20. Special purse of $50 added for fast time, divided as follows: to man leading at first quarter in 39 seconds or better, $10; at half-mile in 1.18 or better, $10; at three-quarters in 1.57 or better, $10; at mile in 2.35 or better, $20. 3. One-mile amateur open—first prize, Columbia Light Roadster, presented by Weed Sewing Machine Co.; second, Steven's rifle; third, field glass. 4. Two-mile amateur, 6.10 class—first prize, Colt's shot gun; second, fishing set; third, silk umbrella. 5. One-mile amateur Rover Type Rear Driving Safety (no wheel under 35 pounds)—first prize, elegant clock; second, toilet set. 6. One-mile Columbia Cycle Club handicap—first prize, Columbia cup; second, seal ring. 7. Five-mile professional lap—first prize, $60; second, $40; third, $25. 8. Two-mile amateur handicap—first prize, handsome parlor standing lamp; second, pair diamond sleeve buttons; third, silk umbrella. 9. Three-mile amateur State championship—first prize, gold medal; second, silver medal. 10. One-mile amateur tricycle—first prize, silver tilting pitcher; second, gold-headed cane.

Second Day, Thursday, Sept. 13. 1. One-mile amateur three-minute class—first prize, gold medal; second, silver medal. 2. One-mile professional handicap—first prize, $50; second, $30; third, $20. 3. One-mile amateur Rover Type Rear Driving Safety handicap (no wheel under 35 pounds)—first prize, pair diamond sleeve buttons; second, pearl opera glass; third, plaque clock. 4. One-mile Hartford Wheel Club handicap—first prize, Columbia cup; second, hammerless revolver, in case; third, Smyrna rug. 5. One-mile amateur handicap—first prize, diamond scarf pin; second, elegant engraving; third, ornamental table. 6. Three-mile professional lap—first prize, $60; second, $40; third, $25. 7. One-mile amateur State championship—first prize, gold medal; second, silver medal. 8. Five-mile amateur lap—first prize, alligator traveling bag (furnished); second, diamond ring; third, jardiniere. 9. One-mile professional consolation—first prize, $25; second, $15; third, $10. 10. One-mile amateur consolation—first prize, brass lamp; second, scarf pin; third, engraving.

Special Conditions. No rider with one-mile record better than three minutes is eligible to the two-mile 6.10 class. Any races in which the number of entries warrant will be run in heats. No Rover Type Safeties will be allowed in any amateur event except those especially for that make of machine. A limit will be placed on all races according to the condition of the track, wind, and weather, and if any race is not run within the limit such race will be declared off, and no purses or prizes given. Winners of special money in one-mile professional championship of America shall not be barred from entering professional consolation race, unless they win a prize in an open race. Entrance fee for professionals, $2 in each event. Entrance fee for amateurs, $2 for one event, and $1 for each additional event.

NEW JERSEY DIVISION MEET. CHANGE OF DATE.

THE 1888 meet of the New Jersey Division, L. A. W., has been finally settled at last, and to the satisfaction of all concerned. The first date named was July 4, then it was changed to September 14 and 15, but now it is finally decided to hold the meet September 21 and 22. The principal part of the management will be in the hands of the Orange Wanderers, who will be the hosts of the Division members from out of town.

A special meeting of the Wanderers was held on Friday evening, and full details arranged. The business meeting will be held in the Park Rink at 10 o'clock on Friday morning, when election of officers and other routine business will be attended to. In the afternoon runs will be arranged to all the places of interest in and around the Oranges, not of course forgetting Eagle Rock. In the evening the citizens of the "Juicy Oranges" will be treated with the spectacle of a grand Chinese lantern parade, after which a "smoker" concert, and last but most important, a supper will be in order.

On Saturday the annual race meet of the Division will be held on the Roseville track, beginning at three o'clock. As far as known, these will comprise three State championship handicaps, open to all affiliated State Clubs, one, two and five mile open handicaps, tricycle races, safety races and a novelty, in the shape of a safety tandem bicycle race.

The following are the committee: Receptions and Entertainment, J. Warren Smith, Charles A. Lindsley, Charles S. French, Charles W. Freeman, R. S. Prindle. Parade and Runs; C. A. Lindsley, J. W. Smith, C. W. Freeman, R. S. Prindle, J. W. Gilmour. Races; Llewellyn H. Johnson, Thomas N. Gray, C. W. Freeman, F. P. Jewett, J. W. Smith. Prizes; J. W. Smith, L. H. Johnson, R. M. Sanger, T. N. Gray.

A TRIP THROUGH INDIANA, KENTUCKY AND OHIO.

Editor Bicycling World: I have just finished a 600-mile tour through Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio on a Veloce Safety, and wish to hereby extend my heartfelt thanks to the wheelmen whose acquaintance I formed along the route for the many courtesies extended to me.

The roads were mostly very fine and the weather was delightfully sweltering.

The only fault I have to find with Indiana is that sign boards are awfully scarce, over there. It is far from pleasant to come to a cross road and find that the sign board bears this inscription: "Prepare for Eternity." The tourist, however, must prepare to sit by the roadside for "an Eternity" until some farmer happens along who can tell him which road to take. When I take another trip I shall have a printed card with me to hang on my safety answering these questions: "Say; can you go as fast on that, as you can on a big wheel? Do you like it as well? and How much do the blamed things cost? These questions rang in my ears from early morn till dewy eve and I could hear them in my dreams.

At small country towns I found it necessary to lock my wheel up while eating meals in order to keep the crowds of curious villagers from taking it out on the streets and trying to ride it. This was the only inconvenience I suffered, and taking everything in consideration, I think that the rear driving safety is the finest for touring.

MR. HOPKINS AND ILLINOIS ROADS.

Editor Bicycling World: In the World of July 13th, a letter written by Mr. C. C. Hopkins of Denver, Col., did not please the wheelmen of Central Illinois. Mr. Hopkins spoke of meeting many wheelmen at Peoria and Bloomington, and said he found few wheelmen in Illinois who could give him information as to the roads for more than five to ten miles from their town, for they "always took the train to such and such a place, and wheeled it from there." I do not know where or what kind of wheelmen he got his information from, but as he spoke of Bloomington, also of Peoria, I presume the discredit wholly or partially is aimed at Bloomington. However it may be, I will say that we can give wheelmen any road information they want between Peoria and Champaign (about 100 miles apart), and we did give Mr. Hopkins information of the roads between here and Champaign. One hundred miles of road is not very much, but it beats five to ten miles, the distance Mr. Hopkins credits us with knowledge of. I admit that the roads of Central Illinois are not very good after a rainy spell, which we had just previous to Mr. Hopkins passing through here, but when they are in good condition we travel at an average rate of nine miles per hour. In regard to Peoria wheelmen I can say that they are all good riders, and so are the Champaign wheelmen, and between the three clubs, located at these places, we can give information about roads as far as Crawfordsville, Ind.

Yours truly,
WM. J. MATERN,
Local Consul, Bloomington, Ill.

"WILL L. A. W. 18404 please state the route taken from Albany to New York, as mentioned in your columns of issue August 10, 1888. Any information regarding that route will be appreciated by —2472." If our friend, No. 2472, will procure a New York road book from Mr. Geo. R. Bidwell, Chief Consul of New York, he will get the route in detail. However, the "old post road" is the route followed by 18404, and is very easily followed.

MESSRS. SINGER have imported a safety specially built for ladies use. The machine is now on exhibition at the store of W. B. Everett & Co. The Messrs. Singer have written Mr. Ross, the American manager, for points as "what machines will be fashionable in America for 1889." It is the intention of this firm to have their 1889 stock in hand early next season.

AN ARTICLE ON BIGOTRY.

Editor Bicycling World: An insertion in the columns of the Bicycling World will be of benefit to cyclists of the Pacific Division, and oblige the undersigned.

I have become an ardent and enthusiastic adherent to cycling, and imbued with its sport and health-giving exercise, thought a social combination of them would benefit me materially. I had a friend of mine to propose me for membership in the S. F. B. Club, and what was my humiliation and feelings upon learning that they have a law excluding any Yeto from membership. I presume that their motive is simply bigotry, for I defy any and all to point a finger of scorn against my character as a man, in the broadest sense of its meaning.

Bigotry is born and nursed in a mind bereft of philosophical reason and dead to intelligent argument, through inculcation or association. A bigot is a person blindly, obstinately and unreasonably attached to a certain form or practice of religion, or illiberal belief contrary to all intelligent understanding. Since men have reached such a high state of civilization and refinement, bigots have naturally decreased, until in the evolution of time, liberality, indulgence and forbearance have become the predominating virtues, shining among others of men, and shedding the same refulgence to thought, as the sun gives to earth. Among humans who are classed with those before mentioned, illiberality of religious thought, a wanton recklessness of respect for the feelings of their brother man; a non-appreciation of the principles which elevate man in the eye of his fellow man, and a disrespect for the religious belief of his fellow being, is never for a moment allowed to dull the mind, blunt the sensibilities, and overcome the judgement to the exclusion of reason.

Time has gradually worn away, smothered and polished the edges of civilization, giving birth to feelings and thoughts consistent with various periods. But this club is exercising a power of suffrage, contrary to the honor of manhood and to intelligence, subserving the interests of bigotry, and catering to depraved feeling.

A man of spotless character, high standing, possessing every requisite qualification, who would be an honor and credit to any club, is not permitted to affiliate, associate or become a member of this club, for no other reason but "Seet." For men who would allow their morals to become stagnant and pregnant with such sickening narrow mindedness, words can not express the contempt in which they should be held; speech is not adequate to place them in the category in which nature has fitted them; filtered by feeling, by education and association, as well as principle, to stand outraging, and violating the well set principles of society and degrading themselves. I ask you in candor, as a man, must bigotry exist in a free land, of unpretentious designs, of religion or race prejudice, where one and all are alike? Is it possible that in this enlightened country, where civilization broad and liberal views exist, that the intelligence of men will submit to such an outrageous law, without sifting the whys and wherefores? Have not all races their scum, lowlies and disgraceful beings amongst them? Should a person be condemned for his birth? Is it not a damnable outrage to an intelligent citizen of the United States, to be held up to ridicule on account of his religion? An organization that frames such a law must be composed of the ignorant classes, their minds (if they have any) flows into such narrow grooves that they cannot encompass the meaning of liberality, to see or understand the difference.

Could not they discriminate between the good and bad, the intelligent and ignorant, the moral and depraved, or are they associated for the purpose of teaching bigotry? Very respectfully,

B. R. J.

KANSAS ROADS. INFORMATION GIVEN AND ASKED FOR.

I was glad to see in the Aug. 3d World the write up of the road from Wichita to Hutchinson, by 19,228. Who will be the next to tell us of Kansas roads? Would like to know about the road from Ellsworth to Topeka, or any part of it. Will not J. A. DeTar tell us of his trip from Kansas City to the Indian Territory? What's the matter with Wm. Taylor giving the Kansas Division the benefit of his "two-hundred-mile jaunt?" [See front page of Bi. World].

I have just returned from a trip of 323 miles, through the Western part of the State. The start was made from a point in Barton County, 25 miles east of La Crosse. The road travelled was through La Crosse, Ness City, Dighton, Garden City, Dodge City, Kinsley Larned and Great Bend. For the most part the roads were found good. Between La Crosse and Ness City, ten miles had to be made over Buffalo grass. Between Dighton and Garden City there is a fine road for the whole distance, 55 miles. Wheelmen travelling East or West, along the line of the Santa Fe, had better keep to the road near the track. You will be told of other roads, but don't take them. They will prove a snare and delusion. I tried the hill road, from Garden City to Dodge, and 25 miles out, it disappeared in the middle of an unbroken prairie. I tried the bottom road from Dodge to Kinsley and it landed me in a sand bank at Ford City, 15 miles south of Spearville, which point I had to make. I was then 17 miles from Dodge and had ridden 35 miles.

Wheelmen should steer clear of the Delmonico Hotel at Dodge City. The accommodations are very poor, but the price is first class. I have found in nearly every town I have visited this summer, wheelmen who know nothing of the League. As soon as its object and benefits of membership were explained, they said they would gladly join. With a little effort, I am satisfied the size of the Kansas Division could be more than doubled. Let us have some active officers this year, and place the Division to the front, where it belongs.

THE WARWICK.

WE have from time to time mentioned the fact that a new candidate for favor was soon to be presented to the riding public for their patronage. The Warwick Cycle Co. of Springfield have for the past summer been hard at work perfecting their bicycle. One of the problems that has engaged their careful consideration is that of "how to minimize vibration?" In the invention of the Warwick Spring bearing frame it is claimed that the problem has been successfully solved. The device is as follows; Inside the bearing frame and underneath the fork is a spring made of steel and rubber. The steel takes the strain and the rubber takes the vibration, in such a manner that the rider, no matter how rough the riding, does not feel the least jar. This is a point that cannot fail of inestimable appreciation. By means of a set screw the bearing can be perfectly adjusted to the weight of any rider. For a heavy man the screw is tightened, which closes the spring, allowing it to receive the extra weight. The bearing is simple jointed to the bearing frame, which gives an elastic and easy motion when the wheel comes in contact with rough surfaces. Another device holds the frame rigid in such manner as to take up all side strain. The crank is detachable.

In the matter of construction, the merits of the Warwick specialties are well known to almost all riders. The celebrated "Warwick rims" and "Warwick forks" are used in the machine, the special features of which are to put strength where it is most needed. This machine will be on exhibition at Buffalo, and we are advised that by the 15th of September these machines will be on the market.

THE RAMBLER.

We had the pleasure of trying Gormully & Jeffery's new safety, the Rambler, the other day. We were decidedly pleased with the steering of the machine. We found we could ride it without hands after very little practice. The machine is stiff and easy running, and the anti-vibrating contrivance worked very nicely. The machine we rode was geared up to 60 inches, altogether too high for practical road work for the ordinary rider. We understood from Mr. Murray, however, that the machine was furnished with two sized gearing, 52 and 60-inch. Notwithstanding the high gear of the one we tried, we found it easy running on the level, it was when we struck "up grade" that the gearing told. The above cut shows the line of the machine, and the anti-vibrating spring. A very ingenious contrivance on the plunger brake applies the brake spoon automatically, with an even pressure on all parts. The peculiar form of the ramshorn handle bar brings the handles back into a very comfortable position. We are advised that the machine will be on the market and the supply will soon be sufficient to meet the growing demand.

WHO WANTS TO TAKE HIM UP?

L. A. W. 385, writing from McPherson, Kan., says: I, see by the WORLD of Aug. 3d, that the 100-mile State of Kansas record was broken. Last May, I think it was the last week in May, that I started from here to Arkansas City, Kansas, on my New Mail, 52-inch, by the way of Newton, Wichita, Bell Plain, Wingfield, a distance of 136 miles, and made the trip in one day, counting all stops, and did it alone, as I could not get any one to go with me. I say here that I have broken the record, as I knew that I made at least 102 1-2 miles in the 10 hours. If my Kansas friends doubt it, I'll do it over for them, and I am satisfied I can do better than that, if I want to try myself. I'll ride from McPherson to Arkansas City on my bicycle, a distance of 136 miles, in 14 hours including all stops, for money or fun. "Honor to whom honor is due" is all I want.

The entry list for the events of the San Francisco Bicycle has been transferred to Thomas S. Cobden, at 13 1-2 Post street, who will take charge of the same under the conditions as originally announced. The Committee of arrangements has definitely arranged the list for September 10th, and they will take place in the following order: One mile novice; five mile League American Wheelmen, State championship; two mile handicap; half-mile dash; one mile Rover type; one mile club handicap; three mile handicap; one mile scratch.

Tennessee Division.

The Tennessee Division held its annual meeting in the rooms of the Nashville B. C. Club, on Thursday, Aug. 16th, at 8 P. M. The report of Secretary-Treasurer Rodde was read and approved. A Constitution and By-laws was read and adopted and a committee appointed to have same printed and mailed to members and prominent wheelmen. The need of a road book and map of the State was discussed at length, and all present were heartily in favor of the movement and efforts will be made to get one out during this year. After adjournment a smoker was indulged in, and the following day to Eldorado Springs 22 miles out was enjoyed by several visiting and local wheelmen.

California Election.

In re Annual Election of Officers, California Division, L. A. W.:
The counting of the vote coming on at the office of the Secretary-Treasurer, Room 1, San Francisco Stock Exchange, San Francisco, on the evening of August 10th, 1888, at 8 o'clock, there were present, with the Secretary-Treasurer, the Committee on Rights and Privileges of the Division, to wit: Geo. H. Strong, Chairman, Harrison Houseworth, and S. F. Booth, Jr., also the Chief Consul.

There were found to have been deposited with the Secretary-Treasurer by members duly qualified to vote:

Prior to 15th July.....43 votes
Between 15th July and 15th August.....242 votes
In addition, 13 votes from persons who did not become members until after 1st July were rejected; 7 votes were rejected from members not accredited to the California Division; 4 members having repeated their votes, casting different ballots, the same were rejected, except as to the Vice Consul, Secretary-Treasurer and Representative Frost, whose names appeared on both ballots; 12 duplicate ballots were thrown out without prejudice to the ticket intended to be voted, and 23 ballots having been cast under a misapprehension as to the number of Representatives to be voted for, the same number of corrected ballots were accepted in their stead.

In regard to the ballots cast prior to 15th July, the Chief Consul gave it as his opinion that under a liberal interpretation of the law no equities had been violated. That with the date of the annual elections first postponed to the period extending from 1st to 15th July, and then afterwards changed by the adoption of the new Constitution at Baltimore to a month later, some misunderstanding had naturally arisen. He had assured those who voted prior to the 15th July that their votes would not be rejected, and had advised them not to repeat their votes. He therefore requested that such votes be counted. It was finally agreed that these votes be counted and credited separately to the candidates.

The count then proceeded with result as follows:

For Chief Consul.

*Edwin Mohrig received—
Votes cast prior to July 15th.....29
Votes cast July 15th to Aug. 15th.....165-194

Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member.

Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M. on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

Gents:

I purchased from your agent at this place, H. P. Baird, one of your Surprise Tricycles, and have now had it in constant use for one month. I weigh about 217 pounds, am 52 years of age, and I find lots of ease and comfort in using the trike. My office is twelve blocks from my residence, and the street unpaved all the way, with a great many holes, loose stones, and other obstructions. I ride to business in the morning, back to dinner at mid-day, back again to office, home to supper, back to office after supper, then home at night. It beats walking or street cars hollow. I would not be without it.

Yours,

THOMAS W. BAIRD.

XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX

I must say that you cannot claim too much for that Surprise Tricycle as a hill climber. On one of the turnpikes now being built out from Little Rock, there is a hill, which is being macadamized, but is now but about half finished; that is, one layer of stone and a layer of loose gravel has been put down, which makes it a terror. Nearly every member of the Club has made repeated attempts to climb it with bicycles, without success. Last Friday evening I made the attempt on the Surprise and went straight to the top without a waver (parties present offered to bet 5 to 1 I would never reach the top).

Yours,

H. P. BAIRD.

IF YOU HAVE WHEELS TO RIDE PREPARE TO RIDE THEM NOW

Because for the next couple of months we shall probably enjoy the best wheeling of the season.

If you have NOT wheels to ride, you are the people we are looking for, and the whole object of this address is to induce the weary pedestrian and the misguided rider of other wheels to turn from their wandering ways, and ride the best wheels in the world. What are they? Well, when their name is printed right out it looks like this:

STE

"VICTOR."

THERE IS A FULL LINE OF THEM:

DIFFICULT REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

WE'RE READY FOR IT.

What a hurrah there is over the September tournament!

We must wade in stream up to the arm-pits, and catch the trade in Bicycling Uniforms that belongs to us. Doesn't it belong to us?

The National Association says: "They make the best Uniforms."

Well, then, we're going to back up their say-so by making the best, and not one that doesn't deserve over and over the name of The Best Bicycling Uniform to be got. Yes, you'll say yourself: It's the best to be got anywhere.

Why shouldn't we? The railroads of this country, the crack military associations, the crack cadets, the crack bands get us to make their uniforms. It comes as natural to us to make good uniforms as if we did nothing else.

But we do do something else. We make the best everyday clothing and fine clothing in the country. If you sent to us for a Full Dress Suit for a wedding we could send it at a half-hour's notice. Or, a Suit to mountain-climb in.

The whole clothing business is at our finger-ends.

That's why we make the best Uniforms. Send your order along.

TRICYCLING FOR LADIES. By Miss F. J. Erskine. "For some time past there has been a real need with many ladies who have had their interest awakened on the subject of tricycling for some small book which should put them in possession of the most useful and necessary information without having to pay for it by their own experience. This want is now supplied, and in Miss Erskine's book will be found hints on the choice and management of tricycles, with suggestions on dress, riding and touring, etc., adapted to a lady's special requirements." 25 cents. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

MY CYCLING LOG BOOK. By "Papa" Weston. The transitory pleasures of cycling can be made as permanent as its physical benefits, by jotting down in a well devised log book, the distances and incidents of one's various journeys. Knowing that such a record is a most pleasant thing to have, and believing that the keeping of such should be encouraged, as tending to the permanent good of cycling in more ways than can be referred to here. The Log Book is hand-drawn and strongly bound in red leather, will last for years of constant use, and is the best arranged book of its kind ever yet devised. It fills a want often felt by the cyclist who values records of interest for future reference. Price, post paid, $1.25. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

J. S. DEAN.

BOSTON, 7 SEPTEMBER, 1888.

WE give the results this issue of all the races at Buffalo. We have not space or time at this writing to give more than a hasty resume of the events. A remarkable feature of the races shows that the old-time "stars" have seen their day. Crist, Hall, Jr., Brown, Foster, have been put back by Windle, Midgley and McCune. The professional events also have upset our forecasts, as Temple, Allard and Lee have not come up on top as often and easily as we expected. Lack of condition and bad results from the water may have had something to do with Temple's failure to show to the front better. After the smoke of the battle has cleared away we can analyze the causes and effects and give our views. In the meantime we have scarce time to get our breath preparatory to the Hartford meet. [LATER—As per special dispatch in another column the fourth day's races have been postponed on account of rain to Monday, Sept. 10, at 10 A. M.]

MR. WELLS REPLIES TO "LINNEUS."

Editor of Bicycling World: I am very much surprised that you should have published in your issue of August 10 the severe charge made by your St. Louis correspondent,—that I had forged the telegram from E. N. Beach.

To those who know the "A. B. Brewing Assn." who writes under the signature of "Linneus," it is unnecessary to state that he is at all times ready to make use of falsity when it serves his purpose better than truth.

I inclose the original telegram and envelope as it was received by me; and if you have any doubts as to its authenticity, it will be very easy for you to have the handwriting and wording of the telegram identified at the office where it was received.

I should not suppose that a correspondent who would be guilty of such wilful and deliberate slander would be of any further use to you, but of course you are the best judge of this.

If you satisfy yourself that this telegram is genuine, I trust that you will see that the apology of your correspondent is as public and as plainly expressed as was the slander. Yours very truly,

JOHN A. WELLS.

[Since receiving the above we have investigated the matter under discussion. We hasten, in justice to Mr. Wells, to state that we have seen the original telegram received by that gentleman from Mr. Beach, and it reads: "Meet Greenwood here. Have wired him to leave Monday night." This telegram bears date July 29. We at once communicated with "Linneus," asking for an explanation. He sends us copy of original telegram to Mr. Wells, which reads: "We need Greenwood here. Have wired him to leave Monday night." The italics are ours in both cases, and the discrepancy in the first words of the wire shows that the fault is in the telegraph office, in sending the word "meet" instead of "we need," as written by Mr. Beach. We regret that we did not investigate before we printed "Linneus's" accusation. On the other hand, "Linneus" is not to blame for believing that the telegram received by Mr. Wells was worded the same as that sent by Mr. Beach.—ED.]

ALL READY AT HARTFORD.

Editor Bicycling World: After a month of active preparation the Hartford Wheel Club announces all things in readiness for what seems destined to be the most brilliant of the long series of Hartford tournaments. Under the able leadership of Joseph Goodman, the various committees having the many details in charge, seem to have left nothing undone to make the affair a thorough success in every particular. Especially excellent arrangements are completed for the reception and entertainment for racing men and other visiting wheelmen, and nothing will be wanting for their comfort and convenience. The reception committee of twelve has been carefully selected, and all incoming trains, up to noon on the first day of the races, will be met by a detachment to look after arrivals. The town and surrounding country has been extensively billed for a fortnight past, public interest in the events is everywhere manifested, and with good weather ten thousand spectators are expected for two days.

The parade on the forenoon of the 12th, promises to be a pleasant feature of the meet. Invitations to clubs have been accepted to an unexpected extent, and delegations from the Boston Club, under Dr. Kendall, and from the Citizens of New York, under Elliott Mason, who, by the way, has ridden in every previous Hartford parade, have announced their coming, as well as clubs from Springfield and throughout Connecticut. The unattached from all quarters will be welcomed and assigned to a special division.

Entries for the professional events include W. A. Rowe, Jules Dubois, of Paris; Jack Lee and F. W. Allard, of England; W. M. Woodside, Temple, the phenomenal; H. G. Crocker, Bob Neilson, W. F. Knapp and others. Among the amateurs are Foster, Crist, Brown, Kingsland, Windle, Midgley, all widely known, and a host of lesser lights. Fancy riding will be done each day by W. S. Maltby. "CHARTER OAK."

TRANSPORTATION TO HARTFORD.

New York wheelmen desiring to attend the Hartford Tournament can avail themselves of the following accommodations:

By water, leave New York at 4 P. M. by Hartford boat, reaching Hartford next morning; or by New Haven boat, leaving at 11 P. M., connecting with morning train out of New Haven, reaching Hartford at 8.13 A. M.

By rail, leave Grand Central Depot at 11 A. M., and arrive in Hartford in time for the races.

Special rates have been made with the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad as follows:

From Springfield to Hartford and return, with admittance to Park, $1.50; from Meriden to Hartford and return, with admittance to Park, $1.00. Respectfully,

JOSEPH GOODMAN,
Chairman Race Committee.

ON TO HARTFORD.

CAPTAIN KENDALL, of the Boston Club, is desirous of getting up a party to attend the Hartford Tournament. The indefatigable Captain writes us: "We are to leave Boston on the evening of the 11th in an excursion car, which will be 'side-tracked' at Hartford, and in which we will live and entertain callers in the 'Boston style' during our stay. Several members of the Cambridge, Chelsea, Boston and other clubs have already signified their intention of joining this party. There are a few unengaged berths, which can be secured by addressing Dr. W. G. Kendall, 176 Tremont street. Return on the evening of the 13th."

Trains leave Boston at 8.30 A. M., 10.00 A. M., 3.00 P. M., 7.00 P. M., 11.30 P. M., arriving in Hartford in about 4 hours.

Messrs. Kendall, Seward, Robinson, Newman and others of the Boston party would be pleased to entertain any callers at their "special car" while at Hartford.

NOTES BY

THE "CAVILER."

My failure to attend the Buffalo meet has been the cause of much disappointment to myself, and no end of grief to a host of admirers. Perhaps this is not a very modest statement, but I have been told by so many that it is true, and it is so pleasant to think so, that my struggles not to believe it have been all in vain. I had some refreshments with Dr. Emery one day last week, and I promised him that I would make one of the party to occupy his special car. The Doctor worked hard to get up this party, and the success which has apparently crowned his efforts, is well deserved. I am told that they had a very jolly time, including a smashup, for having bought the car, their fun making was unrestrained.

THERE were a lot of "good spirits," as Dr. Kendall would say, aboard the car. There was Chief Consul Davol, of Rhode Island, who stands almost unrivalled as a story teller, and he brought some boys with him, who could hold their ends up in the story line, as well as sing a first-class song. Another of the party who added much to its jollity was Charles F. Joy, of the Pope Mfg. Co. Austerity and dignity stand out all over Joy, during business hours, but get him off with the boys, and you wouldn't ask for a more congenial companion. Some years ago he won fame, if not fortune, behind the foot lights, and to-day he can spin a yarn like an old time minstrel star. Joy is a great friend of Emery's, and they run each other hard in the fun-making line. The Doctor is something of a comedian himself.

LARRY OVERMAN was another of the "good spirits." When not engaged in helping along mirth, he chatted with E. W. Pope in the most friendly way on cycling topics. The Papes and the Overmans seem to be first-class friends since they have given up fighting each other in the courts. Charley Howard, of the Globe, was, of course, of the party. Wherever the wheelmen are, Charley is sure to be. Howard has grown blase of late, since his return from the Azores. There were other wheelmen from other towns, about 30 in all, and I would have given a good deal to have been with them, and chronicled their doings in the WORLD. All that I know about them is learned from a letter I received this morning from one of their number.

My correspondent writes me that they have, by energetic personal efforts, managed to have a very good time at the meet. The Buffalo Club men have tried to make things pleasant for the visitors, but they are for the most part business men, and it could not be expected that they should devote a great deal of their time to the cyclers. The races do not seem to have been particularly interesting. The newspaper reports state that gales of wind prevailed throughout the contests. I once lived in Buffalo for several months, and know all about a Buffalo breeze. I remember an occasion a few years ago, when I was going from Buffalo to Cleveland, on the Lake Shore road. We had been out of Buffalo a few hours, and were running along the shores of the lake, when notwithstanding that the locomotive attached to our train was one of the most powerful on the road, the wind, which had risen to a gale, swept us back over our course seven miles, and it is likely that we would have been forced into the city and done awful damage to life and property had not the rail road officials been informed by telegraph of our situation, and sent five of their best locomotives to the rescue. It is not to be supposed that a racing cyclist could make much time against such zephyrs.

ST. LOUIS.

"LINNEUS."

SPEAKING to Hal. Greenwood a few evenings ago, I was surprised to hear that he had not received the medal for the hill climbing championship from Wells, nor had he received money for his expenses incurred here and in going to Eagle Rock Hill. It is now over a month ago that the affair took place, and it seems to me it is about time a settlement was made.

THE Cycle Club at present has 105 members, and is steadily growing. Walter Wylie, ex-captain, resigned from the club a few meetings back, and I understand has given up wheeling for the present.

It will perhaps be a matter of news to most of your readers to know that A. A. McCurdy, once the champion long-distance rider, and lately a champion fakir, has enlisted in the United States army, and is now stationed at Jefferson Barracks.

A NUMBER of riders have been over the St. Charles rock road lately, and report it as being in better condition than it has been for years, and runs are now in order to that city. Reckless coasting caused a bad accident on this road on the last day of the Marvin camp-meeting.

THE new officers of the division take charge September 1, and the Touring Board is anxious to receive road reports from the counties unreported in the present hand-book, as well as from those that are. All communications addressed to the chairman will be thankfully received, and receive prompt attention.

THE St. Louis County Court has just passed an ordinance to extend Lindell avenue boulevard from Union avenue, its present terminus, westwardly to Clayton, a distance of about six miles. As soon as the improvement is made we will have a ten-mile boulevard that will compare with anything in the country.

CAPT. LEWIS, of the Missouri, has called the De Soto run for Sunday, September 2, and present indications assure a large attendance. Among those that will do the "mountains" are C. C. Brewster, Alex. and Abe. Lewis, Prof. Stone, S. C. Bulkley, C. C. Hildebrand, Colcord, Holm, Barnard and Dormitzer.

SENATOR MORGAN'S "ad." in your paper has caused some talk of a race meet, but as yet the matter has not taken shape. I can't, for the life of me see why a well-conducted race meet should not pay. I think if the Senator approaches Chas. Green, President of the fair grounds, in the right way, negotiations looking toward a race meet can be inaugurated.

PROF. STONE and Mr. L. C. Bulkley, of the Missouri Club, have been doing some hard riding lately. It is but a few weeks ago that I chronicled a trip to De Soto, and last week they took the boat to Clarksville, and did some tall riding over the gravelly roads of Pike county. Prof. Stone covered 105 miles, visiting Louisiana, Paynesville, Bowling Green and Astley, although all roads travelled over were in fair shape. Mr. Bulkley covered 85 miles, which is a good record, considering that he only began riding this year.

THE table of comparative League memberships in the various states in last week's BICYCLING WORLD-BULLETIN shows Missouri to be 40 members behind last year's figure. Every member who takes any pride in the division should spare no pains to see that this discrepancy is made up. In looking over the list, I find that the little Nutmeg State has lost 200 members. Poor old Connecticut! By the way, the four members in list of August 24 were all secured by one of the representatives. What has become of the officers in charge of the Kansas City and St. Joe districts?

THE Missouri Division meet at Kansas City is absorbing a good deal of our cyclers' attention, and both the Missouri and Cycle Clubs promise to send quite a delegation to attend. A number of requests for rates, etc., have already been received from Sedalia, Clinton and other towns, which will no doubt be arranged shortly. Percy Stone, George Tivey, Ed. Smith, George Mettig and Harry Gordon will represent our racing contingent. The promoters of this meeting wish to make it a big success, and every member of the division should make it his business to attend. LATER—a fare of $1.13 for the round trip has been secured from all points in the State.

NEW ORLEANS.

"BI."

THE date of the Division race meet has been changed from the 14th to the 28th of September, and the following programme decided on: One mile novice; one mile championship of the South, open to all; Louisiana Cycling Club championship, one mile; Race for boys under 16, wheels not over 42 inches; one mile for the State championship; one mile safety; New Orleans Bicycle Club championship, one mile; one mile handicap; two and a half mile lap race, open; one hundred yards slow race, open; one mile consolation, open. The entries open September 3, and close on the 26th.

THE meet will be on last year's liberal scale, complimentary, and 6000 invitations will be issued. Riders from Memphis, Atlanta and Little Rock are expected, and we hope to even better last year's glorious showing. The medal for the one mile championship of the South is a beauty, and is a donation from Chief Consul Hodgson.

A TEAM race will also probably be added to the programme, the Louisiana Cycling Club announcing that it will throw down the gauntlet to the New Orleans Bicycling Club. The N. O. B. C. literally wiped up the earth with L. C. C. team of last year but one man of the latter team finishing. Matters have changed somewhat during the last year, however, and the Louisianans feel that they can now put forward a team that can hustle a little bit.

QUITE a fight is being made for the Division Secretary-Treasurership. Two candidates, W. H. Renaud, of the Louisiana Cycling Club, and H. W. Fairfax of the N. O. B. C., are in the field, and both sides are working like good boys, and giving us more real excitement than we've had in a long while. The election takes place September 4th, and we anticipate more fun than we've had since our "yaller dorg" died.

PRESIDENT RENAUD of the Cycling Club now rides a "goat" of the "Club" variety, and has taken the agency for that machine.

WE have here in New Orleans one of the disenfranchised League men of whom Secretary Bassett recently made note. He moved here during the year from another State, and is very hot under the collar, because of his inability to vote at the election next week.

THE Louisiana Cycling Club takes in Bay St. Louis, Miss., next Sunday.

CHIEF CONSUL HODGSON has appointed the following Division Racing Board for the ensuing year: R. P. Randall (chairman), E. A. Shields, W. H. Renaud, R. G. Betts, C. H. Fenner.

THE weather has been simply "beastly" for the past six weeks. Rain every day and the roads are in a horrible shape, and extended runs at a decided discount.

PORKOPOLIS NOTES.

"STAR."

It is rumored that "Toot" High, who thinks nothing of climbing Crescent avenue before breakfast, proposes, now that "Onkel" is away on an extended Southern tour, to challenge the wheelmen of this vicinity to a hill-climbing contest, and promises that if he is defeated, that during the next year he will take the pictures of wheelmen, gratis.

It is said that Joe Hosea recently made a remarkable run of 300 points at billiards.

WONDER why those rats in the Montgomery pike, between the city and Norwood, are not filled with broken stone!

A. C. PIPER has been so badly Maimed that he has disposed of his ordinary, and, for this season at least, given up riding.

TOM SCHULTZ says that he recently tried to push a loaded wagon up Gilbert avenue, but the driver objected to the pace as being too hot for his horses.

A. B. NORTON, when asked a short time ago what his initials stood for, absent mindedly replied "Air Brake," and then wondered why everybody laughed.

THE readers of that squib in the Enquirer of Aug. 19, in which a certain modest and retiring local cyclist was described as a "professional trick Star rider," are left in doubt as to whether it is the wheel or rider that is tricky.

SEVERAL excited wheelmen who "precipitated" in the parade at the opening of the Centennial on July 4, are hunting for the individual who suggested that the Expo. Commissioners set apart a day for a wheelmen's parade.

THE bicycle editor of the Commercial Gazette should have waited till all the returns were in before declaring that Charley Stevens was the first one to climb Forest avenue on a safety. It was climbed a month previously by the "great and only" Tom Schultz.

SPEAKING of new routes, the Paddock Road, which branches off to the left from the Reading Road, about 300 yards beyond where the horse cars turn off, and which runs through Bond Hill, is a pleasant route, via Eden Park and Walnut Hills, to Carthage and points beyond. By it the bad streets of Cumminsville can be avoided, whilst the distance is not much, if any greater.

THE C. B. C. seems to have satisfactorily solved the problem, how to derive the greatest benefit from the use of the wheel, for, leaving scorching and long runs to those who delight in boasting of their achievements, they jog along at an easy pace, making occasional stops to enable weak riders to get their "breathe," and arrive at their destination in ample time for dinner. After a hearty meal and several hours' rest, they leisurely return, thus obviating that "broken up" feeling so commonly experienced on Monday morning.

THE pernicious habit of imbibing large quantities of water at every stopping-place, so common among inexperienced wheelmen, not only aggravates the thirst, but, by promoting excessive perspiration, exhausts the rider. It is the perspiration that evaporates as fast as it appears, and not that which runs off of the skin, that diminishes the heat of the body. If the rider resists this desire to drink, the water for perspiration is taken from the fat,—which is a dead weight,—and he is benefitted by the decrease in his avoidrupois.

NEW YORK AND

LONG ISLAND NOTES.

"WING FOOT."

THE Cyclist's Union of Long Island was brought into being at the residence of one of its fathers, so to speak, last Wednesday evening, and is already cutting its eye-teeth. The charter members are Mr. J. B. Huggins, G. W. Mabie, C. A. Bradford, C. Newberg, M. L. Bridgman, M. Furst, H. Greenman, H. E. Raymond, W. J. Clark and L. G. Wilder. There will be no initiation fee, but the yearly dues will be one dollar. The object of the association will be the protection and development of cycling on Long Island, and that pit-fall "politics" is to be avoided at all hazards. The Union professes no antagonism to the League.

W. C. FULLER, B. B. C., now leads that club on the season's record.

EVERYTHING points Buffaloward this week, and until about the time this paper reaches us, there will be very little going on at the club houses.

THE New Yorks were forced to move into their new house, while it was yet in a rather chaotic state, because of some trouble with the stone cutters, by reason of which the main entrance is not yet completed, and it will be some time before they are ready for the inevitable "house warming."

SEVERAL Brooklyn boys are very anxious to have a prize put up for the record from the Plaza, Prospect Park, to Patchogue, and promise to make 5.00 suffer, if it is made, worth the trouble. Why shouldn't the Brooklyn clubs offer a subscription record trophy. The road from Jamaica to Babylon can now be ridden without dismount.

AMONG my many trophies and mementoes of pleasant trips a-wheel, is numbered a large photograph taken from the piazza of the Fort George Hotel, Caldwell, Lake George. In the foreground are nine wheelmen from Philadelphia. Who knows who they were? It was taken in the summer of 1886, and mine was the only copy left at the hotel, and, in fact, is the only good photo. I could get at the lake.

I HAVE been asked a good many times of late, why I take no notice of the present unpleasantness in the Second District. There are always two sides to such matters—unpleasant at the best—and my estimate of the duties of a correspondent does not include being the medium of a personal dispute, for such I believe it would degenerate into. The whole matter will probably adjust itself without any wild convulsion of nature, or a riot, and the old footstool will wag on about as it wills, but I doubt very much whether the renewals from the Old Second will be very large next January.

IT was on the above trip that I broke the backbone of my wheel at a lonely spot, miles from a settlement, and was thrown upon the hospitality of Capt. Ben Hill, Commander in Chief of the gallant canawler, "Palisades." He and his worthy better-half treated me right royally. The cabin was large and comfortable, and for tea, a comfortable, broad bunk, in which I slept like a top until morning, and a plain but hearty breakfast, they refused to accept a cent in pay, and even insisted upon bringing my wheel down to Brooklyn for me. If any of you fellows along the canal, from Troy to Champlain, ever see Capt. Ben and the "Palisades," give him the best wishes of "Wing-Foot."

PENNSYLVANIA.

"ARIEL."

THE races at the State Fair next Monday will develop some lively feeling, especially in the inter-club race for the championship of Philadelphia, which will be for blood. It will be preceded by the races for the championship of Pennsylvania, Century, South End and Tioga clubs, and is open only to the winners of each of these events, so that the best man of each club will contest for the honor of his fellow-members. I rather think that Halsted will win both the Pennsylvania Club race and the final. He dropped in to see me to-day, on his way from Cape May, where he has been putting in a very pleasant summer, and told me that he intended entering the races, which means that Mr. Halsted's competitors will have to keep a movin' to win.

HILL and McCloskey will ride the former's Ivel tandem bicycle at the Roseville races, in place of Hill and Halsted, and they may be seen training regularly on the Lancaster Pike. Fuller, who was Hill's former partner on the tandem, has given up racing.

HALF a dozen new safeties were received in the Pennsylvania Club last week, bringing the number up to between thirty and forty in that club alone. I notice with surprise that they claim that there is no safety craze at Newark and the Oranges. It has struck Philadelphia with a vengeance.

NOTICE has been received by the South End Wheelmen that the house at present occupied by them, has been sold, and they will therefore have to seek other quarters. They will endeavor to secure a larger house, as their growth has been so rapid that they were cramped for room. In March they had thirty-five members, while now they have seventy—not a bad percentage of increase.

FOR long-distance riding, Captain W. T. Fleming, of the Centurions, probably leads for the season. He commanded the club century run to New York yesterday morning, which left the club house at 4 A. M., with Bronley, Speier, Barnett, Kneeder, McGlathery and a couple of South End Wheelmen. The latter club have a good long-distance man in J. R. L. Edwards, who completed his one thousandth mile in August, making about four thousand two hundred miles for the season.

Two century runs last week. One was that of George Caryl, Secretary of the South End Wheelmen, who ran up 101 miles. The other was one made by M. J. Bailey and W. G. Speier, of the Century Club, who took a trip to Honeybrook, covering 108 miles, over very poor roads. This run was taken with a view towards capturing the gold medal offered by the club to the member making the longest run for one day during the season. Mr. Bailey intends to make another attempt, as he thinks the figures must be put at 150 miles to take the prize.

By the club election of Messrs. Burt and Lewis, of the Philadelphia Club, to representativship in the League, that club now has three representatives, Mr. Osborne having been a nominee on the State ticket. Now while I am not personally acquainted with Mr. Lewis, Messrs. Burt and Osborne are among the number of those who honor me with their friendship, and I know they will not misunderstand me when I say that it would have been advisable to have placed one of those names in the Pennsylvania Club. The Century Wheelmen are represented by the appointment of Kirk Brown on the State ticket, and the Tioga Club by the League club representation of Dr. Van Deusen, while the large and influential Pennsylvania Bicycle Club is left out in the cold. I don't think the club is keeping awake nights over the matter, but it was a poor stroke of policy. It will be objected that the Pennsylvania Club should have remained in the League, and thus entitled themselves to representation, but that has nothing to do with it. They had a perfect right to withdraw if they saw fit, and since the Philadelphia, as a League club, were entitled to two men, the third should have been placed among the Pennsylvanias, one of the largest, most active and best known clubs in the country. Mr. Osborne told me that he really did not care to accept the place, as his time was entirely taken up by business, and he could not give the necessary attention to League matters, so that as far as his personal feelings were concerned, he would rather not have been on the ticket. And yet, while I have been sticking out on the lines of a general policy, I much question whether any one could have taken Mr. Osborne's place on the board, with his years of long service in cycling, and his thorough acquaintance with the needs of the League. Reading also was dropped from representativship, while Wilkes-Barre and Scranton have four between them. It looks as though Chief Consul Jessup and his friends had taken care of their own section pretty effectively.

NEWS
AND COMMENT.

Mr. DUCKER writes: "The Powelson Photograph Gallery, which is owned and controlled by Mr. Hall, of the Buffalo Bicycle Club, is to take a number of photographs of the League meet and races in this city. They will also take a very large photograph of the wheelmen after the parade. It will be about 20x24, and be a fine picture. Would you kindly announce same in your columns, and state that orders for it will be received either by me, or at Powelson's Art Gallery."

Now for Hartford!!

HARTFORD, September 12th and 13th.

ALL the fast men will participate in the races at Hartford, Sept. 12th and 13th.

GEO. W. AMES, of Lewiston, is worshipped as a little god since his defeat of Patten, of Skowhegan.

A STAR of the first magnitude has appeared on the horizon of the amateur world, and his back name is Windle.

STEPHEN TERRY, of Hartford, left last week for Los Angeles, Cal. While on the Pacific coast he proposes to do some League work.

A MOST interesting interview with W. S. Doane on his ride from Denver to Boston has to go over to another issue for want of space.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. will hold a two days tournament, Sept. 21 and 22. Mr. Ducker will assist the local clubs in the management thereof.

THE scheme of special prizes for the first, offered by the Hartford Wheel Club, will insure speedy races next Wednesday and Thursday.

CATHAY seems to be a poor place for bicycling. The poet says: "Better fifty years in Europe than a cycle in Cathay."—Detroit Free Press.

FROM all indications, the road race under the auspices of the Eastern Road Club, will this year excel all former efforts. The date is Sept. 22.

"RUMOR" has it that F. F. Ives will return to the race track this season, but Ives says "No." We are sorry to doubt "rumor," but we think Ives ought to know.

MR. JAMES J. GRACE, a member of the Hartford Wheel Club, has left that city for Kansas City, Mo. Before leaving his club friends tendered him a complimentary dinner at Besse's Cafe.

We have received the advance copy of "World's Cycling Records," published by Joseph Goodman, from data furnished by the WORLD. A hasty review of the book shows it to be a complete and valuable little reference book.

Two boys were employed to sell the score cards at 10 cents each, at the Rochester meet. The boys vanished and forgot to make returns, and now the owners of the score card privilege, have lost faith in juvenile honesty.

CLUBS and racing associations will do well to remember that the International team of cyclists under the management of "Senator" Morgan, is open to engagements. For terms etc., address, "Senator" Morgan, care this office.

We have a mass of correspondence that will have to go over for another issue or two. We have several letters from San Francisco protesting against "Sparrow's" charges vs. Chief Consul Welch which we shall be pleased to give space.

AUGUST 23 the Wilmington (Del.) Wheel Club gave a most delightful stag party at their club house. A very bounteous supper was served, and the evening passed with speeches, recitations and music. There were seventy-five wheelmen present.

THE roads between New Haven, Conn., and Springfield, Mass., are none of the best for record riding, but Mr. F. E. Weaver succeeded lately in covering the route between the two cities, via Hartford, Cheshire and Meriden and return, a distance of about 128 miles, in 13h. 30s., including all stops.

A CORRESPONDENT from Grand Rapids writes: "Permit me to correct an error which appeared in your account of the races here last week, in that, W. Melville did not win the Grand Rapids Bi. Club races. It was R. B. Hain who won that race, and I trust that you will make the correction in your next issue."

ONE of Washington's most popular wheelmen, Mr. E. F. Pettin-gill was married Sept. 3d to Miss. Addie S. Clark, of the same city. It has been a mystery for some time why Mr. Pettin-gill had apparently lost all interest in cycling, but the above item of news will make it plain what the strong counter-attraction is. Mr. Pettin-gill has been one of the most active and popular cyclers in the country. He has done much for the cause and for the League. We join his many friends in wishing him and his wife long life and happiness.

A Letter That Needs No Comment.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 31, 1888.

GORMULLY & JEFFERY MFG. CO.:

Gentlemen—I have just returned from Michigan's L. A. W. Division Meet, and I trust the comparison I am about to make will be of interest to you. At the meet in 1887 there were 60 wheels, and only one of them was a Champion, and that was looked upon as rather a curiosity. This year at Grand Rapids nearly all makes of high grade wheels were there, but out of 112 wheels in the parade, there were 34 American Champions—an increase from 1-60 to about 1-3.

I can PROVE that there have been more American Champions sold in Michigan this year than any other TWO makes of high grade wheels. They have given good satisfaction, and I expect twice as many wheels will be sold next year. The Champion is used by the best riders too. Three out of five races at St. Johns were won on Champions. A $250 Marlboro Club Tandem has been discarded for a Challenge Tandem, and found to be decidedly the best.

Yours truly,

C. H. SMITH.

Extract of Letter from W. S. Doane, now on his way from Denver to Boston, (Dated August 25.)

"I can fully agree with you regarding the Apollo, and would say that I have thorough confidence in the wheel, and that is saying a great deal more than I could about the —. I think without any doubt that the Apollo is the finest, easiest-running and strongest wheel I ever rode, and I only hope that I shall always be able to ride one, as up to the present date there is no wheel in the market that suits me better, and I can tell you I have ridden very, very hard for the last week, hard enough to tear any ordinary wheel to pieces."

Falls, N. J., to Paterson. The surface of the road is like glass, the scenery charming, and for a few miles the cyclist has the company of the Passaic, so to speak. I have ridden this distance (four to five miles) quite frequently, and in all my rides have met two riders, and they, at that, workingmen, who in that section go to and from their work on a 'bike'. I hope that you will give this space in order to benefit the wheelmen of Montclair, Orange and the surrounding country."

THE BUFFALO TOURNAMENT.

The great World's Bicycle Tournament opened Tuesday under rather unfavorable auspices as to the weather and condition of the track. A strong wind prevented fast time and badly pumped most of the riders. The track was probably the poorest ever ridden on in this country. There was more gravel than clay, and the two acted entirely independent of each other; consequently the track had more soft spots than hard ones, and at the finish of the day's events the track looked as though several wagons had been driven over it. Probably the finest field of professional riders that ever participated in a single tournament was assembled at Buffalo. With such men as Rowe, Crocker, Knapp, Temple, Allard, Lees and Neilson, none but the closest finishes could be expected. In fact, between the first four men named above it is difficult to decide which is the best. It was Crocker's day Tuesday and Knapp's Wednesday. Rowe has been running second while Temple did not get into gear until the second day. Neilson and Woodside are outclassed and Dubois is evidently good for only short distances. The first heat of the world's championship race on Tuesday was won by Crocker, who made a great spurt. Rowe and Knapp made such a close finish for second that it was almost impossible to place them correctly. The judges gave Rowe second place, though everybody else was positive that Knapp was entitled to it. It was a question which none but the judges could accurately decide.

In the amateur events young Windle is undoubtedly far and away the best rider. The manner in which he won the ten-mile amateur race on Tuesday opened the eyes of everybody. Although the wind was of the strongest, yet on the last half-mile he made a spurt that set everybody crazy with enthusiasm. It was a reminder of the days of Hendee. The fact that Windle made his last half in 1:18 2-5 shows what the boy is capable of.

The "pots" here have been so large that it has caused a great split among the professionals and it is undoubtedly the fact that they have done more honest racing than they are usually accustomed to do. Their cupidity was aroused and they speedily saw they could make more independently than by combining. Every man has accordingly determined to get the biggest share, and to do that he has got to run for it. Knapp won the half-mile professional on Wednesday very prettily, although way on the outside.

Somehow or other there does not seem to be the snap and enthusiasm which always characterizes the Springfield and Hartford tournaments. The crowd for the most part has enthused very little, and what cheering has been done has been confined principally to wheelmen.

Everybody is criticising Prial for his action in the five-mile professional tandem handicap on Wednesday. Allard and Lees, scratch men, kicked on the handicaps given Crocker and Neilson and Dubois and Knapp which were respectively 120 and 300 yards. Prial changed the handicaps to 50 and 75 yards, and then there was another kick. Prial then wanted to put all the men on the scratch, but finally settled it by reducing the handicap of Dubois and Knapp from 300 to 275 yards, and letting the 120 yard handicap of Neilson and Crocker stand. Prominent league officials expressed themselves rather vigorously on this procedure, and tenders of the position of official handicapper were made to several gentlemen in the judges' stand.

Each ten-mile race, a prize costing	300 00
For amateur tandem races, double the above amounts.

THE PARADE.

Nine hundred and thirty cycles in line is the biggest on record, and I opine 'twill be many days before the record is broken. Nearly eighty clubs were represented in the parade, and they came from New York, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Connecticut, Illinois, Maryland, District of Columbia, West Virginia, Kansas, Virginia, Delaware and Wisconsin and Canada.

The houses along the route were handsomely decorated, and the crowd was immense and enthusiastic.

A little six-year-old boy rode the entire distance of the route on Bull's staff. The appearance of the ladies among the paraders was the signal for very energetic applause and approbation.

Another feature of the parade was the appearance in line of the "purp" Rambler, all decked out in the colors of his club, the Ramblers. This club had the largest representation in line, sixty-one men out of the seventy-six membership being in the parade.

No serious accidents occurred. One man attempted to cross the line, and was unavoidably run down: some bruises only were the result.

Following are the summaries of the events each day:

FIRST DAY.

One-mile tandem (professional)—Crocker and Neilson, Allard and Lee, Dubois and Knapp were the starters in the double enders' race. This proved a walk-over for Lee and Allard: Dubois and Knapp second. The other men did not seem to know how to steer, especially is this true of the team from Boston. Time, 3:16 3-5.

One-mile novice—A round dozen came into position for this race, and the man from Cambridge, Kenneth Brown by name, excited admiration by the way he rode and won his race. He was content to hold fourth place until the home stretch was reached, and then he romped away from his field in rattling style; R. W. Jameson, second; W. B. Milley, third. Time, 3:00 3-5.

Ten-mile L. A. W. championship race—Ten men came to the post, but soon the number was cut down five men. Crist and McCune had enough after about three miles, and so this left Windle, Mideley, Foster, Van Sicklen and Winship to fight it out. Up to the last mile Van Sicklen did the donkey work, but after that the pace told on him and he quit. Windle rushed away and won by twenty yards. The race for the second place between Mideley and Winship was a fine bit of racing. Winship proved the better man by a few feet. Time, first mile, 3:02 2-5; second, 6:10 1-5; third, 9:21 2-5; fourth, 12:36 4-5; fifth, 15:41 2-5; sixth, 19:; seventh, 22:13 3-5; eighth, 15:41; ninth, 28:45 1-5; tenth, 31:37 1-5.

One-mile handicap (professional)—Not a man on scratch. Crocker was put at 10 yards, Knapp 20 yards, Munger 120 yards, McDowell 100 yards, Eastwood 100 yards, Dubois 40 yards, Neilson 60 yards. This race was a surprise for Crocker's friends, and caused them to go wild. He picked up all his men before the last quarter was entered, and then he rode home, winning as he pleased. Dubois stopped on the last quarter. Knapp took second money and Eastwood third, and then came Neilson. Time, 2:43 2-5.

One-mile 3.10 class—This race was run in heats, ten men starting in the final, but it soon proved that the result lay between B. Meyer, E. O. Rosicoe and A. C. Banker. It was a grand struggle between these three men, and resulted in a win for Meyer, with Banker and Rosicoe second and third, as named. Time, 2:54 4-5.

Two-mile New York State championship—Brought six men as the starters. W. S. Campbell won this race, with H. J. Hall, Jr., a good second and J. C. Iven third. Time, 6:22 2-5.

Three-mile (professional) first heat world's championship—This was a grand race and a surprise. The knowing ones named Temple, Lee or Rowe as the probable winner, but the knowing ones were out of pocket, if they backed their judgment. For half a mile the pace was slow and the crowd got impatient, then Bob Neilson went ahead and smartened the pace a mile and a half. Crocker, who had been riding in the rear easily, now put on steam, and to the amazement of every one, took first place in spite of Rowe's and Temple's effort to hold him. Then came Rowe with a rush, and he in turn took the lead. Temple in the mean time had gone down to fourth place. The struggle between Crocker and Rowe was a grand one, and it was difficult to say who had won. The judges, however, gave the race to Crocker by a small fraction of a second. Knapp took third money and Temple fourth. Time, first mile, 3.45 3-5; second mile, 7.57 2-5; third mile, 11.07 2-5.

Three-mile tandem (road machines)—This was uninteresting, as it was evident that Crist and Brown had the race their own way. Banker brothers second, Adams and Ducker third. Hill and Davis were ruled out as the machine they came to the scratch on was a racer. Time, first mile, 3.16 1-5; second mile, 6.39 1-5; third mile, 9.48 2-5.

Two-mile safety (professional) handicap—This proved a wretched exhibition. It was Allard's race, and the only competitors that he need fear (Lee) made no effort to make the race an interesting one. Allard (ten yards) won with Lee (scratch) second and George Seymour (160) third. West (200 yards) the one legged rider, started but did not get a place. Time, first mile, 3.02 1-5; second mile, 9.20.

One-mile tandem bicycle—The Banker brothers took this as they pleased. H. J. Hall Jr. and Davis came in second and Harris and Muller third. Time, 3.00 1-5.

SECOND DAY.

Not quite up to Springfield standard, but the wind and the condition of track were not such as to make the contestants happy.

Two-mile novice—Kenneth Brown again showed excellent racing qualities, and he won this race in regular veteran style. F. M. Brinker finished second and W. B. Milley third. Time, first mile, 3.14 2-5; second mile, 6.25 2-5.

Half-mile (professional)—This proved to be a fine race, and was exciting from start to finish. The starters were Rowe, Temple, Crocker, Neilson, Dubois and Knapp. Temple took the men along at a rattling pace. When near the finish, Knapp made a grand bid for first place, got it and kept it to the finish. It was a disputed question as to who finished second as between Rowe and Temple, but the judges gave it to Rowe and Temple took third. Time, 1.23 4-5.

Two-mile amateur tandem bicycle—This brought out Davis and Hall, Banker brothers, Harris and Muller. This was the Banker brothers' race, with Hall and Davis second. Time, first mile, Two miles, 6.51.

One-mile (professional) handicap, safety wheels—Lee (scratch), Allard (scratch), Dubois (65 yards), Seymour (80 yards), West (100 yards). Allard won by three feet; Lee, second; Dubois, third. Time, 3.04 3-5.

Five-mile State championship—This was a dull race, and the spectators became weary. W. S. Campbell won, with H. J. Hall, Jr., of Brooklyn, second; W. Roberts, third. Time, one mile, 3.36; two miles, 7.23 2-5; three miles, 11.13 2-5; four miles, 15.11; five miles, 18.26.

Three-mile (professional) handicap—This race brought out Rowe, Temple and Crocker on scratch, Knapp 330 yards, Woodside 60 yards, Dubois 60 yards, Eastwood and McDowell 250 yards, and Morgan 400 yards. A fairly interesting race, Morgan winning, Crocker second, Temple third, Rowe fourth. Time, 9.05.

Three-mile handicap, Rover type road wheels—This race went to R. H. Davis, of Cambridge, in a very easy manner; P. J. Berlo, second; W. D. Banker, third. Time, 9.47 2-5.

Five-mile amateur tricycle L. A. W. championship—Crist, of Washington, and Foster, of Toronto, the only starters. The two men ran slowly until the home stretch, when a loose tire on Foster's wheel caused him to run into Crist and upset. Crist got over the line first. Time, 3.49 3-4, 7.44 4-5, 14.40, 17.06, 21.47.

One-mile club teams—Chicago, Rochester and Washington started. W. H. Van Sicklen, Chicago, won by three feet; H. R. Winship, Chicago, second; W. E. Crist, Washington, third. Chicago twenty points, Washington ten. Time, 2.58.

Five-mile (professional) tandem handicap—This was a walk over for Crocker and Neilson (120 yards) who won by thirty feet. Allard and Lee (scratch) quit before entering the home stretch. This gave Dubois and Knapp (275 yards) second place. Time, 3.07, 6.23, 9.51, 12.52, 16.20 1-5.

One-mile handicap—This brought out a field of twenty-one starters with Crist at scratch and W. Windle at 6 yards. Windle refused the handicap and came back to scratch. The time he made was the fastest of the day; half-mile, 1.22 1-5, mile, 2.50. The result H. L. Kingsland (70 yards) won by three lengths; B. Meyer (100 yards) second; H. R. Winship (100 yards) third; N. H. Van Sicklen (90 yards) fourth; Will Windle (scratch) fifth; W. I. Wilhelm (70 yards) sixth.

Half-mile Unicycle—W. H. Barber won this in 2.22; Marshall second. The track was so bad that all the men fell, but they managed to finish.

THIRD DAY.

High winds and no improvement in the track made the time slow. Accidents were in order, and I regret to say Van Sicklen, of Chicago, received serious injuries, though at this present moment I am advised that concussion of the brain may be averted. The disqualification of Temple for riding foul of Rowe has created some discussion, and the withdrawal of his name in the championship events has taken largely from the interest therein. The first race was

The three-mile L. A. W. championship. There were twelve starters, a field composed of the cream of the American amateur riders. They were W. Windle, F. Foster, H. L. Kingsland, W. E. McCune, J. F. Midgeley, P. S. Brown, W. E. Crist, H. R. Winship, N. H. Van Sicklen, N. S. Campbell, R. T. McLaren, and W. I. Wilhelm. The first circuit was made with the men all in a bunch and McCune in the lead. Just after crossing the tape for the first circuit McCune turned to see where the rest were, he lost his balance and came down heavily, Van Sicklen and Lumsden fell on the top. Van Sicklen was carried from the track unconscious, and did not recover for an hour or so. The balance of the men continued on, and Windle on the last lap rushed to the front and won easily with plenty to spare. Time, first mile, 3.17 2-5; second mile, 6.31 2-5; third mile, 9.27.

Five-mile (professional) world's championship—The following men started in this: Rowe, Temple, Crocker, Knapp, Neilson and McDowell. It was a "procession," with McDowell leading, until the last lap, and then Rowe and Temple took up the running. These two men soon got a long lead on the others, and they rode neck and neck to the finish. It was in this spurt that Temple fouled Rowe. The claim was made by Rowe and was allowed by the judges, Temple, however, finished about two feet ahead of the Lynn man. This ruling of the judges will disqualify Temple from riding in the other heats for the world's championship. Crocker came in a poor third, with Neilson fourth, Knapp fifth, and McDowell last. Time, first mile, 3.27 1-5; second mile, 7.05; third mile, 10.58; fourth mile, 14.42 2-5; fifth mile, 17.50 1-5.

Two-mile open, Rover type road wheels—This race proved an easy victory for R. H. Davis, of Cambridge, with P. J. Berlo second and W. E. Crist a bad third. Davis rushed to the front from the word go and was never headed. Time, first mile, 3.40; second mile, 6.59 3-5.

Five-mile, 16-minute class, had seven starters. The Wilmington representative, S. W. Merrihew, made pace for the first mile and then the two men from Pennsylvania, the Bankers, made the pace with Merrihew in attendance. It, however, proved to be the Bankers' race, with A. C. in front and W. D. a very close second; Merrihew finished third. Time, first mile, 3.40 3-5; second, 7.33 2-5; third, 11.07 1-5; fourth, 14.26 3-5; fifth, 17.50.

One-mile (professional) handicap, Rover type—Allard and Lee, together with Crocker and Neilson, started on scratch while Dubois and Knapp had fifty yards' start. For the first quarter the scratch men did not gain much on Dubois and Knapp, and it looked as though they would win. On entering the fourth lap, Crocker and Neilson made a magnificent spurt, the finest so far seen during this meeting, and at about fifty yards from the line they caught and passed Dubois and Knapp and came in winners by several lengths. Time, 2.58 2-5.

Half-mile tandem—This was a very pretty race, but the Banker brothers were clearly the fastest team; Davis and Hall, Jr., finished second. Time, 1.26 2-5.

One-mile amateur—This race brought out the "cream," and Windle again proved himself to be the fastest amateur at the meet. For the first half Merrihew did the pacing, but after that he had to take last place. Coming into the last quarter Windle spurred and came in ahead with a long lead over Midgeley, who was second; Wilhelm, third. Time, 3.05.

Five-mile (professional) handicap—Allard, Lee and Crocker started from scratch, with Seymour 300 yards' handicap. At the end of two miles the three scratch men had caught Seymour. Lee went to the front and kept that place unchallenged until the last quarter, when Crocker and Allard pulled up, and the race for first place became very fine. Allard, however, got there first with Lee a very close second; Crocker third, and Seymour out of sight. Time, 18.05 1-5.

Two-mile amateur handicap—No scratch men started, but fourteen men were sent away. It was a good race and resulted in a win for H. R. Winship (250 yards), with Lumsden second (175 yards), and Merrihew third (150 yards). Time, 6.09 3-5.

Three-mile (professional) tricycle—Crocker, Lee, Allard, and Dubois started. Lee and Allard took first and second money, and Crocker third. It was an uninteresting race and very slow. Time, first mile, 4.44; second mile, 8.26; third, 12.07.

One-mile City of Buffalo championship—This race was won by J. B. Milley, with W. B. Milley and W. G. Schack second and third respectively. This finished the day's sport.

OUR HUNDRED MILE ROAD RACE.

F. A. DAMPMAN THE WINNER.

HEAVY RAIN, MUDDY ROADS, AND SLOW TIME.

(Special to The World.)

"The rains descended and the floods came," and the consequence was that up to the moment of starting it was an open question as to the advisability of sending the men on their long race. The majority ruled, however, and as the majority wanted to be home by Monday morning, it was decided to go. A couple of hundred men had come up to Erie the night before. The hour set for the start was 5 A. M., but the palaver and discussion as to the advisability of starting took up an hour, and so it was 6.12 A. M. when H. P. Merrill and McGarrett gave the word "go." The following men were the ones who had the grit to try conclusions: George F. Kohler, Millersville, Penn.; Fred A. Eldred, Springfield, Mass.; Frank M. Dampman, Honey Brook, Penn.; P. M. Harris, New York; Val H. Muller, New York; Robert Gerwing, Denver, Col.; Roy H. Blowers, Westfield, N. Y.; George McIntire, Erie, Penn.; Frank McDaniel, Wilmington, Del.; S. Wallace Merrihew, Wilmington, Del.; G. A. Tivy, St. Louis, Mo.; Frank G. Lenz, Pittsburgh, Penn.; P. J. Berlo, South Boston, Mass.; Austin Banks, Denver, Col.; C. H. Metz, Utica, N. Y.

The telegraph had advised the Buffalonians that the race was on, and so by 2 P. M. an immense crowd had congregated at the Fair grounds impatiently awaiting the arrival of the men. The crowd need not have been in so much haste, as the drenching rain had made the roads so heavy as to preclude record time.

It was 3.42 when a murmur of voices was heard in the distance, which gradually swelled into cheers, announcing the fact that the leader was in sight. Half a hundred excited wheelmen came tearing down the road shouting and demanding a clear track for the tired riders. Then came in sight a couple of the sorriest looking objects it has been my fortune to see in many a day. The leader turned out to be F. McDaniel, the Wilmington, Del., flyer, and right on his little wheel came Frank M. Dampman, of Honey Brook, Penn. The men and the wheels they rode were one mass of mud. As the race for first place was close, and the circuit of the Park had yet to be made, the excitement was great, and the plucky men got lots of encouragement from the cheering crowd. Just 7 minutes 30 seconds after these men move in sight came F. G. Lenz of Pittsburgh, and then came G. A. Tivy after a lapse of four minutes more, and then Merrihew, of Wilmington, came along 20 minutes after the leading men. Roy H. Blowers was the last man to come in sight. In the meantime the race for first between Dampman and McDaniel had been a hot one, and the excitement was intense as they came in sight for the finish. It was then seen that Dampman had the lead, which he kept, despite the plucky efforts of his game opponent from Wilmington. Dampman's time was 9 hours 56 minutes. Slow time, indeed; but considering the conditions was an excellent showing. McDaniel finished second, Lenz third, Merrihew fourth, Blowers fifth.

The condition of the roads was terrible; it was "plough" from the word go. Plenty of headers were taken, but no serious damage was done, a few bruises, scratches and plenty of mud being the worst results.

As this telegram has to be sent by 5 P. M. to-day (Saturday), your correspondent will have to defer details of the race for your next issue.

Buffalo, Sept. 8, 1888.

FOURTH DAY—(POSTPONEMENT.)

(Special to The World.)

The rain has spoiled the track, and consequently a postponement of to-days' races, until Monday, 10 A. M., has been decided on. Many wheelmen left the city to-night. A good many more, including some of the prominent professionals, will leave for Hartford to-morrow. The cold, blustering weather, and the poor condition of the track, have militated against the tournament being the success that the enterprise and energy of the management could have wished, and had a right to expect.

Van Sicklen is comfortable, but the doctors cannot yet say whether he has sustained internal injuries or not.

NOTES.

Surprises.

The old favorites had to play second fiddle.

The track was in horrible condition although everything had been done that money and experience could procure.

What do you think of Windle?

The water is playing the duce with the visitors and especially is it hard on the members of Morgan's team.

Morgan made things lively on the decision of the judges giving Rowe second place over Temple.

Prial says the lot of a handicapper is "not a happy one."

Up to the present writing (third day night) Windle has won every race except one that he has started in. The race he lost, was a one mile handicap and he was beaten by a man with 70 yards start.

Resume three days' races—Crocker won 4 firsts, 1 second, 1 third. Neilson won 2 firsts.

Allard won 4 firsts, 1 second.

Lee won 2 firsts, 3 seconds.

Dubois won 2 seconds, 1 third.

Knapp won 1 first, 3 seconds, 1 third.

Rowe won 1 first, 2 seconds.

Morgan won 1 first.

Temple won 1 second, 2 thirds.

Windle won 4 firsts and 1 second, starting five times.

KENTUCKY WHEELMEN TAKE NOTICE.

The wheelmen of Louisville, New Albany and Jeffersonville have accepted the invitation of the Travelers Protective Association to parade with them September 18, and non-resident wheelmen are cordially invited to help the cyclists make their part of the parade as attractive as possible by appearing in the procession. The programme of the celebration is: 18th, Drummers' day; 19th, Knights of Pythias, 5000 in parade; 20th, Satellites of Mercury, a grand spectacular pageant. Wheelmen may obtain any information from Messrs. Huber and Allison, 448 W. Main st., Louisville, Ky.

A RAILROAD SMASHUP AND A NARROW ESCAPE.

The Western train that left Boston at 7 P. M. Sunday was recalled with cyclists bound for Buffalo. The party was looked after by L. A. W. Vice Consul Emery. Everything ran smoothly enough until shortly before daybreak, when there was a terrific crash and a great jar. Every sleeper was unceremoniously awakened and two of the cyclists were thrown out into the aisles. It was soon learned that the New York train, which was running half an hour ahead of the Boston train, had broken the coupling attached to its engine and was left just around a sharp curve on a drawl ridge a few miles from Rochester. The engine of the Boston train had crashed into the rear sleeper, tearing away the platform and wedging in as far as the smoking room. The engine would have undoubtedly reached the berths beyond and many lives would have been destroyed had not the engineer had time to apply the air brake before the collision. The damaged car was filled with New York wheelmen, and in the last berth of all was Chief Consul Bidwell. The engine was wedged into the sleeping car so tightly that two wrecking engines were several hours pulling them apart. The car containing the Boston cyclists' wheels was considerable smashed, but none of the wheels were injured.

UNICYCLE RECORDS FROM 2 TO 14 MILES.

LAST week at Lake View Park, Peoria, Ill., Bert Myers upset the unicycle records from two to fourteen miles, inclusive, as follows:

Miles.	Time.	Miles.	Time.
1 - - - - -	3.34 1-2	9 - - - - -	38.13 1-2
2 - - - - -	7.21 1-2	10 - - - - -	43.03
3 - - - - -	11.23 3-4	11 - - - - -	47.27
4 - - - - -	15.40 1-4	12 - - - - -	52.00
5 - - - - -	19.55	13 - - - - -	56.46
6 - - - - -	24.40	13 and 5098 feet	60.00
7 - - - - -	29.02	14 - - - - -	60.07
8 - - - - -	33.20

This is the greatest distance ever ridden on one wheel without a dismount. Myers rode the front wheel of a Light Champion.

Now for Hartford, September 12 and 13.

EASTERN CLUB ROAD RACE.

IMMEDIATELY after the start of the regular twenty-five-mile race of the Eastern Road Club on September 22d, there will be started a supplementary race, open to single and tandem tricycles, over a ten or twelve mile course for valuable gold and silver medals. Entries can be made with Dr. W. G. Kendall, 176 Tremont street.

MASSACHUSETTS DIVISION UNION RUN.

No. 81 North avenue, Cambridge, was handsomely decorated last Monday, and the vicinity of this house of the Cambridge Club was alive with wheelmen. When the signal was given to "form," over 200 cyclists drew in line. The Cambridge Club and the Somerville Club each had twenty-five men in line, and the "Port" Club came next with twenty. After a short parade through the streets of Cambridge, Holmes' field was reached and the races were in order.

The first event was the one-mile open race, and was won by J. P. Clark, with A. P. Benson second; time, 3.07. Prize, nickel plated hub lamp, presented by W. Read & Sons.

Three miles, open, won by A. P. Benson, with J. P. Clark second; time, 9.52. Prize, Kirkpatrick saddle, presented by Cambridge Tribune.

One-mile tricycle, won by H. Hale; time, 3.54. Prize, pair bicycle shoes, presented by W. B. Everett & Co.

One-mile open, won by Dave Drummond, J. P. Clark second, after a close race; time, 3.30. Prize, Victor club cyclometer, presented by the Overman Co.

One-mile safety, won by Theo Rothe, after a hard race with Newman; time, 4.03. Prize, cup, presented by the Pope Mfg. Co.

After the races the men formed in line and the route to Woodlawn Park Hotel was taken. Dinner was disposed of at that place at about 4 o'clock, after which a scrub game of base ball was played. All voted the Union run a great success, and the Committee of Arrangements entitled to the thanks of the participants.

THE NEW JERSEY DIVISION MEET.

A FINE PROGRAMME.

FINAL arrangements have been completed and the programme arranged for the annual meet of the New Jersey Division, L. A. W. A slight change had to be made inasmuch as the races will be held on Friday, 21st, instead of Saturday, 22d, as previously announced. The cause of this is the Roseville Athletic Club has leased the grounds for a base ball game on the latter date and postively refuses to give way to the Division. The business meeting, as before stated, will be held in the Park Rink, Orange, at ten o'clock. The races will begin at three o'clock, the events to be as follows: One-mile, bicycle, for the State championship; one-mile, tricycle, for the State championship; three-mile, bicycle, for the State championship; one-mile, safety tandem bicycle, handicap, open; one-mile, tricycle, open; one-third-mile dash, bicycle, handicap; one-mile, bicycle, handicap, open to members of Orange Wanderers only; one-mile consolation, bicycle. In addition to this fine list it is expected that the club championships of the Elizabeth Wheelmen, Hudson County Wheelmen, Passaic County Wheelmen and Plainfield Bicycle Club will be added to the programme. In the evening there will be a Chinese lantern parade, followed by a "smoker," concert and supper.

The Orange Wanderers have full charge of the affair, and this fact is a guaranty of success. The Wanderers held a special meeting on Friday evening (August 31) and arranged the above details. They will also arrange a number of runs to points of interest for Saturday. At this meeting an election was held for a captain to fill a vacancy, and the unanimous choice of the club was Charles A. Lindsley. Quite a number of the club members started this morning out for a run to Elizabeth, Plainfield and return, and expected a high old time. C. S. French, W. A. Belcher, W. A. Booth and Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn H. Johnson will take in the Buffalo tournament and also "do" Niagara Falls this week. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will take along their invincible safety tandem bicycle. It is sure to create a sensation.

Newark, N. J., September 3, 1888.

NEWCASTLE (PA.) MEET.

WE are indebted to the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette for the following account of the races at Newcastle, Pa.: There were fully 4,000 people at Wheelmen's Park Aug. 29th, to witness the races at the New Castle wheelmen's fall meet. The entries included some of the best amateurs in the country, but the illness of Wilhelm, of Reading, who is a great favorite here, caused some disappointment. The first race was a one-mile novice. Starters, T. W. Shaw, Jr., of Pittsburg, and Charles W. Davis, of Youngstown. Shaw won in 3.20 4-5.

W. W. Windle, Phil S. Brown, of Washington, D. C.; W. E. Crist, Washington, and W. J. Wilhelm, of Reading, started in the one-mile open. Wilhelm was taken sick on the first quarter and Windle won in 2.50 2-5. Crist was a bad second.

T. W. Shaw won the one-mile 3.30 class in 3.14 4-5, against A. P. Steel, of Franklin.

The National L. A. W. championship half-mile race was won by Windle in 1.19 1-5, Wilhelm second, Crist third.

The quarter-mile open was also won by Windle in 38 4-5. The other starters were Crist and Brown.

The two-mile State championship was carried off by W. D. Banker, of Pittsburg, in 2.51. Wilhelm on the second lap dropped out and A. C. Banker was second.

The two-mile lap race had only two starters—Crist and Brown. On the last lap Brown took a terrible header and his wheel was damaged, but he escaped with a few scratches. Crist won in 6.23.

A. C. Banker won the one-mile 3-minute class in 2.55 3-5. In the one-mile Rover type safety W. D. Banker defeated Crist in 3.05 4-5.

The half-mile open was won by Windle in 1.18 2-5. Lenz, who was a good second, took a header, but was not injured, and A. C. Banker took second prize.

An incident occurred in connection with Lenz's header, that attracted a great deal of attention and wonder. His bicycle, after turning completely over twice, struck on both wheels fairly, ran up the track fully seventy-five feet, and was stopped by one of the assistants at the tape.

Crist appeared to be out of condition, or the company was too fast. Most of the riders remained to train on the track for the Buffalo races.

RACING AT CHICAGO.

DELAY in starting the races at Cheltenham Beach, Aug. 25, caused much annoyance among the spectators. From a sporting view the races were a great success. About an hour after the advertised time the races were started resulting as follows: One-mile novice, Tom Roe won handily, rather surprising the boys the way he walked to the front and keeping there to the finish; M. A. Hosford second. Time, 2.55. In the Illinois club championship race, A. C. Fordham was victorious, although H. E. Morris, who had just gotten over a sick spell, gave him a hard rub on a road wheel. Time, 2.52 2-5.

The two-mile State championship was stoutly contested from start to finish. When Van Sicklen and Lumsden spurted past Winship on the last quarter, the crowd went wild, and when ten feet from the finish Lumsden spurted again and beat Van by a foot, then Rome howled indeed. It was a splendid finish, and I saw Hendee's eye glisten as he saw it, reminding him of some of his own finishes perhaps. Time, 5.33 3-5.

The one-mile handicap was won by W. B. Greenleaf (90 yards) on a spurt, George Thorne (85 yards) a close second. Time, 2.41 4-5.

The one-mile Lincoln Club championship race brought out, F. E. Spooner, A. M. Luce and H. E. Sauer, and was a pretty race all through. Luce winning, and Spooner a close second. Time, 2.55 2-5. The one-mile State championship brought out the three fivers again, "Van," "Win" and "Lum," as the boys call Van Sicklen, Winship and Lumsden. Again, Lumsden showed great head work, as well as leg work, and once more rolled his wheel over the finish line a few feet ahead of Van Sicklen. Winship dropped out after the second lap. Time, 2.51.

The quarter-mile dash was run in a peculiar way. There being six starters, Conkling, the starter, concluded to run the race in two heats, three men in each heat, and so announced it to the contestants, adding "that the two who made the fastest time in the two heats would be declared the winners." G. P. Washburn and W. B. Greenleaf were the winners; time, 40 2-5 and 42 2-5, respectively, and both men were in the first heat. H. E. Morris made the quarter in 42 1-2. He being the first man in in the second heat the crowd thought the three men should run in the final, but according to the announcement of the starter the judges gave the prizes to Washburn and Greenleaf.

M. A. Hosford won the Fort Dearborn Club championship; C. J. Vodoz, second.

The only accident of the day occurred in the two-mile handicap, when Thorne, in passing Wimmerstead, was crowded off the track into a post, he fell heavily and the two men behind him followed suit, but fortunately no bones were broken. The race went to W. B. Greenleaf (175 yards); Wimmerstead (250 yards), second. Time, 5.39.

The five-mile State championship was a struggle between N. H. Van Sicklen and H. R. Winship clear through, and was finally won by Van with one of his famous spurts. Time, 14.48 2-5.

The two-mile consolation race brought out five starters, and as there were four medals up it was a fine race. Although Winship had just ridden a five-mile race, he captured the first place with ease; time, 6.02.

The prizes were mostly handsome gold medals.

MINNEAPOLIS BI. CLUB FIRST ANNUAL MEET.

The first annual meet of the Minneapolis Club was held August 5. The weather was fine, but a strong head wind on the home stretch bothered the rider. The track was in fine condition. In finances the club will about clear themselves. The track is so far out of town that a crowd is hard to get. Promptly at three o'clock the races were started.

One-mile race, eleven entries—W. W. Heffelfinger won; Alec Graham second; O. H. Holby third. Time, 3.15.

One-mile, professional, two best out of three—First heat, Grant Bell won; F. E. Dingley second. Time, 2.54 1-2, 2.56. Second heat, Grant Bell won; F. E. Dingley second. Time, 3.26. First prize, $25; second, $15.

Two-mile amateur handicap, open—E. J. Hale first, B. C. Lund second. Time, 6.47.

One-mile, Rover Type, safety, open—Colie Bell first, George Bartlett second. Time, 3.18.

Five-mile club championship stakes—Colie Bell first, H. D. Lackor second. Time, 17.06 1-2, 17.17. First prize gold medal.

Three-miles, amateur, open—Colie Bell first, E. J. Hale second. Time, 10.01 1-2, 10.08. First prize, gold medal.

One-mile, 3.30 class, twenty-six entries—W. W. Heffelfinger first, H. D. Lackor second. Time, 3.04, 3.09.

One-mile, Star handicap, four entries—Alec Graham (scratch) first, James Gray (75 yards) second. Time, 3.24 1-2, 3.30.

One-mile, tricycle, open to the Northwest—George Bartlett first, W. W. Heffelfinger second. Time, 3.38. Prize, gold medal.

One-mile, amateur, 3.10 class—Colie Bell first, W. W. Heffelfinger second, H. D. Lackor third. Time, 3.01, 3.13.

One-half-mile, boys under sixteen—Morris Bakke first, Fred Harrington second. Time, 1.40 1-2.

One-mile, consolation, four entries—D. M. Dynes first, H. Hunt second. Time, 3.19 1-2, 3.20.

NOTES.

Colie Bell won every race he started in.

Heffelfinger in the tricycle race rode a Quadrant with the brake on. Whether some one "fixed it" on, is not known.

In the 3.10 class race Bell won as he pleased, the last 100 yards he coasted in.

Not an accident occurred during the afternoon.

Bert Lund and H. M. Dynes were well liked by the boys. They are good strong riders and would have made a better showing if they had had more time to train in.

Many remarked that it was the best race meet of any kind they had ever seen. When one race was over with the clerks had the contestants in the following race out, all ready to start.

Captain Hartz, of the St. Paul Standard Bicycle Club, was seen at the races.

The lantern parade was a great success. Captain Fred Coffin at the head of the mounted police took the lead, with Millard and Thyle's Military Band next and behind them came the Minneapolis Bicycle Club, and behind the club the non-members. The Tribune estimated the number in line as about two hundred. Quite a number of the St. Paul boys came over, but did not get here in time for the parade. Ten or fifteen thousand people witnessed the parade.

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) RACES.

A GOOD track, a good day, and good racing ought to have drawn a bigger attendance at the West End Club races last week Thursday than was present. The parade interfered with starting the races on schedule time, a mistake which we hope the West Enders will not make again. From the Herald of Rochester we take the following results:

The first race on the programme was a half-mile dash, in which there were the following entries: J. Fred Midgely, W. E. McCune, E. P. Cochran, and W. S. Campbell. Midgely won the race in 1.15. Campbell came in second; time, 1.18.

There were ten entries in the one-mile novice race. Kenneth Brown won first place, time 2.56; Robert Jameson, second, time 2.58; Mortimer Smith, third, time 3.01.

W. H. Barber, the unicyclist, then attempted to break his own record of 3.27 for one mile, but, owing to a loose pedal, he fell twice, and the attempt was abandoned.

The three-mile for Monroe County championship brought out Robert Jameson, Charles J. Iven, John A. Heusner, Bert A. Pratt, Charles J. Conolly and Gordon Montgomery, all of Rochester. It was a pretty race, and was hotly contested. The first mile was made in 3.03, with Jameson, Montgomery and Conolly leading in the order named. At the quarter on the third mile Iven had a big lead. Conolly afterward made a spurt, but was unable to reach him. Iven came in first, time 2.59, with Conolly second and Montgomery third. Iven's time for the whole race was 9.03; Conolly's, 9.08. Heusner and Jameson withdrew before the finish.

In the five-mile open there were four entries, W. S. Campbell, H. J. Hall, W. E. McCune, J. F. Midgely. The strong wind which was blowing at this time bothered the riders considerably, but they came down the home stretch in fine form each time, and elicited loud applause from the grand stand. Midgely finished first on the first and second miles, and then McCune led at the third and fourth miles; then Midgely ran ahead, and won the race in 17.00.2-5, Campbell a close second. McCune and Hall were a way back.

John M. Stout then gave an exhibition of fancy riding on the Star. Stout is a deaf mute.

There were six entries in the two-mile race, 6.45 class. This was won by W. E. McCune, time 6.45 3-4, with Kenneth Brown second, and Frank M. Brinker third.

Much amusement was given the spectators by the comic act of M. B. Young as Pat Rooney in his first attempts at bicycle riding.

The one-mile "West End" club race was won by C. J. Iven, in 3.26, with C. J. Conolly second, time 3.28.

Midgely, Campbell, Hall, Pratt, Brown, Cochran and McCune were the entries in the three-mile handicap race. The last five were given a start of twenty seconds. Midgely won, with Cochran second and Brown third. Midgely's time was 9.22 1-2.

The one-mile open race between Midgely, Cochran, Campbell, and Pratt was won by Midgely in 2.44 1-2, Campbell second, time 2.48. This beats the best record made on the Rochester track.

The one-mile, Rover type, was won by R. S. Davis in 4.41 3-4, B. A. Pratt second, time 3.43. A consolation race, between H. H. Loder, C. O. Zeller and E. W. Budd, was won by Budd in 3.05, Zeller second.

NOTES.

It was a big day for Midgely and the Springfield Roadster. That "combination" worked to win in every race it started.

The West End Club acted the generous host to perfection. Barber's trick riding was a very taking feature.

A 200 yards foot-race was run between H. H. Loder, W. B. Young and C. J. Conolly. The last two got left, Loder winning in 26 seconds.

HUNTINGDON, PENN.

"SEE Rome and die" was a saying amongst the ancients, who, by the exercise of amazing talents, the outcome of the most arduous physical exercise, approached a civilization, we are told, far beyond that we have reached in this wonderful age even, but with all the glory and pomp of Rome, which, like the letter X, appears to have been an unknown quantity. We might safely vie with the ancient race, and exclaim, "Behold the Juniata Valley, and perceive the garden of the gods." Our backwardness in physical training, it is true, would not warrant our crossing issues with, or even claiming to be on a par with, the ancients; but for a small community, such as exists at this section, the centre of the Valley of the Juniata, we feel that we are entitled to some little credit as developing the spirit of true manliness, and the intuitive qualities of keen perception, which are the necessary outcomes of a judicious pursuit of the sport of cycling and kindred exercises.

The Juniata Wheelmen is a young association yet, having only been organized last May. It was the outcome of the suggestions of two active wheelmen, D. S. Drake and W. M. Tehan, who commenced operations with a view to bringing together all riders of the "noiseless steed" in the vicinity of the Juniata Valley, extending from Hollidaysburg in the west to Duncannon in the east. Lists of all the riders were obtained throughout the territory mentioned, and a close canvass showed that there were upwards of 150 active wheelmen within that space who had no permanent organization or club. With a view to creating favorable impressions amongst the citizens, a rigid code of honor was set forth, which prohibited a rider from trespassing on the sidewalk with his wheel, and required him to show a generous deference to horsemen when on the public highway, and to abstain from reckless riding along the well-kept streets of the borough. This code of honor has been steadily observed. In some instances the riders of the mysterious circle have been the means of capturing runaways, so that by a good nature, the exercise of a quality of supreme patience, they have succeeded in creating a favorable impression, and have become a recognized body in the community.

A party of five took in the L. A. W. meet at Baltimore, in June last, consisting of E. E. Ellsworth, J. E. Patterson, D. S. Drake (Sec.), W. M. Tehan (Capt.), G. Ellsworth and A. C. Willison (Standard Bearer), making entire distance on the wheel, one of the number (Patterson) riding in two events on the track at the Arlington Park races. It will thus be seen that there is some go-aheadness in the ranks, and it would be strange if such grit did not arouse some amount of enthusiasm, even in the most indifferent locality, and the rural districts of Pennsylvania have a most uncharitable name for dogged conservatism that would have been a credit to even the most cherished institutions of the optimists; but something had to thaw, so the boys said, and the result was that the club captured a large number of the young braves of the town, enrolled them as members, and went forward to carve its own destiny; therefore it was no small day in camp when the first annual meet and road race, which took place on August 29 last. Wheelmen gathered themselves together from the surrounding districts, and were bold enough to essay riding into the quaint, historic town of Huntingdon a wheel. Some came on the cars, and hurled their bold anathemas at the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. for their greed in taxing them for conveying their wheels; but a ray of joy bespread their bronzed countenances when they read the order in the BICYCLING WORLD that the Pennsylvania Railroad had for once decided to move with the times, and forego all charges on the steeds of the men who intend to take in the Buffalo tournament in the early part of the ensuing month.

The occasion was auspicious in another way. On the same day the Tippecanoe Veterans held their parade, and they, having been invited to accompany the Young Men's Harrison and Morton Club to the Opera House, had engaged the City Band for the occasion, and very thoughtfully invited the Juniata Wheelmen to join their parade. The latter body of course sank all their political differences for the nonce, and knowing they would share in the benefits that bright music would inspire in their savage breasts, accepted the offer with much alacrity, going through the performance with a manliness of bearing that brought forth frequent outbursts of enthusiastic applause from the citizens, the good will of whom seemed to rise up in rolls on their faces, and recede like the surf on the briny. After the parade of the Tippecanoes, who had retired to the Opera House to hear a number of violent speeches as to the benefit to be derived from a heavy tax on that necessity without which a wheel cannot be made,—steel,—the wheelmen held a parade of their own, making a detour of the principal thoroughfares of the town, and catching the eyes of numberless pretty maidens, who had turned out, in spite of the sun's lurid rays, to view the procession of some fifty stalwart boys mounted on wheels of all makes, sizes and styles, from the safety up to the Star. A Club run out to Centre Union followed, a distance of five miles, and the road race consisted of the run back home. There were many starters, and the following managed to secure the places assigned to them here.

The distance was five miles, and the time made was as follows: J. E. Patterson (Williamsburg, Pa.), first, 20 min. 48 sec.; A. C. Willison (Cumberland, Md.), second, 23 min. 20 sec.; F. T. Purdue (Tyrone, Pa.), third, 24 min. Of the machines ridden, Patterson rode a Star, Willison a Springfield Roadster, while Purdue rode a Singer Challenge.

The road in question contains some respectable hills, such as

CUT THIS OUT and show it to your fellow wheelmen. It will not appear in every issue. Do you want a $10.00 or $5.00 Cyclometer? We will send you one Free, any make you desire, and this is the way we propose to do it: Every wheelman who orders a within the next 30 days will get mailed with his carrier a number corresponding with one which will be placed in a Box. At the expiration of 30 days the numbers will be thoroughly shaken up together, and one drawn out; the party holding the number to correspond with the one drawn will secure a $10.00 Cyclometer. The numbers will be thoroughly shaken again, and a second number drawn, the lucky holder of which will secure a $5.00 Spoke Cyclometer. Now is your time. You have got to buy a luggage carrier, and you may as well get a cyclometer with it Free. Every wheelman wants a cyclometer (you stand a good chance of getting one of the two), and every wheelman needs a luggage carrier. There is none equal to the "Ross Improved," fits either crank, Star or safety bicycles. Our Carrier is new, and not known at all by thousands of wheelmen; therefore we make this splendid offer in order that wheelmen who have not seen it may know what a convenient carrier it is. Believing every wheelman who has not a carrier, and many that have, will avail themselves of this grand opportunity to get a new carrier at regular price, and a first-class cyclometer gratis. The Ross Carrier is detachable, and is made stronger and better than ever before. Do not fail to send your order at once. You can have the use of the carrier from now on and secure a chance on two prizes.

Carriers finely made and nickel-plated. Price only $1.00. By mail $1.10. In ordering be particular and state name of wheel and year of manufacture.

P. S. All dealers should carry the "Ross Carrier" in stock. Send for descriptive circular and price.

15 Second Street, Albany, N. Y.

would prove offensive to the eye of the Washington cyclist after being used to a "Wheelmen's Paradise," but which, to the casual observer in this mountainous section, hardly serve to "point a moral or adorn a tale;" nevertheless, the time made was exceedingly creditable.

W. M. Tehan (Captain) acted as starter, D. S. Drake (Secretary) as judge, W. M. Graftins as referee, and Elmer Stewart as timer.

The prizes were distributed by Chief Burgess, John A. Port, who made an appropriate address, after which a most successful lantern parade was held, a detour again being made of the principal thoroughfares of the borough, eliciting frequent outbursts of applause from the enraptured citizens, who had never seen anything of the kind before. The lantern parade being over an ice cream festival was next in order, and a reunion of the wheelmen, when the usual buoyancy of spirit and intense hilarity, unaccompanied by what is known in Boston as "rowdiness," prevailed. The festivities were kept up until a late hour, and these being ended each man sought the seclusion of his own little bed, Huntingdon being a "dry" town and having nothing to offer in the form of "grape juice," whereby the faculties are sometimes impaired, and shows its result in such instances as a 6-7-8 cap absolutely refusing to cover a No. 7 head, although the owner affirms that said cap is his property and matches his suit.

All the way through it was a pleasant affair, free from accidents, and has done much good for the wheel, which will begin to show itself in the fall and early spring of next year. We are also sanguine that it will produce like results for the L. A. W., and bring into the fold of that institution a number of worthy men, who, if muscular force and bicipital capability go for anything, may be heard from later on.

W. M. TEHAN,
Captain, L. A. W. 18,704.

FAST time will be made at Hartford, September 12 and 13.

AN INGENIOUS INVENTION.

AN ingenious New England mechanic has invented a device for which he is about to apply for a patent. He has turned the "nickel-in-the-slit" idea to practical use in the letting of tricycles. He clamps his device to the axle, near the sprocket wheel. It is a small box of tricks, in the top of which is a slit large enough for a half dollar. Dropping a half dollar into this sets machinery in motion, which runs for an hour. At the end of this time a bolt shoots out and locks the sprocket wheel, and the machine will go no longer. Another half dollar gives another hour. The great objection to the thing, at present, is, that the bolt shoots out and stops the machine at once. This may occur in coasting a hill, or spurt and the unlucky rider may be made to shoot out from his saddle, but the inventor assures us that he will correct this by employing a core which will press slowly and steadily against the spocket, bringing the wheel gradually to a stand still. This little device will be a blessing to renters of machines. It will be ready for the market next year.

We desire to call attention to the advertisement of H. B. Smith Machine Co., giving a cut of their latest novelty, the "Star Safety," of which we shall give a description in an early issue.

LEAGUE HEADQUARTERS:
12 Pearl Street, - - - Room 27.
ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary.

AN attempt has been made by several cycling papers to make it appear that secret meetings were held in Room 213, of the Carrollton, at Baltimore, and that these meetings were in the interest of what is termed "the ring." It is very true that there were secret meetings in Room 213. Every standing committee that had any business to transact used this room. It is the fate of the Secretary to have his quarters used as a committee room at every gathering of the kind. The Reorganization Committee did meet there, and they did consult with the "Cabinet" concerning the changes proposed in the new Constitution. They heard Louisiana and the smaller States and they made the changes asked for. They even discussed Mr. Shriver's proposed amendments but the Cabinet was against all of them. Let it be known that the Cabinet is composed of the officers and the chairmen of the Standing Committees. This body has no power to act, but as it is generally composed of the representative men of the League it is consulted in all important work. Did anybody ever hear of a large organization in which the few did not work while the many shirked? It is an undoubted truth that the workers of the League are not numerous. They may indeed constitute a ring, but if the ring serves the best interests of the League, who shall condemn it. That the rank and file have confidence in the leaders of the League is attested by the fact that they are elected each year without contest. The Cabinet idea is a good one. It brings the best men of the League together for consultation. If it results in a "ring" it still can well exist until ring rule proves detrimental to the best interests of the League.

To the Board of Officers, Massachusetts Div.
There will be a meeting of the Board at Young's Hotel, Boston, on Saturday evening, Sept. 15. Dinner will be served at 7:30 P. M. Yours truly,
H. W. HAYES, Chief Consul.

Connecticut Division Board of Officers Meeting.
A meeting of the Board of Officers of this Division will be held on the evening of September 12th, 1888, at 8 o'clock in the parlors of the Connecticut Bicycle Club, Hartford, for the purpose of electing delegates.

New Jersey 5th Annual Meet.

The 5th annual meet of the New Jersey Division will be held at Orange on Friday and Saturday, September 21st and 22nd. The races will be held at Roseville on Friday afternoon. There will be a lantern parade in the evening, the business meeting will be held in the forenoon of Saturday and a hill climbing contest and runs in the afternoon, to conclude with a Jersey Smoker in the evening.
J. H. COOLEY, Chief Consul.

New Jersey Road Book Notice.

In answer to the many inquiries for the new Road Book, will say that it is to be published by the Pennsylvania Division and we have an agreement with them by which they are to supply our needs. Last January I was informed by Mr. Wells, a member of the publishing firm having it in charge, that they should go to work upon it at once and expected to have it out by the time the riding season opened.

It has not yet appeared, but the members of this Division may rest assured that as soon as it comes to hand it will be forwarded to them without delay.
J. H. COOLEY, Chief Consul.

Pennsylvania.

Will you kindly notify the members of the Pennsylvania Division, L. A. W. that owing to the failure of other interested State Divisions in coming forward to help publish the Road Book, that it is impossible at present to state when it will be sent out. Also that every member of this Division will receive a book free, when same is ready. Respectfully,
GEO. A. JESSUP,
Chief Consul Penn. Div. L. A. W.

JUNIUS E. BEAL,

Secretary Mich. Div. L. A. W.
At the Grand Rapids meet, held Aug. 18th, the Division dues were fixed at $1 per year. It was resolved to charge 50 cents for the Road Book on hand, and a committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions for the L. A. W. All transportation lines in Michigan were reported as carrying wheels free when accompanied by owner. President Kirkpatrick attended the meet.

Report of the Secretary-Treasurer.
To the Members of the Michigan Division, L. A. W.: The Division has had the most prosperous year since its formation. From a good sized indebtedness we have come to a surplus, and no bonds to buy, even at a premium. During the fiscal year from July 7th, 1888, to date of Ann Arbor meet, we have received from the L. A. W. Treasurer, from Road Book account, and receipts from ads. in the Meet programme, $450.10. We have paid out for printing Road Books, Meet programmes, circulars and postage, $442.82, leaving a balance in our favor of $7.28. In December the Secretary-Treasurer advanced the Division $75. That has been paid, and we owe no man a cent.

As to resources, we have twenty Road Books with their plates, etc., and a goodly amount due us from the L. A. W. Treasurer for dues this quarter.

In closing this report the Secretary-Treasurer wishes to express his acknowledgment of the uniform courtesy and kindness of the members toward him during the three years in which he has been honored by your support in that office of considerable work and small pay. Respectfully submitted, JUNIUS E. BEAL.

Ohio Election.

The report of the committee appointed by me to canvass the vote for your officers for the year beginning September 1, 1888, is before me, and I hereby officially announce the election of the following:

T. J. Kirkpatrick, Springfield, Chief Consul.
 Fred J. Boice, Toledo, Vice Consul.
 Joseph W. Spahr, Springfield, Secretary-Treasurer.
 A. E. Mergenthaler, Fostoria, Representative.
 Marcus Moses, Gallipolis, Representative.
 Dr. C. H. Griffin, Ravenna, Representative.
 E. R. Eastman, Ottawa, Representative.
 W. P. Harmony, Sidney, Representative.
 H. B. Ham, Marion, Representative.
 M. A. High, Cincinnati, Representative.
 JAMES R. DUNN, Chief Consul.

Missouri.

I have this day appointed the following Local Consuls, viz.: Kirksville and vicinity Dr. G. A. Sparling, Kirksville, Mo. Lancaster and vicinity H. A. Miller, Lancaster, Mo.
 Yours truly,
 W. M. BREWSTER, C. C.

Transportation.

Santa Fe Road.

Rule No. 37 in book of instructions to train baggage-men of the Santa Fe Route, dated April 20th, 1888, reads as follows: Bicycles will be carried free when the owner is a passenger on same train and holds proper transportation. They may be checked locally or between points on the Chicago, Santa Fe and California Railroad, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, or California Central or California Southern Railroad, at owner's risk of loss or damage, but only one bicycle for any one passenger. Baggage-men may collect 25 cents for 25 miles or over, but no more than 25 cents will be collected for one baggage-man's run. The above covers Santa Fe lines in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Indian Territory, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Boston and Albany Railroad.

Under date August 15, 1888, the Boston and Albany Railroad issue following circular: Upon receipt of this, Rule No. 9, Book of Rules and Regulations, No. 5, for the government of train and station baggage-men, relative to transportation of bicycles, will be changed to read as follows: Bicycles will be received and forwarded in baggage cars at the rate of 25 cents each for distance of 25 miles or less, and for longer distances at the rate of one-half cent per mile. The clause relative to tricycles will still remain in force. By the above, the Boston and Albany makes a reduction from its former charge of one cent per mile.

Fitchburg Railroad.

The Fitchburg Railroad transports bicycles free in baggage car when accompanied by owner and at owner's risk. A paper releasing the railroad company from claims in case of loss or damage, is required to be signed in depot baggage room before starting.

The Indiana and Western Railroad.

This road has recently been changed in name, from the Indiana, Bloomington and Western Railroad. Changes in management have also occurred and train baggage-men are taking advantage of the situation by exacting charges. Until a new arrangement can be effected with the new management, wheelmen had best take other lines.

B. B. AYERS, Chairman,
 Chicago, August 22, 1888.
 John D. Lamont of Chatham, Ont., returned from State meet at Grand Rapids, Mich., August 20. His bicycle was broken by baggage-master of the D. G. H. and M. Railroad, apparently on purpose because no fee had been paid. Bicycles on this road are carried free at owner's risk of damage but if a baggage-man intentionally injures a wheel he should be discharged or pay the damages out of his own pocket. The matter is referred to the Michigan Division to adjust with the D. G. H. and M. Railroad and if assurances cannot be obtained that wheels will be located carefully, wheelmen are advised to use other lines, notably the Michigan Central, which road guarantees the most careful handling of bicycles, and reaches all prominent Michigan points.

Mr. Chas. A. Gareis, of Baltimore, travelling from Atlantic City to Philadelphia, August 17th, via West Jersey Railroad was charged 75 cents for his bicycle. The baggage-master was authorized to charge only one-half cent per mile, minimum charge 25 cents. As no receipt was taken there is nothing on which to take up the overcharge. Wheelmen are requested to secure receipts from baggage-men whenever excess charges are enforced. It is only on such evidence as this that correction can be made.

Chicago, August 28, 1888.

I have mailed the Recruiting Circular to members of this Division. Those who receive it will confer a favor and help the cause by distributing same among unattached riders.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member."

Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M. on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

There's Nothing Surprising in That!

Being mounted on "VICTORS," they couldn't help getting there first. It was at Buffalo, and the field of starters that turned up for

The Bi. World 100 Mile Road Race was a great one, and no mistake.

There were flyers from all over the country, and all "loaded for bear."

In the bunch were Frank M. Dampman, of Honey Brook, Pa., and B. Frank McDaniel, of Wilmington, Del., mounted on their regular Victor Light Roadsters—regular in every respect.

Well, it was a race from start to finish, and the above-named gentlemen finished first and second, respectively. Only three others finished at all, and Two of these also rode "VICTORS."

All the principal road races for the past four years—Clarksville, Crawfordsville, Big 4, Boston 100 miles, etc., etc.—have been won on "Victors." That's why there's nothing surprising in the returns from Buffalo.

It's a pretty good score. We don't care for third place when we can have first and second, and four out of five at the finish.

Probably you have heard it remarked that "VICTORS"

Were Built to Ride!

This has become a matter of history.

MY CYCLING LOG BOOK. By "Papa" Weston. The transitory pleasures of cycling can be made as permanent as its physical benefits, by jotting down in a well devised log book, the distances and incidents of one's various journeys. Knowing that such a record is a most pleasant thing to have, and believing that the keeping of such should be encouraged, as tending to the permanent good of cycling in more ways than can be referred to here. The Log Book is handsomely and strongly bound in red leather, will last for years of constant use, and is the best arranged book of its kind ever yet devised. It fills a want often felt by the cyclist who values records of interest for future reference. Price, post paid, $1.25. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl St., Boston.

J. S. DEAN.

BOSTON, 14 SEPTEMBER, 1888.

THAT the Buffalo meet has not been the great and unqualified success that all well-wishers of the management and lovers of the sport had hoped, cannot be gainsaid. The cold weather and the poor condition of the track had much to do with the unsatisfactory results. The accident to Van Sicklen, who at this writing, is not pronounced out of danger, cast a damper over the usual good spirits of the cyclists present. Another factor is the general feeling of dissatisfaction was that most decided friction existed between members of the professional fraternity as to the decisions rendered in several disputed cases. We were several hundred miles away from Buffalo and so cannot give our views on the justice of the decisions. We think, however, that the charge made by aggrieved men that justice was not meted out because that certain manufacturers were represented on the Board of Officers, is hasty, and one that will scarcely bear the close scrutiny of unbiased investigation. As we were advised that the dissatisfaction was chiefly because of the appointment of H. D. Corey as one of the judges. We communicated with Mr. Corey and received the following reply which speaks for itself.

BOSTON, Mass., September 12, 1888.

Editor Bicycling World: I am very sorry that Manager Morgan objected to my acting as judge at Buffalo and must object to his statement that I favored Rowe in two of the close finishes. The fact of the matter is, that I was not serving during the first day's races, the judges being Messrs. Bidwell, Luscomb and Bull. On the second day, hearing of Mr. Morgan's dissatisfaction at a member of the Trade being an official, I asked Mr. Ducker to take my place in the professional races, which he did, and the decisions given were the unanimous opinion of Messrs. Ducker, Luscomb and Pyne, together with referee Merrill. It will be seen from the above that I had nothing to do with judging the professional races nor did I act in any capacity whatsoever, when they were taking place, but even if I had done so it would hardly have been possible for me to have persuaded the other two judges and referee that my decision was infallible. Yours very truly, H. D. COREY.

FROM WASHINGTON C. H., OHIO.

HAVE we been mistaken in stating that in the suburbs of Boston is found the wheelman's Paradise? Sometimes we think so when we read such communications as the following, received and dated Washington C. H., Ohio:

"The wheel has a great many admirers here. We have some of the finest roads in this county (Fayette) that ever a wheel was ridden over. We have hardly missed a Sunday (since the spring opened) taking runs of 50, 75 or 100 miles. Good road to Dayton, 50 miles; excellent road to Springfield, 40 miles; good road to Columbus, 38 miles; and to Chillicothe, 35 miles. One of our riders (Hartman) made a trip of 800 miles through Indiana and Illinois to Peoria. He is glad to say that the wheelmen he came in contact with showed him excellent treatment; gave him the route, told him all about the roads, etc., excepting that at Crawfordsville, Ind., some one had the kindness to tell him he had "better ride between the railroad tracks when he reached Wayne Town." Just a sly way of telling him to take the train; well, he got through all the same. The fast men of this locality are Hegler and Hartman. Hegler rides a 57-inch Light Roadster Columbia; Hartman rides a 52-inch Victor. They are terrors to the rest of the boys on the road. Below I give account of recent races. August 29, two-mile, for championship of Fayette County—D. H. Hegler, first; F. M. Hartman, second; Dug. Knight, third; time, 6.35. August 30, half-mile open—F. M. Hartman, first; Dug. Knight, second; Seelig, third; time, 1.36. One-mile open—L. B. Perin, Cincinnati, O., first; D. H. Hegler, second; F. M. Hartman, third; Dug. Knight, fourth; time, 3.04. Two-mile open—Morris Greenwood, Cincinnati, first; D. H. Hegler, second; F. M. Hartman, third; time, 6.51.

"SPARROW'S" CHARGE VS. C. C. WELCH VIGOROUSLY REFUTED.

THE committee of the Bay City Wheelmen to whom was referred the matter herein below set forth, with instructions to take such action as might seem advisable in connection therewith, offer the following:

Resolved, That the Bay City Wheelmen, the largest wheel club west of the Mississippi River, the club in whose rooms the League of American Wheelmen in California was first organized, and which has given to the Division its first Chief Consul, two Secretaries-Treasurers, and its present chief officer, hereby emphatically protest against the article signed "Sparrow," appearing in the BICYCLING WORLD AND L. A. W. BULLETIN of August 17th, as representing the sentiment of the members of the League of American Wheelmen in California.

That the malicious and cowardly attempt to falsely represent the retiring Chief Consul of California before the wheelmen of the country merits the contempt and scorn of every decent man.

That Robert M. Welch, the first Chief Consul of California, who now retires after two years and a half of active service, for his successful effort in establishing on these distant shores of the Pacific, a powerful and wealthy Division of the League of American Wheelmen, deserves the gratitude and consideration of that body at large, as he already enjoys the friendship and esteem of the wheelmen of California.

That we have every reason to believe and do believe that "Sparrow" is the same individual, who being sent to Stockton on behalf of a San Francisco daily paper to report the annual Division meet, grossly attacked the judges for their decision in the one-mile State championship, and subsequently in the papers of the city charged them with being corrupted by persons having money staked on the result.

We further believe him to be the author of the overdrawn and in many respects untruthful article signed "Achorne," also appearing in the WORLD AND BULLETIN, regarding the behavior of wheelmen at the Stockton meet. We therefore warn the editor of the WORLD AND BULLETIN against this correspondent as a forerunner of discord and one utterly unworthy of confidence.

CHARLES C. MOORE,
ROBERT A. SMYTH,
J. E. BAUER. } The Committee.

San Francisco, Sept. 2d, 1888.

[We have a dozen letters from members of the California Division protesting against the charge made by our correspondents vs. Mr. Welch. As the above letter voices the sentiments of our other friends, we trust they will excuse us for not printing the letters they so kindly sent us.—ED.]

PORKOPOLIS NOTES.

"STAR."

better class of wheelmen present that at least a score of them were heard to declare that they had had about enough "combined meet" to last them till the next century.

ONLY one hundred League members in this city! This number could and should be doubled before the close of the season.

SOME one has suggested a road race between the "Duke" and Dr. Green, in order to determine the respective merits of those inveterate scorches.

DURING the winter of 1884-5 an enthusiast asserted that, on account of the social features, the roller skating fever would last longer than the bicycle "craze." That was a pretty bad guess, was it not?

FRANK HEIDKAMP, who has had an extra saddle placed on the frame of his safety for the benefit of his two-year-old nephew, is often seen riding up Gilbert avenue and through Eden park, with his little charge, at a pace that would test the powers of a veteran, and yet he will not attend a club run for fear he cannot keep up.

To test the right of the Cincinnati and Covington Suspension Bridge Co. to discriminate against wheelmen, Mr. R. C. Taylor, of the Kenton Bicycle Club, attempted to ride across on Sunday, Sept. 2, and was arrested. At the trial on the following day before the Mayor of Covington, Mayor Athey decided that whilst the demands of the cyclists seemed reasonable, a test case could only be made in a higher court. He therefore filed the charge against Mr. Taylor, who now threatens the Bridge Co. with a suit for damages.

To think that Wm. Miller, who recently so handsomely entertained his fellow club members at his country seat, and whom they have always regarded as a model of decorum and dignity, that he should have been caught in the act of tearing out the front of a house on the Independence pike is almost beyond belief; but stranger still is the report that when the irate inhabitant, armed with a double-barreled shot-gun, rushed out to demand redress, the imperturbable William simply bent on him a look of supreme contempt that almost paralyzed the brawny rustic, for he immediately retreated the way he came and a moment later was heard bolting and barring the door.

A GOOD story is told on the winner of the "heat" race at the late Carthage fair. On a day when the thermometer stood at 100 degrees in the shade he started out with a fishing party to walk to the Little Miami. A mile of the way lay through a luxuriant corn-field, and when the "will"-ful young man emerged from this "green wood" he was almost ready for the coroner. He succeeded, however, in reaching the fishing ground, where he amused himself by throwing mud at the bait of the others till they threatened to throw him into the river, so he started to walk home via the Columbia pike. He says he was so weak when he reached the almost perpendicular hill at St. Keck's that, fearing he would faint before reaching the top, he ran (?) up, and did not stop till he fell exhausted at the door of a certain veteran, whose lovely daughter took him in and cared for him. He was so ill that he was obliged to remain there for several days.

SCORCHING and long runs are the fatal mistakes of a number of our local clubs. Our highways are, with few exceptions, hilly—some exceedingly so—and not always in the best condition, and the man of sedentary habits, who can only ride once a week, is very foolish indeed to attempt to scorch for fifty or seventy-five miles over such roads, for he will be exceedingly fortunate if, on account of this severe and unusual strain he gets off with simply a liberal supply of liniments and porous plasters. In this way many quiet, conservative and desirable members are either driven away from or prevented from joining the various clubs, and even to those able to endure the strain it begins in time to be work, and they gradually grow tired and indifferent. Again, what pleasure can there be in a run where the riders are strung along the road for ten miles? Does not this account for the poorly attended runs of the Avondale, Newport, Brighton, Kenton and other clubs? Would it not be better to follow the example of the C. B. C., whose runs, seldom long and never scorches, are so well attended?

SYRACUSE.

"SALINA."

dozen riders our salty city is falling into line, and several of our best ordinary men will undoubtedly be seen next year on the "two little wheels."

EVERY meeting sees new men elected to our club membership. May the good work go on, for increased membership means increased activity.

A LARGE photo. of the Baltimore meet now decorates our club (the Syracuse Cycle Club) rooms. It is tastily framed, thanks to Bugler Yale, and makes a decided acquisition to our collection of pictures, paintings and bric-a-brac.

"CHUCK" Truesdell polished up his bugle before going to Buffalo, and said he would blow Buffalo full of salt atmosphere. "Chuck" recently captured a "dickie" bird, and after mounting it, presented it to the club. An appropriate poem accompanied the gift.

OUR "Bill" Nye has ridden a "little bit" this summer. He has wheeled through the southern part of the State, and he turned up at Buffalo to swell the Saline ranks. "Bill" is a jolly good fellow, and may be seen almost any day, on his 54-inch Apollo, making tracks for the country, where he has lots of lady friends. He is another possible safety rider.

CAPTAIN CHAPIN is a road rider of no little ability. On several occasions he has given us a sample of his staying powers, notably his ride from here to Auburn, a distance of twenty-five miles, which he covered in a little over two hours. He has also proved a good Captain, both by his satisfactory selection of runs and his regular attendance on them.

NEXT! And now another wheelman has joined the ranks of the broom-sticked benedicts! This time E. Rice, the "Diamond King," and a trick rider of more than local fame. Ed. put up an elegant box of cigars at the last club meeting, and had he been there would no doubt have received an ovation equal to those given a presidential candidate. Mr. and Mrs. Rice have the cyclists' best wishes.

BUFFALO.

"ALI BABA."

WHEN I learned of the nom de plume which you gave me I gtraightway sat down weeping and sobbing. Would that the Legislature were in session that I might make application for a change. With lacerated feelings I immediately gathered myself up and ran to the club house, where I embraced one of those "know-it-all," highly intellectual fellows whom it is so comforting to meet when in dire distress. Said he, "why this lamentation?" Said I, "they have given unto me a name which is a vexation of spirit, they have called me 'Ali Baba.'" He roared, I groaned. Said he, "grieve not, you have an excellent name, it is much to be desired and very appropriate." I looked up in amazement as he unfolded the story of Ali Baba and his adventure with the forty thieves. His explanation proved to be the "open sesame" to my pocket-book, as I rushed him at once to the nearest soda fountain and squandered ten cents in my mad glee.

THERE were nearly nine hundred visitors at the Buffalo Bicycle Club house during the week. Most of them registered, filling twenty-three pages of our register.

THE rain last Saturday played sad havoc with those hundred-mile heroes, and a pity it was, for they looked more like mud hens at the finish than highly cultured wheelmen, which they certainly are. But they battled against fearful odds, and our friend Dampman, who was appropriately named on this occasion, won a great race.

THE ladies' reception at the Buffalo Club house was one of the most enjoyable events of the week. Luncheon was served on the second floor. There were seventy-five ladies present, and our own Ladies' Tricycle Club, who honor our club with their presence, did themselves exceedingly proud. We almost begin to feel that they are a part of our own organization (the Buffalo Club). The ladies were properly given the first position in the parade. The appearance of the Buffalo Club elicited frequent applause along the route.

THE State Division meet at the Buffalo club house was largely attended, and a full list of officers were elected to the national convention. They also adopted a new code of laws, and increased the annual dues from $1.00 to $1.50. An orchestra of several pieces was stationed in the lower part of the club house; guests were entertained each evening with selections from the best composers.

I OVERHEARD one of the Syracuse boys who had followed after Charley Adams in a long tour give his opinion of that gentleman in the following language: "I tell you he is an awful hustler. He starts in with that graceful ease and self possession which is at once infused into others. He glides grandly along, gradually increasing his speed by infinitesimal increments (big words for Syracuse). He soars over the highway with pace increased so prodigiously that the crest-fallen stragglers weep as they hear the buzz of his departing wheel." Our Syracuse friend is just about right, even if his language is highflown.

NEW YORK AND

LONG ISLAND NOTES.

"WING FOOT."

THROUGH an error last week I am made to say that the Manhattan Bicycle Club was "the one of the clubs who are not going to Buffalo," whereas that club had a goodly delegation there, and it was only a few of those unfortunates who were kept at home on account of business that took the run to Patchogue.

MR. PALMEDO, of the L. I. W., and I made the trip recently to Greenport, a la Wise, via Topbank and the railroad track. "A word," etc. "Don't."

IN the Long Island Wheelmen the riding records for August are as follows: L. H. Wise, 1437; F. M. Tunison, 821; Wm. Schmid, 609; G. G. Teller, 598; W. Schumacher, 519.

I UNDERSTAND that Captain Fleming, of the Century Club of Philadelphia, lately attempted the New York century, in company with nine others, but have not heard how they fared.

MR. W. E. HUNTER, of the Toronto Wheelmen, came down from Buffalo with the Brooklyn boys when the latter returned from the tournament, and is spending a couple of weeks here, seeing the elephant.

LONG ISLAND roads, with the exception of the Southern road, have been in a terrible condition, as a consequence of the continued dry weather, but the short "spell" of dampness has made riding possible, and the Patchogue Hundred is being well patronized, although few of the B. B. C. get beyond Massapequa, as usual.

PROVIDENCE.

THE "GOAT."

CAPT. J. L. SPIERS, of the Rhode Island Wheelmen, thought that as quite a number of the boys go to Warren every Thursday evening to hear the band concert and see the chipies that he would call a run, and it was no sooner said than done. The all eventful Thursday night came: the sky was overcast with thick, black clouds and there was a cold northeast wind, which cooled off the desire to go, on all except one, and he was wont to wait in his yard until the fellows came, as they have to pass his house. It is needless to say that he waited and all vain, but the individual, when he makes up his mind to go, he goes, as he did in this case. He arrived in Warren in time to see the band disband. In the meantime the Warren men (always awake), knowing that the Rhode Island Wheelmen were intending to come down (and knowing that they generally carried out what they start to do) had purchased a good-sized watermelon for purposes not here stated, but it retained its original size and shape, and the red fire was changed for almond candy.

THE Rhode Island Wheelmen proposed to have a lantern parade the evening of the day of the Division L. A. W. meet, Sept. 25, 1888. All wheelmen are invited that are in town that day, and to get as many lanterns on (and stay on yourself) as possible. We also keep open house for all strangers.

MR. GEO. R. HUTCHINS, B. Taylor Bruce and E. Roland Phillips were voted to represent the club in the team race.

MESSRS. KINGHORN and W. Beach are going to do the grand act on the light refreshments after the lantern parade. They are both stars.

NEW ENGLAND.

"THE FOTTIST."

CONSIDERING the fact that our correspondent, "Caviller," drew entirely on his imagination in describing a shadowy individual in an imaginary road scorch on Commonwealth avenue, we are much amused to find that a round dozen riders have each taken the cap and put it on, with threats of vengeance on Caviller, and growls of indignation.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., races September 15.

WEST MEDWAY, R. I., has an ordinance forbidding sidewalk riding under penalty of $20 fine.

THE races at Hartford postponed on account of rain until Thursday. Too late for this week's issue.

CLARENCE MONROE, the hero of the run down Providence (R. I.) City Hall steps took a tumble into matrimony last week.

THERE have been no less than a dozen cyclists arrested and fined in Olneyville, R. I., for sidewalk riding. The authorities there are sharp after such violators of the ordinance.

WE are advised that Mr. E. H. Corson, of East Rochester, N. H., and editor of the Star Advocate, has been offered a lucrative position with a leading New York cycling house.

THE Providence wheelmen have an enviable reputation for managing races, when, therefore, we announce that a series of races will be held at Providence Sept. 25, we know that the attendance will be large.

IN describing the race between Patten and Ames, Maine's fastest riders, hints are given that a flying start was made. Can this be possible? And can it be that our friend Hicks late of St. Louis has been proselyting the cyclists of Maine before he sailed for England?

ON Labor Day Milton I. Deane, Richard B. Deane and Frank H. Borden, of the Fall River, Mass., Cycle Club, made a run from Assonet to Boston, thence through Chestnut Hill Reservoir to Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, Dedham, Norwood, Walpole, Wrentham, Attleborough, East Attleborough, Taunton, and then to Assonet, covering in all a distance of 112 miles by cyclometer.

"PAPA" WESTON has not ridden much this year, in fact his first ride was taken one day last week on a tandem, in company with a friend of his. The result was disastrous, as in coasting a hill in Milton they were thrown heavily, "Papa" cutting the back of his hand in a very nasty manner. "Confound those tandems," he was heard to murmur, "if I had stuck to the sociable I would not now be nursing a cut hand."

MR. W. M. LEAVITT, of Providence, R. I., the plaintiff in the last bicycle case, made a call on the road hog, Collings, to see if he would not compromise and not have it go to the higher court. On going to the barn he found Collings (where a hog would likely be found) in the stall with a horse, and dead drunk. Mr. Leavitt tried to get Collings out, and for his pains the horse kicked him in the face and blacked and cut his eye.

EFFETE New England still has the grip on the fastest track riders. Temple's failure at Buffalo to show up as expected, leaves the "flower" of the professional riders in New England, while Windle's undisputed leadership among the amateurs gives the old Bay State the fastest riders in the United States up to date. We do not expect that Windle will find his superior at Hartford, but we confess to a feeling that the Chicago boy, Temple, may turn the tables on his Buffalonian vaquishers.

THE Rhode Island Division will hold its second annual run through the suburbs of Boston next Monday, Sept. 17. The programme is: Leave Union Depot, Providence, for Boston at 7 A. M. Leave Providence Depot, Boston, at 9 A. M. and wheel through Cottage Farms, Allston, Cambridge (by Harvard College), North Cambridge, Western Somerville (by Tuft's College), Medford and Malden, to Crescent Beach (Revere) and southerly along the beaches to Great Head House (about eighteen miles). Dinner there 1 P. M. Leave hotel at 2.30 P. M. and wheel through Everett, Malden, East Medford, Somerville, Cambridgeport, Cottage Farms, and return to Boston (about seventeen miles). Supper at Clarendon Hotel, Tremont street, at 6.30 P. M. Leave Boston for Providence at 8.30 P. M.

NEWS

AND COMMENT.

The fall 25-mile race under the auspices of the New York and New Jersey Road Racing Association will be run on Election Day. The Kings County Wheelmen now hold the trophy, and have the privilege of naming the course. The Milburn-Irvington course will no doubt be selected, as heretofore.

F. A. DAMPMAN, the winner of our 100 mile road race, is a member of the Wilmington (Delaware) Wheel Club.

THE Maryland Division are in pocket some $1200 over all expenses incurred in the late meet held in Baltimore.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., will hold a grand tournament, September 20, 21. Mr. Ducker will have charge of the affair. Particulars in our next.

THE Bavarian cyclists always carry a long carriage whip when a-cycling. They do this as a protection against impudent children and dogs of a sanguinary turn of mind.

"FOUND"—During the latter part of July, a "L. A. W." pin. Owner can have same by claiming and proving ownership before Nov. 1, 1888. Address F. T. Alliger, 149 Broadway, New York City.

MR. LAMONT, a Michigan L. A. W. Division member, had his machine badly smashed by a baggage man on the D. G. and H. M. R. R. The Division has taken the matter up and proposes to try and collect damages from the road.

ON Sept. 2 Captain Will G. Hall, Wm. V. Coulter, E. J. Cook and Roscoe Pierce, of Springfield, Ill., started from that city intent upon a long run, time to be taken into consideration; Messrs. Hall and Coulter making a run of 120 miles in ten hours and four minutes; Messrs. Cook and Pierce finishing more leisurely, and making 122 miles in eleven hours. The above are members of the Springfield (Ill.) Wheelmen.

THE Pittsburg Smelter says: "Bert Maxwell had the misfortune to be bucked from a bicycle yesterday. It was a Texas-bred machine, but, having no flea bites on it to denote the nativity, Bert thought it was a cross between a thoroughbred and a burro. We are grieved to relate that the exploiter was exploited into the ditch. His cerebellum and diaphragm were uninjured, but the right arm caught it sadly. Accept our condolence."

THE Crawford, Ohio., County Agricultural Society will hold a series of bicycle races at their fair to be held at Bucyrus, Sept. 26th. A gentleman from that place, in the same letter advising us of above, adds: "It seems to me prima facie that in a mile run a 50-inch wheel should have the start of a 56, but how far I cannot arbitrarily determine, mathematically it would not be difficult to settle the distance." Our correspondent is entirely incorrect. In handicapping the size of wheel ridden is never taken into consideration. The only thing that governs handicapping is the relative speed of the men competing.

MR. A. D. BLACK writes us from Jacksonville, Ill.: "Last Thursday, August 30th, Messrs. Lee Schureman, Will N. Filson, Fred Davenport, Irving Woods, George Henry and myself returned from a one thousand-mile trip. We rode through Terre Haute and Indianapolis, Ind., to Cincinnati; from Cincinnati we took a boat up the Ohio to Maysville, thence to Lexington, Ky.; from Lexington through Frankfort to Louisville, where we again crossed the Ohio. We visited Wyandott Cave in Southern Indiana and rode north to Greencastle, and from Greencastle back home. On Tuesday, Aug. 28, Will N. Filson stopped over at Arcola, Ill., to visit relatives, the rest of us going on. Friday evening Filson caught us at Old Berlin, Ill., making 103 1-2 miles, with fifteen miles of the road so rough that it was hardly rideable. We enjoyed our trip hugely; found the best roads in Central Indiana, and the best people and prettiest girls in Kentucky."

THE street rowdies of Chelsea, England, have invented a new torment for the cyclists who avail themselves of Battersea Park. They are not content with flicking them with switches and inserting bits of stick in the spokes of their wheels, but they set on little boys to run across a cyclist with a view of getting knocked over. Boy falls prostrate howling, park keeper hurries up, takes cyclist's address, a crowd soon gathers, compensation is of course forthcoming, especially if the cyclist is a lady. The wounded child skips merrily off with half a crown, divides the booty, and tries for another spill in another part of the park. Of course no caution or cyclist bell is of the least avail against conspiracy of this kind, and unless something is done, or the magistrates before whom a test case is sure to come sooner or later are posted up in this new form of blackmailing, the parks and suburbs of London will soon become intolerable for the better class of cyclists.—Pall Mall Gazette.

"THE thief who developed the peculiar mania for stealing bicycles has been caught, and is no other person than the son of Stephen G. Pitkin, the senior member of the firm of Pitkin, Vaughn & Co. Wesley Pitkin has been an outcast from his father's house for a number of years. He was incorrigible, and Mr. Pitkin disowned him. He mingled with thieves and took part in their exploits, working occasionally as a printer. He roomed at the Howeden hotel recently, and with two or three pals had been working Northside residences. About a month ago Lieut. Hermann Scheuttler, of the Larrabee street station, got so close to young Pitkin that he left Chicago for Milwaukee, and from there wandered through Michigan. A week or so ago he returned to Chicago and was arrested. He is accused of stealing a dozen bicycles, and one belonging to E. D. Smith, of No. 420 La Salle avenue, has been recovered."—Chicago Globe.

BUFFALO.

THE World's Tournament has run its course, but it can hardly be said to have been an entirely successful one. The field of starters was undoubtedly one of the best and speediest ever sent off together in any race, but those prime requisites of a good track and good weather were woefully deficient. Mr. Ducker intended to have the finest track that was ever built, but Mr. Ducker found the World's Tournament something bigger than anything of the kind he had ever before attempted, and consequently some matters escaped his vigilance through being unable to give the proper time and attention to them. But it was surely inopportune that the track, above all others, should have been the most dire failure. The weather, of course, was beyond Mr. Ducker's control, and it maliciously aided the track in the preventing of anything like record-breaking, and that was a disappointment, and one that will not easily be palliated. The public had been continually informed that the track was to be the best ever built, and that the records would surely go. Neither of these promises were kept. The public never forgives a broken promise, hence it is that the World's Tournament will be pronounced a failure by a large majority of those who witnessed the races at Buffalo last week.

But aside from these admitted disappointments one cannot but congratulate himself on having attended a tournament which brought together in competition such men as Rowe, Temple, Crocker, Knapp and Neilson. Allard and Lees should not be excluded from the list either; to be sure their work at Buffalo was nothing remarkable, but like all Englishmen they were the victims of "this blasted climate, ye know." The heats of the world's championship demonstrated that Rowe, Temple, Crocker, and possibly Knapp, are so evenly matched that a trifling circumstance might alter the standing of any one of them; that is, that no one of them is sure of monopolizing every race. Rowe, of course, demonstrated at Buffalo that he was the best man, but Crocker and Knapp gave him some pretty close rubs.

Prominent among the League officials who were present at last week's tournament were George R. Bidwell, Chief Consul of the New York State Division L. A. W.; W. S. Bull, of the Executive Committee; Gerry Jones, Chairman of the Racing Board; Charles S. Luscomb, of New York. Of course Charlie Howard and Prial were there. Harry Corey didn't miss the tournament either. Charles A. Pyne, of the Woodstock A. A. A., was also one of the notables.

The races in detail have of course been fully reported, but should be given some more space. It was 6.12 o'clock on Saturday morning, Sept. 8, when fifteen wheelmen mounted in a drenching rain storm for a journey of 100 miles through mud and clay, which resulted in testing their pluck and powers of endurance rather than their racing abilities. These fifteen men were as follows: George F. Kahler, Millersville, Penn.; Fred A. Eldred, Springfield, Mass.; Frank M. Dampman, Honey Brook, Penn.; Percy M. Harris and Val H. Muller, New York, on a tandem bicycle; Robert Gerwing, Denver, Col.; Roy S. Blowers, Westfield, N. Y.; George McIntire, Erie, Penn.; Frank McDaniel, Wilmington, Del.; S. Wallace, Merrihew, Wilmington, Del.; G. A. Tivy, St. Louis, Mo.; Frank G. Lenz, Pittsburg, Penn.; P. J. Berlo, South Boston, Mass.; Austin Banks, Denver, Col.; and C. H. Metz, Utica, N. Y. Eldred, Gerwing and Tivy were quite generally considered, previous to the race, as the three who would finish the race in the order named. Only one of them finished, Tivy, and he was fourth man. He was known by the soubriquet of the "mud horse." Frank Lenz, the third man in, was a most delicate looking youth, and rode the entire distance bare-armed and bare-legged. Dampman, the winner, is a man of great reputation as a road rider. He is reported as taking most unseemly and sometimes dangerous trips after dark over the roughest of roads. McDaniel, the second man, only went in the race to help Dampman, and did not expect to get a place, much less second place. Dampman is a member of the Wilmington, Del., Wheel Club, as well as McDaniel and Merrihew. Two other members of this club, Clarence Elliott and Victor Pyle, were entered but did not start. The tandem bicycle, on which Harris and Muller

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 21, 1888.

GORMULLY & JEFFERY MFG. CO.:

Gentlemen—I have just returned from Michigan's L. A. W. Division Meet, and I trust the comparison I am about to make will be of interest to you. At the meet in 1887 there were 60 wheels, and only one of them was a Champion, and that was looked upon as rather a curiosity. This year at Grand Rapids nearly all makes of high grade wheels were there, but out of 112 wheels in the parade, there were 34 American Champions—an increase from 1-60 to about 1-3.

I can PROVE that there have been more American Champions sold in Michigan this year than any other TWO makes of high grade wheels. They have given good satisfaction, and I expect twice as many wheels will be sold next year. The Champion is used by the best riders too. Three out of five races at St. Johns were won on Champions. A $250 Marlboro Club Tandem has been discarded for a Challenge Tandem, and found to be decidedly the best.

Yours truly,

C. H. SMITH.

INCER CYCLES

Extract of Letter from W. S. Doane, now on his way from Denver to Boston, (Dated August 25.)

"I can fully agree with you regarding the Apollo, and would say that I have thorough confidence in the wheel, and that is saying a great deal more than I could about the —. I think without any doubt that the Apollo is the finest, easiest-running and strongest wheel I ever rode, and I only hope that I shall always be able to ride one, as up to the present date there is no wheel in the market that suits me better, and I can tell you I have ridden very, very hard for the last week, hard enough to tear any ordinary wheel to pieces."

For details of these Machines see our regular catalogue, which will be mailed free to any address on application.

were mounted, broke down early in the race, and Berlo, on a safety, went only sixteen miles.

A. I. McGarrett, of Springfield, Mass., was the official timer, he and Referee Merrill going down to Erie, Penn., to start the race and take the time. When the men finished they were a sight to behold. They were plastered with clayey mud from top to toe, and their faces were almost unrecognizable. They reported that the ride had been one continual plough through mud and water—more mud than water. Probably no race was ever run under similar conditions.

NEW RULES.

A new rule was an outcome of the Buffalo tournament, and it will probably be adopted as an L. A. W. racing rule. It was drafted by Charles S. Luscomb, of Brooklyn, and as it has not yet been published it is here given entire:

WORLD'S TOURNAMENT.

In the matter of the protest against Morgan on the three-mile professional handicap Sept. 5, because of alleged pacing by Dubois, it was decided that, inasmuch as there has been established no rule prohibiting pacing in the manner in which this particular case was done, the claim is not allowed.

The following rule is hereby recommended as the judgment of the race officials: That no competitor be permitted to fall behind one lap, or more, and continue on the track with the other competitors for the purpose of pacing; that pacing, if so attempted, shall disqualify both the competitor and the pacemaker.

HOWARD P. MERRILL, Referee,
CHARLES S. LUSCOMB, Judge,
CHARLES A. PYNE, Judge,
HARRY D. COREY, Judge.

THE AMATEUR RULE.

Speaking of new rules, there's a big change coming in the L. A. W. The edict that the amateur rule must go, has gone forth. Now watch for fun. Chairman Jones says he will withdraw his resignation in order to see the fight through.

[Our correspondent is not correct in stating that "the edict has gone forth." That Chairman Jones is in favor of the abolishment of the rule we are advised, but the action of the National Assembly will be necessary to change the amateur rule.—Ed.]

OUR HUNDRED MILE ROAD RACE.

We are in receipt of the checkers' cards giving the details of our road race.

The following men faced the starter in Erie, Penn., at 6.12 last Saturday morning:

- George F. Kahler, Millersville, Penn.
- Fred A. Eldred, Springfield, Mass.
- Frank M. Dampman, Honeybrook, Penn.
- P. M. Harris, New York.
- Val H. Muller, New York.
- Robert Gerwing, Denver, Col.
- Roy S. Blowers, Westfield, N. Y.
- George McIntire, Erie, Penn.
- Frank McDaniel, Wilmington, Del.
- S. Wallis Merrihew, Wilmington, Penn.
- G. A. Tivy, St. Louis, Mo.
- Frank G. Lenz, Pittsburg, Penn.
- P. J. Berlo, South Boston, Mass.
- Austin Banks, Denver, Col.
- C. H. Metz, Utica, N. Y.

There were seven other entries, as follows, who did not start: George M. Nisbett, New York; Robert T. McLaren, Adams, Mass.; Clarence A. Elliott, Wilmington, Del.; A. J. Ward, Franklin, Penn.; A. E. Lumsden, Chicago, Ill.; Victor P. Pyle, Wilmington, Del.; Bert P. Myers, Peoria, Ill.

The first checking points was eight miles out, at Harbor Creek, Penn., and the men passed as follows:

Name.	A. M.	Name.	A. M.
Eldred	6.57	McIntire	7.01
Merrihew	6.57 1-2	Blowers	7.06
Gerwing	6.57 1-2	Kahler	7.06
Banks	6.57 3-4	Berlo	7.02 1-2
Dampman	6.57 3-4	Metz	7.03 1-2
Lenz	6.57 3-4	Harris	7.12
Tivy	6.58	Muller	7.12
McDaniel	7.00

At North East Pennsylvania, fifteen miles out, the men passed in the following order:

Name.	A. M.	Name.	A. M.
Banks	7.36	McIntire	7.42
Lenz	7.36	Kahler	7.47
Eldred	7.36	Blowers	7.47
Merrihew	7.36	Metz	7.49
Dampman	7.36	Harris	Stopped.
Tivy	7.37	Muller	Stopped.
Gerwing	7.37	Berlo	Stopped.
McDaniel	7.38

At State line the men were checked as follows:

Name.	A. M.	Name.	A. M.
Dampman	8.01	Eldred	8.02 1-2
Merrihew	8.01	Tivy	8.02 1-2
Lenz	8.01 1-4	McIntire	8.09 3-4
Gerwing	8.01 1-2	Blowers	8.14 3-4
Banks	8.01 1-2	Kahler	8.14 3-4
McDaniel	8.01 3-4	Metz	8.16 1-2

Ripley, twenty-one miles out, the checkers made returns as follows:

Name.	A. M.	Name.	A. M.
Dampman	8.15	Eldred	8.18
Merrihew	8.15	Tivy	8.18
Lenz	8.15	McIntire	8.19
Banks	8.15	Blowers	8.30
Gerwing	8.15	Kahler	8.30
McDaniel	8.15	Metz	8.33

At Westfield, twenty-nine miles out, the men were checked:

Name.	A. M.	Name.	A. M.
McDaniel	8.58	Tivy	9.02
Dampman	8.58	Eldred	9.02
Gerwing	8.58	McIntire	9.12
Merrihew	8.58	Blowers	9.12
Banks	9.00	Kahler	9.15
Lenz	9.00	Metz	9.18

At Portland, thirty-six and one-half miles, the check was:

Name.	A. M.	Name.	A. M.
Dampman	9.40	Tivy	9.50
Gerwing	9.40	Eldred	9.50
McDaniel	9.40	Blowers	10.00
Merrihew	9.40	McIntire	10.13
Lenz	9.45	Kahler	10.00
Banks	9.50	Metz	10.25

They passed through Brockton in the following orders; checkers fail to give time:

McDaniel, Gerwing, Dampman, Merrihew, Lenz, Blowers, McIntire, Tivy, Banks, Eldred, Kahler, Metz.

At Fredonia, forty-five miles on the way, the leaders had strung out a bit. The first nine men only being eleven minutes between first and last. Kahler and Metz were, barring accidents, hopelessly out of the race:

Name.	A. M.	Name.	A. M.
Dampman	10.16	McIntire	10.25
McDaniel	10.17	Blowers	10.25
Merrihew	10.18	Tivy	10.27
Gerwing	10.18	Eldred	10.39
Lenz	10.22	Kahler	11.06
Banks	10.24	Metz	11.18

At Silver Creek the positions were changed some, but Dampman still clung to the lead. McIntire stopped, having taken a bad header:

Name.	A. M.	Name.	A. M.
Dampman	11.20	Gerwing	11.34
Merrihew	11.23	Blowers	11.30
McDaniel	11.23	Eldred	11.45
Lenz	11.24		P. M.
Banks	11.30	Metz	12.11
Tivy	11.34	Kahler	12.27

At Irving, 61 miles, Lenz made a bid for the first place, and he led here with Dampman and Merrihew right on his heels. Kahler stopped soon after this:

Name.	A. M.	Name.	P. M.
Lenz	11.50	Banks	12.01
Dampman	11.50	Blowers	12.06
Merrihew	11.50	Eldred	12.15
McDaniel	11.54	Metz	12.38
Gerwing	11.58	Kahler	1.02
Tivy	12.00

At Evans Centre, 68 1-2 miles, Dampman again led by a fraction:

Name.	P. M.	Name.	P. M.
Dampman	12.52	Tivy	12.58
Lenz	12.52	Blowers	1.07
Gerwing	12.54	Eldred	1.09
Merrihew	12.54	Banks	1.16
McDaniel	12.55	Metz	2.59

At Bay View, 18 1-2 miles from the finish, Lenz, Dampman, McDaniel and Merrihew were all in a bunch. The excitement was growing, it was "anybody's" race. They checked as follows:

Name.	P. M.	Name.	P. M.
Lenz	2.13	Merrihew	2.13
Dampman	2.13	Tivy	2.20
McDaniel	2.13	Blowers	2.22

At Limestone Hill Lenz had dropped to third place, and was eight minutes behind the Wilmington pair. Merrihew had lost his grip, and was eleven minutes behind. There were now only six men in the race, Eldred, Kahler and Gerwing having stopped before reaching Bay View. The positions at Limestone Hill were:

Name.	P. M.	Name.	P. M.
McDaniel	3.01	Tivy	3.12
Dampman	3.01	Merrihew	3.12
Lenz	3.09	Blowers	3.15

From this point in the race was full of excitement, and the result has been already given to our readers:

	H. M. S.
First, F. M. Dampman,	9 52 29 3-5
Second, F. M. McDaniel,	9 55 23 4-5
Third, F. G. Lenz,	10 04 44 4-5
Fourth, G. A. Tivy,	10 08 21 3-5
Fifth, S. W. Merrihew,	10 10 52 4-5
Sixth, R. S. Blowers,	10 15 25

NOTES.

The Overman Company are feeling very happy over the results, as the first, second, fourth, fifth and sixth men in all rode Victor wheels.

Eldred's friends were much grieved to think that Frank did not get a place.

McDaniel's riding was a surprise to all.

W. S. Doane smiled when the fact was made known to him that his record was safe.

Why was it that C. H. Metz, of Utica, persisted in giving his number to the checkers as "No. 62?"

The headers were frequent, and after a bit no "record" was kept of them. No serious harm came of any of these tumbles.

Probably such a sight as was presented by the bemired riders and their wheels will not be seen again in many a day.

FINAL DAY'S RACING.

ROWE TOOK FIRST IN WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

A big crowd witnessed this last day's racing at Buffalo. The bicycle track was in such bad condition that the races were run on the trotting track. The results were:

One-mile open tandem road wheels; Crist and Brown of Washington won with the Banker brothers second, Davis and Hill third. Time, 3.04.

Half-mile bicycle: This was won by W. Windle, W. S. Campbell second, A. E. Lumsden third. Time, 1.22 3-5.

Final heat World's (Professional) championship: One-mile won by W. A. Rowe, H. C. Crocker second, W. E. Knapp third. Time, 2.52 2-5.

One-mile tandem bicycle won by A. C. and W. D. Banker. Time, 2.47.

One-mile bicycle won by E. A. Rossicoe. Time, 3.02.

The two-mile (prof.) handicap was won by W. A. Rowe. Time, 5.43 3-5.

Ten-mile amateur won by A. E. Lumsden, time, 32.15. Winship second; Wilhelm third.

One-mile (prof.) tandem, won by H. G. Crocker and R. Neilson. Time, 2.56.

One-mile open, won by W. Windle. Time, 2.56.

One-mile prof. Rover type, won by Jules Dubois. Time, 2.51 3-5.

One-mile consolation, won by E. P. Cochran. Time, 3.07.

EASTERN ROAD CLUB.

There will be a meeting of the Eastern Road Club at the office of George A. Perkins, Esq., No. 3 Pemberton Square, on Friday, Sept. 14, at 8 o'clock, P. M. The following course has been selected:

Start at Faneuil House, Brighton. Chesnut Hill avenue to and through Reservoir, between Basins, and direct, via Beacon street (Right, through Newton Centre, past Great Sign Boards and through Newton Upper Falls) to Wellesley Hills; Left, Wellesley avenue and Great Plain avenue, to Needham Centre; Left, Highland avenue, Needham, Winchester and Centre streets, nearly to Newton Centre; Right, Parker street; Left, Dedham street; Left, Brookline street; Left, Hammond street; Right, Beacon street, to Reservoir; between basins and make one and one-half turns around the Upper Basin, finishing within about thirty yards of "rendezvous."

Notice must be given the undersigned, in writing, of the intention of any club to enter a team in the race, on or before Saturday, Sept. 15.

WILLARD H. FORBES,
100 Harvard street, Dorchester.

TEMPLE CHALLENGES ROWE.

(Special to the World.)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 12, 1888.—I am thoroughly dissatisfied with the result of the so-called world's championship race at Buffalo, and will match Ralph Temple, champion of the world, against W. A. Rowe, or anybody else, for one thousand dollars. I am sending you formal challenge and deposit.

"SENATOR" MORGAN.

PROVIDENCE MEET.

At a meeting of the R. I. Wheelmen, held Sept. 10, they decided to hold a lantern parade the night of the races (Sept. 25), the details being left for the road officers of the club to work up. They also voted to enter a team in the team race, to be held at the R. I. Division races, Sept. 25th.

Great interest is being manifested in the 3-mile race between Hutchins and Scott, as they are very evenly matched. In a 3-mile race on Decoration Day, Scott won by 1 second, his time being 9.37, while Hutchins holds the State record of one mile in 2.57 1-5.

The officers, as far as decided on, are: Referee, Chief Consul Davol; Judges, Abbot Bassett, W. W. Stall and Dr. Emery.

Twenty-eight medals will be given as prizes, the largest number, we think, that has ever been given in a one-day race meet.

The entries are coming in well, and we expect a larger list than we ever have had at any previous meet, and we believe the cause of it is that we offer medals as prizes.

GEO. R. MCAUSLAN.

NASHVILLE (TENN.) CLUB ROAD RACE.

The Nashville Bicycle Club will hold a thirty-mile handicap road race Sept. 21, open to Tennessee amateur wheelmen. The start will be made from Chestnut street (Nashville), at its juncture with the N. C. and S. L. R. R., and will finish at a point in front of the West Side Hotel, Lebanon.

The first prize will be an American Champion Roadster, or Champion Light Roadster bicycle, of a size to suit the winner, presented by the Gormully & Jeffery Mfg. Co. The second and third prizes will be handsome gold medals. In addition to these three prizes there will be a very handsome gold medal given to the one making the fastest net time. An excursion train will leave the starting point and arrive in Lebanon in time to see the finish, returning with the riders and excursionists to Nashville before supper.

Entrance fee $2, $1 of which will be returned if the start is made. The entries close Sept. 15, in order to give the handicappers, who will be three well-known riders of the Nashville Bicycle Club, sufficient time to inquire into the form of contestants entering from other sections of the State. The four prizes are valuable and should induce a large field of riders, which we are anxious to have. Entries and for information, address A. M. Hagan, 413 Union street, Nashville, Tenn.

YOUNGSTOWN (OHIO) BICYCLE ROAD RACE.

The Youngstown (Ohio) Club held its annual race meeting on the 31st of August, and notwithstanding the threatening aspect of the weather, which no doubt deterred many from attending, yet a fair crowd was present at the fair grounds to enjoy the afternoon's sport. The races were as follows:

Half-mile club race—C. W. Davis, first; L. H. Bannister, second. Time, 1.35.

One-mile open race—W. I. Wilhelm, first; P. Stambaugh, second. Time, 3.13 1-4.

One-mile club race—C. W. Davis, first; Bannister, second. Time, 3.30.

Hundred-yard sprint race—William Baker, first; H. Wick, second. Time, 11 1-2 seconds.

One-mile time race, 4.19 time announced for race—A. I. Nicholas, time, 4.19; M. J. Knapp, 4.21.

Half-mile open—Wilhelm, first; Stambaugh, second. Time, 1.37 1-2.

Boys' race, quarter-mile—Eddie Liebman, a little chap about nine years of age, was the only entry. Time, 1.27.

Two-mile handicap, city race—Stambaugh, first; H. S. Evans, second. Time, 9.00.

The races were over a trotting track which was not in the best of order, and prevented fast time being made.

L. A. W. 1847.

ONE HUNDRED-MILE ROAD RECORD.

MR. M. A. HOLBEIN, of the Catford Cycling Club, recently rode a Premier rear-driving safety one hundred miles in 6h. 20m. 26s. This is a world's record for the distance vs. time.

MEASUREMENT OF THE TAUNTON-NEW BEDFORD ROAD COURSE.

RE the Taunton-New Bedford road race and record made by Anthony, I am happy to say I went over the course Sunday and found the distance ridden was twenty and one-sixteenth miles. I could not verify before as I live four miles from the city, and the only trustworthy cyclometer I owned was on my tandem, which I do not use much. Hoping this will satisfy Dr. Sweet and the Taunton Club I am, Yours, etc., A. F. Wyman.

SHURMAN AT IT AGAIN.

THE members of the Lynn Cycle Club took a trip down to Portland. The party comprised J. H. Young, J. H. Shurman, A. H. Carsley, E. G. Bergholtz, J. F. Allen, J. F. Dow, J. H. Littlefield, A. W. Lewis, and A. Wiswell. On their arrival in Portland, and after a good breakfast at the Preble House, the Portland Wheel Club took the visitors in hand for a run to Prouts Neck, a distance of some fourteen miles. On the way out the party passed Spurwick Hill, an eminence that has never been climbed by a cyclist. To the surprise of the Down Easters, Shurman announced that he would ride up the hill if any one of the Portland men would ride down. This was very promptly agreed to, as the local men thought the hill unrideable. Some of the men rode down the hill, as also did Shurman, and then on arriving at the bottom Shurman turned round and rode to the top, to the amazement of those who had never seen Shurman ride. This was on Sunday, and the achievement of the Lynn man made the locals anxious to see what the visitor could do with Park street Hill, a terror to Portland wheelmen, and one that has never been climbed more than twice in succession. So on Monday the party repaired to the hill, and after Carsley, Allen and Littlefield had climbed it once and cried enough, Shurman went at it and went up and down six times without a dismount. To say that the Portland men were dumbfounded is putting it mildly. Shurman rode his Springfield Roadster. [Will some Portland reader kindly give us the grades of Spurwick and Park street hills, and oblige?—Ed.]

A. J. HENLEY ACCEPTS THE CHALLENGE OF NO. "385."

Editor Bicycling World: In reply to Mr. "385," I would say that we don't want to make any talk about what we can do, but we simply go and do it. I see Mr. "385" thinks that the Wichita Wheelmen are not entitled to the 100-mile State record. Well, I will say for myself that I will ride it this fall in eight hours to eight and one-half, and the Wichita Wheelmen will back me in my statements. Not for money, as he spoke of, as we are all true League members and amateurs withal, but for a medal, if any L. A. W. member of Kansas wants to tackle us. We have another member that will do the same.

A. JOS. HENLEY, "3507."

ANOTHER REPLY TO NO. "385."

Editor Bicycling World: I noticed the def. of L. A. W. "385," and for fear that you would not be informed on the subject and also for fear that some of your readers would wonder why this gentleman should have such hard work to find a match, I will state that there are very few bicycles used in McPherson, and if he had wanted company on the trip he could have got it at Newton or Wichita if he had given timely notice. In the next place every person that knows anything of the geography of Kansas knows it is not 136 miles from McPherson to Arkansas City, it is but 111 miles by rail, and the road is but very little longer.

If No. "385" wants to make a record or race he will have no difficulty to find a match in his own district, and I have not the least doubt but Mr. A. J. Henley, of Wichita, will satisfy his longing for any number of miles he may name.

There was no necessity of his flying into print as if he had been injured, because there was no world's for him to conquer, and when he next makes a ride he should count his section lines a little closer, as that is the way we count miles in Kansas.

MR. HOPKINS ONCE MORE.

Editor Bicycling World: In the WORLD of August 31st I notice a letter written by Wm. J. Maturin, of Bloomington, Ill., complaining of the unjust way in which Mr. C. C. Hopkins, of Denver, dealt with the roads and wheelmen of Central Illinois in an article previously written in the WORLD. Permit me to say in regard to this that Mr. Hopkins was met here by several of our wheelmen, and Mr. Nicholet and I rode several miles into the country with him. We gave him some valuable information in regard to the roads between here and Crawfordsville.

We cautioned him not to take the south road between Covington and Hillsboro, which probably saved him a wade through several miles of sand, which yours' truly once experienced. I have wheeled over every inch of road between here and Columbus, O., and have wheeled considerably through the Eastern States. I laid out the best road between here and Columbus and referred him to wheelmen in Danville and Crawfordsville. The roads between here and Bloomington are generally very good. I have ridden over them when they were equal to any macadamized road. Our wheelmen have exchanged visits with Bloomington wheelmen several times, and made the run of fifty-four miles in six hours with ease. W. S. Doane, on his trip from Denver to Boston, came over the same route as Mr. Hopkins several weeks later, when the roads were in better shape. We would be pleased to hear from him. Touring wheelmen are always welcome in Champaign, and we will give information in regard to roads one hundred miles in any direction.

Yours' respectfully, W. L. SPERRY, L. A. W. 4025.
Champaign, Ill., Sept. 3, 1888.

DENVER TO DORCHESTER ON A BICYCLE.

A DISTANCE OF 2,207 MILES.

MR. DOANE of Denver, the well-known wheelman of the Dorchester Bicycle Club, and also a member of the Denver Ramblers, left Denver, Col., on July 22d, for the purpose of riding to Boston on his wheel. He was escorted from Denver by about 50 wheelmen, a distance of 56 miles, and then continued 24 miles more. Not being able to obtain shelter at a ranch, he was forced to sleep out of doors on the prairie. Next morning, after eating a hearty breakfast, he started in earnest upon his long and lonely trip across the Plains. He was obliged to walk that day 27 miles, in deep sand and push his wheel. For one stretch of ten miles he did not see a house, nor any means of getting water. When at last he came to a stream it was a welcome sight, and he drank about a quart of water, which greatly refreshed him.

That night he put up at Fort Morgan, with only 34 miles for his day's work, and pretty well tired out. During the day he crossed three creeks with his shoes on, as he found it would take too much time to take them off at every creek he came to. After a good night's rest, he started the next morning at 6 A. M., and had not gone far before he lost his way, and, in trying to find it, came to an overflowed irrigating ditch. Here he was obliged to dig out the mud from between the wheel and forks with a jack-knife. He carried his wheel for about a mile on his back, and at each step sunk in the mud eight inches. Under these difficulties it took him nearly an hour to make the mile, however, he pushed on and reached Sterling, Col., in time for supper, and lodged there for the night. Here he was told that the further East he went the better he would find the roads, but he found them even poorer, as they had just had a very hard hail storm, that had not only spoiled the roads, but had destroyed all the crops. He reached Julesburg that night after walking fifteen miles and crossing two creeks. Here he cleaned his wheel thoroughly, and the next day managed to reach North Platt, after a hard day's run. He had expected when he reached here to find good roads, but during the night a heavy thunder storm passed over, and the next morning the roads were very muddy, so that he could not even push his wheel without stopping every little while to cut the mud off. At North Platt he rested for about four hours and then continued on to Rothenburg, Neb. He left here at 4 A. M., and was obliged to walk 17 miles on the Union Pacific tracks on account of mud. Just two miles from Plum Creek he got into a mud hole up to his waist, and was forced to stop with 24 miles to his credit, and lay in bed while his clothes were drying on a neighboring roof. From there he found the roads better, and was able to get to Omaha without wet feet. While at Kearney he enjoyed a swim in a pond, which took off a great part of the dirt.

He reached Omaha in 11 1-2 days, making 594 3-4 miles, out of which he walked 127 1-2 miles, crossed about 20 creeks and taken 51 headers. After resting in Omaha for three or four days, he attempted to ride across Iowa, but the mud was even worse than in Nebraska, so he had to go by the C. B. & Q. to Keokuk, where after stopping a day or two, he continued on and succeeded in riding 34 miles to Fountain Green, where he stopped for the night. He arose at sunrise and rode to Colchester, where he took breakfast, and then proceeded via Macomb, New Philadelphia and Canton, to Pekin. He made the last three miles walking through wet bushes on an unused (abandoned) railroad track, and was completely wet through when he reached his destination, but this he did not mind as it was no new thing.

The roads were better than any he had ridden, although they were what they call "Corduroy" roads, being very hard and rough, but rideable. He passed through Tremont and Mackinaw and reached Bloomington in the afternoon. Here he stopped only a few moments and kept on to Farmer City, where he was forced to lay quiet for three days on account of a lame foot. However, it gave him a chance to rest and undoubtedly benefitted him as he gained about a pound a day while he was there.

Starting out again he took dinner with Sperry Bros., bicycle agents at Champaign, and one of them rode out with him. He made Covington, Ind., that night after a hard ride, as there was rain in the early part of the afternoon. Starting again he arrived within a few miles of Crawfordsville where he had still more rain, so he took a train for Indianapolis a distance of forty miles. Here he called on Messrs. Darrow Bros., who gave him the use of a New York Road Book, which he found to be very useful and he advises anyone who thinks of touring New York State to have one of them. He left Indianapolis Friday noon and rode 52 miles to Cambridge City. Starting the next morning to cover 100 miles in a day, he rode Richmond for breakfast, to Dayton for dinner and via Springfield to Summerford supper, stopping there for the night with the 100 miles covered.

On Sunday, the 19th of August, he rode to Columbus, Ohio, and then turned North via Worthing and Delaware, to Mt. Gilad, a distance of 79 miles over common dirt roads, which were very tough. He met two Cleveland wheelmen on their way from Cincinnati, who rode with him for 26 miles. When asked what he thought of the pikes of Indiana and Ohio, he replied: "I was very much disappointed in them. I found the National road poor, the Dayton pike poorer, but the Valley pike running from Dayton to Springfield was very good, by far the best road I had found with the exception of the 10 or 12 miles stretch that Sam Holingsworth made his 283 mile 24 hour record on, which was very fine."

Mr. Doane left Mt. Gilad and rode via Shelby and Shiloh, where he took dinner, to Wellington, which is 44 miles from Cleveland, and stopped there for the night. Next morning he rode into Cleveland through rain, reaching there at 10.30. Here he was well entertained by the George Worthington Co., who are State agents for Singer machines. They took him all over the city in a carriage. The next day he started for Buffalo and took dinner at Astabula following the Lake Shore to Fairview, 12 miles west of Erie, Pa. Next morning he rode into Erie for breakfast and then started over one of the finest pieces of road he ever saw. While spurring he took a bad header which knocked him insensible. In a few moments, however, he was able to continue and took dinner at Westfield, where he had to be put on his machine on account of his lameness which rendered him unable to mount without aid. The next morning he found himself unable to ride at all and was obliged to take the train for 22 miles to Buffalo. When he arrived, he expected that he should have to take a train right through to Boston, but after waiting a couple of days, and taking warm baths, he was enabled to start again on Saturday, the 25th of August, at noon and rode through New York state via Canadaigua, Syracuse, Utica and Schenectady. He was obliged to ride on the N. Y. C. tracks from Little Falls to St. Johnsville, and then take the tow-path to Amsterdam, keeping the north side of the river to Hoffman's Ferry and then to Schenectady by the south side. The country here was very beautiful and continued so into Massachusetts. He visited the Troy Bicycle Club rooms and then started for the Old Bay State Wednesday evening.

On Thursday morning he started out to climb the mountains, but owing to the bad fall he had near Erie, he was obliged to give it up and took a train through the tunnel. He walked about 20 miles over two mountains and succeeded in reaching Orange after the hardest day's work he had during his entire trip. Starting out next morning (Friday) he went via Athol, Templeton and South Gardner to Fitchburg, where he put up for dinner. He found some sand and some bad hills, but as he had been used to walking he did not mind the condition of the roads. He reached Northboro at 5 o'clock and decided to stay there for the night. Getting up next morning at 5.30 he found the roads all mud, but being only thirty-five miles from home, he decided to start out and succeeded in reaching Framingham in time for breakfast and arrived in Boston at 10.15 A. M., September 1st, covered with mud and wet through to the skin, thus ending his ride with 1903 miles to his credit, 174 of which were covered on foot, either pushing or carrying his bicycle.

Mr. Doane gained one pound on his trip, and aside from needing a few good nights' rest, he is in splendid condition; he is well-bronzed and a picture of perfect health. On his way he saw a few rattlesnakes, but got quickly out of their way, also a few coyotes and prairie dogs and any number of large striped snakes three to four feet long. He also met quite a number of cowboys, who would ride some of the worst bucking bronchos, but could not be tempted to ride the bicycle. The cow-boys are a jolly set of people, but if interfered with are hard to deal with. While coming across the plains a little boy walked beside the bicycle and after looking at it quite a while asked, "If them sticks didn't ever break?" meaning the spokes. While in Ohio, Mr. Doane saw a boy who had a bicycle with spokes made of barbed wire, a fellow from a cart wheel and the rear wheel was the wheel of a boy's wagon. It was a queer looking thing, but undoubtedly gave the boy great enjoyment.

When a few miles east of Utica, Mr. Doane met a man with a loaden provision wagon who threatened to use a horse whip on him because he would not dismount, but Doane put his hand in the direction of his hip pocket, which frightened the man and he had no further trouble. He is well satisfied with the trip, and, although he had a very hard and rough ride, he does not show it at all. Anyone who desires to know anything further about the trip, can find out by interviewing Mr. Doane, who will gladly give any information in his power. Regarding the machine ridden, Mr. Doane says: "I am more than pleased with the Apollo, and am positive that it is the strongest wheel made, as only four rear wheel spokes were broken (being the only break that occurred), which is a splendid record for a trip like mine, and the machine was not new when I started, but was used 700 miles before I left." W. B. Everett & Co., of Boston, the U. S. branch of Singer & Co., Coventry, Eng., represent this wheel. The machine Mr. Doane rode was a 50-inch Singer's Apollo, with ball head and double ball bearings to front wheel.

He was well entertained at Plum Creek, Neb., by Mr. Fisk, at Kearney by Mr. Spafford and at Omaha by Mr. Will Emerson and several members of the Omaha Wheel Club, who have a very pleasant and cosy little building all to themselves. At Keokuk by Mr. J. R. Lofters, at Utica by Mr. Teemer, who kindly took charge for the time he was at Utica, and at North Adams by Mr. McKee, the well-known and popular bicycle agent, and at Troy by Mr. Edmans.

He found everybody kind and obliging along the road, and also very inquisitive. Many were surprised that such a trip could be made on "one of them air things," as the farmers used to say. Mr. Doane says he would not ride back to Denver on his wheel, but he would willingly take another 2000-mile trip next summer, if he could spare the time. His expenses were about $2 a day.

W. S. DOANE says of the Apollo bicycle: "I found Singer's ball head a very great improvement over the old style cone head and adjusted it only once during the entire trip, and never had any trouble from its tightening. The front wheel bearings which are double balls, I found needed less adjustment and wore much better than the single and much easier to adjust than any other I have yet used."

"On the registry book of the guests at the Buffalo 'Bike' Club House each one is requested to give the style of wheel ridden. It may be of interest to wheelmen to know that the Victor leads the 'crank' machines while of the Safety type more of the Victor Rovers are ridden than all others combined."—Buffalo Express, September 8, 1888.

Louisiana.

At a meeting held September 4th, for the election of Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer, Louisiana Division, L. A. W., the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year:
Chief Consul, Harry H. Hodgson, re-elected.
Secretary-Treasurer, Harry W. Fairfax.
The following appointments have been made by the Chief Consul:
Local Consul, B. C. Rea, New Orleans, La.
Local Consul, Shreveport, La., J. B. Walters.
League Hotel, New Orleans, Hotel Vonderbanck.
Fraternally yours,
Secretary-Treasurer, L. A. W. Div.
HARRY H. HODGSON.
Approved,
Chief Consul, La. Div. L. A. W.

Maryland Division.

The fourth annual meeting of the Maryland Division L. A. W. was held at the Town Hall at "Arlington" on Friday, August 31, at 8.30 P. M. Chief Consul Mealy occupied the chair, and about seventy-five members were present. The minutes of all the meetings held since last year were read and approved.
The report of Chief Consul Mealy for the nine months of his term showed that the Maryland Division was still the "Banner" division of the country, having increased her membership from 231 to 450 during the year, thus making it the 8th largest division in the country. The report further stated that 18 Local Consuls, 9 Hotels and 4 Representatives had been appointed during the year.
The report of the Secretary-Treasurer showing amount received $260.68, expended, $212.54, balance on $48.14, was read and accepted.

Mr. Mealy, chairman of the League Meet Committee, submitted a report giving an account of the ninth annual meet of the L. A. W. held in Baltimore in June last. The report stated that the meet had cost the division $2990.04 that $448.18 had been received, leaving a balance on hand, to be turned over to the treasurer, of $118.14. The report was accepted, and the committee discharged with the thanks of the division.

The report of the Committee having in charge the framing of a new constitution, was read, and after a few alterations, was adopted. The Committee appointed to canvass the votes cast for officers of the division reported as follows: Number of votes cast 161, of which Mr. A. Mott (Chief Consul) received 156; Mr. George Updegraff (Vice Consul), 161; Mr. G. W. H. Carr (Secretary-Treasurer), 159; and Messrs. C. H. Eisenbrandt (Representative), 160; W. L. Seabrook, 160; and H. W. Barrington, 161. The chair declared the above named gentlemen elected to serve for one year from August 15, 1888. The new officers were then installed.

Mr. Mott on taking the chair made a forcible speech predicting a large increase in membership, and successful efforts to improve the roads etc.

Mr. Carr also made a speech.

Mr. A. E. Mealy moved that $250 be set aside as a legal fund to be used to defend the rights of wheelmen of the Maryland Division, adopted. On motion of Mr. R. M. Lockwood a committee of three was appointed to look into the matter of publishing a Maryland Road Book, said committee to report to the Board of Officers, who be given power to act. Mr. E. F. Le Cato moved that a committee of three be appointed to select an official organ for the division, and to report to the Board of Officers. Adopted.

On motion of Mr. Clymer White a vote of thanks of the division was given to Mr. Mealy for his untiring energy in bringing the division up to such a prominent position in the L. A. W. while Chief Consul.

The meeting then adjourned.
Fraternally,
G. W. H. CARR,
Sec.-Treas.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member."

Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M. on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

MY CYCLING LOG BOOK. By "Papa" Weston. The transitory pleasures of cycling can be made as permanent as its physical benefits, by jotting down in a well devised log book, the distances and incidents of one's various journeys. Knowing that such a record is a most pleasant thing to have, and believing that the keeping of such should be encouraged, as tending to the permanent good of cycling in more ways than can be referred to here. The Log Book is handsomely and strongly bound in red leather, will last for years of constant use, and is the best arranged book of its kind ever yet devised. It fills a want often felt by the cyclist who values records of interest for future reference. Price, post paid, $1.25. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

Baltimore, Sept. 14, 1888.

Messrs. Wm. Read & Sons, Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen—I have ridden the NEW MAIL constantly for four months, covering over 1200 miles. A great part of this riding has been done over some of Maryland's roughest roads, and the machine is as staunch and in as good condition as the day I bought it.

I am very much pleased with the machine, and I expect it to be my mount of the future.

As a hill climber it beats any straight wheel I have ever ridden, and I consider it a first-class all round machine.

You are at liberty to use this letter if you wish to.

DESIRES TO RETURN THANKS.

Editor Bicycling World: I have just returned from a six hundred-mile tour through Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan and wish, through the medium of your paper to thank the many "Wheelmen" I met for their kindnesses. I found the roads of Ohio very good, while those of Kentucky and Michigan were poor, the former rocky and hilly, the latter sandy. I ride a 53-inch Columbia Light Roadster and can speak in the highest terms of it. It is now as good as when I started out. If I can give any one information as to the roads I went over I will be glad to do so. I am,

A VERY PROPER DECISION.

A DES MOINES, Iowa, exchange has the following:

"The bicyclists of this city will be interested in the decision of the Superior Court at Cedar Rapids: A lad of fifteen years appeared before Judge Stoneman to show cause why he should not be fined for frightening, with his bicycle, a horse, causing the animal to break from the control of his driver and upset the buggy to which he was attached, throwing the occupants, a lady and gentleman, against a barb wire fence, fortunately, however, injuring neither of them. The evidence disclosing nothing to charge the young man with criminal carelessness, he was discharged, the Judge delivering an opinion, which is of interest, as follows: 'The rider of a bicycle has the same rights in the public streets of any other vehicle and no greater right. He has the right to peaceably and in a prudent manner, and with a reasonable rate of speed, to travel along the highway. He is, alike with the driver of other vehicles, liable for all damage or injury to person or property of others, caused by his negligent conduct. He has the right to use the street for travel, not for circular evolutions, crossing the street to and fro, so as to interfere with the free use of the same by other travelers. The rider of a bicycle has no right to use the sidewalks of a street, to drive his bicycle, no more than a drayman would to use the sidewalk to drive his dray thereon.'

MASSACHUSETTS DIVISION BOARD MEETING.

THE Massachusetts Division held a meeting at Young's Hotel last Saturday. Delegates to National Convention were Dr. W. G. Kendall of the Boston Club, J. B. Seward of the Chelsea Club, Robinson of the Charlestown, Sanford Lawton of Springfield. An appropriation of $200 was made to cover the expenses of Chief Consul and Sec.-Treasurer's office. Committee on Guide Posts reported favorable progress and a special committee to still further push this branch of the work, was appointed as follows: W. H. Emery, Geo. A. Perkins and E. H. Kennedy.

KANSAS ROADS.

In reply to "16,827," inquiring about Kansas roads from Ellsworth to Topeka, I would say: Ellsworth to Kanopolis, 4 1-2 miles, good; Brookville, 23 1-4, good; stop at lunch room near railroad station. We had all we could hold for twenty-five cents. Salina, 39 3-4, fair; New Cambria 46 3-4, Solomon City 55, Abilene 69 1-4, Chapman 82, Junction City 96, all good; Ogden, 111, poor; avoid the military post, three miles east of Junction City unless you have some one to show you through (Hopkins indulged in some mild profanity there); Manhattan 122 1-2, St. George 130 1-2, Wamego 137 1-2; this was ridden on the K. P. R. R. track, the road being reported hilly and sandy; I wouldn't advise anyone to try it. Bellevue 145 1-4, St. Marys 152 1-4, road fair; Rossville 160 1-2, Topeka 182 1-4, sandy and rough. Can give the rest of the road from Topeka to Kansas City and from Denver to Ellsworth if any one wants it.

JOS. L. GARD, Denver Ramblers.

A PROTEST WHICH WE RESPECT.

Editor Bicycling World: I would like to enter a little protest for the good of our League reputation against the rather common allusions in the columns of your paper, to the use of "spirits." It was a very good pun the first time it was made, but that was away back, before our fathers, even, were born, and for the last hundred years or so it has been used almost exclusively in "the vernacular," not in cold print.

So much for the literary side of the question; but may it not have occurred to some of our brightest correspondents that there are members of the League who have aesthetic reasons for disapproving of such allusions? There are some well-known things, which to some people are offensive even in suggestion. It is the glory of the L. A. W. that it numbers among its members and admirers a greater number of professional, educated, refined and influential people than any other sporting organization in the country. A writer must be strangely indifferent to his reputation for good breeding and knowledge of good taste in literary matters if he deliberately introduces allusions to eating and drinking which are likely to excite feelings of disgust in the minds of the better portion of his readers. In our judgment it is also an offense against the League to have anything appear in the writings of any bicycling scribe which can give support to the complaints which have been heard about "hoodlumism."

In the judgment of many well informed people it is not wise to say or do anything which may tend to encourage the hurtful practice of using artificial stimulants. It seems to be pretty well settled that for the best results in all physical training the less spirits used the better. On this ground such merry, Dickens-like allusions to what was carried and drank on such and such a run, etc., are calculated to have a detrimental influence on the quality of the manhood which we are fondly hoping will be developed by the use of the wheel.

L. A. W. 5436.

MR. A. T. LANE of Montreal writes us as follows: "Our new track is almost ready and we are to have some bicycles races on it shortly. On September 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th, we are to have a 'Fancy Fair' in aid of the new grounds fund. These grounds belong to the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, of which the Bicycle Club forms one of the branches. The snow shoe, toboggan, foot ball, lacrosse, base ball and other clubs each have a table in the 'Fair' and the bicycle club take hold of the 'candy and fruit' department. Our Lady Percival has a staff of twenty-five young ladies to help her, all of whom are to be arrayed in bicycle club colors, blue and white, and with the M. B. C. cap and badge. The bicycle club are to hold a Chinese lantern parade on Thursday, 27th. Winter Carnival about decided on. We are to have a meeting tonight to take preliminary steps."

NOTES BY

THE "CAVILER."

I WAS rather surprised to learn from the Herald a few days ago that the prizes won in the races on Labor Day are being made, and will soon be delivered. If I remember rightly, the prize list consisted chiefly of pairs of bicycle shoes and subscriptions to local newspapers. I can understand that the shoes may be of the custom brand, made-to-order style, but must confess to being rather puzzled about subscriptions.

I HAVE made up my mind to join the Middlesex Cycling Club and carry my best girl in with me. If you are happy in the possession of a best girl you had better take my advice and join that organization. I will tell you why. It is because the Middlesex Cycling Club has saved more money for its members during the few months since its formation than has the League in a life of seven years. The price of admission is a mere bagatelle, and is sure to be returned several times over during your first week of membership. Every week you read of the club being invited to attend one of the city theatres by the manager of the same, who is happy to furnish free, all the tickets required. Each time an invitation is extended it means for you, a saving of $3, and before the end of the winter you can have laid by enough to purchase a tandem in the spring. I don't know how this free blow business is worked, and I don't care so long as the racket is kept in active operation.

THE Board of Officers of the Massachusetts Division L. A. W. held a meeting at Young's Hotel last Saturday evening. By special request of the Board "Caviller" was present. The programme of exercises, previously mailed to the officers, announced that before the business meeting a $2.50 dinner would be served. At the dining hour only six members had put in an appearance. Half an hour later two more straggled in, and it was not until nearly ten o'clock that we sat down to the table. I was given a seat beside Chief Consul Hayes, who was very kind and did all he could, in keeping, of course, with the dignity and importance of his office, to be affable and make me feel at ease. I promised to insert in the WORLD the several personal notices he suggested, and we were soon on as intimate terms as the frigidity and torridity of our respective natures would permit.

THE dinner was well under way, the exit of consomme had been followed by the course of boiled cod, said to have been caught off Scituate Beach by Dr. Kendall and his satellites, when two reporters, one shaved and the other be-whiskered, peeped in the door. With much cordiality they were invited to come in and take a seat in the corner. One of them looked as though he had not been "refreshed" for a month, so I offered him some of my red liquor, which he accepted with gratitude.

A FEW minutes later three members of the Board of Officers appeared, and shortly after they were followed by two more. I thought they would be pleased when they found that the dinner had only just begun. Instead they seemed grieved and disappointed, and in reply to the polite waiters, who hustled about to arrange them seats at the table, said that they "did not care for any dinner, having just eaten supper." A smile as of ill-suppressed incredulity, flitted from one to another about the table. It was whispered that there were two divisions in the Board of Officers, eaters and non-eaters. I could not help feeling sorry for the non-eaters, who sat with their chairs tilted back against the wall, and gazed with hungry and wistful eyes upon the good things devoured before them. I wished, for their sakes, that the dinner had not been served so late.

THERE should be a large attendance at the races of the Eastern Road Club to-morrow. The contests promise to be close, and well worth seeing. I shall be there mounted on the front seat of my tandem tricycle. For the convenience of a host of admirers who wish to know me personally I have agreed to wear a blue helmet, and my companion has promised to wear a red rose at her corsage.

ST. LOUIS.

"LINNEUS."

THE De Soto run was taken Sunday, Sept. 2, by ten members of the Missouri Bicycle Club. A more perfect day could hardly have been chosen, and those that took part enjoyed themselves immensely. The road was only in fair condition, and the sport was marred by a number of accidents. Hawkins broke the backbone of his machine near Victoria riding down, and Alex Lewis broke the same part of his machine near the same town riding up. Captain Lewis tried to show the boys how to ride through a creek, and coming in contact with a rock took a free bath. Holm pulled off the right side of his handle-bar on Kimmswick Hill, and had to foot it six miles to Kimmswick to catch the train. Dinner was had at a farm house an eighth of a mile beyond Bulltown, and right here I will state that the meal was above the average, and was topped off with two bottles of wine, for all of which the moderate sum of twenty-five cents per man was exacted. Cyclers making the trip will do well to ask for Leo. Koehler's place when taking dinner at this place.

PERCY STONE, A. M. Lewis and Jno. Hodgson will probably be the Missouri's representatives in the team race.

THE Cycle Club gave Hal Greenwood a banquet, followed by a smoker, at their club house Sept. 2d. Sixty-five of their members were present, and a number of speeches were made, to which Hal responded in his usual happy manner.

HARRY D. RITTENHOUSE, of Jonesburg, Mo., has sent in an excellent report of the roads of Warren County, heretofore but little known to wheelmen. Consul R. N. Bowden did the same for Linn County, of which no report was had to date.

THE cyclers of Quincy, Ill., headed by Captain Tom White, will visit us Sunday, and a joint run in their honor is now being arranged by the Captains of the two clubs. On account of the dusty condition of the roads no extended run will be taken, but the visitors will be shown the town and taken through the park instead.

THE bicycle races at the Knights and Ladies of Honor entertainment came off duly as announced, on Sept. 6. The races were run on the trotting track at the Fair Grounds, and resulted as follows: One-mile handicap—Frank Mehlig (50 yds.), first, in 3.12. Mile novice was won by A. R. Gilmore, in 3.28. Percy Stone rode a racer in the mile handicap, and was badly beaten on account of the wheel cutting through the soft surface.

CAPTAIN SANDERS, of the Cycle Club, called the first run since his illness Sunday, Sept. 9, to St. Charles, and in honor of the event twenty-six members took part in it. Conspicuous among them was Bob Clarke, who carried a gorgeous red, white and blue sash tied around his waist, a la Ripley Road Club. Coming back the ride developed into a scorch, and Ed. Bates claims that he and the balance of his friends rode the distance from the Galt House in one hour and forty-six minutes, a statement which is received by many with a broad smile.

EX-CONSUL AL. MILLER, now a resident of Galesburg, Ill., writes: "Part of Ralph Temple's stable of wheels arrived in the city last Saturday. There are six bikes in all. He has two 'Swift' safeties that are beauties; one is a racer, weighing probably twenty-five pounds in all. His family live here, and they all eat, drink and sleep Ralph Temple. He has certainly been a good son to them." All of which I am glad to hear, and I trust that neither Mr. Temple nor my correspondent will find fault with me for letting the WORLD know it.

GEO. E. TIVY got back from Buffalo Tuesday, and was congratulated by his friends for the good showing he made in the BICYCLING WORLD 100-mile race. Tivy says that but for a number of accidents and delays he would have shown up nearer the front. Between Evans Centre and Bay View he lost thirty minutes in endeavoring to ride with a clogged back wheel, caused by a stick being caught in the forks. He made up for time lost, however, and at Limestone Hill was only eleven minutes behind the leader, whom he certainly would have caught but for a freight train which obstructed the road between Limestone Hill and Buffalo, causing another delay of six minutes. Official reports show that he was the freshest man at the finish, and but for the delays would certainly have won the race.

THE Missouri Division meeting is booming, and the attention is called to notices of Chief Consul Brewster and the Chairman of the Touring Board in the official department of this paper. L. S. C. Ladish writes: "Both club (United Wheelmen) and tournament are booming and growing. The track will be made of cinders mixed with clayey dirt, sprinkled, rolled and packed down. Work will begin on the track on Sept. 13, and be pushed day and night, if necessary, to have it ready for training purposes by Sept. 20. With proper attention a track built in this manner can be made as fast as the fastest. Rain will hardly hurt it, a few hours at most sufficing to make it as dry and polished as a bone. The Exposition people are leaving all these things to me, and it won't be my fault if they are not strictly first-class. The illuminated parade will be a good one. Every man in line will be supplied with Bengal lights. The United Wheelmen will show up in white swallow-tail coats and white plug hats."

PENNSYLVANIA.

"ARIEL."

LAST Wednesday evening a gentleman from Germantown and his sister were riding down Broad street on their tandem tricycle, and when near Montgomery avenue a child ran directly in front of the machine. Although they turned so sharply as to buckle one of the wheels they could not avoid running over the boy. He was bruised, but not seriously injured, but a policeman took the gentleman to the station house where he was released by some friends going his bail.

THE most important event in cycling circles, this week, has been the State Fair races which were postponed from Monday, the 10th inst., to last Saturday, and full details of which I send you in another column.

THE postponement of the above races to Saturday was responsible for the deferment of the trip of the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club to Orange and Newark as the guests of the Hudson County Wheelmen. The visit will now be made on Saturday, September 22d, and a first-class programme has been laid out by the H. C. W. for the entertainment of the visitors.

RAIN prevented another visit on Sunday—that of the Capital City Wheelmen of Trenton—who were to have made their second attempt to wheel down to this city as guests of the Century Wheelmen. They have been twice prevented by rain and hope the third attempt will be successful.

TOM ROE of Chicago was one of the spectators of the State Fair races on Saturday, in company with Lieutenant Shaffer of the Centurians. Both were in high feather over their Buffalo trip and state that the Ramblers' entertainment of the visiting wheelmen was beyond all praise. Shaffer was elected an honorary member of the club. Roe was out on the Lancaster Pike, Friday afternoon, and meeting a New York Wheelman, the discussion waxed warm as to racing, ending with a challenge to an extemporaneous mile race then and there, for a medal. The Chicago man rather surprised his opponent, but the latter did the square thing and the next morning the medal was delivered to Roe.

DAMPMAN, McDaniel and Merrihew were interviewed by your correspondent at the races on Saturday, in regard to the Bi. WORLD 100-mile road race. Merrihew's race, in particular, was a wonderful struggle of endurance as he had nothing to eat whatever. Had it not been for this fact the Wilmington Wheel Club would have finished first, second and third. As it was, Merrihew thinks he would have gone into third place had he not been delayed five minutes by a train on the outskirts of Buffalo. To add still more to the feat, Dampman had never ridden over sixty-seven miles—that being his greatest distance. I doubt if there is a club team who can down the Delaware boys at a long distance race.

MERRIHEW showed me a copy of the Reading (Pa.) Herald, of last week in which Wilhelm is reported as saying in re the proposed 25-mile road race between the Wilmington and Reading teams, that the Wilmington Club could race better with their mouths on paper than on the road; that Dampman was the only one of the team who could ride a little bit; that he had been good at one time, years ago but having stood still instead of improved, could not race with last men; etc., etc. There was a good bit of feeling among the club men over this remarkable effusion, and I hope that Mr. Wilhelm has not been correctly quoted. It is hardly like Irv. to make remarks of that sort, and he owes it to himself to set the matter straight. Certainly no one could say anything of the sort about Dampman after the 100-mile race, to say nothing of McDaniel and Merrihew, and the Wilmingtonians say that if the Reading Club will only come out and name a date for the race, they will endeavor to prove to them that they can ride down here as well as at Buffalo. The race will be for blood if it does come off and I want to see it.

FROM present indications the race meet of the Tioga Cycling Club—programme for which has already been published—is going to be one of the largest held here for years. Chairman Gideon has been writing day and night on the affair and has been ably seconded by the club members. Due to his efforts are the entries of Windle, Kingsland and the Banker Brothers. The latter will bring their tandem bicycle with them and give Hill a race, while Halsteads entry insures some lively time between the flyers. One of the best features of the races is the fact that all the events are short ones. Experience has shown that your five and ten mile races simply kill all interest in outsiders. The programme will be the handsomest and most elaborate ever given in this locality. Mr. Gideon showed me the sample to-day and I can vouch for their novelty and beauty. Ladies will receive special attention at these races and a number are expected.

CHICAGO

ITEMS.

OUR boys are nearly all back from Buffalo. They all report a good time, though they say it wasn't up to the old Springfield meets. This was doubtless largely due to the bad weather and poor condition of the track. The Chicago delegation returns with thirteen prizes, not so bad a showing, with Lumsden out of condition the first two days and Van Sicklen's bad fall just as he was getting in racing trim. Every one seems to have some expression of sympathy for Van in his misfortune. His accident will certainly spoil him for racing the balance of this year, if not for all time.

TOM ROE, the favorite for the novice races (and some others, too, for Tom is not slow), broke his machine in the first race, and although he had another wheel available, refused to race any more. Brace up, Tom, you had a sure thing in some of the events, and should not let a slight breakage blight the record of so promising a victor.

THE Lincoln Cycling Club hold their "Grand Opening" on the 18th, and will have a big "blow out." Promenade concert from 8.30 till 9.30, and dancing until the "small hours."

FOLLOWING the Lincoln party comes the Chicago Bicycle Club, with their opening reception, season 1888-9, at Jackson Park Pavilion, Friday evening, Sept. 21st. With a floor that is perfection itself, Frieberg's orchestra to "keep time," and Messrs. Schmidt, Thorne and Bogue as the committee in charge of the affair, it goes without saying that the event will prove a success, as what these gentlemen do not know about dancing is not worth knowing.

IF the "Rover type" craze keeps up at the rate shown during the past six months there will not be an "ordinary" in Chicago three years from now. I have heard so many "ordinary" riders say that their 1889 mount would be a safety that I would advise every one to place their orders for safeties before the snow goes, and avoid a long wait, as it is my candid opinion that makers will be unable to fill orders for this type of machine next season. My order has already been booked.

THERE is some talk of another race meeting to be held on the grounds of the Cheltenham Athletic Club the latter part of this month. Hope it may come to pass, as I find bicycle races to be very interesting to a spectator, more so than a horse race, and I believe that the public will grow to see it in this light within a few years.

TERRE HAUTE.

"RAMSHORN."

It has been some time since you have heard from the cycling centre of Indiana. The venerable "Hicks" seems to have suddenly disappeared. Cycling is still on the boom here, and the boys manage to keep things lively. The Terre Haute Bicycle Club will give one of the grandest fall tournaments that ever was seen in Indiana, on Oct. 3d, 1888. "Senator" Morgan and his team will be here in their glory, and Sammy Hollingsworth and his brother, Len, the long distance wonders of the West, will be on hand.

WE are sorry to hear that the weather interfered with the Buffalo meet, as we expected it to be a big success.

THE club will move into larger quarters the first of the month, as the club's increasing membership has outgrown its present quarters.

THE boys here are happy over their victory through Mr. Hulman, and are all anxious for the 3d of October, when they will let themselves out.

AS soon as the dust settles the boys will make a run to Turkey Run, thirty-five miles north of here, where they will meet the Crawfordsville boys. An hour or two will be spent in inspecting the place, when the return trip will be made.

THE Montgomery Co. Fair Association gave a series of three day's race at Crawfordsville this week. Some of the races postponed by the Ramblers on the Fourth of July were run off, among them the one-mile State championship, which has caused a great deal of rivalry between this city and Crawfordsville. Chief Consul

J. Fred Probst, Secretary-Treasurer N. Smith, E. Hulman, E. Meissel and E. B. Parker composed the delegation from Terre Haute; J. Zimmerman, A. Taylor and Thos. Hay, of Indianapolis; Len Hollingsworth, of Russiaville, and several local towns represented. The new quarter-mile track was in poor condition, being very rough, good time was made, however, considering the track. A summary of Thursday's races is as follows: One-half-mile dash—A. Lee, H. D. Gilkey, L. Hollingsworth and J. Zimmerman; they finished in the order named; time, 1.36 1-5. One-mile L. A. W. championship—E. Hulman, A. Taylor, A. Wilhite, E. Meissel, A. Lee, L. Hollingsworth, Tom Nickolson, and A. Eastlack, finishing in order named except Nickolson and Eastlack, who dropped out at the third lap; time, 3.18. The third and last race of the day, a two-mile lap, was won by E. Hulman, with 74 points; L. Hollingsworth, second, 65 points; A. Taylor, third, 61 points; John Alfrey, fourth, 58 points; Thos. Hay, A. Wilhite, S. B. Boggs, J. C. Boggs, H. D. Gilkey and E. Meissel dropping out at different parts of the race; time, 6.15.

PORKOPOLIS NOTES.

"STAR."

The Crescent Wheelmen—called by certain envious persons the "Curbstone Club"—is an organization of six young and enthusiastic wheelmen of this city. They have no quarters as yet, but are very hopeful as to the future. They are scorches of the first magnitude and not infrequently make runs to Connersville, Oxford, Dayton, Urbana, Lexington, Xenia, and other equally remote points.

The Walnut Hills cable cars are said to have turned to their present color (yellow) on seeing Dr. Green scorch up Gilbert avenue at a four-minute gait.

E. R. WEBSTER, who makes occasional trips to Hamilton, and who rides like one pursued, is another wheelman who will not attend a club run for fear he cannot keep up!

OUR astute representative, M. A. High, says that that hill-climbing contest is all a "no such thing," and that if he ever gets his hands on the fellow that started that report he'll—!!!!

AMONG the pictures representing the development of various arts and industries that are on exhibition in the Government Exhibit of the Centennial, is a series of some twelve cuts illustrating the development of the modern bicycle.

WHY is it that some people are so envious? Whenever a race is won by little Willie Greenwood, the rival of our Burroughs, there are some that are narrow enough to assert that if his competitors had known how to ride the result would have been different.

L. BENCKENSTEIN, who has practiced on that hill that leads up to his house till he is thoroughly familiar with each square inch of its surface, is said to take a fiendish delight in luring unsuspecting wheelmen to their fate by persuading them that it is an easy hill to climb.

A PROCEEDING in quo warranto has been filed in the Circuit Court to compel the Walnut Hills, Madisonville and Plainville Turnpike Company to show by what right they are exercising the functions of a corporation. The company have allowed the pike to wear out and become almost impassable, and this proceeding is expected to lead to the repair of this pike either by the company or the county.

ON Sunday, Sept. 9, the Cincinnati Bicycle Club was entertained by Mr. Julius Benckenstein and his genial spouse at their elegant residence on the heights to the west of Wyoming. Among those present were the sedate Galway, the pretty Miller, the pugilistic Nash, the silent Nelson, Air-Brake Norton, Pigman the kicker, Schultz the pusher, and the irrepressible "Toot" High, with his inevitable camera, who took the house, the grounds, a few trees, two hammocks, some base-ball bats, a couple of dogs, several colts, and in fact everything he could get his camera focussed on.

SYRACUSE.

"SALINA."

The Syracuse Cycling Club has arrived home from their trip to Buffalo, and are loud in their praises of the treatment they received from the Buffalo wheelmen. All are more than pleased with the trip, and declare the Bisons to be bricks, and not soft at that. With their yell, badges and bugler the Syracuse boys made an impression on the fraternity, and hope to renew the many pleasant acquaintances they made during their stay.

A SPECIAL meeting of the club will no doubt be called for next Monday evening, and plans for the winter will be discussed at length. Perhaps a series of entertainments will be arranged, which might be beneficial to our coffers. There is plenty of talent in the club which might, and ought to, be put to advantage, and which would serve to occasionally pass a very pleasant evening.

A CLAM-BAKE at Pleasant Beach is being projected by some of the local wheelmen. A good idea; and we would suggest that suitable prizes be offered for the biggest clam, the heartiest eater, and the man who can tell the biggest story.

THE time made in the WORLD road race was indeed wonderful, considering the weather and condition of the roads, and Dampman, McDaniel and Merrihew showed unlimited nerve by the way they stuck to the track, despite the unfavorable conditions.

THE success of "Doodles" at taking headers is something remarkable. Those who rode in from Fayetteville one morning will remember "how green the grass grew" where he fell. He has added still another scalp to his belt of falls; this time near Niagara Falls.

ABOUT six weeks more of good riding and then the wheels will be cleaned and put away for the winter. Then the gay and festive wheelman, resplendent in his seal-skin ulster and cap, will hie himself to the hills to coast and break his record of walking up hill. The Cycling Club will this winter own a pair of bobs, and hope to show the people of our city that they can hustle in winter as well as summer.

WE don't know anything about it, but a little bird told us that our Jim Becker was about to move to Buffalo. Rumor says that he had a fine time there during the fair, and that he has become so infatuated with one of Buffalo's fair daughters that our salt city no longer has any attractions. Oh! do come back, James, and we will willingly admit that you "slept by the window" on that memorable night, and will transfer your title of—well, "you know!"

"THE best laid plans of mice and men," etc. The Cycling Club is not a veritable Jonah, but we certainly had some hard luck last week. Considerable enthusiasm has been displayed since the return from Buffalo, and the club decided to attend the theatre in a body. So tickets were purchased for Thursday evening, Sept. 13, but Thursday morning the theatre burned to the ground, and nothing was left but a few bare walls and blackened timbers. The club rooms are directly opposite the ruins and from our windows a grand view of the fire could be had. Several members availed themselves of the rooms the morning of the fire. However, we are not to be "done" so easily, and will try the theatre racket again, and if our other Opera House burns up, why we will ride out of town somewhere and see some "barn-stormer" get in his work.

FOUR things we have noticed:
That President White smokes.
That Color-bearer Cherry sprained his wrist.
That Charlie Wood has a game leg.
That "Bill" Nye has contracted for numerous suppers after election.

NEWS

AND COMMENT.

It was a thrilling sight to see the earnest efforts of W. F. Knapp and H. G. Crocker to avoid the close companionship of a certain stout gentleman at Hartford last week, who seemed specially anxious to have close communication and obtain actual personal contact with those two well known flyers. As the desire was not mutual, it is unnecessary to say that the stout gentleman failed of his purpose.

A Letter That Needs No Comment.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 21, 1888.

GORMULLY & JEFFERY MFG. CO.:

Gentlemen—I have just returned from Michigan's L. A. W. Division Meet, and I trust the comparison I am about to make will be of interest to you. At the meet in 1887 there were 60 wheels, and only one of them was a Champion, and that was looked upon as rather a curiosity. This year at Grand Rapids nearly all makes of high grade wheels were there, but out of 112 wheels in the parade, there were 34 American Champions—an increase from 1-60 to about 1-3.

I can PROVE that there have been more American Champions sold in Michigan this year than any other TWO makes of high grade wheels. They have given good satisfaction, and I expect twice as many wheels will be sold next year. The Champion is used by the best riders too. Three out of five races at St. Johns were won on Champions. A $250 Marlboro Club Tandem has been discarded for a Challenge Tandem, and found to be decidedly the best.

Yours truly,

C. H. SMITH.

INCER CYCLES

Extract of Letter from W. S. Doane, now on his way from Denver to Boston, (Dated August 25.)

"I can fully agree with you regarding the Apollo, and would say that I have thorough confidence in the wheel, and that is saying a great deal more than I could about the —. I think without any doubt that the Apollo is the finest, easiest-running and strongest wheel I ever rode, and I only hope that I shall always be able to ride one, as up to the present date there is no wheel in the market that suits me better, and I can tell you I have ridden very, very hard for the last week, hard enough to tear any ordinary wheel to pieces."

HENRY F. CAMPBELL, of Providence, R. I., succeeded in climbing College Hill five times without a dismount, which is record for that hill.

THE Portland Wheel Club were to have been the guests of the Massachusetts Bicycle Club last Monday, but the rain prevented the carrying out of original programme.

THE English papers credit Mr. Pellant with the 50 mile road bicycle record in 3.14 6 2-5. We do not understand this as the 50 mile has been done by several much faster than 3.14 6 2-5.

MR. GERRY JONES has resigned his position as chairman of the Racing Board, and though President Kirkpatrick has accepted the resignation he has not yet announced Mr. Jones' successor.

PAULINE HALL, the Bouffe cantatrice rides a lady's bicycle. She rides because, as she puts it, "It preserves my appetite, my color, my vigor and my contour unblemished by adipose tissue."

IN the match 25-mile race between A. Gardner and C. C. Lee, of Chelsea, Mass., Lee fell at twenty miles and so badly injured himself that Gardner beat him by about ten minutes. Time of winner, two hours.

MR. EDWARD LEONARD, Local Consul of the L. A. W. at Auburn, N. Y., and Captain of the Auburn Cycle Club, was recently married to Miss Aggie A. Walker of the same city. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard took their bridal tour to Buffalo, Toronto, Montreal, Saratoga and New York.

GREAT preparations are being made in Chicago for a six-day race of eight hours per day, to be held at Battery D. Armory, commencing October 15, under the auspices of the Referee. The riders, among whom will be Knapp, Prince, Schock, Morgan and Mile. Armaindo, will receive half the gross receipts. The cost of the building and track, alone, will be over $1000.

IN the championship at Buffalo, it must be remembered, the referee decided to place Temple one point back of all others, or in other words give everybody else a point over him, although Crocker, Knapp and Neilson were entirely out of the hunt. This decided Temple not to compete in the final race, for even if he won first place he would have finished last according to points. This was hard on Ralph.

A CORRESPONDENT from Chicago writes us as follows: "The ladies bicycle craze has struck us. House and Roe have sold some 15 or 20 of their Salvos during the past month. Hereafter we may expect ladies in attendance upon our runs. We shall, hereafter, have to be very decorous as the ladies must command respect—stop at all soda fountains, for with the advent of our lady members, the day of the festive beer garden has passed."

W. A. ROWE arrived at his Lynn home last Saturday, and left for Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on Thursday evening. "The world's champion," W. F. Knapp, illuminated "shoe town" and his handsome wife's abode on Monday, and since that time has been giving his English experiences for the benefit of Merrill & Whitten's numerous customers. "Dutch" Knapp was originally intended for a comedian, and the loss to the mimic stage is beyond calculation.

MR. J. B. KAERCHER of Pittsburg write us asking what gear and length of crank should be properly applied to an "ordinary road wheel." We answered that any gear or crank that is applied to the ordinary stock wheel of any maker. In the safeties we do not think any wheel is kept as a stock wheel geared below 48, nor are the cranks any longer than 6 3-4 inches. We should therefore think that the gear and lengths mentioned above would be the fair minimum and maximum to hold as limits.

THE Eastern Road Club race, 25 miles, will be started from the Faneuil House, Brighton, at 2.30 to-morrow over route as already published. The supplementary race for tricycles, single and tandem, will be started immediately the 25 milers have been sent along. The route selected for the three wheelers is from Faneuil House, Chestnut Hill avenue to reservoir, pass through gate, around upper driveway between the basins, Beacon street to junction with Washington street at the great sign boards near Newton Lower Falls, turn to right and follow Washington street through West Newton, Newtonville, and the hill to Brighton opposite the Faneuil House, turn to right up Chestnut Hill avenue to reservoir, going through the gate, turn to right around both basins, finishing at the reservoir.

Bicycling News says Temple is the fastest man of his size that ever crossed a bicycle. The same paper says, "To sum up the results of the tour, it is only fair to say that the American Team have ridden honorably and well; they have, we believe, satisfied everyone who has had anything to do with them. If they have won, they have been quiet; if they have lost, they did so with good grace. On behalf of many thousands of wheelmen, we wish Messrs. Morgan, Temple and Woodside success and a good home-coming in the Western Hemisphere." On behalf of the American Team, the WORLD extends hearty thanks for the generous, hospitable and sportsmanlike treatment the members received while in Great Britain.

AT HARTFORD.

A GOOD track, good management and excellent racing caused the large crowd that witnessed the two days' racing, under the auspices of the Hartford Wheel Club, to show some of the old-time enthusiasm and interest. The results we give below:

Novice, one-mile, had for starters A. C. Lawrence, East Berlin; G. A. Pickett, New Haven; D. C. Shea, Hartford; H. J. Cudworth, Hartford; and E. A. Tucker, Meriden. The race was won by E. A. Tucker, with G. A. Pickett second and D. C. Shea third. Time, 3.02 1-2.

The one-mile professional race brought out Temple, Rowe, Crocker, Knapp, Neilson, Morgan, Dubois and Lees. It was evident that the crowd had no eyes except for Rowe, and no applause except for the same man. That Rowe is deserving of all the admiration he gets, no one will gainsay, but to the American with the Anglo-Saxon love of fair play, the evident coldness the visiting contingent of pros. received, and which the writer noticed at Buffalo as well as Hartford, the lack of a cheer or word of encouragement was a most distasteful feature in both tournaments. The writer does not discuss the fairness of the decisions of the judges or managements, he simply refers to the way the other professionals (and notably Temple) were received by the spectators. After the reception the American team had received at English hands, this coldness and, in some instances, evidences of ill feeling at the hands of American audiences must have been extremely galling to the Americans lately returned. Now to the race. Morgan let out in great shape, but at the first quarter Lees had taken the lead, and kept it until the home stretch was reached. Then the music commenced between Temple and Rowe, and such enthusiasm has not been seen on any track in many a day. Down the leaders rushed, and until within 100 yards of the finish it was difficult to tell which man had it, then Rowe spurred and crossed the line a foot ahead of Temple; Knapp third. Time, 2.50 3-4.

One-mile open—The starters were Brown and Crist, Fred Foster, Harry Hall, Jr., J. E. Dauchy, W. I. Wilhelm, W. W. Windle, and Fred Midegeley. Dauchy entered a protest vs. Windle, on the ground that Windle was a paid rider. The protest was, however, soon withdrawn. Dauchy did the "donkey work" for the half mile, and then the racing began. Midegeley did not propose to give way to Windle without a struggle, and so down the straight they came neck and neck. Windle got there first, with Midegeley a close second; Crist third. Time, 2.56.

Two-mile, 6.10 class, brought out E. A. Tucker, of Meriden; G. I. Whitehead, George C. Dresser, George Smart and Ludwig Forster, of Hartford; James Wilson, Jr., of Worcester; S. J. Steele, of Bristol, Conn.; Kenneth Brown, of Boston; H. C. Backus, of New Haven; and G. Minturn Worden, of Boston. Tucker and Smart did the pacing alternately until the home stretch, and then Forster went in and won as he pleased, with Smart second and Steele third. Time, 6 11 1-4.

One-mile safety machines, to weigh 35 pounds, or over. Davis brought a racing wheel, but he had it weighed with lead so as to come within the limit of 35 pounds. W. E. Crist won, with R. H. Davis second, and W. Harding third. Time, 2.55 3-4.

One-mile Columbia Cycle Club handicap; and very poor handicapping it proved for the scratch man, Damery. The result was, F. B. Covell, first; C. W. Loomis, second; J. J. Galvin, third. Time, 3.06.

Five-mile (professional) lap race—All the professionals except Lees turned out. The announcement was made that only the first three men in each lap would count, and that the first would count three, the second two and the third one. It was of course a loaf for all the distance except at the finish. During the race it was understood that Temple and Rowe had some words, for which they both should be ashamed. While this commendable repartee was being indulged in Knapp and Dubois had quietly stolen away, and Knapp managed to keep his lead to such good advantage as to win first prize, with ten points; Crocker seven, and Temple and Rowe six each. Neither man would consent to run the tie off, and so the third money was divided. Time, one mile, 3.17; two miles, 6.53; three miles, 10.31 1-2; four miles, 13.31 1-2; five miles, 16.46.

Two-mile amateur handicap was won by L. Forster; P. S. Brown second and E. A. Tucker third. Fred Foster was put at scratch, but he was clearly too heavily handicapped. F. Forster, the winner had 100 yards. Time, 6.50.

Three-mile State championship—The starters were William Harding, Hartford; H. C. Backus, New Haven; J. E. Dauchy, West Winsted; Ludwig Forster, Hartford; and E. A. Tucker, Meriden. The Meriden man did most of the pacing until the last, at which time L. Forster, who, by his fine riding, had become popular with the crowd, together with Harding, pushed for first place. Forster won amid great excitement; Harding second and Backus third. Time, 9.34.

One-mile tricycle—W. E. Crist won this race without much effort; R. H. Davis, second. Time, 3.09 1-2.

SECOND DAY.

The attendance was not as good as on the first day, but the track and weather were better. The first race, which was a

One-mile 3 minute class, brought out Ludwig Forster, G. I. Whitehead, James Wilson, Jr., A. C. Lawrence, Kenneth Brown, William James, H. C. Backus and George C. Dresser. Forster was of course the favorite, and he justified his friends' expectations by winning easily. H. C. Backus second, G. I. Whitehead third. Time, 2.52 1-2.

One-mile professional handicap. For the alleged reason that Rowe did not wish to start and ride against the "combination," whatever that may mean, the Lynn man did not go. West, 275 yards; Morgan, 120 yards; Dubois, 90 yards; Neilson, 60 yards; Knapp, 30 yards; Crocker had 20 yards, but started from scratch; Temple, scratch. One false start, and then the men were off. Crocker and Knapp deliberately let the other men run away from them, not making an effort to catch the others. Various reasons have been assigned why the two men loafed, but it was a wretched exhibition, and the crowd were properly indignant. In fact, after reaching the trainer's gate both men dismounted and went in. Knapp took first, Dubois second, and Morgan third. Time, 2.34 3-4.

One-mile Rover type handicap—The starters and handicaps were: H. J. Martel, Hartford, 175 yards; R. W. Bemis, Chicopee, 120 yards; P. S. Brown, Washington, D. C., 100 yards; Wm. Harding, Hartford, 50 yards; R. H. Davis and W. E. Crist, scratch. Davis and Crist took up the running very fast. Davis on turning into the straight made tracks for Harding, who was then leading. He managed to catch the Hartford flyer, and finished first, with Harding second and Brown third. Time, 2.46, which time is American record for that type of machine.

One-mile Hartford Wheel Club handicap—The starters and handicaps were: D. C. Shea, 150 yards; F. L. Damery, 120 yards; F. T. Reid and George C. Dresser, each 100 yards; Ludwig Forster, scratch. Forster at once set to work and cut down the handicap men, and he did this in fine shape, catching his men when they were well up the back stretch. Cresser and Reid collided and fell. Dresser got up and went on, but Reid, who had broken his wrist, stopped. Forster and Damery had a hot finish, but his record of continuous victory was not to be broken, and he finished first, with Damery second and Shea third. The success of Forster met with the public approval. Time, 2.50.

One-mile handicap, open, brought out 18 starters. L. Forster started, but was beaten for the first time. S. J. Steele (100 yards) won, with W. I. Wilhelm (40 yards) second, and K. Brown, third. Time, 2.38 3-4.

Three-mile professional lap race. The crowd, to be consistent with its former action, very properly cheered Rowe and very meanly hissed Temple as these men appeared. The action of these two men was equally reprehensible, but yet the crowd hissed one and cheered the other. Will the unbiased spectator say why? Again Knapp got first, Rowe got second money, and Temple and Crocker tied for third place. Time, 10.30.

One-mile amateur State championship. L. Forster, H. C. Backus, D. C. Barnum and W. H. Harding started. For three-quarters of the distance loafing tactics were indulged in, and then Harding and Backus started for home as fast as their abilities would permit, and that their "abilities" were of a high order will be seen when I state that Forster had all he could do to beat them home. He did it, however, and Backus had to take second place, and Harding had to be satisfied with third. Time, 3.32 1-4. The last quarter was made in 33 seconds.

Five-mile amateur lap race had as starters Ludwig Forster, H. J. Hall, Jr., C. P. Adams, W. I. Wilhelm, Fred Foster, W. E. Crist, G. Minturn Worden and P. S. Brown. This race brought some hot sprinting between the men, and after a few bouts, Forster concluded to withdraw; Brown won the race, with Crist second and Wilhelm third. Time, 15.27 1-2.

One-mile professional consolation had two starters, Neilson and West, with 150 yards' start. Neilson won easily in 3.08 1-4.

W. E. Crist and R. H. Davis then went for the tandem safety record. They succeeded in the following excellent time: Quarter, 41 3-4; half, 1.22 1-4; three-quarters, 2.05 1-4; mile, 2.44 1-2.

One-mile consolation—Whitehead first, Wilson second, Dresser third. Time, 3.19 1-2.

PROGRAMME OF EAST HARTFORD (CONN.) RACES

The seventh race meeting of the East Hartford Wheel Club will be held on the 29 of September, at 2 P. M., on the East Hartford Bicycle Track.

The programme will be as follows, and is for amateurs only: one-mile, East Hartford, championship, (for East Hartford riders only); one-half-mile, handicap, open, in heats; three-mile, handicap, open; two-mile, novice, open; one-mile, 3.20 class, open; one-mile, open; two-mile, lap, open; one-mile, consolation.

Entries close September, 25. Fee 50 cents each event to H. E. Bidwell, East Hartford, Conn.

PROVIDENCE RACES.

ARRANGEMENTS for our tournament, September 25, are now nearly complete and everything indicates a good racing and a big crowd. Work upon the track is progressing finely and it will be in much better condition than last year, especially is this true of the back stretch where last year it was poor.

The committee have decided to change the age in the boys from eighteen and under, to sixteen and under.

For those coming from Boston, we will say that on arrival in Providence change to the New York and New England Railroad which runs directly into the grounds. Dinner may be obtained in Providence or at the grounds.

A new system of marking the races will be used. It is neither numbers on white cloth or colored caps, but a combination of both the numbers will be used, but on differently colored cloths thus giving both number and color to go by. GEO. R. MCAUSLAN.

PROGRAMME OF THE TIOGA CYCLING CLUB RACES.

ON Saturday, September 29, the Tioga Cycling Club of Philadelphia will hold a race meeting at the new grounds of the Tioga Athletic Association at Westmoreland Station. The events will be:

One-mile bicycle (open), first prize, 53-inch racing bicycle, one-mile tandem bicycle, one-mile tandem tricycle, one-mile tricycle, open handicap, two-mile lap race, open bicycle, one-half mile bicycle, open to Philadelphians, one-mile 3 minute class, one-mile 3.20 class, one-mile novices' race, open to Philadelphians, one-mile Rover safety handicap, one-third-mile race for boys under 16.

The track is one-third mile, clay and cinder, with banked turns, and will be put in good condition as soon as possible.

Entries close September 25th with Capt. Isaac Van Deusen, T. C. C., 2101 Tioga st., Philadelphia. Entrance fee, 50 cents per man, each event. Races commence at 3 P. M. Handsome medals to winners.

Trains to Westmoreland, P. R. R., leave Broad street 2. 2.23, 2.55, 3.38. Trains to 22d street, P. & R. R., leave Ninth and Green streets 2.25, 3.

RACING AT DES MOINES, IOWA.

THE bicycle races held under the auspices of the Iowa State Fair Association at Des Moines, Iowa, September 4-5, resulted as follows: September 4, one-mile race won by W. Bryant of Cedar Falls; prize, $10.00 L. A. W. gold badge; J. Crosby, Cedar Falls, second; prize, Fish saddle. Time, 3.23.

Two-mile race, won by D. Meurer of Cedar Falls; prize, $25.00 L. A. W. diamond badge; Whitmore of Osceola, second; prize, champion lamp. Time, 7.10.

One-half-mile race, won by John Crosby, Cedar Falls; prize, $10 L. A. W. gold badge; Ward of Prairie, second; prize, chime bell. Time, 1.35.

Five-mile race, won by Whitmore of Osceola; prize, silver cup; D. Meurer, Cedar Falls, second; prize, Kelley saddle. Time, 18.39.

Club team race, for State Fair trophy, $95.00 silver cup, open to State, three men from each club, each man to ride five miles. Won, as they pleased, by Cedar Falls Wheelmen, represented by Cropper, Crosby, Meurer.

The track was used also for horse races, therefore not very fast Wednesday's races were witnessed by over 10,000 spectators. Visiting wheelmen were entertained by the Des Moines Bicycle Club, who were instrumental in bringing about the races. A lantern parade on eve of the 4th attracted universal attention, and traversed a good part of Des Moines, ten to twenty miles of paved streets.

The Cedar Falls' Wheelmen now hold two State championship trophies, the State Fair cup and Grinnell Wheelmen's trophy won at the July League meet at Grinnell, Iowa. These must again be contested for next year and some fine contests are therefore in prospect.

KANSAS CITY TOURNAMENT AND MISSOURI DIVISION MEET.

THE pretty little programmes of the cycle tournament and Missouri Division meet, to the number of 1000, have been mailed to wheelmen in Missouri, Kansas and throughout the West. To those who failed to receive a programme this letter is particularly addressed, and contains all particulars of the meet up to date (September 15).

The United Wheelmen, under whose auspices the tournament is given, are sparing no pains to make the tournament and meet an enjoyable success, and cordially invite every wheelman to come and attend the meet and return home all the better for his outing.

Thursday morning, Sept. 2, visiting wheelmen will be met at the trains by the Reception Committee and escorted to League headquarters. In this connection would say the rate at the Midland is $2.50 per day, and if wheelmen wish cheaper quarters they can be had. At 2 o'clock a line will be formed and the wheelmen will take place, beginning at 3 o'clock. In the evening the United Wheelmen will hold a reception at their rooms, 816 Central street.

On Friday, the races will be continued in the afternoon. In the evening an illuminated parade will be given, and the wheelmen will parade through the business and residence streets. Arrangements are now being made to costume the wheelmen. After the parade the wheelmen will go to the Exposition. This evening has been especially set apart for the cyclers, and will be known as "wheelmen's night."

On Saturday the races will be continued, and in the evening the grand banquet at the Midland will terminate the meet proper. The banquet will prove a fitting finale to the three days' festivities. The banquet will be an elaborate affair.

The next day, Sunday, will be spent at Merriam Park, ten miles distant from the city, reached over a good, level country road. A luncheon will be served by the United Wheelmen. The day will be given over to exchanging reminiscences, renewing old acquaintances and making new ones. In the evening the boys will return home.

Runs will be arranged, and wheelmen who wish may have an opportunity to see the city and the surrounding country. The streets are paved with cedar blocks, making cycling very enjoyable.

The races promise to be fine and fast, and up to date entries have been received from Will Windle, Milbury, Mass.; Colie Bell, Minneapolis, Minn.; Thomas F. Blackmore, Omaha, Neb.; F. W. Mehlig and Harry Gordon, St. Louis; W. D. Sheriff, California, Mo.; Harry Rittenhouse, Jonesburg, Mo.; Harry Phelps, Topeka, Kan.; Hiram S. Hale, Junction City, Kan.; Harry Lesh, A. Jos. Henley and Baker, Wichita, Kan.; F. W. Metcalf, Olathe, Kan.; R. M. Seibel, Nelson T. Haynes and Harry G. Stuart, Kansas City. As the entries don't close till Sept. 23 there is expected to be a rush in the end. St. Louis is expected to send up a delegation of flyers. The track will be a four-lap one, forty feet wide on the home stretch. The track will be made as fast as it is possible to make it.

St. Louis will send a delegation of about fifty, and it will come in a special car. Those who desire to attend should address W. M. Brewster, 309 Olive street, for particulars as to rates, transportation, etc.

The corrected programme of the races and entertainments is as follows:

FIRST DAY, THURSDAY, SEPT. 27.

Parade from club house to race track, 2 P. M. One-mile Kansas State championship, open to Kansas only—Prize, championship gold medal.

FOURTH DAY, SUNDAY, SEPT. 30.

This day will be supplementary to the regular programme, and will be given over to such quiet, restful pursuits, amid adjacent rural resorts, as will form a fitting finale to what has gone before.

TEMPLE CHALLENGES ROWE.

Editor Bicycling World: Owing to the very unfair and unsatisfactory ending of the so-called world's championship at Buffalo, and the difference of opinion between Mr. Rowe and his friends on one hand, and Ralph Temple, the international world's champion, and myself on the other, I hereby challenge Mr. Rowe to meet Temple in a series of three races, one, five and ten miles, best two out of three races, for $1000, $500 a side. The first race to take place in Chicago, Oct. 6, distance to be mutually decided upon in signing articles. The second race to take place over an Eastern track, Oct. 13, and the third, if necessary, the following Saturday; place of race to be mutually agreed upon.

Inclosed please find $100 (one hundred dollars) to bind our challenge, the race to be for the world's championship. A Western man to referee the Chicago contest, and an Eastern man to referee the Eastern contest, each man to be allowed two umpires. Referees to be mutually agreed upon.

We will present Mr. Rowe with articles for his signature, and will forward same and all further deposits to the editor of BICYCLING WORLD, who can be, if agreeable, final stakeholder. We wish no controversy in the matter, but mean business, and hope no delay will be attempted,

RALPH TEMPLE, of Chicago,
International World's Champion, Per Senator Morgan.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 14.

[We have received the $100 deposit as above from "Senator" Morgan.—Ed.]

BUSHWHACKING.

Down in Baltimore, Maryland, there is a bicycle club, whose name, now, is seldom seen in print. Not that it is not worthy to be there, but clubs, like individuals, grow older, and the fresh and vigorous debutantes push them in the corners, as well as the buds in society transform their elder sisters into wallflowers.

There is a possibility that some of you who attended the late national meet met a few of the members of this club, whose home is picturesquely situated in Druid Hill Park; if so, I am sure you received the courteous treatment that one gentleman extends to another.

In the early days of cycling the members of this club were "unsurpassed by none," according to the memorable words of one of our ex-captains, in regard to riding; they rode frequently, and took long, across-country, all-day runs. But men grow older, and now they pedal out to Halstead's and quietly spend the day, leaving the distant roads free to the young riders. There are a good many original geniuses in this club, and amongst them was—I say because he is not much of a cyclist now, for there came unto him a pair of brown eyes that are fairer to him than the skies, a sweet face more attractive than the green fields and beckoning trees, a voice more luring than the songs of birds and the whispers of the zephyrs, and—well, he sits up o' nights now with a bottle of soothing syrup in one hand and the patient in the other. He had a subtle way of enticing us along the most disjointed roads he could find.

One Sunday afternoon he beguiled us down a lane that started as fair his promises, and developed in the stoniest, "ruttiest" that we ever rode. It was up and down hill, across railroad tracks, through streams, past antiquated country houses that never saw a railroad or steamboat, down by an old mill, such as you see in a forty-cent chromo, on through a gate and then spread out and disappeared as multitudinous wagon tracks, in an old field, overgrown with stubby pines, in one part of which we found an open grass-covered space, enclosed on three sides by trees and on the fourth by a stone wall capped by a single rail.

"Fellows," exclaimed our pilot, "what a place for an all-day's meeting." From that remark originated the Order of the Bushwhackers, a society peculiar to the members of this club.

The first meeting of the organization took place on a first Sunday in August, and on that date the annual meetings have since been held.

You might term it the family reunion of the club's members, for on that day the old, old riders brush the cobwebs and chestnut burrs from their wheels, and come forth as they did in the old days, when they frightened horses and rang the bell to please the small roadway waits. The members they taught to ride, they are the captains and lieutenants now, though our particular captain is one of the old patriarchs, and the new members come, and also the candidates for admission to the order. They, in the course of time, will be the captains and lieutenants and then where will we old fogies be? Halstead loads his spring wagon with a bountiful dinner and sends it to us at the proper time, and we spread the tablecloth on the ground and on it place the heaped plates of fried chicken, the dozens of hard boiled eggs, the deviled crabs, the soft ones, the sandwiches, the jars of slaw, the plates of butter, the knives, forks and spoons, the pepper and the salt, and all the other things, and without waiting for grace, every mother's son of us gets the fattest piece of chicken, the biggest sandwich, and the largest crab, and other things in proportion, that he can, and we sit around on the grass and eat, as only cyclists who have had a glorious swim in a running stream to whet their appetites can eat. And then comes the watermelon, and whilst we devour that our photographic member turns on his camera, and now every one of us has to own up to the true size of his mouth.

On reaching the ground on the first Sunday of the present August the usual programme was carried out. The swim was first, and which, whilst waiting for dinner, the candidates were initiated, and when we sat down to the table they compared the reality to the hallucinations of a frightened mind; which were the worst, they alone can say. Following the after-dinner smoke came the annual games.

The master of ceremonies gathers them all together, making them join hands in a circle, then when all is ready, informs them they have thirty seconds to bring to him the largest stone they can find.

There is a grand rush, and soon the contestants come scurrying back, and all size stones are laid at his feet. The winner's, the second and the last man's names are announced and recorded, and the master of ceremonies proclaims that next comes the left-handed stone throwing, in which each throws the stone he brought, at which announcement the triumphant look fades from the champion big-stone finder's face, while the visage of him who was last, brightens wonderfully. After that a thirty-foot square is marked off, and each contestant is timed as he walks the first side, hops the second, skips the third, and jumps, both feet together, the fourth.

If you want to laugh at something originally ludicrous, get a body of men ranging from forty odd years down to the teens, and engage them in such a contest. The skip is particularly side-splitting.

The contestants are again gathered together and informed that they have thirty seconds to go down in the woods and get the crookedest stick they can find. Back they come with all styles of wood from a sapling and its leaves and branches down to the little twig. The names are announced, and the next event is the one-minute hole-digging; each contestant uses the stick he brings back, and he who digs the deepest hole is proud to wear the champion mud medal for one year.

Every man finds the softest spot he can find, and at the word the dust flies in every direction.

The next event is to get on the other side of the fence any way but over it. The contestants are arranged in a line one hundred feet from the fence, and each man thinks as he looks at it that it is too far to the end to think of going round it, so the only way to get on the other side is through it.

There are only two openings between the rails of this particular fence large enough for a man to get through, and you may be sure every man has his eye on one of them, and at the word there is a mad rush. It is not the first man who gets there who is first through. He is generally hauled back or some one calmly sits on the top rail and pins him down. There is a desperate struggle in the briars and weeds until the cheers announce that some one has won the victory.

Then everybody hastens down in the woods to find the queerest thing he can, and when the time is up they come trooping back with an assortment of curios that makes it hard to decide.

One came back with a package of cigars another had dropped; two returned pulling each other along. One did not get back until late, and explained that he had looked for a catalogue of a bicycle that did not hold a world's record.

Then comes the tree-climbing contest, and I can assure you that the average cyclist can climb a hill easier than a tree.

There are other events just as nonsensical, but if nonsense will color to the cheeks, brighten the eyes and fill to overflowing one's mouth with laughter then I declare one is never too old to make a playfellow of nonsense.

When the sun coasts over the horizon from our sight, we bid good bye to our yearly meeting place, and as we ride home watch the angels light their starry lamps for their nightly run across the sky.

SECRETARY.

TEMPLE'S DEFENDER.

Editor Bicycling World: In view of the many comments pro and con over the dissatisfaction expressed by Ralph Temple and his friends over the exceedingly unfair treatment he received at Buffalo, and Mr. H. D. Corey's letter in your editorial page in last week's issue, possibly you will allow me space for a statement of facts as they existed, and not as they were twisted by the officials, Mr. Rowe and his friends. In the first place I hasten to inform my friend Mr. Corey that if I have done him an injustice, contrition follows. The main reason which I had for connecting Mr. Corey with the matter was because of the wordy warfare he had with Mr. T. W. Eck in the Judge's stand, when Mr. Eck claimed second place, by a foot, for Knapp, which was given to Rowe, and Mr. Corey's anxiety to wager Mr. Eck one hundred dollars that he (Corey) would judge the following day. Of Mr. Corey's persuasive powers I have nothing to say, but not one of the Buffalo officials (I would except Mr. Corey) have, in my opinion, had sufficient training to fill a prominent official position at a race meeting. The Referee has convicted himself to partiality, and there is no reason why men connected with the trade in any capacity, either traveller or agent, should occupy the position of an official at a race meeting. We all know that one bicycle firm in America overshadows all others up to now, and notwithstanding this, good officials could be found who are not connected with the trade in any form. Mind you, I have brought no specific charge against Mr. Corey or his conferees, on the other hand I feel the necessity of sticking to the protest embodied in the signed document by racing men at Buffalo, and which personally I stand responsible for, that the trade be not represented as officials at any important meeting. What would English riders say if Mr. Thomas Humber or Walter Phillips were appointed officials at an English meeting? Judging, in my mind, is a peice of red tapeism that can be dispensed with. A referee and umpires are alone used on the Continent. A referee with backbone enough, without consulting citizens from away-back who happened to see a finish, is what is wanted. The umpires, however, didn't count much at Buffalo, as the opinion of three professional cyclists and others interested in Rowe's favor, and possibly antagonistic to Ralph Temple, were given precedence over the umpires. And here I might remark that the umpire, at 150 yards from the finish, stated, before the inquisition that "sat on" Temple, that it was his opinion that Temple had Rowe beaten when passing his station, and that Temple appeared to be winning easily. This gentleman spoke truth, and is a member of the Buffalo Ramblers. And why call a meeting down town to decide a question which should have been decided on the track? Of course it was eminently right and proper that T. W. Eck, W. F. Knapp and H. G. Crocker should say Temple fouled Rowe, for did not that give them a better chance to secure the plums of the championship? The little supper between the crowd, given by Mr. Eck, was a fitting conclusion to the official farce. I charge the referee, Howard P. Merrill, with distinct favoritism, and for allowing his favoritism to outweigh his fair judgment. These are weighty words, but well weighed before utterance.

Here is this from his pen, in the BICYCLING WORLD (and here I might remark a referee should represent no newspaper). Mr. Merrill says: "Rowe, of course, demonstrated at Buffalo that he was best man." He might, "yes, with Referee Merrill's assistance." Let's see how he demonstrated. Knapp won the half-mile, Crocker the three-mile and Knapp second (Rowe got it though), Temple won the five-mile, Crocker the mile handicap; so all Rowe fairly won was the mile championship and three-mile handicap, and Knapp won the two out of three at Hartford. In his report of the Hartford races to the Springfield Union (I failed to see the Buffalo reports, although no doubt they were of the same tenor) Referee Merrill says, speaking of the mile championship the first day: "Soon the crowd were able to single out Rowe and Temple, and the grand stand rose to its feet and began to cheer for Rowe. If there were any cheers for Temple they were drowned out by the Rowe enthusiasm." So you see bias crops up even in those few lines, and from the referee, mind. The second day's report says: "Temple's tactics at Buffalo and Hartford have considerably damaged him, and it will be a long while, if ever, before patrons of race meets will look upon him with anything but disfavor."

Referee Merrill goes on to speak knowingly of "a combine" against Rowe, and insinuates that Crocker, Knapp and Temple were all working against Rowe. For any and every case of combination in which Ralph Temple can be found guilty of engaging in at Buffalo or Hartford, I will forfeit one hundred dollars, the same to go toward improving Massachusetts roads. The WORLD holds one hundred dollars of my money. Temple worked in all races for himself, and had to practically work against three good men, and did not consult the Referee or the crowd as to how he should run his races; he simply obeyed orders. The reason Rowe did not start in the mile handicap was best known to himself; but this we know, and that is we make no pace for anybody, unless so inclined. Ralph Temple's star will be still in the ascendant when that of his critics will have set forever, and the treatment he has received at the hands of his country after returning from victories the like no athlete ever before accomplished will make my young Western friend yearn to return to a country where fair play is not much boasted of, but where it is surely a reality. I will close by quoting a line from F. P. Prial, editor of the Wheel. In the report in his paper he says:

"On both the first and second days there were two very close bids for second place in the professional events—so close, indeed, that the judges had difficulty in placing the men, though we agreed with their decision in both cases, notwithstanding the clamor of the crowd. In the second heat of the professional championship event, however, we disagree with the referee's decision that Temple had deliberately fouled Rowe, and was disqualified from the race. The stake at issue in this event was $1000. In his previous races at the Buffalo meet Temple invariably entered the home stretch close to the inside border, and could not get through. In the championship event Temple decided before the race that his only success lay in turning into the home stretch clear of the field. About a quarter of mile from home the men came with a grand rush, and, assisted by the gale, they rounded into the home stretch at a pace possibly never exceeded in a bicycle race. The men swung wide, with Rowe and Temple on the extreme outside, Temple leading by a few lengths. The big Lynn man made a superb effort, gained inch by inch till within a length of Temple, and then fell away, taking his feet off the pedals and wobbling dangerously near the rails. It was clear that Temple outspurred every man in the race, yet there is no doubt that Rowe was dangerously close to the rails and might not have been able to get through. In the light of facts there might have been ground for a claim of foul; but that it was deliberate is claiming too much. We think it was not deliberate, because Temple was always ahead of Rowe—so far ahead as not to know where the Lynn man was; because Temple has never been accused of tricky riding; and finally, if the foul had been deliberate, the judges, umpires and referee must have seen it at once. We think a grave injustice was done Temple in this matter."

Now personally Howard P. Merrill and myself have been (and Barkis is willin' to be yet) good friends, but I want to emphasize to H. P. that whatever his leanings might be to Rowe, I do not accuse him of wilful dishonesty, but rather the result of sentiment which has carried kingdoms away.

By the way, the denial from Mr. Corey in regard to his not judging the second day, sounds peculiar when I read his report signed by himself, in same issue, as one of the judges, regarding the race which I won, and which Mr. Eck objected to, owing to my friend, Jules Dubois, doing alleged pacing for me. How does H. D. reconcile these facts?

Boston, Sept. 18, 1888.

"SENATOR" MORGAN.

The Coventry Machinist's Co. scored a double record at Hartford last week. Mr. R. H. Davis rode a Swift safety when he made the American record time of 2:46, and also Mr. R. H. Davis and W. E. Crist took the tandem safety record on the Swift tandem in the American record times of quarter, 41:34; half, 1:22:24; three-quarters, 2:05:14; mile, 2:44:12. Well done, Coventry Machinist's Co. At Buffalo, too, the Swift safeties and Marlboro' trikes swept the board.

DURING the present season riders of Columbias have won at least half of the bicycle races at nearly every race meeting. At Cheltenham Beach, Chicago, August 25th, ten out of twelve events, including the one and two miles State championships, were won on Columbias. At New Castle, Pa., August 30th, eight out of eleven events were won on Columbias. At the great Buffalo tournament riders of Columbias carried away fifteen out of twenty-five possible first prizes, and at Hartford eleven out of the seventeen bicycle events were won by riders of Columbias.

CUT THIS OUT and show it to your fellow wheelmen. It will not appear in every issue. Do you want a $10.00 or $5.00 Cyclometer? We will send you one Free, any make you desire, and this is the way we propose to do it! Every wheelman who orders a within the next 30 days will get mailed with his carrier a number corresponding with one which will be placed in a Box. At the expiration of 30 days the numbers will be thoroughly shaken up together, and one drawn out; the party holding the number to correspond with the one drawn will secure a $10.00 Cyclometer. The numbers will be thoroughly shaken again, and a second number drawn, the lucky holder of which will secure a $5.00 Spoke Cyclometer. Now is your time. You have got to buy a luggage carrier, and you may as well get a cyclometer with it Free. Every wheelman wants a cyclometer (you stand a good chance of getting one of the two), and every wheelman needs a luggage carrier. There is none equal to the "Ross Improved"; fits either crank, Star or safety bicycles. Our Carrier is new, and not known at all by thousands of wheelmen; therefore we make this splendid offer in order that wheelmen who have not seen it may know what a convenient carrier it is. Believing every wheelman who has not a carrier, and many that have, will avail themselves of this grand opportunity to get a new carrier at regular price, and a first-class cyclometer gratis. The Ross Carrier is detachable, and is made stronger and better than ever before. Do not fail to send your order at once. You can have the use of the carrier from now on and secure a chance on two prizes.

Carriers finely made and nickelled. Price only $1.00. By mail $1.10. In ordering be particular and state name of wheel and year of manufacture.

J. C. TRAVIS, Sole Manufacturer,

SUCCESSOR TO C. H. ROSS & CO.

15 Second Street, Albany, N. Y.

P. S. All dealers should carry the "Ross Carrier" in stock. Send for descriptive circular and price.

WE have prepared a brief of Court Decisions, Rulings, etc., which members of the legal fraternity may have on application.

MASSACHUSETTS members are entitled to the Road Book free of expense. Those who are not supplied may get the book from Sanford Lawton, Springfield, Mass.

THE Reorganization Committee met at Buffalo during the tournament and drew up a new code of by-laws for the League. These will be presented at the annual meeting of the National Assembly to be held in February.

CHIEF CONSULS of the Divisions have been supplied with recruiting circulars. Those who desire to work in the direction of an increased membership may draw upon the Chief Consuls of their respective States for these circulars.

THE last few months has seen quite a struggle for position between New Jersey and Illinois. Last year the New Jersey Division had 865 members while Illinois had but 635. The latter State did not fall off in numbers so largely as did New Jersey, and she has been in hot pursuit of her Eastern rival ever since. Illinois has now met and passed New Jersey, but the struggle is not yet over.

LEAGUE members will confer a favor by notifying us of any mistake they may find in the direction labels. The mail list has just been re-set and it is impossible to avoid many typographical errors. We want to have the addresses as nearly correct as it is possible to get them, and we invoke the aid of the members. Please notice wrapper carefully and ask for any change that is called for.

IT would not be right for the League to expend its efforts for the exclusive advantage of a locality. Would there not be a great outcry if the League should expend its funds for, say, a cinder path from Buffalo to Niagara Falls? Is it any more reason to cry out against the League because it has not built Brooklyn wheelmen a cinder path to Jamaica? The League is for general purposes; local needs must be met and local improvements secured by local organization.—F. W. Loucks in Wheel.

THE new Cyclists Union of Brooklyn is organized to carry out a most worthy project and the League wishes it all success. It is to be regretted that some of its promoters feel it necessary to place themselves in antagonism to the League in laying plans for the new organization, and that they see no better way to recruit the membership than that of crying down the League. There is no good reason why harmony should not prevail between each and every society that aims to aid the cause of cycling. The League cannot well do the work laid out to be done by the Brooklyn Union, nor can the Union do what the League has done and is now doing.

WE have heard only one complaint against the L. A. W. and that was that the members were always in a row, and the falling off in the membership of the Vermont division is due largely to this fact. Many of the boys have personally informed us that they would not belong to an organization that must be in a fight of some kind all the time.—Vermont Bicycle.

How short-sighted some of these wheelmen are. We know something about the management of the League and yet we know nothing of the "rows" that the Vermont wheelmen profess to see. There is no want of harmony among League officials and the disturbances are all outside. Cycling papers must have something to entertain their readers, and cycling editors believe they can gain a reputation for being smart by losing no opportunity for "pitching into the League." A prominent wheelman said to us the other day—"These wheel papers do the cause of cycling more harm than good. They do not strive to advance the cause but bend all their energies to growling at those who are giving their time and talents to the good work." We give this for all that it is worth and have no comment to make. It is very true that there have been many disturbances in wheeling circles the past two or three years, but they have been outside the League and League officials have had little if anything to do with them. We have heard of several attempts to break up the League and secession is often threatened and yet the organization goes proudly on, doing its work in a quiet way and making itself of increased value to the sport with each succeeding year. A buzz fly makes a great noise, but it should not be taken for a note of war, nor the rattle of a hurricane.

Pennsylvania Division.

Chief Consul George A. Jessup has called a meeting of the Board of officers Pennsylvania Division, for September 27th, 1888, at Lochiel House, Harrisburg, Pa., at 7:30 P. M., sharp. It is earnestly requested that all Representatives and Club Representatives be present at this very important meeting, and to further this end, all mileage and hotel expenses will be paid by the Division on rendering bills to the Secretary-Treasurer.

Geo. A. JESSUP, Chief Consul.
J. G. CARPENTER, Secretary-Treasurer.

Missouri Division Meeting!

Wheelmen residing on the Iron Mountain, St. Louis, Kansas and Missouri Railways and other lines adjacent to St. Louis, who wish to attend the meet at Kansas City, can join the St. Louis party leaving Thursday evening, Sept. 27. As this will be the most successful meet our division ever held, a large attendance is expected. Those who wish sleepers or chair seats secured for them should advise me promptly. Take your League ticket with you and bring your friends. Fraternally,
ROBERT HOLM,
Chairman Touring Board.

Massachusetts Division.

The first meeting of the Board of Officers of the Massachusetts Division, L. A. W., for 1888-9 was held in Room 11, Young's Hotel, Saturday evening, September 15.

Chief Consul Hayes called the meeting to order at 9:55, and made an informal report of the past year's work. Mr. A. W. Robinson was elected Secretary pro tem.

The first business was the election of delegates to the National Assembly. Mr. Bassett nominated Messrs. J. B. Seward and A. W. Robinson; Dr. Emery nominated Dr. W. G. Kendall, Mr. Seward nominated Mr. Chas. S. Howard, Mr. Robinson nominated Mr. Sanford Lawton, and on motion of Dr. Emery a ballot was taken, and the above named gentlemen were declared elected.

Chief Consul Hayes announced the following Standing Committees for the ensuing year:

Rules and Regulations—W. H. Emery, C. S. Howard, E. B. Coleman.

Rights and Privileges—J. S. Dean, W. S. Slocum, G. A. Perkins.

Finance—J. F. Adams, A. L. Bowker, W. A. Mosman.

Touring—A. W. Robinson, W. G. Kendall, J. B. Seward.

Improvement of Highways—C. R. Dodge, G. H. Perry, C. W. Fourdrinier.

On motion of Mr. Bassett $100 were appropriated for expense of Secretary-Treasurer's office, and $100 for Chief Consul's office.

Chief Consul Hayes appointed the following committee on Guide Boards: Dr. Emery, Mr. Geo. Perkins and Mr. Irving H. Kennedy.

Adjourned 11:05. ARTHUR W. ROBINSON,
Secretary pro tem.

Fall Meet of Maine Division.

The fall race meeting of the Maine Division will be held in Waterville, September 27th. Full particulars have been mailed to each member and a full attendance is hoped for. Every effort will be made to make it a most enjoyable occasion, and with good weather the result wished for cannot fail to be realized. Let every member be on hand.
F. A. ELWELL.

Maine Election.

The result of the mail vote in Maine is the election of the following officers:
Chief Consul—Dr. George E. Dow of Portland.
Vice Consul—Charles D. Batchelder of Sanford.
Representative—James O. Whittemore of Fairfield.
A. L. T. CUMMINGS, Sec.-Treas.

Missouri Division.

Your attention is again called to the fact that the annual meeting of the Division will be held at Kansas City on the 27th, 28th and 29th days of this month. This is the first attempt that has been made to hold the meeting outside of St. Louis, and every effort should be made to secure a large attendance, and thus show our appreciation of the efforts that are being made by the United Wheelmen of Kansas City to make the affair a success. They have provided a most excellent and generous programme, and no one who goes can fail to have a most enjoyable time. I therefore urge every wheelman who can possibly get away to attend the meeting. If you cannot take in the three days, take such part of them as your arrangements will permit. All who can go are requested to notify Robert Holm, Chairman of the Touring Board. Address, care Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, St. Louis, at as early a date as possible, so that the necessary railroad accommodations can be secured. There should be at least a car load from St. Louis.

At the request of Robert Holm, Chairman, I have appointed Walter Williams, of Boonville, and W. H. Cameron, of St. Joseph, additional members of the Touring Board.

I have also appointed Alex M. Lewis Local Consul for the city of St. Louis.

The Miami House is appointed the League Hotel for Miami, Mo. Regular rate $2.00 per day; meals 50 cents. To League members, $1.50 per day; meals 35 cents. Yours fraternally, W. M. BREWSTER, Chief Consul.

L. A. W. Uniform.

The Uniform Committee have lately received several inquiries asking where the L. A. W. uniform cloth can be obtained and whether the cloth was giving satisfaction. The committee desires to say in answer to the inquiries that the cloth is giving entire satisfaction, does not fade and wears well. Any member of the League who wishes to have his uniform made by his home tailor can procure the L. A. W. uniform cloth by the yard of Messrs. Wanamaker & Brown, Philadelphia, Penn. For the Committee,
G. R. BIDWELL, Sec.

Club Representatives.

The following clubs have elected Representatives for the States in which they are respectively situated:

Los Angeles Wheelmen, Los Angeles, Cal.—J. W. A. Off.

Canton Bi. Club, Canton, O.—Frank C. Meyer.
Elizabeth Wheelmen, Elizabeth, N. J.—George C. Pennell, John C. Wetmore.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member."

Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M. on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

DID VICTORS

Take everything worth having in the great 100 mile Road Race at Buffalo Sept. 8?

That's just what they did, and when we got the returns and found that VICTORS took first, second, fourth, fifth and sixth place, only one machine of any other make finishing at all, we were quite content. When we can have NEARLY all the earth we are willing to leave a bit of the backwoods for the other fellows.

It has grown to be a matter of history, that when the finish of a great road race comes VICTORS are found in places with very low numbers, as 1 and 2, or 1, 2 and 3. Messrs. Dampman and McDaniel, who finished first and second in the Buffalo races, entered on their regular Victor Light Roadsters, believing them to be the strongest, fastest and most reliable road machines in the world. The result proved the soundness of their judgment.

The result has been the same in all the principal road races of the past four years—witness Clarksville, Crawfordsville, Big 4, Boston 100 miles, &c., and it surely means something. We might win an occasional race by a "scratch," but when it comes to a regular thing we submit that it indicates that

THEY ARE BUILT TO WIN,

And this means that they are perfectly adapted for all around road use.

In the Eastern Road Club race, Sept. 22, Clark, of the Dorchester Club, finished first on his Victor Light Roadster.

We shall have more to say when there are more races.

MY CYCLING LOG BOOK. By "Papa" Weston. The transitory pleasures of cycling can be made as permanent as its physical benefits, by jotting down in a well devised log book, the distances and incidents of one's various journeys. Knowing that such a record is a most pleasant thing to have, and believing that the keeping of such should be encouraged, as tending to the permanent good of cycling in more ways than can be referred to here. The Log Book is handsomely and strongly bound in red leather, will last for years of constant use, and is the best arranged book of its kind ever yet devised. It fills a want often felt by the cyclist who values records of interest for future reference. Price, post paid, $1.25. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

Messrs. Wm. Read & Sons, Boston, Mass.:

Gentlemen—I have ridden the NEW MAIL constantly for four months, covering over 1200 miles. A great part of this riding has been done over some of Maryland's roughest roads, and the machine is as staunch and in as good condition as the day I bought it.

I am very much pleased with the machine, and I expect it to be my mount of the future.

As a hill climber it beats any straight wheel I have ever ridden, and I consider it a first-class all round machine.

EDITORS:

C. W. FOURDRINIER.

J. S. DEAN.

BOSTON, 28 SEPTEMBER, 1888.

THE racing season is nearly over, and we will soon be able to devote more time and space to tours and runs.

SO retaliation against Canada is to be carried into the cycling ranks? It looks so, when we do not allow Foster, the plucky Canadian, to take any more "firsts" in this country. We must "protect" ourselves against Canuck brawn and brain, you know.

FOR the first time in cycling history this country is to be the scene of a series of races to determine the title of championship of the world. The contestants are R. Temple and W. A. Rowe. Temple rests his claim on the fact that he has time after time beaten the best men England can produce. Since Temple's return to this country Rowe has succeeded in beating Temple, and of course the Lynn man claimed the premiership. This claim has been disputed by Temple, and the outcome is a series of races to finally settle the question. That it will be a race "for blood" we think we can safely stake our reputation by stating it is a fact. Both men are terribly in earnest, and both equally confident.

That the best man may win is the wish of all true lovers of the sport. Let every one bear in mind the fact that both men have honorable records, and are both equally entitled to consideration at the hands of the public. For the good name of American fairness we trust that the public exhibitions of bias will not be so offensively prominent during these matches as it unfortunately was at Buffalo. We bespeak a fair, generous reception for Temple; he has nobly earned it, and were Rowe or any other good man publicly insulted, as Temple has been, we would raise our voice in appeal on his behalf.

MIDDLESEX CYCLING CLUB.

This club, which was organized for the purpose of promoting the interest of tricycling among the ladies and gentlemen riders of the neighboring towns of Wakefield, Malden, Melrose, Everett, Maplewood and Medford, has been very successful, great interest being taken in it as it is the only club in this vicinity where the ladies have an equal interest.

As the club was originally organized in rather an informal manner and a number of questions arising as to who should join, a special meeting was held in Melrose at the residence of Mr. Jerome Milbourne, at which a Constitution and By-laws were adopted, and several new officers were elected.

The club was originally intended for tricycle and tandem riders only, but there being a number of bicycle riders having applied for admission, after some discussion it was voted to admit them provided they had some lady friend who also desired to join, as it is the desire of the club to have as many ladies as gentlemen.

The runs of the club which have been held were all well attended. The club have also made up several theatre party through the courtesy of two of its members.

The officers of the club are President, J. M. Gorrie, Melrose; Vice President, Mrs. Chas. Atkinson, Malden; Secretary and Treasurer, F. K. M. Jones, Melrose; Captain E. P. J. Morton, Melrose; first Lieutenant, G. J. McArthur, Malden; Color Bearer, U. K. Meres, Everett; Bagler, S. P. Brock, Melrose. The club now has over sixty members.

TEMPLE—ROWE.

We append below the articles of agreement entered into by R. Temple and W. A. Rowe for a stake of $500 a side and the championship of the world:

Articles of agreement entered into this twentieth day of September, 1888, at the BICYCLING WORLD office, Boston, Mass., by and between William A. Rowe of Lynn, Mass., and Ralph Temple of Chicago, Ill., witnesseth. The above parties agree to contest a one, five and ten-mile bicycle race, on best and best bicycles, for $1000—$500 a side—and the bicycle championship of the world, the winner of any two out of three races to win stakes and title. The first race to take place in Lynn, Mass., the sixth day of October, 1888. The second race to take place at Hartford, Ct., or Springfield, Mass., the tenth day of October, and the third race at either Hartford, Lynn or Springfield, October 13, 1888. In case a mutual understanding as to the place of the third and final race cannot be arrived at, it is agreed to leave the naming of the place to the referee.

One hundred dollars a side is now deposited with the editor of the Lynn Item, who shall be preliminary stakeholder. The second deposit of $200 (two hundred dollars) to be posted on or before Friday, September 28. The final deposit of $200 to be made on or before October 5, 1888. S. S. Merrill of Lynn, has been selected as final stakeholder and referee, his decision to be final without recourse to courts of law. Each party shall be allowed two umpires. The start of the race to be from a push off, and by report of pistol, Wolverhampton rules to govern. Any point not covered in these articles shall be left to the referee for decision.

Either party failing to obey the above agreement to forfeit all money down, the races and the title to the championship of the world.

W. J. MORGAN.

(For Ralph Temple.)

F. L. ALLEY.

(For William A. Rowe.)

Witness:

C. W. Fourdrinier, BICYCLING WORLD.

J. C. Kerrison, Boston Herald.

Boston, Mass., September 20, 1888.

Morgan and Temple returned to this city the first of this week and at once went into active training for the great event with headquarters at the Faneuil House, Brighton. Rowe will return to Lynn the last of this week and will put in his time training on the Lynn track. This match will create widespread interest as the supremacy of either man is an open question and one that can only be settled by actual racing. It is needless to say that both men and their backers are morally certain of success.

It was the wish of Temple and Morgan that one of the races should be run in Chicago, but Alley and Rowe demurred about going West and so that condition was waived by the "Senator," as Temple's backer.

THE third annual "Corn Roast" of the Cycling Club was held last Thursday eve in a quarry near Darwin Springs. Owing to the poor condition of the roads only seventeen men turned out, but these seventeen men had sport enough for fifty. A menu, consisting of green corn, potatoes—sweet and "sour"—bread and butter, milk (?), etc., was set before the boys, and the way fodder disappeared would make Dr. Tanner green with rage. After this sumptuous repast an open air concert was given, and it reflected great credit on the participants, especially Mr. Park, the basso profundo. Arthur Stone's tenor was also a marked feature of the performance. Although the last to start for the city, Messrs. Wood, McDougal, Cherry and Yale, on their side-bar quadricycle, easily passed the rest, and left them far behind in the dim distance. Credit should be given Captains Chapin and Harris and Curran for the management of the affair.

THE hill-climbing fever has not struck Syracuse as yet, and we sincerely hope it will always be beautifully distant. We have several big hills around us here, but all of them have been done. However, the boys usually find the walking good on most of them.

ON the morning of the 13th inst. several club men sat in the rooms watching the destructive fire in the Grand Opera House. Mrs. O'Neil, the janitress, occupies rooms down the hall and came in the club rooms to inquire if our block was in danger. "Oh!" said she, "Oim so glad we're safe; me stomach aches wid worryin'!"

AT Rome thirty members of the Cycling Club attended a performance of "Capers" at the Alhambra a few nights since. We basked in the smiles of the soubrette, were made fun of by the comedian, and were glared at by the heavy villain, but the climax came when the comedian gave us a verse in his comic song. This was it:

"I've one more verse to sing, there's the rub,
It's very peculiar;
Ah, yes! I'll sing of the bicycle club,
They're very peculiar.
There's thousands of riders, not all here of course,
You see some to-night, they are out in good force.
There's White, Harris, Chapin and Denny, of course
They're very peculiar."

BUFFALO. BUFFALO is just on the eve of changing its beautiful summer green to the brilliant autumn hues, and a ride here in October is quite as enjoyable as in the early summer. A little stiff breeze may be encountered now and then, but what of that? It certainly is invigorating to battle against a head wind. Respiration is increased, good fresh air fills the lungs, and the muscles are developed and hardened.

THE Women's Wheel Club have inaugurated two runs each week, one for the evening, the other in the daytime. They will run to Lancaster some time this week. This is their first country run, as a club, although several of the ladies are experts at country riding.

THERE are already signs of activity in the gymnasium of the Buffalo Club, and in a short time many will avail themselves of its privileges. Several of our gymnasts have resolved to do the gym. this winter in a systematic and thorough way—even to the exclusion of parties, to some extent.

THE WORLD and other wheel papers unite in pronouncing Buffalo the wheelmen's paradise, both on account of the asphalt streets and parks, and the charming maidens. Heretofore, Washington has been considered to be the best city for wheelmen in the United States, but judging from what we have heard, Buffalo even excels Washington.

OF the racers who were so unfortunate as to take headers, at our late tournament, were Messrs. Brinker and Forbush, of the Buffalo Club. Mr. Brinker is nearly in his usual happy frame of mind, and can smile once more, his face being nearly healed. Mr. Forbush still carries his left arm in a sling, and contrives to eat three square meals, with the aid of a servant to slice his meats and further attend his wishes.

ONE of the most charming and interesting tours is from Buffalo to Brocton. Messrs. Russell, Daniels and Clark availed themselves of the fine weather last Saturday, and made the above trip. They spent Sunday at Fredonia, which is a place much sought after by a number of our members. The wine cellars at Brocton are famous, and well deserve a visit, while the vineyards, which stretch out for miles, are tempting to the last degree. Judging from reports, the above-named "Three Graces" must have stripped an acre of the luscious fruit. Wheelmen should avail themselves of this most delightful trip.

OUR friend, the "Caviler," remarked a short time ago that he was aboard a train, which was actually blown back toward Buffalo, and, moreover, that it required the aid of five locomotives to make an impression against that roaring zephyr. Now I think that the "Caviler" is misinformed, it is rather more likely that five of our "sixteen mile an hour" cyclers overtook that train just in the nick of time, and, with rope attached to their seat springs, triumphantly drew the train to its destination. It is reasonable to suppose that there were frequent stops made—under such conditions it couldn't have been a limited—except in speed.

NEW YORK AND LONG ISLAND NOTES.

"WING FOOT." TO-MORROW afternoon at the Queens track the following races will be run for valuable medals: one-mile novice (roadsters); three-mile, Brooklyn Bi. Club, handicap; one-mile rover-type safety, handicap, roadsters; two-mile, handicap, roadsters; one-mile, beats, roadsters, for members of the Cyclists' Union of L. I.; consolation race, for starters and now winners. Also a 220 yards run, handicap.

THE roads leading to Flushing from L. I. City are very much improved, and it is no longer hard to find a rideable surface east of the Comb House.

LARGE delegations from all the Metropolitan Clubs are going down to Plainfield to-night to participate in the Plainfield Bicycle Club's lantern parade.

THE number of wheelmen at Staten Island last Sunday, was astonishing. The Hudson Counties and their Philadelphia visitors and a few New Yorkers made up a party of fifty-seven at dinner at South Beach, while the Brooklyns had twenty-three men out, and all speak well of the fine roads, weather and scenery.

ON some Saturday afternoon in October a party of wheelmen, under guidance and command of Captain Palmer of the Bloomfield Cyclers, will run up to Greenwood Lake. All are welcome, and the more the merrier. Send word to "L. A. C.," 25 Broad street, N. Y. City. Chesnuts will be ripe and the mountains will look their prettiest.

MR. POWERS, of the Riverside Wheelmen, engineered a party of Club mates, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Clausett, the latter on her Salvo, down to Coney Island, last Sunday, and had a most enjoyable time. Mr. and Mrs. Clausett have struck some very congenial spirits among the Riversides, and will attend the Plainfield celebration with them.

CHICAGO.

THE "STROLLER."

THE Lincoln Cycling Club had their opening Tuesday evening, the 18th inst., and it was a bang-up affair and no mistake. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves to their utmost, and everybody was there, almost; and what with music, dancing, refreshments, toasts, etc., time fled rapidly. Long may they live and prosper.

How did Davis happen to miss his old friend, "Verax," on that Constitution Committee?

VAN SICKLEN has arrived from Buffalo. He looks pretty thin; says he lost forty pounds there from that fall.

THE Fort Dearborns are still looking for that picture won by their team at Buffalo. What's the matter, Mr. Ducker?

THE Illinois boys are busy and making great preparations for their winter amusement in their commodious club house.

MORRIS won the two-mile handicap race at the C. A. A. games Saturday. Morris is a promising flyer and bids fair to make it interesting for some of the boys next year.

THE ladies' nights at the Fort Dearborn club house are becoming very popular every week. Last Thursday night about thirty couples "tripped the light fantastic" until the musicians stopped from exhaustion.

THE Chicago Bicycle Club gave a very successful hop at the Pavilion, Friday eve., the 21st, and it was in the wee small hours before it was over. Much credit is due Mr. Bogue for his management of the same.

THE Fort Dearborn Club have chartered a car to Cincinnati for next Saturday evening, the 29th, and with the aid of the Cincinnati boys will do the town in their own peculiar way Sunday (as "Phoenix" would say).

THE Pastimes, a new club in the northwest quarter of the city, is in a flourishing condition. There are eighty members, and all have uniforms alike. They have a fine club room and are still on the boom. I passed them on a club run Sunday with forty men in line.

CHIEF CONSUL DAVIS has not yet sprung his plans for the good of the Division, but has called a meeting of the Division officers for Sept. 29th, at 8 P. M., when he will undoubtedly unbosom himself. He has also appointed a committee to draft a new Constitution, consisting of Presidents Sloane (of the Illinois Club), Thorne (of the Chicago) and Randall (of the Fort Dearborns), so I am told. Davis is a worker, and I expect great things of him.

THE Referee here is having a fit over the proposed consolidation of the Fort Dearborn and Chicago Clubs, and hints that it is to down the Illinois Club, being jealous of their success; all very nice, but N. G. The Illinois Club is all right, and they need fear nothing if the consolidation goes through. The Dearborn Club has nothing to be jealous of, and have always been on good terms with their hustling West Side neighbors. But there are two clubs on the South Side where there should be only one, and the gain to both clubs by consolidation is too apparent to be denied, and I for one hope to see it brought about, Mr. "Looker On."

NEWS

AND COMMENT.

A ROMANCE in fifty words: Scene, Orange (N. J.) mountains; Dramatis personæ, F. A. Gillam and Miss Amelia Bedford. Gillam riding bicycle on narrow side path; sudden appearance of strange but pretty young girl; collision and injured girl seemed inevitable; young man turns sharply to the left; consequence, header; insensible; girl calls for assistance, nurses injured man; result, love and marriage; and this is a true story.

EAST HARTFORD Wheel Club races to-morrow, Sept. 29.

OCTOBER 6, the first of the series of match races between Temple and Rowe at Lynn.

THE Boston Club will have its annual picnic run to Charles River next Sunday, Sept. 30.

THE second Temple-Rowe race will be run at Hartford, Oct. 10, and the final, if necessary, at Springfield, the 13th.

ALMOST any pleasant afternoon Pauline Hall, now singing at the Globe Theatre, can be seen wheeling over the roads surrounding Boston.

IN reply to No. 19473, of Springfield, Ill., we would say that W. Windle rides a Columbia Racer and J. F. Midgeley a Springfield Roadster.

WE are sorry to learn that W. Windle has been sent home suffering with a very bad cold. He will rest and recuperate after the hard work of the past few weeks.

WOODSIDE is suffering with pleurisy. He has been at Buffalo since his arrival in the country, but he will be in Lynn to see the first of the series between Temple and Rowe.

WILL Charlie Frazer, "Star" rider, and Prince Wells, trick rider, send their addresses to "Senator" Morgan, care of this office, immediately. A wire might facilitate matters.

THE Warren Club, of Wilmington, Del., will hold its fall meeting at the base ball grounds, that city, Oct. 6th. There will be two one-mile races, and a two-mile bicycle race for the championship of Delaware.

WE are happy to announce that W. A. Rhodes, the professional cyclist, is recovering from his long sickness—rheumatism has been the trouble—but the brawny athlete of other days has been reduced almost to a skeleton.

EVERYBODY out at the Eastern Road Club races was on the lookout for "Caviler," but alas, the promised helmet did not turn up. We regret to learn that Mr. Kerrison, of the Herald, has with characteristic perspicacity spotted the identity of "Caviler."

ALL the racing talent of the Kings County (N. Y.) Wheelmen is in training for the club championship handicap, twenty-five miles, which will be run in New Jersey on October 20th. Later on the club century will be run, probably on the Patchogue route.

MR. LLOYD, of the Queens (L. I., N. Y.) track, is preparing to give a race meeting which will eclipse any of his previous efforts, not only in the value of the prizes but in the number of interesting events. In order to encourage home talent he is going to hold a competition for the championship of Queens village; distance, half mile; prize, handsome gold medal.

THE Cyclists' Union of Long Island is born. As its name implies it is for residents of Long Island only. Its objects are to promote and protect the interests of its members and to improve roads. The management is to be in the hands of an Executive Committee to be elected; the annual meeting to be held on the third week in December. For further particulars address H. E. Raymond, 118 Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn.

A MONSTER chronograph has been made in England for use by the Racing Association of Australia. It will occupy a prominent position over the Judge's stand. Its dial measures thirty inches. It registers minutes, seconds and fiftths. The action is start, stop and fly back. A ninety-pound weight furnishes the motive power; the hair spring is cylindrical. It will be operated by electricity, that is the starting and the stopping.

BERT MYERS writes: "I notice you credit W. H. Barber with the one-mile unicycle record of 3.27. In my run of fourteen miles, I made the first mile in 3.34 1-2, from a standing start, and the last mile (flying start) in 3.21. I understand Mr. Barber made his 3.27 with flying start. Can a record be allowed for a flying start mile?" [We answer, no. We should be pleased to hear from Mr. Barber as to whether the time was made from a stand still or with flying start.—ED.]

J. W. HOPELY, of Bucyrus, O., is the owner of a curious machine that savors much of history, and is a relic of the late war. The machine is what was formerly known as a two-wheeled velocipede, but is known as a bicycle. The different parts are constructed of ramrods and gun barrels that were picked up on various battle-fields of the wars. The wood work, felloes of both wheels, etc., are made up so far as possible from the stocks of the guns, and the spokes, some twenty-eight in number, are not much changed from their original shape, and can readily be recognized as ramrods.

WE attended the Eastern Road Club races last Saturday, and we were much astonished on being advised that in the supplementary races for tricycles that the single and tandem were classed alike and allowed to run in the same race wheel for wheel. Had this ruling been made in some remote corner of the country, by those not versed in racing rules, we should have quietly set them right, but when it is done here in Boston, "the home of the cycle," and by men who ought to know better, we can only wonder at the lack of knowledge, where the lack is inexcusable.

THOMAS STEVENS writes us that the second volume of his Tour around the World is out, and that a copy has been sent us. He adds: "I beg leave to point out that the story of the 6000-mile roundabout journey to India from Afghanistan, is new matter, reserved especially for Vol. 2; also much of the Indian and Chinese part of the tour, aggregating nearly 1-3 of the contents of the volume. The itinerary, at the end, will be found interesting. I am not going to sell autograph copies, any more than I am willing to extend the courtesy of the same to wheelmen, without extra charge, till Nov. 1, (22 Irving Place.) After that date must be excused."

WE asked the "Senator" where he first discovered that he had a flyer in Ralph Temple. He replied: "It was at Dublin, Ireland, just after we landed. Temple had time and time again asserted his ability to ride certain distances in certain times, all of which I had received and expressed my disbelief. On the steamer he had stated his opinion that he could 'do' Woodside. Soon after landing, an opportunity occurred and I told Woodside to go for Temple, and so lay him out that we should not hear of his ability to 'do' anything. Temple said he was ready, and so they were sent for a quarter-mile. The Chicago boy won by four lengths!! This did not satisfy me or Woodside, and so a second trial was had next day. Result, Temple won by three lengths, in the splendid time of 34 seconds.

It was then that we discovered what was in the boy. As for Woodside, he acknowledged Temple's superiority from that date."

The first meeting of the Rhode Island Division L. A. W. under the auspices of the new Constitution was held in Providence Saturday evening, Sept. 22d, at the rooms of the Rhode Island Wheelmen, Chief Consul Davol presiding. The report of the Treasurer showed a balance of $11.77, and $28.10 due from Secretary Bassett. It was voted to make the yearly dues $1.50. At a meeting of the Board of Officers, held immediately after the adjournment of the regular meeting, George L. Cooke, of Providence, was elected delegate to the National Board. The committees for the ensuing year will be announced later.

MIDDLESEX writes us as follows: "The 'Caviller' shows good taste in his desire to join the Middlesex Cycle Club. For his edification I would state that 'making up his mind' is but a small step toward joining this association. He must be the fortunate possessor of a good character and disposition, vouched for by at least two members of the club, and have enough of the necessary 'root of all evil' to pay his admission fee in advance. Possessed of these indispensable qualifications the committee, ladies and gentlemen of good judgment, use their discretion. We do not guarantee 'free blows' every week, as 'Caviller' so elegantly expresses it, but we do assure him that he will get his money's worth of enjoyment. I would suggest that 'Caviller' send his photograph and a certificate of good character, if possible, to the Secretary with the necessary funds, and he will thus ascertain whether his mind and that of the club agree. As to the 'best girl,' the gentlemen of this club do not regard their lady friends as impediments to be carried about 'volens nolens,' but concede to them equal rights and privileges in the club, even to paying their own expenses, therefore the 'best girl' must speak for herself. By the way, we wheel to Lexington Sept. 30th, why not join us?"

EASTERN ROAD CLUB RACE.

A CHAPTER of accidents spoiled what promised to be a very exciting race. Notwithstanding the rain of the past six days, the roads ridden over by the contestants in the Eastern Road Club race were in excellent condition. At exactly 3.11 the following teams were sent on their way:

Dorchester, Benson, Clarke and McCombie; Chelsea, Woodman, Beazley and McCune; Cambridgeport, Carman, Himeon and Fay.

McCune at once cut out the pace, and led by about 500 yards, while the rest of the racers were content to keep close company. This condition of things obtained until the railroad bridge at Newton Lower Falls was reached, where all had to dismount and foot it past the incompleting bridge. Here Carman took a hand at leading with all the other men right on his backbone. The pace was quickened here, and the men whirled over Great Plains avenue at a great clip. While passing through Needham a big dog ran out and collided with Beazley's wheel, throwing that rider with great force. McCune was riding so close behind Beazley that he could not avoid falling over him. Beazley cut his hand and sprained his wrist badly, while McCune twisted his ankle so badly that he could barely drive his wheel along at all. This accident threw the two Chelsea men out and spoiled their chances of winning. At Newton Center the three Dorchester men, in company with Fay, of the Cambridgeports, were leading in a bunch, with Carman, Woodman and Himeon stringing behind from 200 to 400 yards. The pace slackened here, and it seemed a positive thing for Dorchester. The relative positions of the men was maintained until the turn was made from Hammond street into Beacon street. Here it was that McCombie lost control of his machine, and was thrown heavily to the ground; he struck his head and was rendered unconscious. The other men, Clarke, Benson and Fay, continued on and made a very fine finish. They crossed the line in that order and within twenty feet of each other, with Carman a good fourth. Woodman came along next, and then Himeon. This tied the score as between Dorchester and Cambridgeport, with 17 points each. The time of the first man in, Clarke, was 1.36 1-4.

In the meantime assistance had been sent to aid McCombie, and Dr. Emery, who was in attendance as referee, pronounced it a case of concussion of the brain. The injured man was taken to the city hospital as soon as possible, and at this writing (Monday afternoon) he has not regained consciousness, and the physicians report his condition as very dangerous.

A short time after the cyclists were started, the supplementary race for tricycles was started. A. S. Hill and M. S. Thomas rode singles, and "Bailey Bros.," of Cambridge, and Dave Drimmond and Berlo rode tandems. The Baileys cut the pace for quite a distance and then Hill took a turn, as he was leading and not familiar with the course he lost his way. He soon found out his mistake and after some hard riding he caught the tandems again. They came home in this order, and on the spur home the Baileys got it easily; Hill, second; the Berlo team, third; and Thomas nowhere. Time for the winner, 1h. 7 1-2m.; distance, about twelve miles.

The referee will decide this week what shall be done in the case of the tie between Dorchester and Cambridgeport.

LATER—At the moment of going to press we learn that the condition of McCombie has changed slightly for the better. He is not out of danger yet.

PROVIDENCE.

An ideal day for racing, but a heavy track. A little delay in placing officials, and the races were started at 3.10 with the One-mile State championship—The starters were W. A. M. Scott, B. T. Bruce, G. P. Hutchins, and Wm. Van Wagoner. Before reaching the quarter pole Scott cut out the pace and won as he pleased, with Hutchins a poor second, Van Wagoner third, and Bruce almost distanced.

One-mile tricycle handicap—Had R. H. Davis (scratch), P. J. Berlo (15 yards) and C. H. Weld (50 yards) for starters. Davis was protested because he rode a racing wheel, the protest was sustained. Berlo, at 15 yards, with Weld, at 50 yards, were the only starters. An uninteresting race. Berlo was clearly over-handicapped. Weld won. Time, 3.20.

Three-mile handicap—Had R. H. Davis (scratch), P. J. Berlo (40 yards), J. P. Clarke (50 yards), A. W. Porter (60 yards). Porter led at a good clip. Clarke on the third quarter dismounted, as something was the matter with his machine, but he went on after the other men got a good lead. Davis also had trouble with his wheel and dropped out. Porter gained on his handicap, and won by 500 yards. The race for second was good, Clarke getting it by half a wheel; Berlo third.

One-mile safety—Brought out R. H. Davis, W. A. M. Scott, Wm. Van Wagoner. A fine race all the way round. On entering the home run Davis led, and held that position to the finish, notwithstanding Van Wagoner tried hard to get the lead. Scott finished last. He protested against Van Wagoner for fouling, but it was not allowed. Time, 3.04 2-5.

One-mile boys', sixteen years and under—Was won by A. W. Porter, in the 3.24 1-5; A. W. Hutchins, second.

One-mile handicap—Very good handicapping. Wm. Martin, 175 yards (limit), cut out the pace, and held his lead to the home stretch. Then J. P. Clarke, 25 yards, rushed up and won, hands off; C. H. Weld, 30 yards, second; and Martin, 175 yards, third. Hutchins took a header on the home stretch. Time, 2.57 4-5.

One-mile tandem tricycles brought out E. S. Dayton and G. A. French, G. P. Hutchins and W. A. M. Scott, P. J. Berlo and J. P. Clarke. All bunched and riding easy to last quarter, then Berlo and Clarke cut loose and won easily. The race for second was sharp and was won by Hutchins and Scott. Time, 3.12 2-5.

One-mile novice, brought out a field of nine and it was won by R. E. Phillips who took the lead at start and kept it, L. J. Berlo second and A. W. Hutchins third. Time, 3.16 2-5.

Two-mile handicap, safety R. H. Davis, scratch; W. A. M. Scott, 50 yards; P. J. Berlo, 25 yards. A first class race between Scott and Davis. On coming down the home stretch for the finish, neck and neck, Scott's pedal came loose and he had to stop pedalling. Berlo dropped out. Time, 6.41 2-5.

One-mile team race, Rhode Island Wheelmen, Providence; B. T. Bruce, E. R. Phillips, G. P. Hutchins. Bristol County Wheelmen, Warren; R. Childs, Wm. Martin, Arthur Barrus. This proved a walk over for the Rhode Island team as they finished 1, 2, 3, and the Bristol Club men distanced. Bruce rode the race in great shape and finished first a large way ahead of his mates.

The wheelmen all returned to town to see W. Van Wagoner climb College Hill for record. He took the record, climbing the steep grade ten times without a dismount. Five times is best previous record. The grades are for 265 feet, 14 feet rise in 100 feet. The next 328 feet, 12.60 rise in 100. The last 327 feet, 10 feet rise in 100.

The lantern parade brought out two-hundred wheelmen and the display was very beautiful. After this the Club House of the Rhode Island Wheelmen was crowded with the club men and visiting wheelmen and hot coffee, lemonade, sandwiches and cream were served to the always hungry wheelmen. Taken all in all the Rhode Island Wheelmen are to be congratulated on the success of their meet.

MR. PATTEN CLAIMS THE CHAMPIONSHIP OF MAINE.

Editor Bicycling World: I send you to-day a copy of St. John Telegraph containing an account of a one-mile and two-mile bicycle race. I won the one-mile and now claim the record for Maine 3.07 1-8 and one-mile championship of Maine and the Maritime Provinces. R. PATTEN.

A Letter That Needs No Comment.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 21, 1888.

GORMULLY & JEFFERY MFG. CO.:

Gentlemen—I have just returned from Michigan's L. A. W. Division Meet, and I trust the comparison I am about to make will be of interest to you. At the meet in 1887 there were 60 wheels, and only one of them was a Champion, and that was looked upon as rather a curiosity. This year at Grand Rapids nearly all makes of high grade wheels were there, but out of 112 wheels in the parade, there were 34 American Champions—an increase from 1-60 to about 1-3.

I can PROVE that there have been more American Champions sold in Michigan this year than any other TWO makes of high grade wheels. They have given good satisfaction, and I expect twice as many wheels will be sold next year. The Champion is used by the best riders too. Three out of five races at St. Johns were won on Champions. A $250 Marlboro Club Tandem has been discarded for a Challenge Tandem, and found to be decidedly the best.

Yours truly,

C. H. SMITH.

Extract of Letter from W. S. Doane, now on his way from Denver to Boston, (Dated August 25.)

"I can fully agree with you regarding the Apollo, and would say that I have thorough confidence in the wheel, and that is saying a great deal more than I could about the ——. I think without any doubt that the Apollo is the finest, easiest-running and strongest wheel I ever rode, and I only hope that I shall always be able to ride one, as up to the present date there is no wheel in the market that suits me better, and I can tell you I have ridden very, very hard for the last week, hard enough to tear any ordinary wheel to pieces."

THE POUGHKEEPSIE TOURNAMENT.

(Special.)

The train which carried your "special" into the classical town of "Po Kipsie"—as the natives put it for short—also carried with it several racing men of renown, among them being W. A. Rowe, W. F. Knapp, "Senator" Morgan and W. E. Crist. The latter gentleman is known as an amateur of ability and long standing in the cycling turf, and informed your correspondent that he had just won the championship of America at the annual meeting of the A. A. A. A., at Detroit, and that he rode under exceptional circumstances, inasmuch that he rode with a borrowed outfit of racer and costume, the latter fitting him too quick. "Gene" won by six inches, but I failed to recognize who the "fliers" were that he defeated. I don't think Windle was there. This reminds me to say that this same "Gene" showed a glimpse of his old Springfield form at the Poughkeepsie meeting. Wilbur F., or "Dutch" Knapp—as his friends love to call him—had just returned from a tour of inspection, undertaken for the purpose of locating a portion of his numerous family in Lynn, and the sight of "Dutch" promenading the streets of Lynn, with grip in each hand, enquiring at the street corners for loved ones he had left behind during his European adventures, and whose exact location he had forgotten, brought tears even to "Doctor" Wilder's (Item) eyes, and the hardened crowd of Lynn sports. "Where do I live now?" was "Dutch's" query to S. S. Merrill, whom he met up Glenmere way.

Horace Crocker, like the dutiful son he is, had run home from Hartford to see his widowed mother, and with "Bob" Neilson reached Poughkeepsie Wednesday.

This little town on the river does not impress your average cyclist favorably, with its rough, cobblestone streets, with grades which would compare favorably with Mount Washington or Corey Hill. The "good" streets during my visit had a coating of black mud, which put me in mind of some New Orleans streets in the rainy season.

The Poughkeepsie cyclist should be awarded the laurel wreath for enthusiasm under difficulties, and if there is a club room in the world of its size that can beat the rooms of the Poughkeepsie Bicycle Club I want to hear from them. I gave the "rooms" exactly five minutes by my Waterbury, and in that time the Oriental splendor of the club's headquarters impressed me much. Sublime effects brought about by the upholsterer's art and the solid, artistic points of everything make the rooms look worth every penny of the ten thousand dollars it is stated was paid for furnishings.

I reached the grounds of the Hudson Driving Park, where the races were to be held, and when I arrived I remarked, "boys, somebody will drop some money here." The grounds are too far from town, and no means of getting there, other by hacks or walk. The affair had a Jonah look from the start, and when the less than 500 people assembled the first day my fears were fully realized, and Brother Ducker looked solemn. None but enthusiasts of the first water (with no experience) should be caught indulging in such a costly snap as the experienced Ducker was caught in to the tune of five hundred at Poughkeepsie. The amateur entries were poor in the extreme, and the chill of Buffalo seemed to pervade all, but the "pros," to their credit be it said, rode as if thousands depended on the result, knowing there was not a cent in it for them, and they would be out their expenses. "You bet they will never catch me in Poughkeepsie again," was Manager Ducker's comment.

The mile trotting track could give Buffalo track a big start and a beating. The fastest times, of course, were made by the professionals, and Rowe's 2.41 for the mile, with one side of the track rather rough and a stiff wind, and the tandem mile, 2.49 (record for America), by Crocker and Neilson, were good riding.

FIRST DAY—SEPT. 21.

One-mile novice—H. D. Betts, Poughkeepsie, first; E. T. Van Benschoten, second. A fairly good race, won by a few yards. Time, 3.16.

One-mile club handicap—John Van Benschoten, first; Theo Roberts, second. A splendid finish, the Van winning by a nose. Time, 2.57.

One-mile professional handicap—R. A. Neilson, 50 yards, first; H. G. Crocker, 20 yards, second. Also started—Rowe, scratch, and Knapp, 30 yards. A good race, "Bobby" winning by a neck all out; Crocker second by a yard. Time, 2.46.

Five-mile amateur (open)—W. I. Wilhelm, Reading, Pa., first; Ludwig Forster, Hartford, second; W. E. Crist, Washington, third. In this race the Reading man showed wonderful finishing powers, fairly leaving Crist, who seemed tired after his long journey from Detroit, and the "Bavarian," Ludwig, took second by twenty yards. Time, 16.29 1-4.

Three-mile professional handicap—W. F. Knapp, fifty yards, first; H. G. Crocker, 30 yards, second. Also started—Rowe, scratch, and Neilson, 150 yards. A splendid race, Neilson holding his own till half a mile from home, when the "Dutch" went up to him, and a brilliant finish resulted as above. Time, 9.20.

One-mile amateur (open)—W. I. Wilhelm, first; W. E. Crist, second. Crist seemed to improve this trip, and pushed the Keystone State man to the wire, beating "Ludwig." Time, 2.56.

One-mile professional tandem—Neilson and Crocker, first; Eck and Knapp, second. The latter pair started on a roadster tandem which rattled like a tool wagon. An accident to the winners' racing tandem was the cause of slow time, which was 3.15.

Two-mile amateur, 6.20 class—Ludwig Forster, first, easily; John Van Benschoten, second. Time, 7.23. The above indicates a weakness in the class rules. Forster is capable of 2.50 or thereabouts, but of course his entry was sent in before his Hartford appearance, still I fancy there ought to be something to cover the case.

One-mile professional scratch—W. A. Rowe, first; H. G. Crocker, second. Also started—Knapp and Neilson, but the effects of the night on the Fall River boat began to tell on "Dutch," who rolled in, with his tongue out, a bad third. Time, 2.41.

One-mile Dutchess County—John Van Benschoten, first; Theo Roberts, second. The Van rode well. Roberts rode gallantly, and was only beaten by a foot. Time, 3.00, dead.

THE SECOND DAY, SEPT. 22.

opened with Ducker's anxious eyes on the box office, and the professionals counting the "crowd," as they straggled in like survivors of a battle into a friendly city. Eck twirled his silver grey moustache, Rowe figured up his expenses, and Knapp telegraphed his bankers for money to proceed to Jonahville, where the next "gate" meeting was to be held.

The air on this Saturday seemed blue, and everybody looked blue, and several amateurs wanted "orders" for their prizes, "having to catch an early train."

The first race was called to a tune by the band, who were almost the sole occupants of the grand stand, entitled "A-hunting we will go." Well, thought I, we may all go hunting in that wood yonder, as it seems a pity to waste muscle and perspiration here. This reminds me of a little incident which happened while John S. Prince's (at that period champion of the earth) destinies and fortunes were entrusted to my care. I had made arrangements for Jack to break the then existing quarter-mile record over the shell road at the West End, New Orleans. The arrangements were left in the good care of the New Orleans cyclists. Prince had conceded me ten yards' start in the distance, and the first heat (of two) had been run and fifteen minutes' rest took place. At the expiration of the time I proceeded to my mark and the officials were ready, when the cry arose, "Where's Prince?" No one knew; his dressing-room was searched, and a party searched the island, and at last spied a man in racing costume laying on his stomach, intently fishing, and muttering, "I've got you now," was heard, as Jack pulled out a small "shiner" that he had been coaxing for a half hour, while an expectant public waited for a race. He had forgotten all about the race, but he broke the record of 41 seconds, doing 39, and the Orleans boys laughed over the incident and well they might.

Well, pardon my digression. The first race was the team race, which did not take place, as the usual kicking over certain starters resulted, and while the officials were telegraphing to the government for instructions, the professionals stepped out on the track to the tune of "We are coming, gentle Annie." Knapp's fine form was much admired by the two solitary Vassar girls, who occupied the "box" devoted to political fair orators, and who smiled at the grey and pink colors "Dutch" wore in their honor.

Two-mile professional handicap—W. F. Knapp, first; W. A. Rowe, second. Also started—Neilson, 100 yards; Morgan, 150; Crocker, 50. A good race, Neilson and Morgan claiming Knapp rode them wide on the last corner, which is sixty feet wide. Time, 6.01 3-4.

The team race by special sanction now took place. Crist was "barred out," and Wilhelm, of Reading, Pa., Club, won; John Von Benschoten coming in second. Three starters; distance, one mile. Time, 2.51 1-4.

One-mile amateur, 3.20 class—Ludwig Forster, second; John Von Benschoten, first. This race was remarkable for the peculiar tactics adopted by the Bavarian from Hartford, who seemed to court attention from his worship, the L. A. W. I would give the young man a little free advice, and that is "shake" the society of that dark young man from Hartford. Time, 3.15.

One-mile professional tandem handicap—Crocker and Neilson, scratch, first; Eck and Knapp, 200 yards, second. Eck acted like an unbroken trotter in this race; he could not keep his feet on the rubber pedals of the roadster. They skimmed the air every now and then. The time for the scratch men was good, 2.49.

One-mile amateur, 3.00 class—John Van Benschoten, first; Ludwig Forster, second. Time, 3.17 1-4.

Half-mile professional scratch—H. G. Crocker, first; W. F. Knapp, second. Also started—R. Neilson. A good turn of speed, track and wind being against a very fast half which Crocker was after. Time, 1.19 3-4.

Five-mile amateur, 16 minute class—W. E. Crist, first; Ludwig Forster, second. A slow race devoid of interest. Time, 18.28 3-4.

Three-mile professional scratch—W. A. Rowe, first; H. G. Crocker, second. Also started—W. F. Knapp and W. J. Morgan. A very interesting finish, Rowe winning by barely a yard. Time, 9.31 1-2.

One-mile amateur open—W. E. Crist, first; W. I. Wilhelm, second. A rattling finish, "Gene" Crist showing improved form. Time, 6.00 1-2.

Amateur consolation.

Final event—Scrambling for prizes and hurrying out of town.

"SENATOR."

NEW JERSEY DIVISION MEET.

The seventh annual meet of the New Jersey Division, L. A. W., held in this city and Orange on Friday and Saturday of last week, is pretty generally conceded to have been one of the most successful ever managed by the division.

The visitors began to show up at the Continental Hotel in this city and at the League Hotel in Orange at an early hour on Thursday night, and at three o'clock on Friday when the races were billed for the Roseville track, nearly three-hundred wheelmen and wheelwomen were inside the gates. In the morning the most of the visitors had indulged in quiet spins around the Oranges.

The track was in very bad condition, the heavy rain having washed a portion of the track making it heavy.

The races were started about 3.30, and resulted as follows:

One-mile bicycle championship—eight starters; won by S. B. Bowman in 3.30 2-5 with E. P. Baggot second, 3.31 and C. E. Kluge third. The first lap was a waiting race to the close, when Bowman spurred and kept the lead to the close, closely pressed by Baggot. Kluge gained third place by hard work.

One-mile bicycle, handicap, championship, Pasaic County Wheeling and Athletic Association—five starters; Robert H. Blake, scratch; W. E. Shuit, scratch; B. F. Spencer, 50 yards; Fred Butterworth, 80 yards; Chas. Finch, 90 yards. Won by Shuit in 3.49, with Finch second, 4.03, and Spencer third. The race was a walk over for Shuit.

One-mile tandem bicycle handicap—A novelty here. L. A. Hill and E. I. Halstead on a racing machine, scratch, and L. H. Johnson and W. H. Caldwell on a roadster, 50 yards. It was a "roadster track," and so the Johnson-Caldwell combination won in 4.01 1-5 by half a lap.

One-mile Elizabeth Wheelmen championship—Won by W. H. Caldwell, in 3.36; L. B. Bonnett, second; A. T. Downes, a bad third. An excellent race between Bonnett and Caldwell.

One-mile handicap Orange Wanderers—Won by A. T. Dodd, 125 yards; F. Brodessaer, 175 yards, second; C. A. Lindsley, 150 yards, third. The finish between Dodd and Brodessaer was very good, but some of the handicapping was poor. Time, 3.48 4-5.

Two-mile State championship—A poor start caused by the decided foul riding of H. W. Peck was made. This was a race from the start between F. N. Burgess and E. P. Baggott. Burgess proved to be the better man, however, and finished both the first and second miles in the lead, after a hard fight. His time was 7.40 3-5. H. W. Peck was third.

One-mile handicap, Hudson County Wheelmen—C. E. Kluge, scratch; S. B. Bowman, 35 yards; F. J. Gubleman, 75 yards; J. E. Day, 135 yards; W. G. Wilson, 150 yards. Won by Bowman, in 3.30 2-5; Gubleman, second, 3.32 2-5. The handicap in this was too heavy for Kluge, and he stood no show.

One-third-mile—This was a brilliant race, and was "hammer and tongs" from the word go. C. I. Halsted won in 59 4-5 sec., with W. H. Caldwell a very close second, and W. F. Pendleton third.

One-mile Plainfield Club championship—Only two starters, M. S. Ackerman and F. B. Van Buren. Ackerman won in 3.58 4-5.

One-mile consolation—Three starters, F. N. Burgess, A. A. Zimmerman, J. Grant Cramer. Won by Burgess in 4.06 1-5, with Zimmerman second, in 4.01 1-5. Cramer dropped out at the end of the second lap.

One-mile tandem tricycle—Two teams: C. E. Kluge and L. H. Johnson, and W. H. Caldwell and S. B. Bowman. Won by the latter team in 5.13 1-5. This will stand as the funniest track race on record, the track having become so bad that the men had to get off and walk, as one spot was too soft to be ridden. In the last lap Kluge dismounted too quickly, causing Johnson, his mate, to take a roll in the mud. Every one was convulsed with laughter. This finished the sport.

The lantern parade was held on Friday evening, and was participated in by about 250 wheelmen. As usual the exhibition called out a big crowd of spectators, and the "illuminators" were frequently cheered.

After the parade a Smoker was held at the club rooms of the Orange Wanderers, and it was a fitting termination to the day's sport.

The hill-climbing contest took place on Eagle Rock, Saturday, and the surface was in very good condition. Seven starters: J. V. L. Pierson, 52-inch Light Columbia; C. L. Leisen, 45-inch Star; Everett Townsend, 53-inch Columbia Roadster; Frank Brock, 42-inch Pony Star; J. R. Sutterly, 51-inch Expert Columbia; Fred Coningsby, Victor Safety; Edgar J. Decker, 50-inch Springfield Roadster. The start was made at 4.05, Pierson getting the first push-off; the rest were started at intervals of three minutes in the order named. The first prize was won by Fred Coningsby in the very fast time of 7m. 43s.; Leisen came in second in 8m. 17s.; and Decker third in 9m. 15s. All the others fell before the finish.

For the success of this meet and all connected therewith the credit belongs to the live Orange Wanderers, who had the entire management of the affair from beginning to end.

WELLS FAILS ON MURDER LANE HILL.

A SPECIAL from our correspondent, "Duquesne," dated Pittsburg, Sept. 24, states that John A. Wells, mounted on an American Rambler geared to 48 inches, with cranks, 7 1-4 inches, attempted to ride up Murder Lane Hill. He also tried twice to do up Sycamore St. He failed on both hills to climb as far as had been accomplished by local wheelmen.

RECORDS IN ENGLAND.

AUGUST 31, at Long Eaton, H. Sansom, tricycle, quarter-mile, 39 4-5; half-mile, 1.17 3-5. Best previous was 40 3-5 and 1.22 3-5.

On same day H. E. Laurie, a seventeen-years-old boy, went for the safety hour records from 2 to 21 miles as follows:

	PREVIOUS RECORD.		LAURIE'S TIME.
	M.	S.	M.	S.
1	-	-	2	37 4-5
2	-	-	5	37
3	-	-	8	27

OXBORROW AND ROBB HAVE A GO AT RECORDS.

Oxborrow, Sept. 11, cut the following records, riding a Rudge bicycle:

MLS.	H. M. S.		MLS.	H. M. S.
	M.	S.		M.	S.
22	-	-	*1	03	54 4-5

25	-	-	*1	13	16 1-5
26	-	-	*1	16	23

* Safety records. † Ordinary records.

At the conclusion of the above, A. H. Robb, on a "Rudge" ordinary, paced by Howell, Vale, etc., started for the mile English professional record (Howell's), which he accomplished in 2m. 33 4-5s.

MR. COREY TO "SENATOR" MORGAN.

Editor Bicycling World: Replying to the question of my esteemed friend, Morgan, in your last issue, I beg to say that the paper signed by me as Judge was after the races were over, and moreover, was simply intended for the future guidance of racing men. It had nothing to do with judging the close finishes during which I was not on duty. Now "let us have peace." H. D. COREY.
Boston, Sept. 24, 1888.

MR. BLAKE ON THE CONSTITUTION AND ITS OBJECTORS.

Editor Bicycling World: I take a good deal of interest in the arguments for and against the new Constitution of the L. A. W., which have been given so much space lately in the columns of the cycling press, but until now have refrained from showing my oar into the maelstrom of opinion which has been swirling about us ever since the Baltimore meeting.

Personally, I think there are weak spots in the new Constitution, but I fear that the opposition to it will never amount to anything, unless the leaders do more than indulge in length jeremiads (in print) against it. No well-conducted Indian would enjoy being dubbed "Big-Chief-who-uses-ink," for the reason that his fellows would be only too prone to add to that designation "and-never-does-anything-else." I fear that Mr. Shriver will have that unpleasant appendix to his well-earned title conferred upon him very shortly by the occupants of the L. A. W. wigwam.

The reason is perfectly plain. At the general meeting of the New York State Division in Buffalo, when the Chairman called for remarks on the question of the adoption of the new Constitution by the Division, instead of a grand onslaught by the opposition with Mr. Shriver at their head, there was simply silence, the ordinary every-day silence of commerce. Why was this thus? Truth compels me to state that the G. O. M. of the opposition was not there!! Our modern Moses was not present to lead us out of our wilderness of doubt and apprehension, not by a long chalk—a chalk nearly 450 miles long.

All audiences appreciate a plucky loser, and here was a chance for the unterrified opposition to ventilate their opinions in open debate, but sad to relate they had vanished like snow in sunshine. Now, Mr. Editor, I object, and I imagine others do, to playing snow to some other fellow's sunshine, and until the opposition get some leaders with more nerve than the present ones possess, the new Constitution is good enough for HORSE VS. BICYCLE IN NEW MEXICO.

THE recent contest between horse and bicycle over the country road between Silver City and Deming, N. M., excites more than passing notice, as the time made by the horse, viz., 3h. 47m., is to my belief the best on record for the distance, 50 miles. [We have no data to prove our correspondent is correct, we find, however, that the best trotting record for one horse is 3.55.40 1-2, by Ariel, in 1846. The best 50 miles with ten horses is 1.50.03 1-2, at San Bernardino, Cal., July 7, 1883.—Ed.] Further, that the bicycle and rider should be defeated over a distance granted to be its best for fast time, was a surprise to those not acquainted with the roads and other general conditions. With these conditions it is my present purpose to better acquaint the public. Silver City is 48 miles by railroad from Deming, and 1500 feet higher above the sea. The stage road is called 50 miles, and is probably all of that.

This road both parties were to use, being, however, allowed to make such "cut offs" as they chose, always "returning to the old stage road;" how this was interpreted by the horsemen, will be seen later on.

Leaving the main streets of Silver City the road, here hard but rough, descends rapidly into the canyon past the quartz mills, where there is a very steep, rocky hill. From here for about seven miles the road follows the line of the railroad, crossing over and under it once or twice. This stretch, which is all down grade, and in parts hard and smooth, is cut up by the windings of the stream (now dry) so that a dismount, or at least slowing up, was necessary to the wheelman. After crossing the railroad the road turns to the north and strikes into the rolling hills, its surface nowhere more than fair riding, and frequently cut by patches of sand and stretches of loose stones. The hills, after the ascent from the railroad, which is three-quarters of a mile long and in parts unrideable, are caused by "draws," or gulches, cutting across the table land, and are of course unavoidable. The first two are rideable but rough, the next two and particularly the last are not. This last "draw," which comes down from Lone Mountain, is about half a mile wide, with steep, rocky sides, down which the track (for a road it is not) turns in a zigzag, making riding on a wheel extremely dangerous downwards, and impossible upwards.

From the top of this last draw the table land (Mesa) slopes gradually, and the road is fair, though with stony patches all the way to Apache Tajú, a ranch about five miles distant. From here to Hudson's, nine miles, the country is mainly level or sloping gently towards Deming, and the road, according to the nature of the ground, is either hard and smooth or dusty. Here also are many rocky patches. Hudson's is half way, 25 miles. From here to Deming the prairie slopes very slightly towards Deming, and the soil becomes gradually sandier all the way. To the Minibers River, five miles, the surface was fair, but from here in the sand had been cut and loosened by much traffic until the wheel had from two to five inches of sand to plough through. From one to two miles of this riding is impossible. This is the present condition of the road. Three weeks ago this stretch from Hudson's to the five-mile ranch (ie. 20 miles) was hard and firm from recent rains, and fast time could have been made on it.

The race was started from the Timmer House in Silver City, at 6.30 A. M., Thursday, Sept. 13th, the wheel turning to the south down the main street, the horse and escort to the right (N) over a hill, thus cutting off half a mile.

The horse did not return to the stage road, but followed the old government trail to within four miles of Hudson's; but the escort waited for the wheelman in the canyon and galloped in front of him all the way to the hills, causing a cloud of dust to fly in the rider's face rendering vision and breathing difficult. This foul play on their part was premeditated as the wheelmen had been warned that this would be done, and on this account a rider on horseback accompanied the wheel the entire distance and protested the race on above grounds.

The wheelman rode superbly, climbing and coasting the hill in a style which seemed impossible, as added to the wretchedness of the road a strong head wind had sprung up which increased all day.

His time to Apache Tajú was 1h. 10m. and to Hudson's 1h. 55m., the horse arriving at the same time. Here both stopped long enough for the riders to drink and eat a bite and then both started again. At the Minibers River, 5 miles out, the horse drew away and was not again seen, making the 25 miles in 1h. and 42 min. and the last 18 miles in an hour.

The wheelman seeing that further efforts against the sand and wind combined, were useless, rode on easily and arrived at Deming in 4h. 43m. Such was the race.

The horses were said to be in good condition at the end, and bets were freely offered that either horse could make the distance in 3 1-2 hours. I should have stated that a second horse made the entire distance coming in 1min. after the 1st.

The amount at stake was 250 head of cattle a side, equal to about $2500 and many side bets besides.

The bicycle, a 53 Columbia Light Roadster, was ridden by N. G. Kennedy of Denver.

The horses are both natives of New Mexico, of Spanish extraction, both pony horses, ie., about 15 hands, one a bay called the "Ratler" the other a calico called the "Pinto."

THE GORMULLY & JEFFERY MFG. Co. have recently been making large shipments of bicycles to Japan. The Japanese are of a small stature and of light weight, so that the American Ideal bicycles, which in this country are used only by youths, are very popular in Yokohama and other Japanese cities among adults, and amply strong to do the work. The Ideal is fast crowding out English machines in that most progressive of the far Eastern countries, on account of its strong and thorough construction and very reasonable price.

The success of the Victors in road races seems to continue in unbroken monotony. Clarke, the first man in in the Eastern Road Club race rode a Victor.

CORRECTION—The world's record for one mile on safety tandems was made at Hartford on a "Swift Tandem," by Messrs. Crist and Davis, and not on Premier, as is erroneously going the round of the papers. Messrs. Crist and Davis rode an ordinary roadster "Swift Tandem," and made their record without pacemakers of any kind.

MR. J. P. HALL, of Albany, Oregon, left that place Aug. 5, for a 400 mile trip through Southern Oregon to Coos Bay and return. He crossed the Coast Range Mountains twice and travelled for 150 miles over a rough mountain trail, a road on which had never been ridden a bicycle. He was several times warned not to do it, the road being considered utterly impassable to bicycle travel. He persevered, riding most of the way and walking the balance, and therefore deserves the credit of having ridden over nearly 150 miles of the roughest of rough Oregon roads. The machine ridden was a 52-inch 1888 pattern Columbia Light Roadster, which stood the test of the trip with the utmost impunity.

LEAGUE HEADQUARTERS:

ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary.

OFFICERS FOR 1888-89.
PRESIDENT,
T. J. KIRKPATRICK,
Springfield, Ohio.
FIRST VICE PRESIDENT,
H. W. HAYES,
103 State Street, Boston.
SECOND VICE PRESIDENT,
W. S. BULL,
16 West Eagle Street, Buffalo, N. Y.
TREASURER,
W. M. BREWSTER,
309 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo.

THE third and last quarter of the League year begins October 1st. Applicants will be required to send but $1.25 for initiation fees and dues on and after that date until April 30, 1889.

THE Bicycling News is not pleased with the reinstatement of Hendee, for it holds the English idea of, "once a professional, always a professional." The League has long since left this relic of barbarism behind, and a man who commits an act of professionalism with us has not committed an unpardonable sin. When reform and true repentance is shown, America is willing to forgive and reinstate. In this we are ahead of England.

NOW that there is a lull in the storm of criticism that has been raging upon and about the Constitution of the League, we have a word to say to those who think they can improve the document by advice or suggestion. Let any and all such, communicate with Dr. Wm. H. Emery, Chairman of the Committee on Rules and Regulations, 1177 Tremont st., Boston, and lay before him what they may consider to be the faults of the document, be it of commission or omission. We promise a respectful hearing and careful consideration of any communication that is sent in. No officer of the League has prejudices in favor of the present Constitution that will blind his eyes to any improvement.

STATE OFFICERS.

Below we give the Post Office address of each Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer by States. This will be of convenience to those who wish to communicate with these officers:

Iowa Division.

According to the new constitution and By-laws of this Division, all Local Consuls terms of office expire on September 1st, and as I desire to appoint their successors at once I would be pleased to hear from the members in the different cities giving me names of parties who they desire to have appointed Consul for their city. I should be pleased to hear from all at once. Yours fraternally, ROBT. L. THOMPSON, C. C. Iowa Div.

Michigan Representative.

I have this day appointed Mr. W. H. Hayden of Tecumseh, Mich., as representative of the Michigan Division. Fraternally yours, A. B. RICHMOND, C. C. Grand Rapids, Mich., September, 1888.

New Jersey Representative.

T. D. Sendor of Millville is hereby appointed a representative. J. H. COOLEY, Chief Consul.

Ohio Delegates.

At the meeting of the Board of Officers of Ohio Division held in this city on the evening of September 18th, the following parties were chosen as delegates to represent our division in the National Assembly: James R. Dunn, Massillon; H. S. Livingston, Cincinnati; H. B. Hane, Marion; George Collister, Cleveland. T. J. KIRKPATRICK, Chief Consul.

Local Consuls for Rhode Island.

1. Chas. E. Doe, P. O. Box 495, Providence. 2. A. W. Howland, East Greenwich. 3. Chas. F. Gladding, Warren. 4. H. L. Dyer, P. O. Box 812, Newport. 5. J. H. Cross, Westerly. 6. S. H. Day, P. O. Box 47, Bristol. 7. S. W. Himes, Phenix. Yours fraternally, CHAS. S. DAVOL, C. C.

Tennessee Members, Attention!

I have on hand a large number of Recruiting Circulars to be used in aiding members to bring in more men to our ranks. If all members of the Division will send me the name of all Non-League members of their acquaintance, they will aid me very much in carrying on the good work. Members engaged in recruiting for the Division can get circulars from me on application. A supply of these circulars will be mailed to all Local Consuls at once. Let me urge each and every member of the Tennessee Division to go to work in building up the L. A. W. in our State. Fraternally, JOS. R. WILSON, JR., Chief Consul.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member." Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct. Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M. on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

WHY WE BLUSH.

WE acknowledged satisfaction after winning first and second in the greatest one hundred mile road race of the year—at Buffalo—where only six riders finished, and ONLY FIVE of the six rode VICTORS.

We added this to our list of "Battle Flags" side by side with such world's events as Clarksville, Crawfordsville, Big 4, Boston—all 100 mile road races, open to the world, and contested by all the large makers—and modestly retired.

We blush, because after all this glory---when a bicycle maker went clear South and got up a race at Nashville, Tenn., to try to show the usefulness of his bicycles, the said maker putting up the prizes in order to stimulate the game---three naughty boys without our knowledge or permission, wanting to make a sure thing of scooping all the prizes offered, bought VICTORS and entered the race.

Well, before we could stop them, they were off and away and at the finish came to the front in 1, 2, 3 order, taking all the prizes---bicycle, medals, shoestrings and all!

It wasn't the thing, and we apologize. We don't want the earth. We only want riders to know that VICTORS are built to get there suddenly, and we are very willing to give the other fellows a chance.

We make the VICTORS, but we are not the "largest makers in the world"---only the best.

TRICYCLING FOR LADIES. By Miss F. J. Erskine. "For some time past there has been a real need with many ladies who have had their interest awakened on the subject of tricycling for some small book which should put them in possession of the most useful and necessary information without having to pay for it by their own experience. This want is now supplied, and in Miss Erskine's book will be found hints on the choice and management of tricycles, with suggestions on dress, riding and touring, etc., adapted to a lady's special requirements." 25 cents. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl St., Boston.

MY CYCLING LOG BOOK. By "Papa" Weston. The transitory pleasures of cycling can be made as permanent as its physical benefits, by jotting down in a well devised log book, the distances and incidents of one's various journeys. Knowing that such a record is a most pleasant thing to have, and believing that the keeping of such should be encouraged, as tending to the permanent good of cycling in more ways than can be referred to here. The Log Book is handsomely and strongly bound in red leather, will last for years of constant use, and is the best arranged book of its kind ever yet devised. It fills a want often felt by the cyclist who values records of interest for future reference. Price, post paid, $1.25. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl St., Boston.

SHURMAN AT IT AGAIN.

The members of the Lynn Cycle Club took a trip down to Portland. The party comprised J. H. Young, J. H. Shurman, A. H. Carsley, E. G. Bergholtz, J. F. Allen, J. F. Dow, J. H. Littlefield, A. W. Lewis, and A. Wiswell. On their arrival in Portland, and after a good breakfast at the Preble House, the Portland Wheel Club took the visitors in hand for a run to Prouts Neck, a distance of some fourteen miles. On the way out the party passed Spurwick Hill, an eminence that has never been climbed by a cyclist. To the surprise of the Down Easters, Shurman announced that he would ride up the hill if any one of the Portland men would ride down. This was very promptly agreed to, as the local men thought the hill unrideable. Some of the men rode down the hill, as also did Shurman, and then on arriving at the bottom Shurman turned round and rode to the top, to the amazement of those who had never seen Shurman ride. This was on Sunday, and the achievement of the Lynn man made the locals anxious to see what the visitor could do with Park Street Hill, a terror to Portland wheelmen, and one that has never been climbed more than twice in succession. So on Monday the party repaired to the hill, and after Carsley, Allen and Littlefield had climbed it once and cried enough, Shurman went at it and went up and down six times without a dismount. To say that the Portland men were dumbfounded is putting it mildly. Shurman rode his Springfield Roadster. [Will some Portland reader kindly give us the grades of Spurwick and Park Street Hills, and oblige?—Ed. BICYCLING WORLD.]

We give you the facts. Draw your own inference. But remember our prices are moderate, our goods warranted against defective material and workmanship for one year; absolutely safe against headers, speedy and a good all around road wheel. Catalogue free.

BOSTON, 5 OCTOBER, 1888.

A JAPANESE lantern parade fever seems to be epidemic now all over the United States. Just now it is in its most virulent form. Reports of dozens of these parades are at hand, and as they are all alike we shall have a description stereotyped, leaving space for the name of the club, date and location.

WHEN it is understood or announced that races are to be run under L. A. W. rules we cannot understand on what authority a man who has won a prize, other than in a club race, before the event should be allowed to start in a "novice" race. Yet this was done at Buffalo, in the case of Kenneth Brown, and again at Pittsburg in the case of W. D. George. We understand that Buffalo made a "special rule," changing the wording of the L. A. W. rule, which reads as follows:

"A novice race is open to those who up to date of event have never won a prize excepting in a club contest, and should be properly the first race of a meet."

We learn that at Buffalo the rule was made to read "up to date of entry." We are not aware that at Pittsburg the rule was changed. In any event, the rule as made by the L. A. W. was violated in both cases. If races are announced as under League rules, then let League rules stand as they are, without any improper changes. The rule is good as it stands; it was framed as it is with a purpose in view, and a very proper purpose too. We would suggest to managers that run races under these rules to accept the rules in their entirety, and not improperly meddle and change them to suit what they consider correct.

LADIES' NORTH SHORE (MASS.) ANNUAL TOUR.

"OHNE HAST" is the motto of the club, and you cannot enjoy the pleasures of the tour, unless you can take along a representative of the fair sex. Personally, we sigh and feel a mental wreck, when we think that our single blessedness (?) bars us out. Mrs. Charles Hopkins will do the pacing, but Mr. C. H. will do the talking. Mrs. Stall will be whipper-in, but W. W. himself will handle the whip. The itinerary covers three days, starting Oct. 4 and finishing Oct. 7. The arrangements for the comfort of the party are complete, and with a knowledge of the personnel of the party we regret we cannot claim a "Mrs." of our own and go along also.

B. R. J. APOLOGIZES TO THE SAN FRANCISCO CLUB.

Editor Bicycling World: By your kind permission I desire a small space in your valuable paper for the following:

Many of your numerous readers of the BICYCLING WORLD AND L. A. W. BULLETIN may have noticed an article on Bigotry in the August issue, date 31st, when the writer dealt severely with the San Francisco Bicycle Club.

At the time of writing that article I felt assured that I was assisting to correct an abuse. I felt assured at the time that the statement concerning the by-laws was true, and accordingly, in a moment of passion, sent the same for publication. Since then, however, I have learned that I was misinformed, and inadvertently I have injured the feelings of a large majority of the members of said club undeservedly.

But that there are members in said club ever ready to object to said race of people, there is no contradiction, and for them I hold the utmost contempt, and the "Article on Bigotry" is still applicable to them. They are not deserving of the extension of good fellowship that abounds amongst men of intelligence, and the said club should take strong measures to weed them out, or the blot upon their escutcheon will be hard to erase.

I now desire to repair the injury as far as possible, and ask of that club to remember that at the time of publishing the said article I felt a conviction amounting to almost a moral certainty that I was correct, otherwise I would not have sent the article for publication.

I sincerely offer the above apology to the San Francisco Bicycle Club, with all due respect to their gentlemen members.

Respectfully,

B. R. J.

San Francisco, Sept. 18, 1888.

A DESERVING TRIBUTE TO "SECRETARY."

Editor Bicycling World: Some time when you have a favorable, quiet opportunity, some time when you feel your heart all overflowing with the gentle, genial goodness that particularly bespeaks man's humanity to man, will you kindly steal away just one little minute from the cares that infest the day, just long enough to drop a line into the out-going post to our dear friend, "Secretary," "way down in Baltimore, Maryland?" And thank him, please, cordially, sincerely, earnestly, for the quiet yet exquisite pleasure he has afforded at least one unknown, appreciative reader away out here in the broad stretches of the Western country, by his quaint, delightful reminiscences of the "Order of the Bushwhackers." I am sure "Secretary" is one who loves his fellow men. None other could ever have written a sketch like he has written—a sketch so bright and cheery, so happy in its humor, so rich in its tone, so gentle in its spirit. It comes to us out here, so far across the distance, like some sweet perfume borne by summer breezes from odorous meadows of new-mown hay; like some fond memory of long-gone days, wafted to us from life's younger time across the empty space of intervening years, bringing back for a little while again the tender grace of a day that is dead, softened by the subdued, mellow "light of other days."

If possible, please prevail on "Secretary" to share with us again some time the peaceful pleasures enjoyed by the happy members of his modest club, "whose name now is seldom seen in print," and assure him that after the delightful peep which he has granted us into the mysteries of his Order, we surely feel a full, rich bound of our heart toward him and his confreres in their pleasant retirement, and the outspoken thought of our minds is that they are not, as Byron, "by the world forgot."

Fraternally, with the grip (spoke), No. "1842."

THE Boston Club, under the pilotage of Captain Kendall, held their annual run to Riverside last Sunday, at which point boast were taken and a row down to the picnic grounds enjoyed. Here Steward Nottingham had spread an excellent lunch, which was discussed with the usual gusto of the average Boston Clubman.

NOTES BY

THE "CAVILER."

SHADES of Webster, Worcester and Johnson, how ye must suffer! And to think that he who I shall refer to lives just under the shadow of learned Harvard! It is truly dreadful. Must I tell all the world? Well, so be it, here goes: While taking my constitutional on the promenade before the plate glass windows of the Somerset Club, on Beacon street, yesterday, I chanced to meet a gentleman who, by well directed personal efforts and sagacious assistance from newspaper friends, has managed to climb well up on the ladder of cycling fame. Our conversation chancing to turn upon cycling journalism, he said: "What absurd nom de plumes the editor of the BICYCLING WORLD gives some of his correspondents. Now there is that abominable 'Caviler.' What in the deuce has the word 'Caviler' got to do with cycling, I should like to know? If we were horsemen there might be some point to it." Dear Mr. Editor, I did not faint; I merely gurgled with suppressed laughter. Later on I asked him what dictionary he preferred for definitions, and learned that he was not particular!! I should think not.

If anyone expected to see me at the races of the Eastern Road Club I am glad he suffered the pangs of disappointment. Not being quite prepared to receive a diploma as a first-class imbecile, I remained comfortably at home. I have no patience with that breed of the cycle crank who prides himself on not being a fair-weather rider. I am a fair-weather wheelman, and respect myself accordingly. I dare say there are cyclists who think it a perfect saturnalia to push a wheel through six inches of mud and come home with one eye closed by a splash from a wayside pool, mouth and cheek caressed by flying clogs of dirt, and clothes unrecognizable in coatings of filth, but I am not that kind.

NONE can sympathize more sincerely with the young man who was injured by a fall during the race than I do, yet I cannot help feeling that he should have known better than to attempt racing on the roads when they were in such a condition as on last Saturday. It is a wonder that every man in the contest did not take a header. It was perfectly foolhardy to run a race under such conditions. The officials deserve severe censure for not postponing the races. There was no reason why it should have been run on that day. In fact, if I am correctly informed, a postponement would have been welcomed by a majority of the racers. [Our correspondent is not rightly informed. The roads were in good condition, and the accident to McCombie took place on a perfectly smooth piece of road.—ED.]

THE genial natured ex-Chairman of the L. A. W., the terror of honest promoters, the vanquisher of chieftain Ducker, and the devourer of mighty Aaron, has this year been neglected by the cycle race meet managers. Time was when no tournament could be considered sufficiently amateurish for respectability without Abbot Bassett's name at the head of the programme as referee. The referee was made the man of all men at a race meeting by Mr. B., and it is a shame that he has not longer enjoyed the fruits of his labors. The amateur athletics in other branches of sport, however, have recognized his merits and taken him up with enthusiasm. His name is now heard at country fairs throughout the State, where strictly amateur contests are held, and he is well known on the sacred grounds of the Young Men's Christian Association Athletic Club at the South End.

WHILE driving in my English dog cart through Brookline the other day, in company with a certain young lady friend, we chanced to meet a squad of cyclists clad in the most glittering uniforms. "Where are their instruments?" said my companion. "What instruments," I asked. "Why, the horns and the cornets and base drums," she replied, and then it dawned upon me that she had taken these young fellows for members of a brass band!! It took me some time to assure my unsophisticated little friend that the riders we met were not bandmen, but members of one of the most respectable and prominent of our suburban clubs.

"ARIEL."

TIoga and its races have taken up all Philadelphia cyclodom's attention last week, and they have demonstrated that it only needs an infusion of pluck and energy to give as successful race meets in the Quaker City as elsewhere. The races attracted a large and refined audience, nearly half of whom were ladies, for whom entertainment, in the shape of hot coffee and sandwiches, had been provided by the ladies of the Tioga Club. (We would remark, par parenthese, that we were not invited to partake of the "feed" ourselves.) Chairman Gideon is to be congratulated on the success of his club. In fact congratulations are in order all round. Dallett, alone, sold three hundred tickets. The surprise of the races was Kingsland's defeat of Crist, and the close shave Wilhelm gave the leaders. Halsted was in wretched condition, and his finish in the final heat of the one-mile open was better than his friends expected under the circumstances. I wish you could have seen this one-mile open, the first prize of which was a racing bicycle. I was not at Buffalo, unfortunately, but I take it that what spectators are looking for in all races is a hot race and a close finish. Well, they got it here. The final of this one mile was a fight from start to finish, and as they crossed the tape a blanket would have covered the four men. Kingsland led by half a wheel; next Crist, with Wilhelm six inches back, and Halsted six inches behind the Reading man. Captain L. A. Clarke, of New York, was down as referee, but not materializing in time, Mr. S. F. Clark, of Baltimore, officiated in his stead. It is well to have plenty of Clarks on hand in case of emergency. Captain Clarke acted as timer afterwards. Mention should also be made of the grace with which Captain W. D. Supplee, of "Pensy," officiated as starter. There is one thing, however, that I would caution the Captain about. Economy is an excellent thing in its way, but you can have too much of it, and when Mr. Supplee attempts to exercise it by using the discharged cartridges in the starter's pistol over the second time it is time to call a halt.

MESSRS. LEWIS and Bement, of the Philadelphia Club, climbed Conshohocken Hill last week, and are going to make an attempt at Ford's.

ANOTHER newcomer in trade circles here—Mr. Sweeting, who has opened a cycling store at 639 Arch street. Mr. S. will represent some prominent English makes.

THE club championship of the South End Wheelmen will be decided by a ten-mile road race instead of a one-mile, as first proposed. It will be run this week or next.

A MEETING of the Board of Officers of the Division was held at Harrisburg last Thursday evening, for the purpose of revising the Constitution to agree with the new one of the League.

THE long-delayed road race between the Wilmington and Reading Clubs is also being arranged for, and will come off in the near future. Schwartz will not run on the Reading team; neither will Schmidt. Dampman, Merrihew, McDaniel and Elliott will probably be Wilmington's representatives.

CAPTAIN FLEMING, of the Century, has been resting at Island Heights for the past six weeks, and his customary heavy mileage has fallen off in consequence. Lieutenants McGlathery and Shaffer have been conducting the club runs in a very acceptable way this summer, so that the aforesaid runs have not suffered by the Captain's absence, however much he has been missed by the members personally.

MESSRS. LEISEN and Kohler took a notion to ride into each other on the run yesterday, with the result of Mr. Leisen being compelled to trundle his Star—minus ten spokes on one side, the cleanest sweep you ever saw—to the nearest railway station, while Messrs. Brocker and Crowther, after leaving the rest of the club, found it absolutely necessary that Mr. Kohler's shattered nerves should be restored by Rambo apples.

CLUB runs don't seem to be on the wane here, to any great extent. The Philadelphia Club had quite an imposing one to the Tioga races, among them several of the feminine members, who both the Century and the "Pensy" turned out a goodly number. Some twenty of the latter club rode out to West Chester yesterday with Captain Supplee in command, riding his 56-inch Victor, a change from the "goat." Next Sunday he has called a club century run, starting from the club house at daybreak (!), and unless I am much mistaken the Pennsylvania Club will take record for a club century.

I SAY, Mr. Editor, what's the matter with those benighted districts that have not yet awakened to the importance of the safety? I note with surprise that several of your correspondents say the safety ha hardly appeared in their sections. Why, the Pennsylvania Club has forty, the Century upwards of twenty-five, and the woods are full of the great unattached riding 'em. Another thing: Just make up your mind that the tricycle is doomed. Dead as the typical door nail—both single and tandem. The lady's bicycle has come, and coming has opened to the dear creatures the joy which the cyclist feels; not on your three and four wheeled go-carts, but on the only true wheel—the bicycle. Contradict, who can? Is there not a rhythm of motion about the two-wheeler, a sweeping flight, as of bird on wing, that is never experienced on the other? And will a woman handicap herself with a double weight when she can have a forty-pound wheel? Put a mark right here: Whenever the lady's safety is tried—farewell tricycle! Which of our American manufacturers will quickest realize this? I charge nothing for the point, gentlemen.

ST. LOUIS.

"LINNEUS."

THE Quincy boys paid us their promised visit on Sept. 16, and were handsomely entertained by the Cycle and a few members of the Missouri Clubs. Those that came down were Bob White, H. Whipple, Prof. Heinzen, Robert Cady, of the Quincy B. Club; and Tom Burrows, Hal Osborn, Harry Sommers, Thomas Thompson, Geo. Cook, Fred Bader, H. B. Peters and Sam Tipton, of the Ramblers' Club. Upon their arrival at the depot they were met by a delegation of the Cycle Club and breakfasted. Rain interfered with the run arranged for the morning, and a trip to the A. B. A. brewery was taken instead, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. After inspecting the establishment, and sampling some of the finest brew, each visitor was presented with a handsome souvenir in honor of the occasion. Then the wheels were again mounted, and tracks were made for the Lindell, where dinner was had. After this meal the party wended its way to the Missouri Club house, after inspecting which the run through Forest Park was taken, and then back to town for supper. Afterwards the whole party returned to the Cycle's house and amused themselves in various ways until train time. Upon their departure the Quincy boys were profuse in their thanks for the treatment they had received, and issued pressing invitations for us to visit them on Oct. 11, 12 and 13, the date of their race meet.

ROAD reports are coming in nicely, among the ones received this week being excellent reports of Henry County, sent us by John S. Richards of Clinton, and of Boone County, reported by Prof. H. C. Penn, of the Columbia University. Let the good work go on.

GREAT credit is due Chief Consul Brewster for his efforts in securing the low rate to Kansas City and return, as the attendance at the Division meet hinged more upon this one item than anything else. Brewster always was and always will be the working bee of this Division, and he does not allow any drones in his hive either.

AT the last meeting of the Missouri A. P. Dennis resigned as Treasurer on account of his removal to New York. Upon motion his resignation was accepted, and a vote of thanks was offered him for the excellent manner in which he managed the club's finances during his long term of office. E. B. Kidson was elected to fill the vacancy.

PROF. E. C. KLIPSTEIN writes me from Springfield, Mass.: "Last Thursday I took in the Hartford tournament, and here met Dr. Emery, C. C. Davol, H. P. Merrill and others. Dr. Kendall, a mighty slick fellow, took me in tow and showed me the Boston headquarters, which held some of the far-famed Boston punch. Maltby did some very fine trick riding. Some of his best tricks were wonderful."

By the time this is in print the Missouri Division Meeting will have been a thing of the past. Mr. Ladish wrote to Chief Consul Brewster a few days ago, stating that the Exposition people had withdrawn almost all their promised aid on account of a $4000 loss on the firemen's tournament, but that the United Wheelmen had taken hold, and would build the track at their own expense, rather than disappoint the public. I mention this so that proper credit is given them for their enterprise.

In a letter a few weeks back you mentioned the round trip rate from St. Louis to Kansas City as $1.13, instead of one and one-third (1 1/3) fare. This mistake caused three riders from Greenville, Ill., to come down here Wednesday with the intention of going to Kansas City. After some trouble they found C. C. Brewster at his home, and matters were explained to them. Brewster offered to get them tickets at our special rate but they refused. I am sorry that the mistake occurred, and if it had not seemed so evident that it was an error it would have been corrected long ago.

C. C. HILDEBRAND, Lieutenant of the Missouri, intended to have a go at the Missouri twenty-four-hour record last Saturday night, but was prevented on account of the muddy condition of the roads. He had all his arrangements perfected, and with fair roads would have put in 200 miles. Captain Lewis sent out an urgent call to all active members to be present, and a larger crowd has seldom been seen at the club house outside of regular meetings or entertainments, and I can congratulate Chief Consul Brewster for the excellent choice he has made in appointing A. M. Lewis Local Consul. It is rather late in the season for gathering recruits, but if there are any to be had (and there are) Alex will gather them in.

SUNDAY, Sept. 23, the Missouri took the Ballwin run in honor of Messrs. C. R. Overman and Joe Spohr, who were on business and visiting friends. Your correspondent noticed that Charlie Overman is not a tender-foot, and can ride with the best of them. The same can be said of Mr. Spohr. The Cycle Club had a run arranged for the far off county line, but on account of a late start terminated their run at Ballwin. After dinner the party, in passing Son-of-a-Gun Hill found it to be in fine condition, and eight of their members—Tivy, Jordan, Campbell, Tyler, Hart, Hurck, Walzendorf and Pomarade—assayed the feat of climbing it, and all got up. Only three years ago this hill was deemed almost insurmountable, and the Ramblers at that time offered a gold medal to each man climbing it.

CHICAGO.

THE "STROLLER."

If anybody asks Stevens, of the Fort Dearborn, why he traded or sold his light roadster and bought a tandem, Stevens is sure to say, "oh, for certain reasons I thought I should prefer a tandem," and after seeing the stoical expression on his countenance one has not the nerve to ask as to what those aforesaid reasons are. But his friend, Whitgreave, always looks sad when you speak to him of the change.

THE Englewood Club now want to consolidate with the Fort Dearborn, so I am told.

VAN SICKLEN is still on the mend, but is a shadow of himself as yet, and I greatly fear that the race track will know him no more.

CAPTAIN MCPHIE, of the Oakland Wheeling Club, has been laid up for some time, the result of trying to play polo with several tons of coal about a month ago on Drexel Boulevard.

IT is rumored that Bob Ehrlert, one of the riders of the McCurdy-Ehrlert fake, has returned from South America. I have not seen him as yet, but, if he has returned, he is probably the same old Bob.

THE consolidation scheme goes merrily on, and is being discussed at all times and places, not only by Chicago and Fort Dearborn men but also by members of the other clubs, and it begins to look as though consolidation was a certainty.

RIGGS, of the Illinois Club, is going to try and break the record from Chicago to Milwaukee, and also will soon start in to capture the 24 hour record for the Illinois Club, as soon as moonlight nights come again, and in spite of the moonlight he says this is to be no tandem record, either.

THE Fort Dearborn team have received their medals from Buffalo, and have been informed by Ducker that no picture was offered a club prize, although he told Winship and Garden both, at Buffalo, that the prize in the team race was a fine painting for the club and a gold medal for each member of the team.

THE Lincoln Club received quite a send off in one of the Sunday papers, illustrated with cuts of club house and officers. The cut of "Verax," with that far away, "I'm-waiting-still-waiting-for-the-announcement-of-the-ballot-for-Chief-Consul" expression on his face, is good; also, that cut of Quarter-master Irwin, with that pensive St. Joe-expression, is A1. Whether "Verax's" camera is responsible for this, or the newspaper, I know not.

A MEETING of the Board of Officers of the Illinois Division was held at the Sherman House Saturday evening, Sept. 29th, at 8 P. M. Present, Chief Consul Davis; Secretary-Treasurer Sheridan, of Springfield; Osman, of Ottawa; and Sieg, Street, Gibson and Roberts, of Chicago. A report from the Constitution Committee was received and more time allowed them to complete their report on same. A resolution was passed that the Constitution Committee should send a copy of the Constitution, as completed by them, to each member of the Board of Officers, each one to make what correction he saw fit, and return the revised copies to the committee for final revision, when the Constitution would be submitted to the Division to be voted on as a whole by a mailed vote. When Chief Consul Davis asked for a report from the Racing Board, Representatives Seig and Street had a little warm discussion pro and con

Upon their departure the Quincy boys were profuse in their thanks for the treatment they had received, and issued pressing invitations for us to visit them on Oct. 11, 12 and 13, the date of their race meet.

ROAD reports are coming in nicely, among the ones received this week being excellent reports of Henry County, sent us by John S. Richards of Clinton, and of Boone County, reported by Prof. H. C. Penn, of the Columbia University. Let the good work go on.

GREAT credit is due Chief Consul Brewster for his efforts in securing the low rate to Kansas City and return, as the attendance at the Division meet hinged more upon this one item than anything else. Brewster always was and always will be the working bee of this Division, and he does not allow any drones in his hive either.

At the last meeting of the Missouri A. P. Dennis resigned as Treasurer on account of his removal to New York. Upon motion his resignation was accepted, and a vote of thanks was offered him for the excellent manner in which he managed the club's finances during his long term of office. E. B. Kidson was elected to fill the vacancy.

PROF. E. C. KLIPSTEIN writes me from Springfield, Mass.: "Last Thursday I took in the Hartford tournament, and here met Dr. Emery, C. C. Davol, H. P. Merrill and others. Dr. Kendall, a mighty slick fellow, took me in tow and showed me the Boston headquarters, which held some of the far-famed Boston punch. Maltby did some very fine trick riding. Some of his best tricks were wonderful."

By the time this is in print the Missouri Division Meeting will have been a thing of the past. Mr. Ladish wrote to Chief Consul Brewster a few days ago, stating that the Exposition people had withdrawn almost all their promised aid on account of a $4000 loss on the firemen's tournament, but that the United Wheelmen had taken hold, and would build the track at their own expense, rather than disappoint the public. I mention this so that proper credit is given them for their enterprise.

IN a letter a few weeks back you mentioned the round trip rate from St. Louis to Kansas City as $1.13, instead of one and one-third (1 1/3) fare. This mistake caused three riders from Greenville, Ill., to come down here Wednesday with the intention of going to Kansas City. After some trouble they found C. C. Brewster at his home, and matters were explained to them. Brewster offered to get them tickets at our special rate but they refused. I am sorry that the mistake occurred, and if it had not seemed so evident that it was an error it would have been corrected long ago.

C. C. HILDEBRAND, Lieutenant of the Missouri, intended to have a go at the Missouri twenty-four-hour record last Saturday night, but was prevented on account of the muddy condition of the roads. He had all his arrangements perfected, and with fair roads would have put in 200 miles. Captain Lewis sent out an urgent call to all active members to be present, and a larger crowd has seldom been seen at the club house outside of regular meetings or entertainments, and I can congratulate Chief Consul Brewster for the excellent choice he has made in appointing A. M. Lewis Local Consul. It is rather late in the season for gathering recruits, but if there are any to be had (and there are) Alex will gather them in.

SUNDAY, Sept. 23, the Missouris took the Ballwin run in honor of Messrs. C. R. Overman and Joe Spohr, who were on business and visiting friends. Your correspondent noticed that Charlie Overman is not a tender-foot, and can ride with the best of them. The same can be said of Mr. Spohr. The Cycle Club had a run arranged for the far off county line, but on account of a late start terminated their run at Ballwin. After dinner the party, in passing Son-of-a-Gun Hill found it to be in fine condition, and eight of their members—Tivy, Jordan, Campbell, Tyler, Hart, Hurck, Walzendorf and Pomarade—assayed the feat of climbing it, and all got up. Only three years ago this hill was deemed almost insurmountable, and the Ramblers at that time offered a gold medal to each man climbing it.

CHICAGO.

THE "STROLLER."

If anybody asks Stevens, of the Fort Dearborns, why he traded or sold his light roadster and bought a tandem, Stevens is sure to say, "oh, for certain reasons I thought I should prefer a tandem," and after seeing the stoical expression on his countenance one has not the nerve to ask as to what those aforesaid reasons are. But his friend, Whitgreave, always looks sad when you speak to him of the change.

THE Englewood Club now want to consolidate with the Fort Dearborn, so I am told.

VAN SICKLEN is still on the mend, but is a shadow of himself as yet, and I greatly fear that the race track will know him no more.

CAPTAIN MCPHIE, of the Oakland Wheeling Club, has been laid up for some time, the result of trying to play polo with several tons of coal about a month ago on Drexel Boulevard.

It is rumored that Bob Ehler, one of the riders of the McCurdy-Ehler fake, has returned from South America. I have not seen him as yet, but, if he has returned, he is probably the same old Bob.

THE consolidation scheme goes merrily on, and is being discussed at all times and places, not only by Chicago and Fort Dearborn men but also by members of the other clubs, and it begins to look as though consolidation was a certainty.

RIGGS, of the Illinois Club, is going to try and break the record from Chicago to Milwaukee, and also will soon start in to capture the 24 hour record for the Illinois Club, as soon as moonlight nights come again, and in spite of the moonlight he says this is to be no tandem record, either.

THE Fort Dearborn team have received their medals from Buffalo, and have been informed by Ducker that no picture was offered a club prize, although he told Winship and Garden both, at Buffalo, that the prize in the team race was a fine painting for the club and a gold medal for each member of the team.

THE Lincoln Club received quite a send off in one of the Sunday papers, illustrated with cuts of club house and officers. The cut of "Verax," with that far away, "I'm-waiting-still-waiting-for-the-announcement-of-the-ballot-for-Chief-Consul" expression on his face, is good; also, that cut of Quarter-master Irwin, with that pensive St. Joe-expression, is A1. Whether "Verax's" camera is responsible for this, or the newspaper, I know not.

A MEETING of the Board of Officers of the Illinois Division was held at the Sherman House Saturday evening, Sept. 29th, at 8 P. M. Present, Chief Consul Davis; Secretary-Treasurer Sheridan, of Springfield; Osman, of Ottawa; and Sieg, Street, Gibson and Roberts, of Chicago. A report from the Constitution Committee was received and more time allowed them to complete their report on same. A resolution was passed that the Constitution Committee should send a copy of the Constitution, as completed by them, to each member of the Board of Officers, each one to make what correction he saw fit, and return the revised copies to the committee for final revision, when the Constitution would be submitted to the Division to be voted on as a whole by a mailed vote. When Chief Consul Davis asked for a report from the Racing Board, Representatives Seig and Street had a little warm discussion pro and con about the management of the Cheltenham Beach race meet, but oil was thrown on the troubled waters by Secretary-Treasurer Sheridan, who moved to lay the matter on the table until ex-Chief Consul Van Sicklen would be able to be present, and his motion went through with a rush. But that Racing Board is going to have a bit of a shindy with the new Board of Officers soon, to explain that expenditure of $150 on a race meet here that was to swell the coffers of the Division, and of which no report has yet been handed in to the Secretary-Treasurer. The Board of Officers elected delegates to the annual meeting of the League as follows: Rome of Peoria, Sheridan of Springfield, and Oliver of Chicago. There was a little contest between Oliver and Randall for the honor; the first vote was a tie, but with the deciding vote of Chief Consul Davis, Oliver was elected. I met Seig to-day and asked him if he could give me any pointers about the meeting, to which he replied, "the only thing I know is that it was four Illinois Club members against the State, or 4 to 3." See?

NEW YORK.

"HAWKSHAW."

I WONDER what has become of that very erratic individual of the hyphenized cognomen—J. Purvis-Bruce? For a while the wheel press on both sides of the Atlantic was filled with accounts of his doings, both from his own pen and from those of others, but now all is strangely silent. It seems about time in this sort of a sky-rocket performance, to begin to look for the stick, and again I ask in the name of an anxious public, where is J. Purvis-Bruce?

WHEELMEN are much pleased at the fact that $750,000 is to be spent on our city parks, the bulk of which sum will be put upon the roadways, an expenditure that has been sorely needed for some time.

The endeavor of the age seems to be towards securing oddities in clocks. The latest shown is a wheelman mounted upon a bicycle. The mechanism of the clock causes the rider to propel the wheel with an evenness of pace and a "clock-like action" that is much sought after, but seldom seen among actual riders.

THEODORE CARROLL, forty years of age and a cyclist, went riding on Riverdale avenue, near Yonkers, on Thursday morning. While coasting he ran into a wagon which was coming up the hill, and a smash up was the result. When Carroll was dug out from under his own and the wagon's wheels, he was found to be considerably damaged and minus one ear, which was cleanly cut from his head by the collision.

THE New York Club's house is slowly, in fact very slowly, assuming the appearance of a building that is inhabited. There seems to have been some lack of management, or rather an absence of any at all, that has resulted in the builders and others doing as they pleased and when they pleased, and the results are not eminently satisfactory. Despite these facts, however, the house is both handsome and convenient, and as to cost, is beyond doubt the most expensive one ever built for a bicycle club.

MR. EDWARD J. SHRIVER, President of the New York Bicycle Club, has well earned his title of the "Great Rejector," by his ability in club, political and social questions to at all times be opposed to the opinions of a majority, no matter what they might be. At last, however, Mr. Shriver has for just once consented to agree with the majority, and in consequence he will marry a Baltimore belle on the 15th inst. The usual official letter that always accompanies all of this gentleman's actions has not yet made its appearance, but in the light of his well-known ability in this line it cannot much longer be delayed.

THE press has been full of late of the recent Temple-Rowe foul at Buffalo, and the "know alls" and "smart alecks" have not failed to air their own knowledge, or rather their lack of any, in regard to the incompetency of the judges who awarded the race to Rowe upon a foul on Temple's part. While I know nothing of the merits of the case, and therefore cannot discuss whether the offense was actually committed or not, I would like to call these educated racing critics' attention to the fact that, according to League racing rules, the judges are allowed only to place the men as to their position at the finish and to do nothing else. The question of foul riding can alone be dealt with by the referee and the umpires. Now at Buffalo the judges declared Temple to have crossed the line ahead of Rowe, as he did, and there their duties ceased. From the position at the finish thus awarded him by the judges, the referee removed Temple because of an alleged foul. It is unpleasant at all times to have one's self written up adversely in the public press, especially when the writers show such ignorance of their own racing rules, as in this case, and I just call attention to the above facts as a simple justice to the gentlemen who acted as judges in this unpleasant affair.

SYRACUSE.

"SALINA."

THE last club run of 1888 was held on the 26th ult., and was attended by only eight members, owing to the conditions of the roads and also the darkness. And it was dark! Capt Chapin led the way, mounted on a 53-inch Columbia, a wheel quite foreign to him, and had it not been for the constant blowing of his whistle, we never could have followed him. Night riding is not popular in Syracuse, and never will be till the roads are improved and satisfactory arrangements are made with the moon to appear on the scene.

THE Cycling Club has owned a small 32-inch bicycle for several months, which has been the joy and pride of all the members. But, alas! some one broke our pet, and we are all in deep mourning. Suspicion rested on a certain club man for a time, and he was finally accused and tried before a mock court, Judge Wilson presiding. After a long and tiresome struggle, a competent jury was selected and the trial began. The prosecuting attorney opened the case with a long harangue on the terrible crime, supposed to have been committed by the accused, and called forth several witnesses, who, by judicious lying, proved almost to a certainty the guilt of the accused. The criminal was his own counsel, and some of his cross-examinations would have brought tears from a brass monkey. Both sides through, the judge charged the jury, and after a short secret session they brought in a verdict of "guilty." The grief of the prisoner was so terrible, that sentence was suspended till Oct. 15. Witness Hopkins deserves credit for the convicting evidence he produced.

PORKOPOLIS NOTES.

"STAR."

THE wheel editor of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette is a little bit previous in asserting that the cycling season is about over for this year. This may be true as to certain scorchers who have worn themselves out by long runs during the hot months, but for those who make a proper use of their wheels there yet remain the months of October and November, during which the smoothness of the roads and the exhilarating atmosphere make even hill-climbing a delight.

ON Sept. 26 a teamster was fined five dollars and costs for driving a loaded four horse coal wagon on the Race St. asphalt.

THE lubricating power of sperm oil is said to increase with the temperature. Perhaps that accounts for the easy running of a wheel that has been standing in the sun.

ALLSOP, the report of whose feat of climbing Sycamore Hill created so much surprise, is said to weep because there are no more hills to conquer. What's the matter with the Price Hill incline?

THOUGHTLESS wheelmen should be cautioned against coasting in the parks, as they are not only liable to be arrested and have their badges taken from them, but may be the cause of the parks being closed to all wheelmen, badge or no badge.

THE Enquirer man—who does not hesitate to copy from the BICYCLING WORLD AND L. A. W. BULLETIN, but forgets to give due credit—sees fit to question the veracity of your correspondent. If he will only consult the issue of his paper for August 19 he will find the item he denies, and which described Dr. Kempton, of the C. B. C., as a "professional trick star rider," who was to make a trip to Mammoth Cave, Ky.

THE season of the year is at hand when inexperienced wheelmen, by wearing insufficient or improper clothing, are apt to contract colds that may stay with them indefinitely. Cotton should be wholly excluded and only woolen garments be worn. A coat, and at times a vest, should be carried on the wheel to be donned while resting, coasting, or when the rider is not on his wheel, for no matter how warm it may be at the beginning of the day, it is liable to turn quite cold before night.

A VEGETABLE diet, it is claimed, is more conducive to endurance than one of meat. The hare, horse and deer (Herbivora or vegetable eaters) are fleet and have greater powers of endurance, it is said, than the lion, tiger or panther (Carnivora or flesh eaters). The latter are better able to make sudden, powerful but brief efforts, whilst the former can protract their efforts almost indefinitely. To increase their endurance, hounds are fed on corn-bread. Might not a vegetable diet be beneficial to the knights of the wheel?

WHILST returning from Alexandria, Ky., the C. B. C. met a snake—it was a real snake, something less than ten feet long—that blocked the way and showed fight. Nothing daunted by its threatening aspect, the gallant Galway, ordering a dismount, led his forces

AND COMMENT.

A NOVEL way of advertising is that adopted by certain firms who "advertise" themselves as having an unlimited opinion of the gullibility of the dear public, by "advertising" that they bet Prof. King $500 that he cannot ride a mile or two on his wonderful water bicycle. Even in classic Boston this racket was worked to perfection, and the dear public were gulled.

THERE is a letter for H. G. Crocker at this office.

OWING to bad weather the Maine L. A. W. Div. races have been postponed to Oct. 11.

THE Wakefield (Mass.) Bi. Club will hold its annual twenty-five-mile road race Saturday, Oct. 6, at 3 P. M.

ON September 28, the Medford, Mass., Cycle Club was organized with fifteen members. The club intends to join the League.

P. J. BERLO and J. P. Clarke, on a Marlboro' Club tandem, rode round the reservoir this week in 3:11 3-4. This is the fastest time ever accomplished round that circle.

WE received cards from Mr. Frederick Jenkins the other day. He was married to Miss Ella Gregory. The home of the happy couple is New Rochelle, New York.

P. S. BROWN is of the belief that W. E. Crist has the fastest final spurt of any man riding, not excepting Temple, Rowe or Windle. We do not doubt Brown's sincerity but we question his judgment.

A. J. MARTEL, on a bicycle, and F. Neil, on his mare, Dolly Goldsmith, will ride a match race from Hartford to New York City, for a purse of $1,000, ($500 a side). Both men belong in Hartford.

IN our issue last week we gave an account of a race between horse and bicycle in New Mexico. We learn from the Clipper that the time made by the horse, 50 miles in 3h. 47 m., is record for that distance.

A CURIOUS match has been made between J. C. Edwards, of Connecticut, and W. Jones, of Albany, N. Y., to ride across country from Sandlake to Bath, N. Y. They will be accompanied by two horsemen.

QUINCY, Ill., tournament Oct. 9, 10, 11. The programme contains races, hill climbing contests, balls, smokers. We regret that space forbids us publishing the programme in full. It will be the finest tournament ever held in Illinois.

A HORSEMAN in Philadelphia, the other day, accidentally rode down a cyclist. Instead of giving himself up in a peaceful manner he thrust the policeman aside and rode off at top speed. His offence is resisting arrest, and he will fare badly when caught.

THE Springfield Clubs' road race last week, was run under the most dismal circumstances. Fog, rain and mud did prevail. The following team won: J. C. Hamilton, F. A. Eldred, F. H. Williams, with Sawtell, C. Trask and F. N. Swan second place.

E. BIRGE, while riding near West Warren, Mass., rode over a red squirrel. Birge was going at good speed and his wheel caught the little fellow, and, curiously enough, took him up with it into the slot that the wheel passes through under the seat, where he was of course killed.

THE four-mile handicap race of the Yonkers (N. Y.) Bicycle Club was won by C. B. Lockwood, from scratch, beating H. W. Pagan (65 sec.) second, and J. J. Lawrence (90s.), E. R. Holden (75s.), R. J. Dick (55s.), and S. T. Kellogg, A. W. Kingsbury and C. S. Burnham, scratch.

ONE of the noted events in cycling in Cincinnati, Ohio, occurred last Saturday, September 22d, it being a run to Dayton, Ohio, by moonlight, by the Crescent Wheelmen of Cincinnati. The distance is 55 miles. The return was made in time for an early supper Sunday evening.

W. A. Ross of Holyoke, Mass., was fined $7.63 for riding on the sidewalks of that city. The plea that the road was impassable did not clear him. For as the judge said; "If the riders of bicycles came to a bad spot in the road they could walk and push their wheels on the sidewalks, like a wheelbarrow."

AN empty balloon was found in Pennsylvania last week, drifting in a wood. Several enquiries have been made if the lost occupants were some professional bicyclists who was visiting Pittsburg, and had taken the balloon railroad home. As the "gate" was not abnormally large, it is supposed the new route was taken to keep expenses down. "Senator" Morgan is awaiting a new hat from the party, the result of a bet on the "gate" at Pittsburg.

MR. SAM B. STERLING, of Bridgeport, Conn., one of the long-distance tourists of the United States, made us a pleasant call last week. He recounted some of his experiences, and said that the longest tour he ever took was up into Canada and back, a distance of some 1200 miles. He started for Florida a-wheel, but he got no further than North Carolina, and here he concluded discretion to be the better part of valor, as his fear of "alligators and black skins" prevented his proceeding. Considering the prevalence of the deadly alligator on the highways and byways of North Carolina we commend Mr. Sterling's caution.

THERE is a flutter in coterie of Juniata Wheelmen, of Huntingdon, Pa. It seems that they are to lose one of their right hand men in the person of W. M. Tehan, President-Captain (more familiarly known as "Billy") who has accepted a responsible position as stenographer, not to "Mr. Barnes of New York," but some one in Gotham who rejoices in a name very similar. There is weeping and gnashing of teeth, and the parting is said to be one of those demonstrations in which onions play a conspicuous part. "Billy" was a lively boy, one of those great hearted bricks that they seem to raise in England. It is said that he feared nothing, save the d-l, with whom, it is affirmed, he had a nodding acquaintance. A few of the boys bade him bon voyage, and even his countenance showed some traces of mental pain at the severance of ties that were as hearty as they were strong-seated in the human breasts of those who regarded him with esteem and genial solicitude.

MR. HOPKINS ONCE AGAIN.

Editor Bicycling World: I am glad to see the Illinois wheelmen "waking up" on the road question, and if they are as energetic in their efforts to improve their corduroys as they have been recently in defending them against my mild complaint they may some time have good roads of their own.

In my letter in the World last June I spoke in a general way of Illinois roads and wheelmen, but the idea that I intended any reflection upon the treatment I received at their hands is ridiculous. It is the only State in which I had an escort, viz., Bert Meyers in Peoria, and Messrs. Sperry and Nicolet in Champaign, the latter gentlemen riding two miles with me, for all of which I was grateful, and should have particularized. I thanked Mr. Meyers a second time in Buffalo, and if Mr. Sperry or Mr. Nicolet ever come this way I hope to do as much for them as they did for me.

But I retract nothing which I first wrote. I thought I knew what a rough road was when I reached Illinois, as I had ridden about forty miles over railroad ties, and wheelmen there seemed to take no offense when I told them that they had the roughest roads it had been my misfortune to travel. Doubtless they do get smooth about this time of year; Illinois people living here tell me that they do. That's a comfort. Between Peoria and Bloomington they were not so bad as in other less-traveled districts. In Bloomington a prominent wheelman informed me that when they wanted good riding they went up to Peoria. A prominent wheelman not a thousand miles from Champaign, who said he had ridden to Columbus, took the train to Crawfordsville, if I am to believe his own statement. If I lived there I think I should do the same. With all due respect I to Mr. Matur, of Bloomington, and Mr. Sperry, of Champaign, I found many wheelmen in their State who could not give reliable road information, and I was told on three occasions, "I have never been five miles out of town."

Boys, come out here and we will show you some natural roads that are "equal to any macadamized road," and you won't have to wait three weeks after a rain for them to get smooth, either.

Yours truly, C. C. HOPKINS.

Denver, Col., Sept. 22.

WE would especially call rider's attention to the new advertisement of W. Read and Sons. They make a liberal offer of exchange.

A. T. LANE, the well-known sporting goods dealer of Montreal attended the Buffalo Meet mounted in the American Rambler. Where is the Premier you have hitherto been so fond of, Mr. Lane?

RALPH TEMPLE.

Two years ago the subject of the following sketch and the original of the above cut was absolutely unknown in the cycling world, but to-day Temple holds an unprecedented record of victories over the most prominent professional cyclists of the world. Only one man stands in the way of his assuming the proud title of champion of the world, and to the end that the question of supremacy may be settled Temple and Rowe are to meet in a series of races. We give some interesting statistics relating to the "little wonder," which on the eve of the great battle must prove of great interest to our readers.

Ralph Temple was born at Galesburg, Ill., May 10th, 1865, he is therefore in his 24th year. His height is 5 feet 4 1-2 inches, his training weight, stripped, 142 pounds; his chest measure is 38 inches; thigh, 23 inches; calf, 15 inches. His machine is a 21-pound, 53 1-2-inch Humber with 4 7-8-inch cranks.

During his tour abroad in 1887-88 he rode in 125 races, of which 103 were firsts, 16 seconds, 2 thirds, 2 dead heats, 2 misplaced. The dead heats were with Howell and Lees, and he has never been defeated from scratch except by Howell. He has ridden Howell 8 races, out of which he has defeated that Englishman 5 times.

In the two misplaced races, one was at Glasgow, when he actually rose from a sick bed to start, and the other was at Amsterdam one week after the fall in which he suffered concussion of the brain. This race at Amsterdam is a matter of history only to Temple, he to this day not having the faintest recollection of going to the track, starting and stopping. In February, 1888, he dislocated his ankle and for three months was laid up. While yet unable to walk he began to ride again, and for two months he rode and won races while he had to use a crutch to walk. During this period his ankle had to be frozen by cold water process and then laced in elastic stockings before each race.

HIS MATCH RACES.

Eight match and open events with R. Howell, won five, lost three. Fred Lees, three races, all won by Temple. W. Wood, four races, all won by Temple. F. Wood, three races, Temple won them all. He had one match race each with A. H. Robb, I. Young and J. P. Lumsden, and won them all.

CHAMPIONSHIPS, 1887.

He beat R. Howell for the half-mile world and the half-mile open championships.

He beat I. Young for the championship of Scotland. For the 15, 25 and 50 mile international championships he beat T. Battensby, Tom and Bob English, W. Wood and Jules Dubois.

CHAMPIONSHIPS, 1888.

He captured the half and 10 mile and the 20-mile world championships, defeating Howell, Lees, F. Wood, B. English, Crocker, Knapp, Whittaker, W. Wood and A. H. Robb.

He also got the championship of Europe at Berlin, at which time he established a European record in competition for two miles in 5m. 10s.

The championship of Holland was also captured by the "merry little Yankee."

In temperament Temple is sanguine and "grit" to the backbone. In manner affable and frank. The bigger the job cut out for him the better he likes it. He is never beaten until the race is finished, and when beaten he has no excuses to make.

Since his return to America he has been beaten by the great American, Rowe, but whether the cause of his defeat was lack of condition or because Rowe is the faster of the two will be demonstrated in the coming match races. Temple's method of training is uncommon. He is of course careful in his diet, takes lots of rest, and in training he never rides more than a quarter of a mile at top speed. He never rides more than three miles at one bout, and he alternates short distances at slow work and then a burst of top speed and then slow again. This we understand is Mr. Hillier's method and also the method of R. Howell.

W. A. ROWE.

The achievements of this great cyclist have been so often and faithfully chronicled in this paper that it would seem almost unnecessary to refer to them, but at this time we know it will be of interest to epitomize what Rowe has done since he became prominent in 1885. W. A. Rowe was born in Gloucester, Mass., July 29, 1865, and like his smaller rival he is also in his 24th year. Here the similarity ceases, for the Lynn man stands 5 feet 8 3-4 inches, and strips and trains to 176 pounds. Chest measurement, 38 1-2 inches; thigh, 26 inches; calf, 18 inches. Rowe rides a 55-inch Columbia with 5 1-2-inch cranks. Since his entry into the cycling arena his success has been almost without a check. It was in 1886 that he reached the zenith of his success, during which year he beat his only rival, George Hendee, in a race, and thus established his title to being the fastest man in America. During the same year he defeated F. Wood, and also established world's records from 1-4 mile up to 22 miles, which records stand to this day intact. In 1887 the racing was comparatively dull, and the men Rowe did meet he vanquished easily. Early in 1888 Rowe went to England to meet Howell. It is an undoubted fact that Rowe was not fit and could not get fit because the inclement weather forbade outside work, and so Howell won all the races. Rowe, however, redeemed himself by defeating W. Wood in a match race, at the finish of which Rowe was thrown and broke his collar bone. This of course put an end to his racing and he came home. Since his return he has done good work, especially distinguishing himself at Buffalo and Hartford by defeating his rival, Temple, at these two places. Rowe is a man who is not afraid of punishment. When pushed he rides all out, and he has a wonderful burst of speed. In manner he is retiring and modest; he does not talk, but he quietly goes at it, and does his little work. To be beaten by Rowe is no disgrace, to beat him is a hard task, and there is only one man, if any, that has the speed necessary to lead him over the tape in his present splendid form.

WELLS GETS THE SYCAMORE STREET HILL RECORD.

OUR correspondent, "Duquesne," telegraphs us from Pittsburg, that Jno. A. Wells succeeded in climbing Sycamore street Hill, mounted on an American Rambler, geared to 48 inches, with crank 7 1-4 inch throw. He rode three hundred feet beyond the distance ever before attained by any rider. Mr. Wells made three attempts before he succeeded. The grade of Sycamore street on the average is 1 in 6 4-5.

ENGLISH RECORDS.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19, E. Taylor established tricycle records as follows: 6 miles, 17m. 25 sec.; 8 miles, 23m. 1 sec.; 9 miles, 26m. 14 sec.

ONE AND QUARTER-MILE SAFETY.

ON Tuesday, Sept. 18, S. G. Whittaker put the one-mile safety record at 2m. 31 4-5 sec., and on Wednesday following he rode the quarter also on a safety, in 33 2-5 sec.

ENGLISH PROFESSIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS.

THE 20-mile championship, for £40 and the belt, was run at the Belgrave grounds. The result was:

W. Wood,	1
A. H. Robb,	2
R. Howell,	3
A. Hawker,	4

The 15-mile championship was run at North Shields. Results:

Tom English,	1
W. Wood,	2
R. H. English,	3
F. Wood,	4

THE EASTERN ROAD CLUB RACE.

At a meeting of the Eastern Road Club, held Sept. 27, it was voted to refer the result of the twenty-five-mile race to the referee, Dr. W. H. Emery, who, it is understood, will order the race to be run off by the Dorchester and Cambridgeport Clubs at some time convenient to both. At this meeting a SUBSCRIPTION FOR THE BENEFIT OF ROBERT S. MCOMBIE, who was seriously injured in the Eastern Road Club race, was started, and it was voted to open a subscription in each club in the organization. Dr. W. G. Kendall, Boston Club; Dr. W. H. Emery, Roxbury Club; President John B. Seward, Chelsea Club; President Willard H. Forbes, Dorchester Club; and Lieutenant Newman, Cambridge Club, each contributed $5, and promised a liberal return from their respective clubs.

The wheelmen are proving themselves a whole-souled body of men, as well as jolly, good fellows socially.

We cheerfully endorse the idea of a subscription, and the WORLD puts its name down for $5. Subscriptions will be received at this office or by any member of the committee named above.

EAST HARTFORD RACES.

UNDER the auspices of the East Hartford Club a race meeting was held last Saturday. A chilly air tested the staying qualities of the spectators as well as that of the riders. Results as follows:

One-mile East Hartford championship, W. James, (1); C. F. Richmond (2). Time, 3-24.

Half-mile handicap 1st heat. All from scratch!! W. H. Combs (1); E. Mullett (2); C. R. Culver (3). Time, 1-35. Second heat, from scratch!! E. S. Horton (1); H. J. Culworth (2); C. L. Snow (3). Third heat, G. I. Whitehead, 35 yards (1); H. C. Wakefield, 40 yards (2); J. E. Dauchy, 30 yards (3); L. Foster, scratch (4). Time, 1-29. Final heat, J. E. Dauchy, 30 yards (1); G. I. Whitehead, 35 yards (2). Time, 1-30 1-4.

Three-mile handicap, W. James, 25 seconds (1); G. I. Whitehead 15 seconds (2); H. C. Wakefield, 20 seconds (3). Time, 10-22 1-2.

Two-mile novice, H. J. Cudworth (1); E. E. Arnold (2). Time, 7-44 1-2.

One-mile open, L. Foster (1); G. I. Whitehead (2); J. E. Dauchy (3). Time, 3-22.

One-mile 3-20 class, J. E. Dauchy (1); H. C. Wakefield (2). Time, 3-24.

Two-mile lap race, L. Foster, 22 points; W. James, 19 points. Time, 7-08.

One-mile consolation, C. L. Snow (1); F. A. Bearse (2); S. H. Tyrell (3). Time, 3-30 3-4.

RACING AT SAN FRANCISCO.

THE following are the results of the races held under the auspices of the San Francisco Bicycle Club, Sept. 10th.

One mile novice (ordinary)—Entries: A. U. Brown, A. S.; H. N. Egbert, S. F. B. C.; Louis Hinz, B. C. W.; L. G. Hodgkins. Won by A. U. Brown; Hodgkins second. Time, 3-04 4-5.

Five mile League American Wheelmen State championship. This was a walk-over for A. S. Ireland, he having no competitors. Time, 16-46.

Two-mile handicap—Entries: C. B. Wheaton, S. F. B. C.; scratch; B. C. Austin, 180 yards; E. L. Favor, S. F. B. C., 165 yards. Won by Wheaton; Austin second. Time, 6-33.

One-half-mile dash—Entries: A. U. Brown, A. S.; W. S. Davis, S. F. B. C. Won by Davis. Time, 1-30 1-2.

One mile Rover type (record)—Entries: Charles P. Fonda, S. F. B. C.; F. E. Browning, B. C. W. Won by Fonda. Time, 3-16 1-4. This was a close and interesting race, but the Pacific coast record of 3-10 3-4 not being broken no medal was awarded to the winner.

One mile scratch—Entries: W. G. Davis, S. F. B. C.; C. B. Wheaton, S. F. B. C. Won by Davis. Time, 3-22. This was a slow and uninteresting race, the contestants being side by side throughout.

Three-mile handicap—Entries: A. S. Ireland, A. S., scratch; A. U. Brown, A. S., 160 yards; O. C. Haslett, A. S., 125 yards. Won by Ireland; Brown second. Time, 9-53.

One mile club contest—Entries: W. S. Davis, C. B. Wheaton, C. P. Fonda. Won by Fonda; Wheaton second. Time, 3-56.

THE NASHVILLE (TENN.) ROAD RACE.

THE 30-mile handicap of the Nashville (Tenn.) Club, took place last week Thursday, and was a very successful event. Fifteen men faced the starter, and the result was as follows:

1—J. D. Herndon,	Scratch.	9—J. Roller,	12m.
2—W. M. Leftwich,	15m.	10—J. B. Northern,	Scratch
3—F. W. Hamley,	10m.	11—J. Combs,	Scratch
4—F. N. Smith,	Scratch.	12—J. H. Hartung,	Scratch
5—F. Newson,	12m.	13—H. B. Caulkins,	3m.
6—W. Treece,	Scratch	14—G. C. Crause,	3m.
7—W. A. Whitmore,	Scratch	15—J. D. Crause,	3m.
8—W. Hartung,	Scratch.		Did not finish.

* Time, 2-21 1-2. The race was a success in every respect. Though the roads were not of the best, yet everything was done by the management, aided by the generous support and interest of the public along the route of the race. Several headers were taken, but no serious damage was done. Hamly took the worst one, he was forced out of the road by a team, falling into a pile of stones, and cutting his chin badly and spraining his wrist and ankle. J. D. Crause became flagged and stopped.

The prizes were an American Champion roadster, presented by Messrs. Gormully & Jeffery. Medals for second place and fastest time. Mr. Herndon wins the bicycle and time medal. The machines ridden were: Herndon, 56-inch Victor; Leftwich, 54-inch Victor; Hamley, 54-inch New Mail; Newson, 54-inch New Mail; Treece, Columbia Light Roadster.

A GRAND FALL TOURNAMENT FOR NEW YORK CITY.

THE Berkely Athletic Club, an opulent athletic club with a luxurious club building at 19 and 21 West 44th street, New York City, have just built recreation grounds at Morris Dock, on the Harlem River, at a cost of $15,000.

The grounds are fifteen minutes' ride from the Grand Central Depot on the N. Y. C. and R. R., and may also be reached by the elevated roads, and New York and Northern Railroad. They are less than two miles above Macomb's Dam Bridge, and may be reached on wheels by riding up Sedgwick avenue. No expense has been spared to make them the prettiest and most complete athletic grounds in the country, and we believe this object has been achieved.

A feature of the grounds will be the bicycle track. The track is four laps to the mile with scientific curves, raised on the outside eighteen inches, so that the highest possible speed may be kept up all the way. The track is twenty feet wide all round. Special accommodation is made for storing wheels during meets and over night, there being storage room for 150 wheels.

This new track will be inaugurated Saturday afternoon, Oct. 30th, with a grand bicycle tournament, on a more complete scale than any ever before given in New York City. The following events will be decided: One-mile bicycle novice, one-mile bicycle handicap, one-mile inter-scholastic (open to members of New York City private schools), one-mile bicycle handicap, two-mile bicycle handicap, one-mile bicycle (Rover type wheels) scratch, half-mile bicycle scratch, two-mile inter-collegiate scratch, and one-mile consolation handicap. Valuable prizes, both beautiful and useful, will be given to first, second and third in each event. It is expected that the value of the prizes will attract the entries of all the fast amateurs. The handicaps will give every one a chance, and the consolation handicap, which will be handicapped on the grounds, will give the unsuccessful ones a chance to win a prize. For the one-mile handicap the first prize will be a solid silver cup, presented by the Pope Mfg. Co.

On the day of the races, special trains will be run direct to the track, on the New York and Northern and on the N. Y. C. and H. R. R., from 42d street depot, and round trip fare, including admission to the grounds, 70 cents. All wheelmen entering grounds on their wheels, admitted free. Competitors will find splendid dressing rooms and ample accommodation to witness the races. The track will be thrown open for practice from Oct. 14 to Oct. 20. The tournament is under the management of G. R. Bidwell, 313 W. 58 street, Captain of bicycling, Berkeley Athletic Club, and F. P. Priol, P. O. Box 444, New York, Editor of the Wheel.

KANSAS CITY.

[For some reason unknown to us, the United States mail failed to bring us copy for the first days' events at Kansas City. The letter bringing us the reports of the second days' proceedings, stated that the first days' report had been forwarded. Where is it and whose fault the non-arrival is, we cannot now say. We held our paper to the last moment, hoping the missing manuscript would materialize.—Ed.]

SECOND DAY.

ST. LOUIS must want the earth. The representation from that city having scooped almost everything "scoopable," in the two days' racing. The attendance of some 500 odd, shivering spectators, was not a sight to warm up enthusiasm. But now to business, and here are the results:

One mile handicap. Percy Stone, scratch, (1), F. Mehlig, 10 sec., (2); N. T. Haynes, 10 sec., (3). Time, 3:15 1-4.
One mile novice. H. C. Jones, (1); M. W. Daniels, (2); F. W. Metcalf, (3). Time, 3:49.
Half mile open. Percy Stone, (1); H. C. Rittenhouse, (2); Harry Gordon and N. Hayes collided and fell. Time, 1:45 1-4.
Three mile Kansas State championship. Two starters. A. J. Henley, (1). F. W. Metcalf, (2). Time, 11:54 3-4.
Half mile without hands. Two starters. H. Gordon, (1); J. A. DeTar, (2). Time, 1:59 3-4.
One mile Missouri State championship. Jno. M. Hodgen, (1); F. Mehlig, (2); N. T. Haynes, (3). Time, 3:33 3-4. In this race Haynes lodged a claim for foul riding vs. Mehlig, but it was disallowed.

THE LANTERN PARADE AND THE EXERCISES AT THE EXPOSITION BUILDING.

Two hundred and seventy-five wheelmen, many of whom were in masquerade costume, mounted their decorated wheels at 8 o'clock, and started for the Exposition Building. Signor Liberati's bugle corps furnished the music for the parade. This corps was mounted on horses, and one of the tooters took a bad header from his equine. This was the only bad accident of the trip. At 9:30 the wheelmen reached the Building, here the wheelmen formed "at ease" in line, and were formally welcomed by Judge J. T. Philips. The effort of the Judge was serio-comic. His reference to the love of athletics as an evidence of culture and power was good, but when he said every thing in Kansas City was free of cost to the visitors, excepting the hotels and laundries he brought down the house.

John Stout astonished the natives by climbing up a flight of stairs on his Star much more easily than some people can ride on the level. The rest of the evening was spent by the wheelmen in promenading, listening to the music and of course flirting in bounds of propriety.

TIOGA (PA.) CYCLE CLUB RACES.

A HEAVY track and cold weather made fast time an impossibility at the above races, held last week, but a crowd of some 1500 people, many of whom were ladies, braved the rawness, and for their pains saw some excellent racing. Results:

One-mile, 3:20 class, was won by Isaac Van Deusen, Jr., with W. J. Grubb second, and J. H. Draper third. Time, 3:01 2-5.
One-third-mile, boys under sixteen—Won by Murray Killiner; C. W. Wright, second. Time, 1:03.
Two-mile lap—H. L. Kingsland, W. E. Crist and W. I. Withelm started, and finished in order named. Time, 6:12 2-5.
One-mile novice—Draper won, with Scott second; a close race. Time, 3:09 3-5.
One-mile tricycle handicap—Won by H. L. Kingsland, scratch; Jno. A. Wells, 100 yards, second. No other starters.

Half-mile, open to Philadelphians—Won by Isaac Van Deusen, Jr. Time, 1:28.

One-mile tandem bicycle—A walk-over for E. I. Halsted and L. A. Hill.

One-mile Frankford Club championship—Was won by J. Dyson. Time, 3:27 1-5.

One-mile open—The race of the day, and worth a journey to see. The first heat was won by Wilhelm, of Reading, in 3:00 1-5, after a hot race with Crist, of Washington, who was second. The second heat was a dead heat between Halsted, of the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club, and Kingsland, of Baltimore, who crossed the tape together in 3:13. In the final the men were bunched from the start, and as first one, then another, of the men took the lead the excitement grew intense. Halsted led at the finish of the first lap, with Wilhelm right on his wheel; Kingsland, by a pretty spurt, took the next lap, with Halsted second. The pace, already hot, was now increased, none of the racers relinquishing an inch, and as they came down the back stretch and rounded into the straight, all in a bunch, the crowd went wild. At the turn Kingsland cleverly slipped through, and by a magnificent effort, sent his wheel over half a length ahead of Crist, who finished six inches in front of Wilhelm, with Halsted six inches back of the Reading man. There was some dispute about second place, but the judges ruled that Crist was clearly entitled to it, and it so stands, although both the Ledger and the Press erroneously stated that Wilhelm had been awarded second.

One-mile, three minute class—S. W. Merrihew won; Van Deusen, Jr., second. Time, 3:03 4-5.

One-mile Rover safeties—Won by J. B. Pearson (100 yards); Egolf, second; McDaniel, third; last two scratch. Time, 3:01 3-5.

One-mile tandem tricycle—A walk-over for Kingsland and Wells. Time, 3:14 3-5. This was the final event.

S. T. Clark, of Baltimore, acted as referee.

ARIEL.

PITTSBURG (PA.) RACES.

Two very frigid days for the management of the races at Pittsburgh last week. The attendance was shamefully small. Some of the racing was good, and the track was excellent. The absence of Temple from the professional contingent was felt and regretted. The amateur ranks were well represented. Results:

FIRST DAY.

Half-mile open—W. W. Windle, first; A. C. Banker, second; W. E. Crist, third. Time, 1:23.

One-mile novice—W. D. George, first; J. H. Gloninger, second. Time, 3:20.

Five-mile (professional) first heat, championship—W. A. Rowe, first; H. G. Crocker, second; W. F. Knapp, third. Time, 15:22 1-5; State record.

Half-mile, 1:35 class—W. D. George, first; S. A. Jessop, second. Time, 1:35 1-5.

Two-mile Pennsylvania L. A. W. championship—A. C. Banker, first; W. D. Banker, second; F. G. Lenz, third. Time, 6:03 1-5; State record.

One-mile, 3:30 class—W. D. George, first; W. L. Wright, second. Time, 3:21 2-5.

One-mile handicap—W. F. Knapp, 30 yards, first; R. A. Neilson, 50 yards; W. A. Rowe, scratch, third. Time, 2:52 3-5.

Two-mile open—W. W. Windle, first; W. E. Crist, second; W. D. Banker, third. Time, 6:15.

SECOND DAY.

One-mile lap—W. W. Windle, 14 points; A. C. Banker, 11 points. Time, 2:55.

Half-mile novice—W. D. George, first; W. L. Wright, second. Time, 1:38.

Three-mile (professional), second heat, championship—W. A. Rowe, first; H. G. Crocker, second; W. F. Knapp, third. Time, 8:57.

One-mile, 3:10 class—W. D. George, first; J. H. Gloninger, second. Time, 3:19 1-5.

One-mile (professional) handicap—R. A. Neilson, 50 yards, first; W. A. Rowe, scratch, second. Time, 2:51 1-5.

One-mile open—W. W. Windle, first; W. D. Banker, second. Time, 3:00 2-5.

Two-mile (professional)—W. F. Knapp, first; H. G. Crocker, second; R. Neilson, third. Rowe did not start. Time, 6:14.

Three-mile handicap—W. W. Windle, scratch, first; W. D. Banker, 150 yards, second. Time, 8:59.

THIRD DAY.

One-mile, handicap—W. W. Windle, first; A. C. Banker, second; W. D. Banker, third. Time, 2:58 1-2.

One-mile professional—R. A. Neilson, first; W. F. Knapp, second; H. G. Crocker, third. Time, 3:12. Rowe did not start.

Two-mile, 6:20 class—W. D. George, first; W. L. Wright, second. Time, 7:02.

Two-mile lap—W. W. Windle, first; W. D. Banker, second. Time, 6:20.

One-mile professional, final heat for championship series—W. A. Rowe, first; H. G. Crocker, second. Time, 3:00.

One-mile open—W. W. Windle, first; W. D. Banker, second; A. C. Banker, third. Time, 2:55 3-5.

One-mile, 3:20 class—W. D. George, first; J. H. Gloninger, second; W. L. Wright, third. Time, 3:23. A very close call for Mr. George.

Two-mile handicap, professional—H. G. Crocker, 20 yards, first; W. A. Rowe, scratch, second; W. F. Knapp, 50 yards, third. Time, 6:11.

Five-mile L. A. W. State championship—W. D. Banker, first; A. C. Banker, second. Time, 16:28.

A BOSTON BOY ON THE PACIFIC COAST AND IN THE YOSEMITE.

HAVING lately returned from a three months' pleasure trip through California and the Northwest I thought a short account of the trip might be acceptable.

I left Boston about the first of May. My route lay due southwest, going as far south as Santa Barbara and Los Angeles. Although I took no machine with me yet I managed to get a good ride in about every town at which I stopped. At Santa Barbara I went out riding on a safety, geared very high, and with extra long cranks. I noticed the wind was blowing at a pretty good clip, but took no notice of it, as this place borders on the ocean. When I reached my destination and started to return, I found to my surprise that the wind was blowing a gale, and was carrying huge volumes of sand with it. To ride against this was almost out of the question, and by continually tacking over the road I managed to arrive at the hotel. There I was informed that I had met a "sand storm," and it was rightly named. These storms prevail at intervals, and are accompanied by a warm, dry wind. A pelting New England rain storm would be far preferable to one of these. Here I also met Spiers, the long-distance rider, who claims to have beaten Stevens' trans-continental record by several days.

At Pasadena I met Mr. Arthur L. Atkins, well known to all Boston wheelmen, and who was connected with the Pope Mfg. Co. for several years until his health required him to seek a milder climate.

At San Francisco I was taken in hand by the San Francisco B. Club and was royally treated. This is one of the oldest clubs in the United States, there being, I believe, but two older in this country. I was given a "smoker" and reception, in fact their hospitality seemed unbounded. It is to the San Francisco Bicycle Club in general, and Messrs. Houseworth, Strong and Green in particular that I wish to extend thanks for many kindnesses to me.

The roads through Southern California are rather sandy, but can be ridden easily. Some of the roads outside of San Francisco are in very good condition; the fact that I saw a twenty-five-mile road race run off, against a strong wind, in 1h. 34m. will attest.

Of course the principle ride near the city is in the great Golden Gate Park. This is open to bicyclers on all days, but on Saturdays and Sundays, riding is restricted to one or two avenues.

The road bed is hard and level, being made from red rock, with a surface of the ground rock on top. It is equal to, if not better than, the road around Chestnut Hill Reservoir. It is about five miles from the entrance to the Cliff House and Seal Rock. It was great sport to ride out to this place and see the huge seals floundering around and hear their bellowing. They literally cover these huge rocks, and as the government imposes a heavy fine upon anyone molesting or shooting them, they are quite tame, and at times come very near the shore.

Going out one afternoon with a young lady, we secured a tandem tricycle at cyclery, and started off for a ride through the park. The young lady, before starting, succeeded in impressing upon me the fact (?) of how ignorant she was about tricycle riding, but ere we had gone far I found out how greatly she had misrepresented the state of affairs, for she made one of the best partners on a tandem that I ever rode with. Before we had gone far we met a young man who decided to "tackle" us. Off we started, up hill and down, we holding our own and gradually giving the young man a clearer and more distinct rear view. Finally he admitted that the "bean-eaters," as he called us, did understand the "rudiments" of how to ride a machine. I found out later that he was one of the local fliers.

Later on we were met by the ever genial and popular Houseworth, who took us "hill climbing."

Another evening, leaving the Palace Hotel, my lady friend and myself started for the Park, and when about a mile from the Cliff House our gearing loosened, and at one time it looked as if walking would be our fate. Hailing three riders and asking assistance they very kindly consented to pull us back to town, but how? We had no rope or strap. A bright idea soon struck one of the number. Asking me to escort the young lady off on one side, I found to my great amusement that they had tied their suspenders together, and were going to tow us along, attached to their safeties. It is needless to say that the young lady was as much amused as I was. We finally found out what was the matter with the wheel, and were able to pedal back. After thanking the riders for their kind intentions we left them, and for a long time we could hear them laughing over the adventure far down the road.

The cyclists here are strong riders, and are very enthusiastic over the sport. There is great rivalry between the different clubs. They have an inter-club association which compares very favorably with our Eastern Road Club. They give two or three races during the year, and the finish of the race which I saw run off at San Leandro was as close as any road race I ever witnessed.

The safety pattern machines are very popular in the West, and different agents I met were frantic on account of the non-arrival of this type of wheel.

The San Francisco wheelmen were very anxious to have me stay and attend the third annual meet of the California wheelmen, which was held at Stockton July 4th, but as I wanted to visit British Columbia and the Yellowstone Park I was obliged to say good-bye to the city where I had been so nicely entertained.

Of the Yellowstone Park there is just one word I can use that would describe it adequately, and that word is AWFUL. It comes nearest to the infernal region of anything I ever heard described or ever hope to see. The hot sulphur springs emitting nauseous gases and vapors, the geysers spouting forth huge volumes of water, the peculiar and grotesque formations and hot, parched earth, are sights never to be forgotten.

The geysers have regular intervals of eruption, but can be made to break forth any time by throwing a piece of soap into the crater. A Chinaman, ignorant of this fact, had started a small laundry establishment near the Upper Geyser Hotel, and used to boil his clothes in one of the geysers between the eruptions. Not knowing this fact he once put a piece of soap into the geyser, and Mr. Chinaman, clothes and establishment went "sky high." When he reached the ground he started immediately out of the Park, muttering something about "Melican mannie hellie," and has not been seen in the park since. The geyser is named "The Chinaman," in his honor.

I was six days in the park, and it is my belief that the roads can be ridden over on a machine, with the exception of a few bad places, and it is my intention some time in the future to ride through the Yellowstone Park on a bicycle.

Yours, etc.,

W. K. COREY.

"S. S. S."

[SUSIE.]

"Why, Jennie, dear, how bright you look,

With sparkling eye and flying tress;

Not long ago your walks you took

With languid step and failing breath,

And in your weariness it seemed

A solemn race with death.

What magic art has caused the change

I'm at a loss to guess."

[JENNIE.]

"My dearest Sue, I'll never cease

My prayer to heaven, to bless

The man who first gave to the world

The wondrous S. S. S."

[SUSIE.]

"I'll hie me to the man of drugs,

But still I must confess

A doubt that all this youth renewed

Is merely S. S. S."

[JENNIE.]

"But, Susie, wait a moment, while

I make my meaning clearer,

No wondrous drugs brought back my health,

But 'Singer's Straight (bar) Steerer."

"WHIRLIGIG."

It is rumored that the G. J. C. intend to bring out a lady's bicycle as one of their novelties for 1889.

It seems to be hard to head the Victor Cycles in a road race. Riders of these wheels finished first, second and third in a field of fifteen starters at the thirty-mile handicap road race in Nashville, Tenn. The winner started from scratch.

LEAGUE HEADQUARTERS:
12 Pearl Street, - - - Room 27.
ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary.

NOW is the time of the year beyond all others the best for riding, why not this year, for it should not be said that we have gone behind the record of last year and the margin between last year's record and 12,000 is very small.

IT should be remembered that all memberships have been extended to April 30, and that the person who joins the League now will remain with us till July 1st of next year. This may be employed as an argument in debating the advantages of League membership.

AT the League Meet in Baltimore the Secretary said that in the future the National body would have the alternative of being a creditor to the Divisions or calling for a popular subscription. The popular subscription called for has not been responded to with the unanimity expected and the other alternative will have to be resorted to. The League cannot be run without money. The Divisions now get the lion's share. Many of them use the money to advantage. Others do nothing. The ones that work have nearly all subscribed to the fund. Those that do nothing have been true to their record in this case as in all others. The National organization works all the time and it must have funds. We hope that Chief Consuls will make a note of this.

WE are out with the ladies when this paper is before the majority of our readers, and we do not doubt we are enjoying ourselves. The Ladies Annual Tour to the North Shore of Massachusetts was the most successful of all League tours last year, and we believe it is the only League tour of 1888. The ladies are loyal to the organization and always ride under its auspices.

HAVE the State Divisions given enough attention to the guide board question? Massachusetts, New York and Rhode Island have given time and money to the establishment of a good system of guide boards on the roads of their respective states and the results have been most satisfactory. Other States should take up this work and push it.

WE were shown this week what looks to be a practical electric motor for tricycles. It weighs but twenty-five lbs., can be easily attached to any machine, and has one-eighth horse power. We do not doubt it will drive a tricycle, but it has the objection that all storage battery motors must have, and that is, that it will run but three hours when it must be re-charged at some place where there is a dynamo. It must be remembered that dynamos do not grow on every bush, nor does every village boast one, and the unlucky wight who finds his battery run down when he is ten miles from home will have to carry the twenty-five pounds of dead weight. Moreover if he should find a dynamo close at hand it will require just as long to charge the battery as it will afterwards run. The plan contemplated is to have batteries ready charged at electric stations and a quick transfer can be easily made. The perfection of the plan is, we are afraid, a long way in the future.

THE Wheel has a long article on racing. It presents many of the evils of the present system, but it does not emphasize as it should, the curse of all race meetings. We allude to the presence of men on the track who have no business to be there. These are not hoodlums, they are men who ought to know better than force themselves where they are not wanted. At the last meeting we attended (at Providence) there was a crowd about the finish line and in the judge's stand, that made the duties of the officials very arduous and ineffective. Two policemen tried again and again to clear the track but the crowd always drifted back. No man had a right on that track or in the stand unless he was there in an official position, and yet members of the promoting club, all those who went down from Boston, and many friends of the officials forced themselves where they had no business to be, and put their friends, the officials, in the delicate position which compelled them either to have the members ejected by the police or submit to the infliction. The club invited the lady members to occupy the judge's stand, but men crowded into the stand and the ladies were forced into the background where they could see nothing. The referee had difficulty in getting to the rail and was hampered in his work. This does not apply to Providence alone, though we have instanced this case because it was fresh in our mind, and because our remarks which are very plain apply to some good friends of ours who will know that they are being talked to and reminded that they have offended good taste. We do not doubt that these good friends of ours would resent it if they were called no gentlemen, and yet we cannot conceive of any other verdict they could arrive at did they give a few moments to a consideration of their laches. No man has a right in the judge's stand of any race meeting (nor on the track) unless he is there in an official capacity. When he goes there he hampers the work of the officials, endangers the racing men and obstructs the view of those who are on the seats. If the coat we have made fits any person or persons who may read this we hope that he or they will wear it when next the opportunity occurs.

THE Maryland Division has taken action that will lead to the carrying of a lamp after nightfall by every cyclist. At the late meeting of the Board of Officers the Chief Consul was directed to send a communication to each member of the Division, requesting every rider to carry a lantern at night, and if such is not generally done the Board of Officers may find it necessary to ask the proper authorities to make such regulations compulsory. We quote from the circular issued by the Chief Consul.

"You know the League is fighting for the rights and privileges of its members—against prejudice which I find fast disappearing—and that all the weapons, such as right, might and diplomacy are wielded by willing hands. The present action is in the line of diplomacy. If we ask for protection against prejudice it is diplomatic to illustrate to prejudice that the wheelmen are willing to go to two-thirds, or even all the way, to meet the blind god and shake Justice by the hand. Our fascinating cycle is a 'silent steed' and no mistake. In the darkness it glides up swiftly on the unwary, and is sometimes a dangerous thing to the incautious. We put on a 'light' as a warning to others and as a means by which we can see to do our part to avoid collisions.

If some clever General could invent a way to disarm the enemy he would unquestionably have the victory in every battle and live to fame as the greatest military genius of history. Your Board proposes to gain a victory in this State by the same means—disarming the enemy. It is proposed that the 'Kickers' shall have no just cause for their usual terpsichorean exercise.

We take every known means of discounting complaint against us. We say to the natural enemies of the cycle:

"Gentlemen, we are using every reasonable precaution to avoid accidents to you or ourselves, and now we ask you to view us without prejudice and accord us the same consideration (and no more) that you would the rider of any other means of locomotion."

In a "court case," to show such a healthy state of affairs, would go a long way with the just judge.

If we ask for "rights and privileges" we should do our best to show we merit them. Brother "crank" or lever, won't you assist us in this matter by acquiescence in the "request" of the Board?"

Maryland Division.

Meeting of the Board of officers Maryland Division L. A. W. at Maryland Bi. Club House, Saturday, September 15, 1888. Chief Consul Mott in the chair and Messrs. Mealy, Bartlett, Sadler, Eisenbrandt and Le Cato present.

The Chair read the rule under which the meeting was called and announced that the Maryland Division was entitled to two representatives to the National Convention and declared that nominations were in order—the following gentlemen were nominated: Messrs. J. Kemp Bartlett, Jr., Clymer Whyte, Sam'l T. Clark, C. L. Mitchell and Jas. B. Reed—Mr. Clymer Whyte received five votes on the second ballot and was declared elected a delegate—Mr. J. Kemp Bartlett was elected the second delegate.

A motion was carried that a "Sinking Fund" of $1000 be created and a committee of three appointed to select suitable investments with power to act. The Chair appointed Messrs. Bartlett, Le Cato and Mealy as the committee.

A motion was carried, authorizing the Chief Consul to purchase a desk for his own use. A similar motion was carried authorizing the Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer to purchase supplies incidental to their offices. On motion, Messrs. Barrington, Sadler and Le Cato were appointed a committee to draft By-laws.

A motion was adopted that the Chief Consul direct a communication to each member of the Division requesting every rider to carry a lantern at night for if such is not generally done the Board of Officers may find it necessary to ask the proper authorities to make such a regulation compulsory. Adjourned 10.50 P. M. E. F. LeCato, Secretary pro tem.

League Club.

The Cyclists Touring Club, of Albany, N. Y., has applied for admission to a League Club. President, John A. Paterson; Secretary, Geo. W. Harrison; Treasurer, A. H. Scattergood. No. 209.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member."

Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M. on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

WHY WE BLUSH.

WE acknowledged satisfaction after winning first and second in the greatest one hundred mile road race of the year—at Buffalo—where only six riders finished, and ONLY FIVE of the six rode VICTORS.

We added this to our list of "Battle Flags" side by side with such world's events as Clarksville, Crawfordsville, Big 4, Boston—all 100 mile road races, open to the world, and contested by all the large makers—and modestly retired.

We blush, because after all this glory---when a bicycle maker went clear South and got up a race at Nashville, Tenn., to try to show the usefulness of his bicycles, the said maker putting up the prizes in order to stimulate the game---three naughty boys without our knowledge or permission, wanting to make a sure thing of scooping all the prizes offered, bought VICTORS and entered the race.

Well, before we could stop them, they were off and away and at the finish came to the front in 1, 2, 3 order, taking all the prizes---bicycle, medals, shoestrings and all!

It wasn't the thing, and we apologize. We don't want the earth. We only want riders to know that VICTORS are built to get there suddenly, and we are very willing to give the other fellows a chance.

We make the VICTORS, but we are not the "largest makers in the world"---only the best.

MY CYCLING LOG BOOK. By "Papa" Weston. The transitory pleasures of cycling can be made as permanent as its physical benefits, by jotting down in a well devised log book, the distances and incidents of one's various journeys. Knowing that such a record is a most pleasant thing to have, and believing that the keeping of such should be encouraged, as tending to the permanent good of cycling in more ways than can be referred to here. The Log Book is handsomely and strongly bound in red leather, will last for years of constant use, and is the best arranged book of its kind ever yet devised. It fills a want often felt by the cyclist who values records of interest for future reference. Price, post paid, $1.25. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

SHURMAN AT IT AGAIN.

The members of the Lynn Cycle Club took a trip down to Portland. The party comprised J. H. Young, J. H. Shurman, A. H. Carsley, E. G. Bergholtz, J. F. Allen, J. F. Dow, J. H. Littlefield, A. W. Lewis, and A. Wiswell. On their arrival in Portland, and after a good breakfast at the Preble House, the Portland Wheel Club took the visitors in hand for a run to Prouts Neck, a distance of some fourteen miles. On the way out the party passed Spurwick Hill, an eminence that has never been climbed by a cyclist. To the surprise of the Down Easters, Shurman announced that he would ride up the hill if any one of the Portland men would ride down. This was very promptly agreed to, as the local men thought the hill unrideable. Some of the men rode down the hill, as also did Shurman, and then on arriving at the bottom Shurman turned round and rode to the top, to the amazement of those who had never seen Shurman ride. This was on Sunday, and the achievement of the Lynn man made the locals anxious to see what the visitor could do with Park Street Hill, a terror to Portland wheelmen, and one that has never been climbed more than twice in succession. So on Monday the party repaired to the hill, and after Carsley, Allen and Littlefield had climbed it once and cried enough, Shurman went at it and went up and down six times without a dismount. To say that the Portland men were dumbfounded is putting it mildly. Shurman rode his Springfield Roadster. [Will some Portland reader kindly give us the grades of Spurwick and Park Street Hills, and oblige?—Ed. BICYCLING WORLD.]

THROUGHOUT THE YEAR

THE NEW MAIL

Has Been Right at the Front!

ON THE ROAD AND AT ALL MEETS AND TOURNAMENTS

Has won many races, and we believe No ROADSTER has ever been brought out which has had a more flattering reception by wheelmen. We have had no professionals in our employ to win races (as is a common practice), but the NEW MAIL has won its share of leading events. Here are the reports of past week:

At New Orleans Tournament the New Mail won the Southern Championship, the New Mail won the State Championship, the New Mail won the N. O. Club Championship, the New Mail won the 2 1-2 mile race.

And at the Penna. Tournament the New Mail won 3 out of 4 first prizes.

The NEW MAIL is first-class, and it has Trigwell's Ball Head.

J. S. DEAN.

BOSTON, 12 OCTOBER, 1888.

BY winning the two out of three match races, W. A. Rowe has established his title to the championship of the world. The races just run, the account of which appears in another column, have been satisfactory in that both men were in the pink of condition, and the races were run in a fair, sportsmanlike manner. We understand that Rowe will now retire from the track, if he does, he has made a fitting finale to an honorable career as a professional racing man.

An article in Bicycling News of Sept. 29, under the head of "A Trip to Denmark," describes how the Danish ladies, at the bicycle race meeting lately held at Copenhagen, bet their money in true sportsmanlike manner on the results of the races. This feature was of course a peculiar one to English and American eyes, but the Danes did not seem to look on it as anything extraordinary. Public sentiment in this country would have to take a good shaking up before it would accept open gambling by ladies as a feature of cycle racing.

WHY should the foreign professionals growl? One thousand dollars and over is fair pay for a four weeks' jaunt, and we therefore cannot understand their bitter dissatisfaction as expressed in the English cycling papers just at hand. If the feeling of disgust is caused by the fact that every dollar of the prize money did not find its way into their pockets then we can only lay the disappointment to the peculiar Anglo-Saxon desire to own the whole wide earth. The track was wretched, but the pros. got the money they won and what more could they ask? Certainly the results may not have been as they could have wished, but whatever the conditions of track were, they were equally bad for every man. There is no reason why the English papers should speak of the races from our visitors' standpoint as a "frost," a "fizzle," and this country as the "land of gas and bunkum." None regret more than ourselves that the water played havoc with the foreigners, certainly that trouble could not be laid at the door of Manager Ducker.

Morgan, who went personally responsible and advanced the expenses of Dubois and Lees, did all he could for the visitors' comfort, and received no recompense whatever from any source. The visitors were not charged entrance money and won over a thousand dollars, while others, who won comparatively nothing, were charged full entrance fees.

POSTPONEMENT.

The Berkeley Athletic Club, on account of rain, which prevented the track being finished in time, has been postponed to October 27. The full list of events will be found in our advertising columns. The prizes have already been selected, and are very costly and beautiful. There will be gold and silver watches, stop watches, diamond rings, and other valuable articles of jewelry offered to first, second and third in each event. A number of prominent amateurs have already entered. Racing wheels may be used in all events, and safeties may be used in the regular open events.

THE NORTH SHORE LADIES' TOUR.

The annual Ladies' North Shore Tour has been brought to a successful ending, and the members of the party are already planning for the tour of 1889, the itinerary of which will probably be along the South Shore. The rendezvous at Wolfe's Tavern was reached by the following members of the party on Wednesday evening last: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hopkins, Dr. and Mrs. W. Southwell, Mr. and Mrs. Abbott Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stall, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Smith, the Misses Maggie and Jennie Kirkwood, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Mason, H. M. Tarr, Mr. and Mrs. William Hale, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. McArthur.

The evening was pleasantly spent in song and recitation, and then beds were sought and rest taken in anticipation of a long day on the road. Breakfast dispatched, the order to mount was given, and the route to Essex Woods, where an excellent lunch, provided by the proprietor, was discussed. During the morning the party was joined by C. R. Dodge and C. T. Chapman, riding a Traveller tandem. When first seen Messrs. Dodge and Chapman were wildly careering down a steep hill. The joy of the tandem was evidently extreme and extreme means were requisite to indicate that joy. Mr. Dodge was seen to shoot up in the air, turn over and come down into a posture suggestive of an Eastern salaam, while Mr. Chapman was so overcome that he lay down and the tricycle perched peacefully on his chest. That the tourists appreciated the exuberance of feeling that prompted such a display, goes without saying.

The trip from the Woods to Gloucester was without incident. Mr. Dodge was particular to impress each of the party "confidentially," that the gyrations and genuflections of the morning were not what might be vulgarly a "header," but were well timed and intentional to the last degree. Gloucester and supper and then music and literary exercises by Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Linnell, Miss Fay Davis and Mrs. Dr. Southwell. Abbot Bassett presided, and held the gavel, restraining the hilarity, when in his estimation it became too hilarious.

A good night's rest and a good breakfast next morning, and then all aboard for Cape Ann. Ohne hast in all its force was the watchword on this day, and the whole day was used up in travelling the circuit of sixteen miles. The dinner at the Linwood gave way to a jolly picnic, a great improvement on the more formal meal. All the sights of the Cape were enjoyed, and then back to Gloucester, a good dinner at the Pavilion and another night of jollification.

Saturday broke dull and threatening, but the tourists were not to be scared by black clouds and a spatter of rain, and so Willow Cottage, Magnolia, was headed for and reached in due time without much rain. Rafe's Chasm and Norman's Woe were visited, and then, though the rain was coming faster, the party went for Salem. During this part of the trip the order was given to "go as you please," those, therefore, that had the desire and capacity to scorch got to the Essex House, Salem, as fast as they could, not before, however, they were wet to the skin. The "ambulance" had dry clothes aboard, and so the riders rather enjoyed the ducking. It was a pretty hard ride from Magnolia to Salem, and had not the riders taken to sidewalks they would have been "mired." It rained in torrents next morning, and so the party dispersed and got back to their respective homes via railroad; Mr. Mason and wife, however, staid over and visited Marblehead on Tuesday.

NEW YORK.

"HAWKSHAW."

THE six-day race on road-scullyer tricycles began at Madison Square Garden, at 12 midnight, on Sunday. The promoters of the affair are the manufacturers of the wheel, and they secured the entry of almost all of the prominent professional oarsmen in the race. The managers advertise $10,000 as the amount to be divided between the contestants, who are to compete ten hours daily. Among other statements is one that meets with much distrust on the part of wheelmen, and that is that the road-scullyer can be driven at the rate of twenty miles an hour upon an ordinary road. Speaking of a rowing tricycle reminds me that one would naturally expect from his name, that Rowe would ride one of these wheels.

A BACKWARD spring often saves an early fall.

IT is a wise man who knows his own portrait when it is printed in a wheel paper.

THE fashionable fall colors for wheelmen will be black and blue, that is if they fall hard enough.

GLORY comes often times in peculiar forms. Tom Stevens, famous from his cycling performances, has had a race horse named after him.

A DOZEN or more of the Citizens' Club left Saturday for Milford, Pa., for a week's outing a-wheel over the famous Milford and Pike County roads.

THE New York Athletic Club will probably have Windle ride under their colors in the near future. I understand that the overtures came from the Windle end of the line.

I HAVE a new English joke for you. Why does Rowe remind you of the screw of the Umbria? Give it up! Of course you do, every body always does in trying to find the point of an English joke. Well, the answer is that Rowe is a wheel propeller, and the screw is a propeller wheel. See! Funny, is it?

I AM informed that Wanmaker, not satisfied with the trade he has secured from wheelmen through manufacturing the L. A. W. uniform, has made a bid for their further patronage in a new direction. When the bids were opened for the furnishing of the new club house of the New York Bicycle Club it was found that Wanmaker was considerably below any of the others, and the contract was awarded to him. He furnishes the house complete from the basement to the roof, with everything from the billiard tables to the table linen. This hint may be of value to future House Committees.

MR. GEORGE M. NESBIT, of the New York Club, thinking that a "demon" would be an appropriate mount for a record "fiend," ordered one of those wheels from England and placed his Rudge upon the market for sale. On Sunday Mr. William Coyne, Jr., purchased it and went for a trial spin upon his new purchase. When opposite Ninety-first street, on the East drive, Central park, he collided with a road wagon driven by Mr. Duche. When the dust of the conflict had cleared away Mr. Coyne was found with a broken leg and sundry bruises, amid the wreck of his wheel. He was at once taken in an ambulance to the Presbyterian Hospital, where he now lays, the holder of the record of being the sufferer from the first and only accident to a wheelman since their admission to the park. It is only fair to say that the driver in the above accident was entirely in the wrong. The witnesses of the accident, unsolicited by or unknown to Mr. Coyne, sent their names to the Park Commissioners censuring the driver's action. Mr. Coyne will probably sue for damages, not being a L. A. W. member, however, Chief Consul Bidwell will not take any action.

A PECULIAR case came up in the city courts the other day. It appears that Ira B. Stewart and Alfred Mitchell were both lawyers in a down town office. Mr. Stewart entered cycling, purchasing for his riding a 30-inch ordinary. A few headers convinced him that cycling and he were not congenial, so he offered to sell his friend Mitchell the wheel for $90 cash. Mr. Mitchell didn't have that amount about him, but he offered to trade goats for it. "All right," said Stewart, "bring on your goats." "Where and when do you want them delivered?" meekly murmured Mitchell. "Oh any time you bring them here will do," answered Stewart, laughing to himself over his joke. The next morning four men, each bearing a sack, came into the office and laid their burdens in front of Mr. Stewart and then departed. Each sack was found to contain a fully developed goat, and the result can be imagined. "Take them away or I will call an officer," angrily demanded Mr. Stewart. "Oh no," blandly responded Mr. Mitchell, "I have fulfilled my part of the contract and I want the bicycle." Mr. Stewart couldn't see it, hence the suit, and the appearance of this amusing case before the public.

PITTSBURG and VICINITY.

"DUQUESNE."

THERE has been quite a good sized kick on the Forbes street course over which the Banker brothers made some good time on a tandem, and an individual signing himself "Reclus" avers that a large portion (I think two-thirds) of the route can be coasted; now I want to say right here that that is not true, and in my humble opinion the course would be three or four seconds faster if it were level; as it is now, the start is made on a sharp rise and two other grades must be climbed before the mile is completed, the only advantage on grades is that the down grades, being more gradual, last longer.

F. G. LENZ left on the 7th for Chicago and will be back Monday next. His mileage for the week will approximate 500 miles.

JNO. A. WELLS wrote a letter to the Murder Lane Hill-climbing Committee setting a date for his attack on the "Lane," adding that he would attempt it every day thereafter until he succeeded in climbing the hill. He tried twice but never got on to the steepest part of the hill. He wouldn't have been awarded the medal anyway, as 48-inch gear with 7 3/8 cranks don't go out here as an ordinary road machine. He then tackled the Irwin's Hill record of twice without a dismount, and made it three times. He tried the fourth time, but failed. He then went to Sycamore street and rode about half of the hill, going some 310 feet above the record. We have men who can easily beat his Sycamore street record, and it only stands because they have not gone for it. A. C. Banker took his safety, geared to 54 inches, and put 8 1/4-inch cranks on it, which made it the exact equivalent of Wells' wheel, and tackled Irwin's Hill; result, nine times without a dismount. Mr. Wells is a quiet, affable gentleman; he does not blow, neither does he run down our hills. He climbs nicely, but his riding was not the revelation we expected. There is considerable discussion out here about his cranks, which are partially quartered. Is that an advantage, Mr. Editor, or is it not? Mr. Wells gives our hills a good send-off; says they are the toughest he ever saw; never had trouble keeping his front wheel down before. He was not in the best of condition when he got here, as he had been riding but little for some time before he arrived.

PORKOPOLIS NOTES.

"STAR."

THE origin of the idea embodied in the rear-driving safety is by no means so recent as some would have us believe, for in the writings of Confucius, who was born in the year 551 B. C., is a description of a machine very similar to those now in use, the model of which was destroyed and the inventor imprisoned because the reigning Emperor considered it too great an innovation for that conservative age. And again, in the lately discovered tomb of the Pharaoh that oppressed the Jews, there is said to be a hieroglyphic representing a safety machine with spade handles. And further, in the recently translated "Kalevala"—An old Finnish poem—occur the following lines:

"Sailing through the azure vapors,
Sailing through the dusk of evening,
Sailing to the fiery sunset,
Was the ancient Wainamöinen;
On a wheel both strong and graceful,
Made of steel and India rubber,
Made with balls in every bearing,
Sail'd the ancient Wainamöinen."

WONDER where Trumbauer got that watch.

THE Highland Bicycle Club of Wyoming, O., and vicinity is booming. It now has twenty-seven members.

DR. GREEN, who has worn out two cyclometers this season, claims to have ridden over 3500 miles since the first of January.

IF "Toot" High's patent chorus—adjustable to any tune—could only be photographed and preserved, what a treat it would be to future generations.

TOM SCHULTZ who has returned from his vacation, spent in Chicago, says it was quite a novelty to ride on roads where there were no grades to coast up.

MR. WM. MILLER tells of a so-called glass snake that he saw in the West, which, when hit with a switch, would fall into several pieces that were said to reunite before many hours, but he neglects to state the number of glasses required.

THE fifteen Chicago wheelmen that were to have accompanied the Kenton Club to Miamitown are said to have weakened at the sight of those hills, which they called mountains, and returned to the city to hold down the granite and asphalt streets.

THE "Duke" is with us again, having returned from his Southern tour on account of the yellow fever scare. He tells some hair-raising stories concerning his experience with the shot-gun quarantines at various points, and dwells particularly on the hardship of a twenty-four-hour compulsory fast.

ON Sunday, Sept. 30, the Cincinnati Bicycle Club, with several invited guests, made their annual run to Miamitown, O. The day, barring a strong head wind, was all that could be desired, and the journey, enlivened by humorous flashes from Tom Wayne and songs by Marqua, was enjoyed by all. On arriving at their destination they met fourteen of the Kenton Club, who had preceded them and who were particularly interested in the process of milking that wonderful cow. The songs were sung, the dinner eaten, the stories told and the usual number of fantastic pictures taken. Among the incidents that will long be remembered was the masterly manner in which Captain Galway and Secretary Miller waited on the table and collected their tips. The annual election, held on the next evening, resulted as follows: President, H. W. Longley; Secretary, Dr. Wm. D. Kempton; Treasurer, M. A. High; Captain, C. M. Galway; First Lieutenant, T. H. Schultz; Second Lieutenant, Wm. A. Miller; three additional members of the Club Committee, A. A. Bennett, Arnold Wilhelm, J. R. Pigman, Jr. The club, with several applications for membership and the expectation of being in their new club house by the first of next June, enters on the ninth year of its existence with flattering prospects.

BUFFALO.

"ALI BABA."

A BEARD is an essential thing, and the young man who supports it for the first time struts about with that same feeling of superiority as he does when for the first time he wears pantaloons. I am amazed as I look about and see the many new crops coming forth, some thirty, some eighty and some a hundred fold. And why this sudden craze? Are we to be deluged with benedicts? In Rhea's charming Beatrice, one is almost filled with envy when she says: "He that hath a beard is more than a youth, and he that hath no beard is less than a man; and he that is more than a youth is not for me, and he that is less than a man—I am not for him." The fair sex do adore a luxurious mustache and they do admire a reasonable beard, but I fear that in some cases it will be, in truth, "much ado about nothing." And one sees many of these same bearded fellows in our gymnasium. Evidently they intend to see to it that they have the proper muscle for the future crusade against mischievous sons.

THE above item on beards recalls what one of the Buffalo members had to say a short time ago about his first experience. The growth was about a month old, he had occasion to wait on the street corner for a car, when presently he was accosted by a tramp, "say, pard, give us the cue for some cheap grub." He didn't wait for that car but rushed to his barber, came forth and walked home to a late dinner a beardless fellow.

THE large group picture of the State Division meet here, by Hall, is the finest and most distinct ever taken, and he deserves great credit for his work. It is a picture worthy of a place in any club house; and Mr. Rummell's souvenir etchings are distinct works of art. Both of these gentlemen are members of the Buffalo Club, and have presented it with the above pictures.

THE Ladies' Wheel Club held their monthly meeting at the Buffalo Bicycle Club House a week ago Monday. From present indications it will soon be one of the most prosperous in the country.

WE learn that Mr. H. E. Ducker intends shortly to make Boston his home.

OWING to the large membership of the Buffalo Bicycle Club the question of having polls open from 4 till 9 P. M., on the day of the annual election of officers, was discussed and favorably acted upon. This is a step in the right direction, and it will insure a spirited contest between the candidates.

KANSAS CITY.

"MENTOR."

THE bicycle tournament is a thing of the past, and the resident wheelman is exceedingly glad. They have given to it, unsparingly, their leisure time and surplus cash. The difficulties they had to contend with will never be known to the outside wheel world. At a late date they were compelled to assume the responsibility of the tournament, the Exposition having given up the project. The programmes had been mailed, entries had been received, and arrangements consummated, but the United Wheelmen, with a membership of barely fifty, and with a constituency of about 200, determined to carry out the meet, in face of obstacles and difficulties that would have made older cycling communities and larger clubs give up in despair. But nothing daunted, the United Wheelmen went to work with a will and did everything in their power to make the meet a success. If they failed in a few things, the visitors should overlook it and ascribe it to the vast amount of work connected with the tournament. Kansas Cityans are a busy people, and it was impossible for a great number of wheelmen to get away from their business to entertain their visiting guests. The wheelmen of this city have never entertained a State Division before, but have gained lots of experience, and promise a better time next time.

BOB HOLM, Alex Lewis and E. B. Kibson were the sole representatives of the big special car delegation promised by the St. Louis Wheelmen.

D. B. THOMAS, of this city, leaves the latter part of next month for Argentine Republic, where he goes to win fame and fortune. He will go from here to England. He proposes selling his machine and purchasing an English wheel.

INFORMATION has been received here that Lee Patrick, of Ottawa, Kan., Captain of the Ottawa Wheelmen, rode 111 1/2 miles in 11 hours and 20 minutes, including stops. In this portion of the country that is considered a good ride.

A COMMITTEE of the United Wheelmen is out skirmishing for more available quarters. The present apartments are not as desirable as it was expected they would prove. The committee is looking for a whole house. A building contractor has submitted a proposition to build a club house if ten per cent. on his investment in rent is guaranteed him, but as the lot where he proposes building is worth $600 a front foot the rent would be too high. It is likely a club house will be built where property is cheaper.

THE United Wheelmen will prepare a letter to the Kansas City Cable Co., requesting that the company construct a four-lap bicycle track in Troost Park, a private piece of property leased by the cable company for the use of its patrons. The park is located near Troost avenue, on top of the hill, commanding a magnificent view of the country for miles around. The park is a lovely place, with fine walks, shady dells, rustic bridges, mineral springs, tennis grounds, dancing pavilion, large lake, boats, etc. It is thought the cable company will put in the track, which will be used for athletic exhibitions as well as cycle races. If a track is constructed tournaments will be given next year quite often. The wheelmen here are elated at the prospect of a good track.

NELSON T. HAYNES, Kansas City's representative racer, was unfortunate during the tournament. He went into the races without any track training whatever, having no place to train here. True, Waldo Park, eight miles distant from town, was available, but his duties were such that he was obliged to be in the city during the evening, and the transportation facilities were not of the best. On the last day he was out of shape and did not race, he, however, made a better showing than was expected. He had to race in company with three St. Louis flyers, who believed in "anything to beat Kansas City," and resorted to every race meet trick known in which to win the races. The St. Louis boys were in for themselves, individually, which was right, and for each other collectively, which is questionable. However, with as good training as had any of the St. Louis racers, Haynes can beat any of them, barring Percy Stone, and next year it will be done, if the opportunity offers.

NEWS

AND COMMENT.

We are glad to announce that McCombie, the unfortunate rider who was so dangerously injured by a fall in the Eastern Road Club races two weeks ago, is now improving, and hopes of his recovery are entertained. The Dorchester Club, of which Mr. McCombie is a member, made up a purse of $50 and presented it to the family of the unfortunate man.

Up to the hour of going to press Gaudaur led by six miles in the road sculling race in New York.

The Berkeley Athletic Club's tournament at Morris' Dock, Saturday, Oct. 27th, and not on the 30th, as we printed it last issue.

The York County Wheelmen, of Saco, Me., propose to inaugurate a series of six fortnightly assemblies during the coming winter season.

REMEMBER the date, Oct. 27, Berkeley Athletic Association, Morris Dock, New York. For entry blanks address F. P. Prial, editor Wheel, Box 444, New York, or to Geo. R. Bidwell, 313 West 58th street, New York.

ERRATA. In our report of the Nashville road race in last week's issue we reported Hamley, third man, as riding a New Mail. This was an error. Mr. Hamley rode a Victor, thus giving first, second and third to the Overman wheel.

AN enterprising darkey in Washington has started a cycle cab. It is described as looking like a light barouche with the top off. His charges are moderate, being only one cent a square. It is further stated that the venture is likely to be a paying one for the owner, who is also the rider.

THE Vermont Wheel Club, of Brattleboro', Vermont, are about "half and half" Repubs and Dems. In case Cleveland gets a second term the Repub members must set up the supper, but in case Harrison gets the majority then the followers of the rotund New Yorker must pay for the feed.

IN view of the fact that McCombie, of the Dorchester Club, has been incapacitated from riding by his fearful accident, the members of the Cambridgeport Club will agree to ride off the tie of the Eastern Road Club race with two men each. The date of the run off will probably be about the 18th.

IT took half a column of the Springfield Union to say that the Springfield Club would have nothing to do with the Rowe-Temple race to be held in that city next Saturday. This club further states that "they do not care to give the influence of their name towards filling the coffers of the Hampden Park Association."

WE acknowledge with great pleasure cards announcing the marriage of Mr. E. J. Shriver, of New York, to Miss Elizabeth Smith, of Baltimore, Md. The ceremony will take place at St. Michael and All Angels Church, Baltimore, Wednesday evening, Oct. 17, at 6.30 o'clock. We extend our sincere congratulations.

ABJAH HILL, while going along the back road near Burley farm, Danvers, Mass., Saturday morning, found a bicycle lying on the side of the road in the bushes and water. The machine proved to be the property of Chester Porter, son of J. F. Porter, and had been stolen from the piazza of the latter's house the night previous.

THE business men of Chicago who own wheels are particularly fortunate now that the horse cars are entirely locked up. This suggests that it might be a good idea for more young business men to own wheels and learn to ride them if for no other purpose than such an emergency. The wheelman is sure to get there, blockade or no blockade.

Two cycling and very pleasant editions of the "Flying Dutchman" appear at Stapleton, N. Y., in the form of two very pretty and graceful feminine bicycle riders. They appear on the streets laughing and paralyzing the public by their grace and beauty, and then they disappear. All the efforts of the newspaper scribe to discover their identity or where they hail from has been of no avail.

CAPTAIN DR. W. G. KENDALL wrote "Senator" Morgan that the Boston Bicycle Club would attend the Rowe-Temple race in a Tally-ho six-in-hand, and bring the club steward, horn-blower, and all, on Saturday. It is needless to say that the "Senator" appreciated the compliment tendered the distinguished riders, as well as himself, but "Old Prob." knocked the genial doctor's calculations out, and the tally-ho was not heard in the streets of Lynn.

A CURIOUS and painful accident happened to Geo. Edison and a boy named Estes, of Lynn, last week. Edison was riding his tri-cycle on Fayette street, when he saw a crowd of schoolboys and called to them to clear the track. The lad Estes, who was walking backward, failed to hear the admonition and was knocked down and run over. The rider was thrown a distance of ten feet and injured his side and hand. The boy had the top of one of his ears badly cut by the wheel of the machine.

FOR the time being the scheme of a bicycle path from New Haven to New York has been abandoned. Mr. Fisher writes: "I would say in regard to the scheme for a cinder path from here to New York, the idea is dropped for the present, I guess, as far as I am concerned, as I have changed my business, so I have no time to devote to it. I still think it feasible, and have been trying to interest other parties to go on with the work. There is no doubt but that money enough could be raised, as we got $1000 on our list in a month's time, and if work on it was kept up it could be accomplished, without doubt, but it takes more time than I can devote to it without neglecting my business. I wish you would publish an appeal for some one to go ahead with the scheme. I have the subscription list which I should be pleased to hand over to any one who would undertake to continue it."

MISS PAULINE HALL AS A CYCLIST.

To describe Miss Hall as a cyclist, and not as a bright, particular star in the constellation of lyric artists, is the object of this article, and it is one which we know will prove of interest and value to our many readers.

In compliance with the permission of Miss Hall we waited on that lady in her apartments at the Thorndike one day last week, and were courteously received by the cantatrice. We wish we could describe the toilet of the lady for the benefit of our feminine readers but alas we are masculine, and can only say that the effect was dainty, and we have a general impression of salmon tints and soft, mellow hued laces.

"How did you come to take to cycling, Miss Hall?" we asked, after the accustomed amenities had been exchanged.

Miss Hall replied: "I always had a longing to be able to ride a bicycle, and on being chaffed by some of my friends, I determined to 'ride or die.' The upshot was that I went to Mr. Bidwell in New York, and," continued Miss Hall, with evident glee, "I managed to ride the machine the very first time I tried it. I have always been fond of horseback riding, and by my friends I am called a good horsewoman. The confidence obtained in equestrian exercise stood by me in good stead in my efforts to ride a bicycle, as both require good nerve, strength and quickness."

I did not find it difficult to learn to ride, but the mounting was what caused me manifold bruises and thumps of both body and pride, but I stuck to it, and now the art is mine. I was an out-and-out horsewoman, but since learning to ride the bicycle I am an enthusiastic cyclist, and prefer that combination of steel and rubber (pointing to her wheel) "than any horse I ever rode. I never have been so well as since I learned to ride; the exercise keeps my flesh hard and good in color, it improves my lung power wonderfully. A good ride never fails to drive away the cobwebs and the headache from an over-strained brain. After a spin I can return to my work with renewed vigor. My first ride on the road was for a distance of fifteen miles, and my longest ride was thirty miles. It is my intention to take the trip from New York to Philadelphia before the snow flies."

We then asked Miss Hall if she could give us any points as to what was a good dress for lady riders. At our request she produced the suit she wears while riding. The material is of some soft woolen fabric of a pretty slate color.

Miss Hall said: "I have experimented considerably, and this is the best thing I have yet devised. The skirt is cut fairly full; the length is about ankle high, and it is cut square, that is, the same length all the way round, the only trimming is, as you see, narrow silver braid at the bottom of skirt and on the bodice. The skirt is lined with red flannel, and by this method I dispense with the customary loose skirts that so impede the necessary freedom of the limbs so essential in cycle riding. The bodice is cut so that it is an easy fit; the collar is large and turns down somewhat after the sailor style, under this a silk handkerchief is loosely knotted. The sleeves are cut with plenty of room, and the cuffs turn back about three inches. A very little drapery is used at the back, just enough to break the very plain effect at the juncture of skirt and bodice."

We do not claim to be an embryotic Worth, but by applying the rule of common sense to the matter we at once grasped the good points of Miss Hall's riding suit. To us it seemed to embody the three requisites—comfort, quietness and beauty.

"I invariably wear woolen hose," continued the lady, "and my shoes are canvas, with low heels and rubber soles."

In the matter as to form of riding, Miss Hall thus expressed herself and her words are worth remembering: "I was taught to sit erect with my saddle placed so that I am well over my work, and when the pedal is at its lowest point my leg is extended with the heel slightly raised, and my foot is kept parallel with the frame. My handle bar is placed so that my arms are almost straight."

Miss Hall rides a Royal Salvo safety wheel specially built for ladies' use. It is kept in the very pink of condition, and when not in use she keeps it in her parlor. It was there when we called on her, and it reposed peacefully in the corner close to her open piano.

After the practical and utilitarian had been exhausted we drifted into the subject of the pleasures of cycling. Miss Hall expressed regret that the weather had been such as to preclude the possibility of trying our suburban roads during the past two weeks. With the return of good weather and passable roads we hope Miss Hall will have such an experience on our beautiful highways that she will regret when she has to leave the city of culchaw and beans.

MR. DUCKER REPLIES TO THE "SENATOR"

Editor Bicycling World: I regret to see so much in the papers regarding the defeat of Temple at Buffalo, and the manner in which he and his manager, Senator Morgan, endeavored to explain why it was that Temple did not beat Rowe at Buffalo. With your permission, I therefore desire to present a few facts regarding the case, in the hope that the public at large may have the truth in the matter. Why so many lies need to be told to explain away a defeat, is known only to a few. I care not what they say about Buffalo. My only desire is to show that the judges acted fairly and squarely, and that in Morgan's and Temple's endeavor to explain away a fair defeat, they have got to keep the truth on their side. In the issue of the World of the 21st. of September, Morgan says that none of the judges had sufficient training to act as a judge. Now let us see how far this is correct: As Geo. R. Bidwell has for the past four years been acting as a judge and referee, nothing can be said of that man's ability. 2nd. The same can be said of W. S. Bull of Buffalo. 3rd. Mr. Chas. A. Payne, who is manager of the largest and most successful athletic association in Canada, certainly cannot be accused of not being posted. Senator Morgan does not deny that Corey was perfectly competent to act as a judge. So here we have four men who are thoroughly posted, by actual experience, in all that pertains to athletic and cycling competitions. As for Mr. Luscomb, I cannot say as to his experience, but as a man with as much common sense as he is credited with, and being a lawyer interested in League politics and cycling generally, I don't see how his decision can be questioned. In my opinion no better set of officials can be got together. Now as to Referee Merrill: Senator

Morgan's published econiums on him in the past, is sufficient testimony as to his ability. That Referee Merrill had the backbone not to be bulldozed by the racing men was a trait greatly to be admired, and one which other referees will do well to follow. The decision in the Temple case was reached by every man on the track, before Rowe had got back to lodge his protest. And when Temple and Rowe had got back to the tape the officials were half way down the track, investigating the foul. The meeting in the evening was held just to give Temple a chance to gather testimony in his behalf, and to be sure that the decision given was a just one. Temple says that both of the umpires said that Rowe did not lap Temple. This statement is false, and every one will testify that one of the umpires said, and no amount of talk could shake him, that Rowe did lap Temple coming around the turn. The other one, who was further down the track, said that Temple had Rowe beat. This is absurd, and no man living could tell in as close a field as that was, 150 yards from the finish, who would be the winner. This is too absurd on the face of it, for any sane man to believe. Instead of being robbed of the race, as Temple says he is, the truth is he only got what he deserved.

I had not intended to go into this controversy over the matter at all, but when Morgan and Temple attack the honesty and integrity of the officials of the Buffalo tournament, and of men who are head and shoulders above them, and whose integrity has never been questioned, it is then that I rise to object. HENRY E. DUCKER.

DEATH OF J. F. MIDGELEY.

CLOSE on the heels of the news of the illness of Mr. Midgeley came the startling intelligence of the death of this popular and promising young man. It seems that at Hartford he complained of feeling unwell, and before the close of the meeting he went home, and was at once taken down with typhoid fever. On Friday afternoon news was received in Boston that the doctors had every hope of being able to pull the sick man through, but that the crisis would be reached that night. The sanguine hopes of the physicians were not realized, and at 11.30 P. M. Friday, Oct. 5th, J. Fred Midgeley passed away.

We heard the news first when on the Lynn track last Saturday and on every hand was heard expressions of sorrow.

Mr. Midgeley was born in Worcester, and was in his 23d year. He was a splendid specimen of sturdy manhood. Popular with all with whom he was brought in contact, his death will be seriously felt and deeply mourned.

The Coventry Machinists' Co., Ld., Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sirs—Lately I have been out riding on the "SWIFT," and it has been seen and examined by nearly all the wheelmen in the city; they all had to try it (as a matter of course), and the result is that two of the boys wanted to trade their American Champions for a SWIFT Safety.

I must say that without exception every one that tried it pronounced it a perfect machine, easy running, light and very rigid; the chain adjustment, and hinges on mudguards, diamond frame, and the lamp, all strike the fancy of every one. None found any fault with it, something that is very unusual here, for whenever a new wheel makes its "debut" here it is at once pulled to pieces by criticism.

Yours truly,

GREAT HILL CLIMBING.

FRED GRAVES, an employe of the Smith & Wesson Co., of Springfield, climbed Union Street Hill in that city fifty times without a dismount. His time was 1h. 45m., and his mount a 48-inch Light Victor Roadster. The hill is short, being only 350 feet, with a rise of 1 in 8.7. The distance travelled by Graves in accomplishing his great feat is about 6 3/4 miles. Harradon's record, which was best, is 15 times, made last June.

WAKEFIELD BI. CLUB ROAD RACE.

Mud and rain did not deter the Wakefield (Mass.) Bi. Club from running its annual twenty-five mile race. The winner was F. H. Burrill, who covered the distance in 1h. 56m.; F. C. Patch, second, in 1h. 58m.; N. S. Rogers, third, in 2h. 6m. This is the second time that Burrill has won the championship medal. The prize for second place is a handsome cup, presented by the Pope Mfg. Co. The third prize is a nickel plated lamp, presented by Wm. Read & Sons. In the evening the club enjoyed a banquet at its club rooms. Captain Morton and President Gorrie, of the Middlesex Club, were guests of the Wakefields.

REMARKABLE CLIMBING.

ASA WINDLE has succeeded in climbing Stickney's Hill twice, his first successful ride having occurred about a week ago, and yesterday he succeeded in duplicating his former successful attempt. The hill, as is well known to local cyclists, has never before been climbed on a crank machine, the best hitherto record in that class of machine hardly exceeding fifty feet of the ascent. The hill is winding, about one thousand feet long, with an estimated average grade of one foot in every six or seven, and frequently the grade rises as high as one foot in four. Mr. Windle rode a Velocé Columbia geared to fifty-five inches, or three inches higher than the machines in regular stock are geared, and apparently rode the hill without difficulty, establishing for the Velocé Columbia the distinction of being the only machine ever ridden up the hill with the exception of the Springfield Roadster.

KANSAS CITY.

[In reply to a wire we got the following results of the first day's racing at Kansas City; the original and misssent copy not yet come to hand.—ED.]

FIRST DAY.—In consequence of the park owner flatly refusing to have the sod temporarily removed the track was not in the best of condition. Notwithstanding this fact the races were good, though fast time was impossible. The St. Louis men evidently had made up their mind to capture the cream of the prizes, and they made a very good imitation of so doing, as the following results will show:

One-mile Kansas State championship—J. Henley, first; H. M. Phelps, second. Time, 3:47 3/4.

One-mile hurdle race (three hurdles two feet high)—This race caused a good deal of amusement. Jno. M. Hodgen, first; J. A. De Tar, second. Time, 4:40 1-2.

Three-mile handicap—A very good race and very fair handicapping—Percy Stone, scratch, first; N. T. Haynes, 25 seconds, second; F. Mehlig, scratch, third. Time, 10:16. A very remarkable decision of the referee at first was, that Haynes had won the race because Stone had cut the track. In view of the fact that Haynes did not protest, and further that the St. Louis contingent made some pretty lively kicking, the referee reversed his decision and gave first place to Stone.

One-mile United Wheelmen championship—N. T. Haynes, first; R. B. Hall, second; H. C. Jones, third. The prize is a handsome cup.

Two-mile lap race—Three starters. Percy Stone, first; H. Gordon, second; F. Mehlig, third. Gordon took a bad header at the

"NEW YO-O-O-RK."

(Dedicated to Col. A. A. Pope.)

THE shades of night were falling fast,
As o'er the bounding deep there passed
A man, who leaning o'er the side
Of stately ship, in anguish, cried,
"New Yo-o-o-rk."

"Wherefore so sad? O, 'retched' man,
Why do you look so pale and wan?"
The sympathetic Captain cried.
With streaming eyes the man replied,
"New Yo-o-o-rk."

"Waste not thy grub, O, mortal rash,
It cost the good and honest cash.
Why feed it to that Finny crowd?"
Poor Pope replied, in accents loud,
"New Yo-o-o-rk."

"Why is your soul with anguish racked?
Why do that great contortion act?"
The victim leaned still further o'er
And answered, as he'd done before,
"New Yo-o-o-rk."

"Art thinking how you left behind
A host of dear ones, good and kind,
Upon your native Yankee sod?"
The victim only moaned, "O, God;
New Yo-o-o-rk."

"Do you not think," said maiden fair,
"The waves look lovely over there?"
How grand upon their crests to ride."
With fearful wrench, the man replied,
"New Yo-o-o-rk."

"And see the moon come peeping o'er
The ocean from a distant shore."
He answered, as he tried to drop
A half-digested mutton chop,
"New Yo-o-o-rk."

The passengers came crowding 'round,
Attracted by the retching sound.
"Art sick, my handsome friend?" said one.
"O, no, I'm doing this for fun;
New Yo-o-o-rk."

Far, far into the stilly night,
He stood and heaved with all his might,
And passengers, long since in bunk,
Would hear with each successive "plunk,"
"New Yo-o-o-rk."

And in the morn, at break of day,
Upon the vessel's deck there lay
A human skin, and nothing more,
The rest had gone amid the roar
Of angry waves and howling wind,
To feed the fishes far behind.
And none before, the people say,
So fully gave himself away
As he, when o'er the vessel's side
He strewed his inner man, and cried
"New Yo-o-o-rk."

THE FIFTY-MILE ROAD RECORD.

GODFREY R. WHITE of the North Road Club September 18, captured the fifty-mile road record in the splendid time of 2h. 57m. 47s. This is worlds record for that distance. White rode an ordinary weighing 29 pounds. The best previous, was that of L. G. Whittaker 2h. 59m. 50 3/4s.

end of the tenth lap, but as he did not hurt himself much he managed to mount and finish second. This was the final event of the day.

The Kansas City Club entertained the visitors at their club house on Central street. Music and refreshments helped to make the evening pass very pleasantly.

AMATEUR RACES AT LYNN.

PRECEDING the great race in the match series between Rowe and Temple at Lynn last Saturday two excellently contested and very exciting amateur events were run. The spectators were on the grounds for excitement. It was a responsive crowd, and the falling rain did not dampen their ardor one bit.

The first race was a one-mile handicap. Started, R. H. Davis, scratch; J. P. Clarke, 90 yards; P. J. Berlo, 100 yards; Mathews, 110 yards; Robson and Bergholtz, 140 yards. Davis rode a Swift racing safety. He cut out the pace in good shape, and was fast overhauling his field when his saddle came off and so he had to stop. In the meantime Clarke had caught up and passed all but Berlo, but on coming home the Dorchester man rushed away and won as he pleased. Time, 2:47 3-4.

Three-mile scratch—R. H. Davis, P. J. Berlo and J. P. Clarke. Davis, on his safety, made the pace for the whole distance. On the last lap on the back stretch he spurred and got quite a lead before Clarke could get under way. It was a close race on the sprint home, Davis winning by a few inches. Time, 9:41 3-4.

TERRE HAUTE (IND.) RACES.

THE Terre Haute Bicycle Club's Grand Tournament, that was to have been, came off Wednesday 3rd, and from the audience's point of view was a big success, but financially speaking, it was a dismal failure, a large political meeting at Paris, Ill. was one of the main causes of their non success, as it took several hundreds out of the city.

The first race, a one-mile club 3.30 class was called at 2.45 with the following starters: E. B. Parker, J. Stark, B. Cooper, A. Murphy and Theo. Frank. Parker set the pace for the first quarter but made it to hot and could not hold it, Cooper took the lead with Murphy and Stark close behind and Frank and Parker brought up the rear. This order was held until the sprint, Cooper crossed the tape 1st with Stark 2d, Murphy 3rd. Time, 3:17.

The next race, a one mile professional, had three starters, Crocker, Knapp and Neilson. This was a very pretty race, as all three men remained bunched all the way. Crocker finished first, Knapp second, and Neilson, third. The finish was close, about a foot and a half between each man. Time, 2:59 1-5.

There were three starters in the half mile hands off, E. Hulman, W. Ridenour and H. Prox. They started flying from scratch, and remained bunched, with Ridenour in the lead, until the stretch, when Hulman forged ahead, winning first honors, with Prox, second, Ridenour, third. Time, 1:54.

The next race, a half mile heat, two best in three, the main attraction of the day, was between Skinner Dick, a trotting horse, with a record for the mile of 2.45, and W. F. Knapp. The bicycle took the lead from the jump and held it, winning easily in 1.26 1-5. The track was sandy, making good time out of question.

The two mile professional brought out Knapp, Neilson and Crocker. This was the best race of the day, the riders stuck close together all the way, and when they finished, were so close that it was hard to tell the winner. Neilson, first; Knapp, second; Crocker, third. Time, 6:09.

The starters in the one mile amateur open: W. Ridenour, E. Hulman, Terre Haute; Len Hollingsworth, Russiaville, Ind., and W. E. McCune of Chelsea, Mass. Ridenour set the pace, with Hulman hanging on to his little wheel. McCune stayed in the rear from the start, until the home stretch was reached, when his fine spurt brought him in first, over Hulman by a good five yards. Hulman, second, and Hollingsworth, third. Time 3:00.

The second heat between Skinner Dick and Knapp was won easily by the latter; the horse had a slight lead at the start, but broke several times. Time, 1:34.

At this point the driver lost his temper, and challenged Knapp to finish the mile, which was accepted. This was the most exciting one of the three. On the back stretch the driver tried to run Knapp down, but he was too smart for him and kept out of his way. Knapp won by about five yards, amidst great enthusiasm.

The half mile scratch, professional, brought out Crocker and Neilson. On the first quarter Crocker broke a spoke, and Neilson finished alone in 1:27.

The last race was a one mile handicap, with Parker at 300 yards, Prox, 270 yards, Ridenour, 140 yards and Hollingsworth 115 yards, and McCune on scratch. It was undoubtedly Parker's race, but by poor judgment he allowed Prox to get too close, who won by a few inches, with Hollingsworth, third. Time, 2:48.

The fastest mile was 2:59 1-5, and the fastest half mile, 1:26 1-5, both of which failed to touch our records, which are 2:55 and 1:21, respectively.

The Bicycle Dancing club held their opening reception last night, a small but select crowd was present. A pleasant evening was passed by everybody.

Terre Haute's next race meet will be about July 4th, 1889. They never say die. RAMSHORN.

THE ROWE-TEMPLE MATCH.

It looked pretty dubious at Lynn last Saturday as to whether the first of the great series of match races between Rowe and Temple would take place or not. Heavy clouds and occasional heavy rain caused the query to be put as to whether the great race would be run. The principals and the backers were, however, anxious to have the event come off, rain or shine, and so the announcement was made on the bulletin boards of the Bee and the Item to that effect. Boys with boards announcing the decision paraded the streets, also.

"We will not have a handful of people," said "Senator" Morgan and Mr. Alley, "but as they are not running for 'gate' we will put the thing through."

Notwithstanding the belief that the spectators would number less than one hundred, over seven hundred people passed the gate-keeper. As may be imagined, it was an enthusiastic crowd, brimful of life. It was an honest, fair-minded crowd withal, though of course the great Lynn man's friends were largely in the majority. After the two amateur events (the account of which will be found elsewhere) the two men came down to the scratch, Rowe won the toss and took the pole. T. A. Carroll acted as starter, and on the shot Rowe took the lead and cut out hot pace with the "little 'un" right on his wheel. Two laps in this position, and then Temple paced for two-thirds of a mile at a somewhat slower gait. Then Rowe went at it again and spurred savagely for a quarter of a mile, Temple, however, hung on to him, and on the sixth lap went up front again. Positions were changed every two laps until the last two, when Temple had the slight lead. On entering the last lap both men rode about even, and both were watching each other like a couple of cats ready to spring. The excitement of the spectators was intense, and when Rowe, on the back stretch, made his effort and passed Temple, a shout went up, the like of which had never been heard on the Lynn track. Temple came on with a splendid response, but it was evident that it was Rowe's race. On the lower corner the rain had made the track dangerously slippery except for a width of about two feet. In any other part of the track at this point it meant a fall to the one who tried top speed. Rowe knew this and so did Temple, it was therefore a fight for the lead at that point. Rowe, by grand headwork and magnificent speed, got there first, and so Temple had to follow in the Lynn man's wake. Rowe then cut for the pole, and Temple had to take the outside, which was rough and soft. Down they came like a whirlwind, but Rowe had Temple dead, and though the Chicago man gamely raced himself all out he was beaten by a length and a half. It was one of the grandest races that it has been our lot to witness. As for the crowd, it went wild. Cheer after cheer rent the air, men danced up and down, every one of the 700 talked at once. Rowe won the race in a grand way; nothing occurred to mar the occasion, it was a fair, square fight, and it was won and lost on its merits. The "little man" took his defeat in a cheerful, plucky way. "It was a fair race and a square beat," said Ralph, "but," he added, as he set his teeth and straightened himself up, "there are two more races yet." Below we give the summary by miles:

1 mile, Temple	- - - - -	2:53 1-4
2 miles, Rowe	- - - - -	5:37 1-4
3 miles, Rowe	- - - - -	9:01 1-4
4 miles, Temple	- - - - -	12:16 1-4
5 miles, Rowe	- - - - -	15:38 1-4

The officials were: Referee, S. S. Merrill; starter, T. A. Carroll; timers, A. H. Carsley and H. P. Armstead; umpires for Temple, Dr. W. H. Emery and E. P. Burnham; for Rowe, Charles Whittier and J. H. Shurman; scorers, W. Reed and F. W. Aymer.

Considering the soft and slippery condition of the track the time was excellent.

"The man that strikes that last corner first will win the race," said "Senator" Morgan and Asa Windle, and it proved so.

Mrs. W. A. Rowe was a proud and happy spectator, in the grand stand, of her husband's triumph.

If any one had got the mistaken idea that the matches were a "fake" such an impression must have faded when they saw the fixed and determined look on both men's faces before the start and during the race.

We congratulate the 700 plucky spectators on seeing one of the best and most scientifically run races ever held on a bicycle track.

The first lap (one-third of a mile) was ridden in 55 sec., and the first mile in 2:53 1-4, both the fastest of the race.

ROWE IS CHAMPION.

HE WINS THE SECOND RACE.

A CLEAR, cool air but considerable wind on the back stretch were the weather conditions at Charter Oak Park to-day. The track was fair. Money was about even in the bets, and it was freely laid on both sides. The crowd was small, and not nearly as enthusiastic as at Lynn. Both men received a good reception. Kennedy-Child started them. The aforesaid Child carried an immense revolver in honor of the importance of the occasion. The pistol missed fire, and the men were started by the word "go." Temple cut out the pace for the first quarter at a very leisurely pace. Then Rowe took up the pacing and led for the next half mile. On coming into the straight both men were level, with Temple at the pole. The pace quickened, but it was not fast until 300 yards from the finish. Rowe came very fast and Temple held him until about 100 yards from the tape; Rowe made a still further effort, and he ran away from the Chicago man as though he were anchored, beating him over the tape by 20 feet, thus winning the race and the championship. These races have demonstrated beyond any cavil the superiority of Rowe over Temple. The time was slow, 3:14 3-4. Referee, S. S. Merrill, of Lynn. Dr. W. H. Emery came from Boston to officiate as one of the umpires for Temple.

RESULTS OF AMATEUR EVENTS.

One-mile handicap—Ludwig Forster, first; M. Gorman, 275 yds., second; G. L. Bacon, 150 yds., distanced. Time, 3:00 1-4.

One-mile scratch—Ludwig Forster, first; C. R. Brewer, second; G. L. Bacon, third. Time, 3:47. Hartford, Oct. 10, 1888

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH FRED CONINGSBY?

WHEN R. D. Mead, of Roseville, succeeded in riding his Harvard bike to the crest of Eagle Rock Hill people opened their eyes in wonder, and asked "what manner of man is this?" It was a long time before any one tried to duplicate Mr. Mead's feat. The next one to reach the top was, I think, Chas. E. Kluge, who was timed by D. M. Curtz and J. W. Barnes, of the now defunct Cyclist and Athlete. This climb was made on a Star, December 13, 1885. The first contest ever held on the hill was that under the auspices of the Orange Wanderers, on August 15, 1886, when Chas. H. Chickering mounted the hill in 9m., his mount being a 51-inch Star, and John A. Wells coming in second in 12m. 20s. Wells rode a 45-inch Star. On Thanksgiving Day, 1887, David Oakes, of Bloomfield, mounted to the crest on a 55-inch Regent. After this the hill was left severely alone for some months.

The next thing we are called upon to record is that J. Harry Shurman, the Springfield Roadster man from Lynn, Mass., had started from Oraton Hall, ridden to the hill, ridden up and down the grade three times and then returned to the starting point before dismounting. This was on May 27, 1888. Another breathing spell and then comes Fred Coningsby, little, wiry, 18 year old, 5 feet 2 inches, 102 pound Fred, trick rider and ex-track rider; the last one whom the knowing ones would pick out for a long-winded hill-climber. Fred essayed to beat Shurman's record, but was forced off his wheel on the third trip. Fred rode a Victor safety.

On June 7 John A. Wells, with his 45-inch Star, made our eyes fly open once more, and wider than ever, by making six round trips, his time being 1h. 32m. The public is allowed to absorb the above facts until June 17, when up pops Mr. Shurman and his Springfield Roadster. Mr. Shurman goes at the hill as though he had lots of work to do, and before he jumps from the saddle he has to his credit twelve round trips, in 3h. 39m. "That settles it," says everybody, and "everybody else" is perfectly willing to agree with them. Wells' six trips made the Star the "king of hill-climbers," Shurman's twelve trips removes the Star from its pedestal and places the Springfield Roadster at the head. This winds up the interest in the hill-climbing for another spell, nothing of any account transpiring in this connection except the Wells-Greenwood contest, wherein Greenwood lowers the single trip record to 7m. 34 4-5s.

At the Division hill contest, Sept. 22, Fred Coningsby, with his Victor safety, surprised everybody by coming in a winner in the fast time of 7m. 41s.

On Wednesday of last week the writer was tempted to smile at the following note, which reached him by mail:

"On Friday afternoon, Oct. 5th, at 2 P. M., I will attempt to break all previous records on Eagle Rock Hill. If you could make it convenient to be present and witness the same I would take it as a favor. Yours truly, FRED CONINGSBY."

Although having a great deal of faith in the powers of my friend Fred, I never had the slightest idea of his being able to come anywhere near breaking all previous records, being satisfied that "Shurman's twelve" was safe. Business of another nature called me elsewhere on Friday, and I was compelled to forego the pleasure of seeing Fred ride. He did ride, however, and to such good effect as to knock out completely all previous records on the hill (with the single exception of Greenwood's single trip).

The start was made at 2 P. M., the timers being F. P. Prial, the Wheel; Frank Brook, bookkeeper for Howard A. Smith & Co.; A. B. Barkman, manager of bicycle department of Spalding & Co., and F. W. Schoefer, of Brooklyn. The following table will show just how well Fred succeeded in walking over all former work on the hill:

a. Beat Wells' time for three trips by 1m.

b. Beat Wells' time for six trips by 7m. 30s.; Shurman's by 21m 30s.

c. Beat Shurman's time for nine trips by 27m. 30s.; Wells' by 10m. 30s.

d. Beat Shurman's time for twelve trips by 37m. 45s.

On the first round trip Coningsby was but 30s. behind the time made by Greenwood on July 30th, although in order to beat the latter's record it will be necessary to make the up trip inside of 7m. 37 4-5s.

The conditions yesterday were as favorable as could be desired; the hill was in prime form, the weather just right, the rider in the very pink of form.

The machine he rode was a Victor safety, and the great performance has opened the eyes of Newarkers to the great possibilities of this machine. Now then, who can get on top of the Victor record?

On Thursday Fred rode up and down the hill 8 times for practice, to test the machine, and he declared it was good enough for a month's steady climbing. RATCHET.

The Victor safety ridden was geared to 48 inches, with 6 3-4-inch cranks, thus enhancing the wonderful performance as having been accomplished on an ordinary road wheel.

JOHN HARRIOTT made the medals awarded in the Eastern Road Club races. They were very handsome affairs, and fully up to Mr. Harriott's usual excellent work.

WM. M. WOODSIDE is pressing the suit against C. Z. Pond for money guaranteed him by Pond, for riding in New York in 1886 against horses.

"At the Kansas City tournament last week there were twenty-one events, each and all of which were won by Victor Light Roadsters, the track being too bad to use racers. This is a rare occurrence, but shows the popularity of the Victor in that part of the country. Percy Stone won every race that he started in, but had his work well cut out for him in the handicaps. His prizes consisted of two bicycles, a double-barreled shot gun, a gold watch chain, and two handsome diamonds."—Spectator.

JOHN STOUT, the fancy rider, recently rode his Star down the main stair case of the Midland Hotel in Kansas City, much to the astonishment of the guests.

We are in receipt of one of the bicycle locks and chains made by the American Railroad Equipment Co., of 45 Broadway, New York. It is the best thing of the kind we ever saw. It should be seen to be appreciated, and no cyclist who would secure his machine against theft can afford to be without one.

LEAGUE HEADQUARTERS:
12 Pearl Street, Room 27.
ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary.

MR. C. S. DAVOL takes his position at the head of the Racing Board. He brings to the position an interest in the work of the Board and a cool head to meet the many trying situations in which this official finds himself placed. The League is to be congratulated on his acceptance of the position, and we believe he will make a good record.

THE power of the press lies very much in its iterative possibilities. With this in mind we will once more announce that there is no rule under which the Secretary can transfer a man from one division to another. A man remains a member of the division where he is located when he pays his dues, and if he moves into another State he cannot unite with its division so far as this office is concerned. There can be no good reason why States should not create associate memberships for the reception of these wanderers, but on the books of the National organization they remain where they originally are placed.

THE history of the League goes to show that a man may pass for a young man under one aspect of a case, and be a veteran under another. We have in mind three hoary old veterans in League work, who have been active with us since the early years of the organization. They must have found in cycling the fountain of perpetual youth, or at least early manhood, for on our table we find pleasant announcements of marriage for each of the three. Shriver and Jenkins, of New York, and Pettengill, of Washington. We wish for them happiness beyond their fondest hopes, and we earnestly wish that the League will find that it has gained three feminine workers rather than that it has lost our worthy three of the masculine persuasion. To their wives these men may seem to be young men still, but when the roll of League veterans is called they must all respond.

Presidential Appointments.

Mr. Gerry Jones having resigned as Chairman of the Racing Board, Mr. C. S. Davol, of Warren, R. I., is hereby appointed to that position, and will at once assume the duties of that position.
Mr. Davol, who has been serving as a member of the Membership Committee, is hereby relieved from duty on that committee, and Mr. Alfred Ely, of Cleveland, Ohio, appointed to succeed him.

Pennsylvania Division.

All Local Consuls and all League Hotels in Pennsylvania are re-appointed to hold their positions for one year.
Geo. A. JESSUP,
Chief Consul, Pa.

Massachusetts Division.

I have appointed Prof. R. C. Sweetser of Worcester, a representative to the State Board, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. F. P. Kendall. I also appoint as an additional representative Mr. Chas. S. Howard of Boston.

H. W. HAYES, Chief Consul.

Rhode Island.

Those members of the Rhode Island Division who have not yet got a Road Book may obtain one without charge by sending to the Secretary-Treasurer, N. H. Gibbs, Sec. Treas., 239 Westminster st., Providence, R. I.

Business Meeting Illinois Division, L. A. W.

Held in Sherman House, at Chicago, Sept. 29th, at 8.45 P. M., Chief Consul W. A. Davis presiding.
A majority of the Board present, ex-Secretary-Treasurer Street submitted a report showing the financial standing of the division on September 1, which showed a surplus of $231.13. Report was accepted.
Report of the race meet held at Cheltenham Beach was tabled until ex-Chief Consul Van Sicklen could be heard from.

The Committee of the Constitution and By-Laws asked an extension of time, which was granted them. The aforesaid committee were instructed to draft a Constitution, send each member of the Board of Officers a copy, who, in turn, will examine same and return it with any alterations, erasures, or suggestions he sees fit, which the committee will adopt or not, at their discretion. They will then prepare their report, which will be submitted to each member of the Board again for a mail vote.

This "modus operandi" is to avoid the necessity of having another meeting of the Board, and it is hoped that it will give us a good Constitution and By-Laws. Messrs. Oliver and Randall, of Chicago; Rouse of Peoria; and Sheridan of Springfield, were placed in nomination for Representatives on the National Board.

The Division having three: Ed. A. Oliver of Chicago; H. G. Rouse of Peoria; Thos. F. Sheridan of Springfield, were elected to fill said offices for one year.

The Board then voted to have three standing Committees, i. e., Committee on Racing, Rights and Privileges, and Road Improvements, duties of these Committees to be laid down in Constitution and By-Laws; members of same will be named by the Chief Consul.

The Secretary-Treasurer was instructed to have printed a directory of Illinois Division Officers and members, and mail a copy of same to each member of the Division.

A letter was read from the Capital City Cycling Club, of Springfield, returning the thirty dollars ($30), which was appropriated by the Division to cover the expenses of printing and mailing the programme of our fifth annual, held at Springfield, July 4th last. It was moved and seconded that the thirty dollars be accepted, carried. The meeting then adjourned sine die.

Attest, Thos. F. SHERIDAN,
Secretary-Treasurer.

NORVAL A. RONTSON,
Sec. Treas. California Division,
San Francisco, Sept. 1st, 1888.

Meeting of Pennsylvania Division, held at Harrisburg, Sept. 27, 1888.

Mr. Tucker presented a constitution and rules and asked their adoption by sections.

The following Constitution and rules were then adopted by sections and as a whole.

Constitution of the Pennsylvania Division, L. A. W.

Art. I. This organization shall be known as the Pennsylvania Division of the League of American Wheelmen and shall be governed by the Constitution and rules of the national organization.

Art. II. Its objects are, to promote acquaintance and secure more fully to the wheelmen of Pennsylvania the benefits of the League of American Wheelmen.

Art. III. Its officers shall consist of, Chief Consul, Vice Consul, Secretary-Treasurer and one Representative for each one hundred resident League members; also, one representative from each League club of not less than twenty members and an additional Representative for each fifty additional members upon the Club's roll on July first of each year.

Art. IV. The delegates to the National assembly of the League of American Wheelmen shall consist of the Chief Consul, Vice Consul and one Delegate for each two hundred members upon the Division roll on September first, to be elected at the annual meeting of the Division.

Art. V. This Constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of all the members of the Board of Officers at any meeting of the Board, one month's notice of the amendment proposed having been given.

Rules.

1. The Chief Consul shall preside at all meetings of the Board of Officers, shall appoint all committees not selected by ballot, may fill pro tempore, any vacancy in any office or committee until the next ensuing meeting.

ing of the Board, shall appoint one consul for each city or town in the State and shall appoint League hotels.

He shall make a report at the annual meeting of the Division next subsequent to his election.

In the absence of the Chief Consul the Vice Consul shall exercise all the duties of that officer.

The Chief Consul shall appoint the following standing committees, each to consist of three members:

Rights and Privileges.

Improvement of Highways.

Racing.

2. The Secretary-Treasurer shall perform all the duties of a recording and corresponding secretary, he shall keep a directory of all Division members and officers and generally provide himself with all necessary statistical and other information likely to be of use to members of the Division, he shall receive and be accountable for all money paid into the Division treasury, shall keep suitable books of account and shall pay out no money except upon order approved by the Chief Consul of the Division.

His accounts shall be audited by a committee to be appointed at the annual meeting and he shall give a bond for the faithful performance of his duties in the sum of fifteen hundred dollars ($1500.00) to be approved by the Chief Consul.

He shall be paid a salary of one hundred dollars ($100.00) per annum.

3. The Secretary-Treasurer shall issue a certificate of election, which shall be signed by himself and the Chief Consul, to each representative. The annual meeting of the Board of Officers of the Division shall be held during the month of September at a place and time to be designated by the Chief Consul, of which at least one week's notice shall be given at this meeting.

The order of business shall be as follows:

First—Reading of the minutes.

Second—Report of Chief Consul.

Third—Report of Secretary-Treasurer.

Fourth—Communications.

Fifth—Reports of committees.

Sixth—Election of delegates to National Assembly.

Seventh—Unfinished business.

Eighth—New business.

5. Special meetings shall be called at the option of the Chief Consul or upon the written request of not less than five (5) members of the Division Board.

6. Seven (7) members personally present shall constitute a quorum at any meeting of the Board of Officers.

7. Proxy voting will be allowed, but no member shall vote more than three proxies. Such proxies shall be acknowledged before a Court of Record or a Notary Public.

8. Each member of the Division shall pay to the Secretary of the League of American Wheelmen on or before May 1 the sum of one dollar ($1) as annual dues.

9. These rules may be amended at any annual meeting by a majority vote of the members present.

It was moved and seconded that the report of the Secretary-Treasurer be received, and a committee be appointed to audit his accounts and furnish a certificate of his accounts to the Chief Consul. Carried.

It was moved and seconded that the Board take a recess of five minutes to nominate delegates to the National Assembly. Carried.

The following representatives were then nominated as delegates: H. K. Lewis, Ira A. Dayton, D. K. Trimmer, S. A. Boyle, C. B. Holly, J. J. Van Nort, Kirk Brown.

Upon motion the Secretary pro tem. was instructed to cast the ballot.

J. G. CARPENTER,
Sec. Treas.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens residing in the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member."

Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M. on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

EVENING ITEM.

LYNN, MASS., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1888.

SUNDAY HERALD.

BOSTON, OCTOBER 7, 1888

As a Vulture has succeeded in climbing Stickney's hill twelve times. The hill, as is well known to local cyclists, has never before been climbed on a crank machine. Mr. Windle rode a Velocette Columbia, geared to 55 inches, or three inches higher than the machines in regular trade are geared, and apparently rode the hill without difficulty, establishing for the Velocette Columbia the distinction of being the only machine ever ridden up the hill with the exception of the Springfield roadster.

Remarkable Climbing

As a rule, he has succeeded in finishing Sticks and Snaps' Hill, Lynn, twice. His best successful riding having occurred about a week ago, and Friday he succeeded in duplicating his former success. He was accompanied by his wife and two children, together with a number of friends. The machine, which he has been riding for several months, has never before been climbed on at such a height. The best hill he reported for that class of machine hardly exceeding 90 feet of the ascent. The hill is winding, about 1000 feet long, and is covered with a soft, yielding surface. It is in every respect as good as the "Grande rase," as high as one foot in four. Mr. Whittle rode a Veloc Columbia, generated to 55 inches, or three inches higher than the machines in regular stock, and generated to 50 inches. He was accompanied by a number of friends, and the machine was sufficiently established for the Veloc Columbia, the distinction of being the only machine ever ridden up the hill, being the exception of the Springfield Hoaxer.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1888.

Asa Windle rode Stickney Hill, Lynn, last week, on a Columbia Veloc bicycle, geared to 55 inches. A crank bicycle had never before been pushed to the top of this very steep hill.

WHY WE BLUSH.

WE acknowledged satisfaction after winning first and second in the greatest one hundred mile road race of the year—at Buffalo—where only six riders finished, and ONLY FIVE of the six rode VICTORS.

We added this to our list of "Battle Flags" side by side with such world's events as Clarksville, Crawfordsville, Big 4, Boston—all 100 mile road races, open to the world, and contested by all the large makers—and modestly retired.

We blush, because after all this glory---when a bicycle maker went clear South and got up a race at Nashville, Tenn., to try to show the usefulness of his bicycles, the said maker putting up the prizes in order to stimulate the game---three naughty boys without our knowledge or permission, wanting to make a sure thing of scooping all the prizes offered, bought VICTORS and entered the race.

Well, before we could stop them, they were off and away and at the finish came to the front in 1, 2, 3 order, taking all the prizes---bicycle, medals, shoestrings and all!

It wasn't the thing, and we apologize. We don't want the earth. We only want riders to know that VICTORS are built to get there suddenly, and we are very willing to give the other fellows a chance.

We make the VICTORS, but we are not the "largest makers in the world"---only the best.

MY CYCLING LOG BOOK. By "Papa" Weston. The transitory pleasures of cycling can be made as permanent as its physical benefits, by jotting down in a well devised log book, the distances and incidents of one's various journeys. Knowing that such a record is a most pleasant thing to have, and believing that the keeping of such should be encouraged, as tending to the permanent good of cycling in more ways than can be referred to here. The Log Book is handsomely and strongly bound in red leather, will last for years of constant use, and is the best arranged book of its kind ever yet devised. It fills a want often felt by the cyclist who values records of interest for future reference. Price, post paid, $1.25. For sale by Bicycling World Co., 12 Pearl st., Boston.

SHURMAN AT IT AGAIN.

The members of the Lynn Cycle Club took a trip down to Portland. The party comprised J. H. Young, J. H. Shurman, A. H. Carsley, E. G. Bergholtz, J. F. Allen, J. F. Dow, J. H. Littlefield, A. W. Lewis, and A. Wiswell. On their arrival in Portland, and after a good breakfast at the Preble House, the Portland Wheel Club took the visitors in hand for a run to Prout's Neck, a distance of some fourteen miles. On the way out the party passed Spurwick Hill, an eminence that has never been climbed by a cyclist. To the surprise of the Down Easters, Shurman announced that he would ride up the hill if any one of the Portland men would ride down. This was very promptly agreed to, as the local men thought the hill unrideable. Some of the men rode down the hill, as also did Shurman, and then on arriving at the bottom Shurman turned round and rode to the top, to the amazement of those who had never seen Shurman ride. This was on Sunday, and the achievement of the Lynn man made the locals anxious to see what the visitor could do with Park Street Hill, a terror to Portland wheelmen, and one that has never been climbed more than twice in succession. So on Monday the party repaired to the hill, and after Carsley, Allen and Littlefield had climbed it once and cried enough, Shurman went at it and went up and down six times without a dismount. To say that the Portland men were dumbfounded is putting it mildly. Shurman rode his Springfield Roadster. [Will some Portland reader kindly give us the grades of Spurwick and Park Street Hills, and oblige?—ED. BICYCLING WORLD.]

J. S. DEAN.

BOSTON, 19 OCTOBER, 1888.

WE print in our news column this week an expose of one of the most shameful stories of professional crookedness that it has been our lot to hear. Starting in with the determination to "do" the dear public, the conspirators get into a wrangle among themselves and one faction, Judas-like, sells his co-workers out to the tune of many shekels. It is on account of the sport of racing in its intended cleanliness that we view the matter and it is with intense pain that we must admit that racing interests have received a terrible blow. The harm cannot but be felt in the amateur ranks though of course the interest in all future professional events has received a mortal wound.

As for ourselves, the editor of this paper has always spoken in high terms as to the squareness and honesty of both Temple and Rowe. We have thus spoken because we believed in them both and when occasion has offered to personally show our esteem and good will, we have always improved the opportunity. When Messrs. Morgan and Temple returned to this country it was our pleasure to show these men some attention and interest in their success abroad in the past and also in the future. To "Senator" Morgan this paper and its readers are indebted for many pleasant moments in reading his bright notes. Our disappointment has been great to find that our confidence in the "Senator" and his protege has been so misplaced.

Up to the present time we have held Rowe up in our estimation as being a man above reproach. In our last issue we crowned him with a wreath of laurel and relegated him to a high shelf in the Temple of Fame. But now he is rudely torn from that shelf and the place of his retirement should be one of obscurity, if he can find such a place. With the fall of Rowe and Temple we lose faith in all professionals and in thus saying, we pay the men a compliment, for if they are not square, then squareness and professionalism are not on speaking terms.

A good deal of useless talk has been indulged in on both sides as to from which side the original proposition to be crooked first came. To both we say that proposer and acceptor are equally to blame. It is splitting hairs to try and show otherwise. If, however, the odium is slightly stronger on one side than the other, we think the slice is rather thicker on the shoulders of Rowe than Temple, for to the sin of lending himself to such a scheme he has added the still meaner sin of proving false to his fellow-conspirators.

DEATH OF R. S. MCCOMBIE.

THERE is not a reader but who will feel the greatest sorrow at the death of R. S. McCombie, caused by injuries received while riding in the Eastern Road Club race of last month. Last week Monday we received news that the injured man had partially regained consciousness and that there was a bare hope that he might recover. On Tuesday, however, a change for the worse took place and the doctors decided that his only chance for life was a successful operation. This was performed but without the hoped for results and R. S. McCombie passed away on Wednesday afternoon. The circumstances of his death are extremely sad. McCombie was a mechanic and on his work depended the income necessary to support his young wife and two children. This death has cast a gloom over those who knew Mr. McCombie, his club mates being particularly cast down at the sad event. The funeral was largely attended by cyclists in this vicinity, the Dorchester Club turning out in a body. This club sent a magnificent floral offering. It is a sad and bitter ending to a young and promising life, the like of which we hope we never again shall be called on to chronicle.

THE MCCOMBIE FUND.

The following and additional subscriptions to this fund have been received at this office: J. F. Charnock, $1; F. R. Davis, $1; John S. Beaney, $1; H. A. Thayer, $1; A. G. Collins, $1; G. S. Locke, 50 cents. All the above are members of the Suffolk Wheel Club of South Boston.

EASTERN ROAD CLUB.

THE tie between the Cambridgeport and Dorchester Clubs will be run off Thursday, Oct. 25th. The start will be made from the Faneuil House, 2:30 sharp, over same route as before. The club not being on the mark promptly, will forfeit race.

DON'T confound S. S. Merrill of Lynn with H. P. Merrill of the Springfield Union in the great Rowe Temple fake. It was S. S. Merrill of Lynn that acted as referee. We make this explanation, as a man in speaking of the affair, said he thought H. P. Merrill of Springfield was a party to the fake. This is not so, most emphatically.

NOTES BY THE "CAVILER."

DEAR me, what can any one think of this week but the great sensation of the day, the great "championship race." The air is full of it. Some giggle and some fume; the former are in pocket, and the latter are out of pocket. Some vow 'twas all right and some swear the reverse, but for the reputation of human nature I am pleased to say that the "swearers to the reverse" are in the majority. Now, you see, interviews seem to be the go in this matter, and so I interview the different men, or some one that knows them, and I learn something entirely new and of a different nature. In fact, I claim it a "scoop" in being able to faithfully tell as to the future intentions of the different actors in the Rowe-Temple comedy.

I HEAR that Woodside will return to Ireland and take charge of his estates. I understand that he will study hard to find the true meaning of gratitude, and he will also study the traits of that Biblical character who figured as "the great giver away."

MORGAN, I hear, will write a book entitled "Diamond Cut Diamond, or the adventures of a young man who lost his hard-earned reputation by the indulging in a harmless little fake."

TEMPLE will take up the pen of an author, and write a thrilling romance, entitled "Tommy Tiddler's Great Race, and How I Felt Twenty-Five Feet Back of Rowe's Little Wheel." I am told that Mr. Temple has given a large order for specially constructed adjectives so that he can do justice to the subject.

ROWE will also take a hand at authorship; the book will be called "The Double Cross." It will be a complete manual of how to sell out co-conspirators. I do not know whether Mr. Rowe feels particularly proud in being able to speak from experience. Judging from my own feelings I should say he would not feel particularly "sot up."

Now if the above gentlemen will only carry out their intentions, and I can induce S. S. Merrill, of Lynn, Mass., to write an essay on "The Science of Refereeing Fake Races," I think a pretty interesting library will be the result.

I AM in receipt of one or two letters, one from Dr. W. G. K., call me to account for spelling Caviler with one l. Alas, I know the genial Dr. is an authority, and is backed up by others, but we also have authority for using one i, and as the editor tells me that the is in the type cases are running low, they have to economize on that letter.

KIRK COREY also sends me a blood-curdling challenge to mount bicycle and ride with his club. He darkly hints that I will need an English dog cart or a Goddard buggy to carry me home after the experiment. I desire to decline Mr. Corey's invitation with profuse thanks. Mr. Corey avers that the innocent remarks of my lady friend, as to the uniform of a certain club, were a direct fling at the Brooklines!! Well I never, I really don't see why Mr. C. should think so. I shall at once put on my hat, visit my lady friend at once, and—demand an explanation.

NEW YORK.

"HAWKSHAW."

WELL, the six-day road-sculling hippodrome at Madison Square Garden has closed, and Jake Gaudaur has been declared the victor with a score of 465 miles. The machines on which the contestants rode in this affair were a cross between a baby-carriage and a coal cart, without either the lightness of the former or strength of the latter. The wheels were ordinary wooden ones with a tire of leather, and the entire machine was poorly constructed, which was evident by the breakage which occurred almost constantly during the affair. In my notes last week I remarked that there was much doubt of the truth of the claims of the manufacturers, that the road-sculler could be driven twenty miles per hour over an average road. There can be none now, when the finest trained oarsmen in the world, in a public contest and for large purses, were not able to push one of the cumbersome affairs at better than fourteen miles in the hour. There may be a future for the road-sculler, but at present I cannot see it.

ON Tuesday evening Mr. E. J. Shriver, the President of the New York Club, entertained his club mates at the club house with an elaborate spread, in honor of his approaching marriage. The affair was a very successful one.

THE prizes that are to be given at the forthcoming race meet of the Berkeley Athletic Club are the costliest I have ever seen. An attempt was to have been made to have Temple and Rowe compete for a handsome purse, but the recent rumors of crooked work have stopped negotiations, I think.

IN the death of Henry Monett, Passenger Agent of the New York Central road, the wheelmen of this city have lost one who was ever their friend. It was through the fair-mindedness of Mr. Monett that Chief Consul Bidwell first secured free passage for bicycles on the West Shore road, and eventually on the New York Central, when Mr. Monett took charge there. "The good that men do, lives after them," and in the present case it will be so, and many a wheelman will have a kindly thought for the memory of Henry Monett.

AN anti-ante fever seems to have struck our cycling clubs, and the goodly elders who control the club destiny of the youthful club man have decided, in their supreme wisdom, that the mental calibre of their suckling charges is not strong enough to warrant them permitting the club members looking on or participating in the saturnalia of a five-cent jack-pot within the sacred precincts of the club house. In consequence of this the fiat has gone forth, and no longer does the glorious red, white and blue of the jack-pot lure on to destruction the innocent and babe-like club man. Knitting classes and prayer meetings will no doubt take the place of the illusive poker chip, as a means of winter amusement in these regenerated temples of cycling. Hear it, ye valleys! Echo it, ye little hills! No poker! Truly, mankind hath no sorrow that these cycling grandmothers will not attempt to cure.

A PECULIAR sight was witnessed in the line of racing here on Saturday. The N. A. A. A. championship at two miles was won by J. W. Powers, Jr., in 6.55, beating J. H. Hanson, New York B. Club, who in turn defeated the only remaining competitor, G. A. S. Wieners. Now while the championship was being fought for by three contestants, each of whom was sure of a prize, and was won in 6.55, at the grounds of Y. M. C. A. Association, which were those formerly belonging to the New York Athletic Club, another two-mile championship was being contested. The event was a handicap, for which thirty entries and eleven starters were secured. The result was one of the finest races we have seen for many a day, Frank G. Brown, K. C. W., finally winning in 6.29; W. E. Findley, New York B. Club, second; Edward A. Powers, Riverside Wheelmen, third. The number of starters and entries and the time of the winner, when contrasted with the smaller number and poorer time of the championship, was not favorable to the N. A. A. A.

PENNSYLVANIA.

"ARIEL."

ECHOES from the Tioga races are still floating around. The finish of the one-mile open has excited more discussion and brought out more difference of opinion than any cycling event for some time. It is singular if from no other reason than as an illustration of the fact how differently two or more people can look at the same thing. The Ledger and Press stated that Wilhelm finished second, the latter journal commenting on the fact of Halsted's finishing within a foot of Crist, and in my own report I gave Crist second, Wilhelm six inches back, and Halsted six inches behind the Reading man. As we were all wrong as to the actual positions of the men crossing the tape, please note this correction: Kingsland finished first, Halsted crossed next, Crist third and Wilhelm fourth. Halsted, however, rode wild at the turn, fouling Wilhelm, and at once waived his position. The official decision of the judges, therefore, was: Kingsland first, Crist second, Wilhelm third. The four men finished so close together that it was a difficult matter to decide as to the positions. I never saw a closer race.

AN oblong button of silver has been adopted by the Mount Vernon Wheelmen as their badge. It is enameled in brown and white—the club colors.

TWENTY-FIVE dollars has been placed in the hands of John A. Wells, by the Wilmington Wheel Club, as their deposit for the medal as the prize in the road race with the Reading Bicycle Club.

A CHANGE has been made by the South End in the club emblem. Hereafter they will wear a wheel and arrow on the front of their caps, in place of the letters S. E. W., and will have the words "South End" on their coat collars.

THE latest addition to the cycling organizations of the city is the Wissahickon Wheelmen, a club composed of residents of Chestnut Hill and vicinity. They have only been organized a short time and the membership is not very large as yet.

HALSTED has been in hard luck. On Saturday, at the sports of the Y. M. C. A. at the West Philadelphia grounds, he was beaten by McDaniel, of Wilmington, in the two-mile handicap. Halsted's racer cut into the soft track too deeply, and he was unable to overhaul McDaniel, who had 150 yards' start. The time—7.58—tells the tale of the track. Halsted won the one-mile handicap from W. W. Taxis, who had 150 yards start, in 3.20 4-5.

WILHELM got his revenge on Friday last at Wilmington, beating Halsted in the half-mile race. The track was so heavy that the New York man was unable to use his racer and borrowed a light roadster wheel, but he struck a soft place in rounding into the home stretch, and Wilhelm crossed the tape ahead. Both of these two were beaten by Merrihew in the one-mile. A spoke of Wilhelm's Star broke, wrapping itself around the ratchet, thereby throwing him out of the race, and Halsted stuck fast in the mud, while Merrihew raced past.

INCORPORATION is what the Century Wheelmen are talking about now. At their last monthly meeting steps were taken toward this end. Several eligible sites have been offered them for their new club house, but none have been definitely accepted yet. They purpose having a jolly social time this winter, giving monthly "smokers" and musicales, and have originated a glee club to furnish the necessary music at the latter. Names: Messrs. Carter (leader), Schell, Taltavall, Speier and Rosenau, tenors; Ball, Havens, G. M. and C. C. Schell and Walker, basses. (Mem. To send them my address when the invitations are being issued.)

CLUB runs have been knocked out by rain on the last two Sundays. The Centurions sent their largest run of the season—thirty-one men—to Chestnut Hill yesterday, between the drops, but the Pennsylvania Club century run, which Captain Supplee has endeavored to make twice, again failed on account of the weather, and they will not make another attempt this season. The first race for the five-mile club challenge cup will take place next Saturday, 20th inst., on either the Tioga or West Philadelphia tracks. There are about twenty entries, and Captain Supplee, who has had the unenviable position of handicapper assigned him, has been hearing nothing but kicking from each man who thinks himself ill-used on his allowance. I never heard of handicaps in challenge cup races, but Captain Supplee says he's bound to make it interesting.

ST. LOUIS.

"LINNEUS."

THROUGH the efforts of Mr. Sloan Tracy the Cycle Club obtained possession of the Gentlemen's Driving Club track, at Forest Park, Oct. 4, and a small race meeting was held thereon. The prizes, which consisted for the most part of bicycle sundries were donated by the members of the club. The track was in a tough condition for cycle racing, and the times were slow, still the finishes were close and exciting. Percy Stone, Frank Mehlig, A. A. Knight and Jno. Pomarade started in an extra half-mile race, which was won by Stone in 1.38. Knight took a header but was not hurt. The interest taken in this affair having proved so general has prompted the club to give another series of races on the same track Thanksgiving Day.

A. L. JORDON is doing good work in getting recruits for the League, and the same can be said of Wilder and Laing, the new comers in the cycle trade here.

PRESIDENT T. J. KIRKPATRICK arrived in town Friday, and will remain for several days, the guest of Chief Consul Brewster. The Missourians have arranged a big run to Fenton to-morrow in his honor, and a large number of their riders will take part.

CAPTAIN SANDERS, of the Cycle Club, called a run to Lebanon, Ill., last Sunday. It rained, however, for two days before, and the route was changed to Belleville, Ill. No run has ever been made to the first named town to my knowledge, and the advent of a bicycle club would have astonished the natives had they gone there.

LOOKING over the League membership list I find that Joplin ranks next to St. Louis and Kansas City in having the largest League membership, her number being 15. St. Joe ranks next with 11, Hannibal fifth with 10, and Sedalia sixth with 6 members. Joplin's showing is a very good one, and while it may have been caused by the action of the Committee on Rights and Privileges in inducing that city to repeal a law forbidding cycle riding on its streets, credit is due Consul Barney for the manner in which all renewed their memberships for 1888.

E. B. KINSON and your correspondent took a run to Clayton, the county seat of St. Louis County, Thursday, Oct. 6th, and found the roads in fine condition. Clayton is distanced only about ten miles from St. Louis, and I am surprised that the place is not more frequently visited by St. Louis cyclists. In looking over the annual reports of the County Clerk I find that $108,574.36 was spent on the county's roads and bridges in 1887. It seems to me that this vast sum should have put most of our roads in a better condition than they are at present.

THE Kansas City races attracted but few of our riders, but those that did go up had an enjoyable time. As a Kansas City paper remarked, "there are no insects on St. Louis wheelmen;" the result proves the correctness of the assertion. Percy Stone's winnings were two bicycles, a diamond ring, diamond scarf pin, and shot gun, in short he won every race he entered for, and helped the Missouri Club team, consisting of himself, Lewis and Hodgen, to win the handsome club cup, which now adorns the parlor of the club. Kansas City's inhabitants must be classed with Poughkeepsie's as far as appreciation of a cycle race meet goes, as I don't think that over 500 attended on the three days the meeting was held.

AT last Greenwood has received part of his expenses incurred in his race with Wells. This was a genuine surprise to most of our riders who did believe that he would receive a "red." J. F. Pedersen also has the order for the medal, and it was to be here a few days ago. Wells disputes the balance of the expenses, and wrote Greenwood that he had been informed by Referee Collins that he (Greenwood) had paid Shurman's expenses at Orange in addition to his own and charged them to him. He also stated that Referee Brewster informed him that he (G.) had not paid the wagon expenses to and from Kimmswick Hill. Following up this interesting tale I was informed that Referee Collins had been written to in regard to the matter, and replied that he could not see why Wells wanted to "monkey with the truth in this ridiculous manner," and denies in toto that he ever wrote Wells anything of the kind. Referee Brewster also stated that Wells must have made a strong draft on his imagination to quote him as saying anything of the kind. Wells' backer has been written to in the matter.

WHAT I would like to see: More riding by the members of the Missouri Club and better attendance on its runs.—Stone and Windle meet.—Alex. Lewis, E. A. Smith and Ed Sanders in a road race from Manchester.—Brewster riding an ordinary.—The Missouri Division membership numbering 400.—The Missourians combining with the Cycle Club to make the Thanksgiving Day races a grand success.—Medals offered for the best attendance on club runs.—C. C. Hildebrand break the twenty-four-hour record.

CHICAGO.

THE "STROLLER."

WHAT does St. Louis think of Chicago now. Lumsden, the Fort Dearborn Club flyer, represented Chicago at the Quincy race meet, taking first place in the half-mile race, and first place in the mile lap race, winning both as he pleased, much to the surprise of Percy Stone. Also he was beaten by about two feet in the mile dash by Stone, with ten yards more to go, the race would have been Lumsden's. The next day on a seven-lap track the Fort Dearborn boy suffered defeat again by an accident. Both Stone and Lumsden were side by side, and both spurred, but the corner was too sharp and off of the track and on to the turf they went, in amongst some trees. Percy managed to miss the trees and back on to the track he went, and had the race won before Lumsden could get out of the mixture of trees, bike and man. At the ball in Quincy the night before the races one of the fair belles of that city asked Stone if that was the way to train, to which he replied, "oh I don't have to train, I can win all the races here without training." I wonder what he thinks now.

WHAT'S the matter with our Constitution Committee? Have they collapsed.

THE Referee is still alive although the "Looker-On" says he has "labored under great difficulties" of late.

WHEN Charlie Windheim, of the Fort Dearborns, gets into that racing costume of his he is a regular Billy Mestayer in disguise.

HOUSE and Roe, the "Star" agents here have dissolved partnership, Mr. Roe going out and Mr. House continuing in the business under the firm name of S. L. House & Co. "Tom" says he is going to give all his time and attention to building up the Referee.

THE Referee says: "Charlie Sieg brought in four alleged cuts of prominent cyclists a day or two ago. They will be used to advertise the next dog show," and now Corey, Randall, Hosford and Seig, the "four alleged," are looking for the "Looker-On" with shot guns.

SPOONER, of the Lincolns, now holds the twenty-four-hour record for Chicago, he having covered 231 miles, thereby beating Mason's record, of the Illinois, by 13 miles, and every rider here is anxiously waiting for an extra "postal" from Conkling announcing the result and the reason why "no spokes were broken or repairs needed" on the wheel ridden.

RIGGS, of the Illinois Club, is still waiting for good weather to take a good crack at the twenty-four-hour record here. He has had tough luck in regard to weather. He hid himself to Milwaukee Saturday before last so as to be ready to have a go at the Milwaukee-Chicago record if Sunday proved favorable. Sunday was a fine day, but the wind was a gale and blowing the wrong way. Frank called himself hard names for not staying in Chicago and starting from that end.

I SAW Bob Ehler skimming along on a wheel the other day; he said it was the first time he had been on one since he left last year. It's a pity Bob was not content to remain an amateur, for he is the easiest rider as well as the most graceful I ever saw, and with a little training can show the dust to nearly all of them. By the way, President Sloan, did Bob ever resign from the Illinois Club after that McCurdy fiasco, or is he still a member, and if so, how is this accounted for when you claim to be a League club? I ask this as I understand that Bob still claims to be a simon-pure amateur and a member of the League, and also that he intends taking part in all racing events here in the future. If so, why not have his case investigated, and see how much fire there was where so much smoke came from last fall?

THE consolidation scheme between the two oldest clubs here and between the largest and smallest in point of number is still the all prevailing topic among wheelmen, and many and various are the prognostications made as to the result. I understand that everything is satisfactory to the Boards of Direction of both clubs with the exception of the financial phase of the case. It seems that both clubs have a small indebtedness hanging over them, the Chicagos having more of an obligation on their hands than the Dearborn Club; the latter is inclined to think that the Chicagos have an elephant they want to have help in keeping and are therefore anxious to join the Fort Dearborns, thus making both clubs liable for the double indebtedness. The fact is that after the consolidation the Chicagos will drop out one by one, go back to their first love, the C. B. C., and, free from their heavy load, drift on calmly with the tide as formerly, content with their deeds of valor done in the past, and with many a quiet chuckle as to how Ayer and Thorne (they with the fine Italian hands) came it over the Dearborns. I do not believe there is any ground for this argument, but if both clubs will accept a suggestion from "The Stroller," he would say, why not come to each other with clean hands? That is, each club wipe out its entire indebtedness independently. The Chicagos, although few in number are perfectly able to go down into their jeans and contribute sufficient of this world's goods to pay off every dollar the club owes. The Fort Dearborn members, although not as well fixed financially as their Chicago brethren, can, at a very small contribution per capita, raise enough to put them on an equal footing with the Chicagos. When I was a member of the club no one ever refused to contribute his mite for the good of the cause.

ALREADY the boys are making plans for trips by wheel next summer. A party of four will wheel through Pennsylvania to Philadelphia, thence to Baltimore and Washington. SYRACUSE. Returning by way of New York, they will probably ride from New York to Albany, a route taken by two of our club men this past summer, and which they speak of very highly. Personally we know of no better way to spend a vacation than on the wheel, and we hope to see the Syracuse Cycling Club well represented throughout the country next summer.

AT the last club meeting a Room Committee was appointed, whose duty it is to look after the rooms and be a constant reminder to those of our members who are careless. With care and a very little trouble our rooms can be kept fit to receive the queen, but if we cannot keep our present rooms in a tidy condition all talk of obtaining a house for club purposes should be suppressed.

AND in those days there came a man surnamed Rice, the Diamond King, and he said unto the fathers of the wheel club, "Sires, I will cause to be brought to you my billiard table, which my ancestors wrought on before me." And the fathers rejoiced among themselves and were exceeding glad. And straightway the King caused his servants to take the table to the palace of the wheel club. Then the wheelmen did arise and celebrate; yea, verily, they did celebrate with a mighty hump, and did hustle like unto their forefathers. And this feast did last for four and twenty days, and Rice was called "Dandy," "The Stuff," and other names of like nature.

L. A. W. No. 18189 thus complains to us: "I am a member of the L. A. W., and although it may seem strange I cannot vote. Living in Brooklyn, yet I am not counted as a member of the New York Division. In March, 1888, I joined the L. A. W., being at that time a resident of Toledo, Ohio. In September I moved to Brooklyn and desired to be transferred to the New York Division, when I discover that the laws of the L. A. W. 'do not permit a member to be transferred from one Division to another,' in fact to use another's words, 'a man who moves is left out in the cold.' Now do you think this is right? Because I joined in one State and then moved into another, is that any reason why I am to be barred from the privileges of resident members. There should be some provision in the L. A. W. rules for such members, or what is the use of belonging? [We agree with our correspondent, there should be provision made for such cases as his.—ED.]

ST. GEORGE'S ENGINEERING COMPANY.

IN this issue will be found the advertisement of the St. George's Engineering Company, of Birmingham, England. They are the makers of the well known New Rapid machines. The fact that this advertisement comes direct from the home office is worthy of note as an instance of enterprise. It is also a pleasant acknowledgment as to the value of our paper as an advertising medium. We call attention to their advertisement and would suggest that their space be watched for future and important announcements.

THE DEATH KNELL OF PROFESSIONALISM.

IN our issue of the 28 September, we printed a challenge to race for a stake and the championship, from W. J. Morgan, on behalf of Ralph Temple to W. A. Rowe, and a deposit of $100 was placed in the hands of the editor of this paper at the same time, by Morgan, as an earnest of good faith. That it was the original intention of Morgan to run the race on its merits we believe. However, as that may be, the articles of agreement as given to the public also appeared in these columns, and these articles were drawn up and signed in our office, and at the same time the deposit of $100 was withdrawn from our hands and placed in the hands of the Lynn Item. We are glad this was done, and we are glad of the reason given, that they were "afraid" to leave the money in our hands. This is a tribute to our integrity and probity, which we appreciate. They well might be "afraid" that we could not be safely approached to take any part or have any knowledge in the crooked proceedings agreed upon by the "Big Four."

Having made up their minds to run the matches crooked, they took Mr. S. S. Merrill of Lynn into their confidence and made him referee.

Both Morgan and Alley charge each other with being the first to suggest making the match a crooked one. Alley says he was first approached by Morgan in Boston, at the Creighton House, and Morgan denies it, and says he was first importuned by Alley. We do know, however, that after the straight articles were signed in our office the following crooked agreement was drawn up in triplicate, one for Morgan to hold, one for Alley and one for Mr. S. S. Merrill of Lynn. This agreement read as follows:

Boston, Sept. 24, 1888.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree that all previous contracts and agreements heretofore made between us or our agents in regard to articles of agreement entered into the 20th of September are hereby made null and void. We hereby agree to three bicycle races, one, five and ten miles, one to be won by W. A. Rowe, one by Ralph Temple, the third to be a dead heat, and to be so decided by a referee. We also agree that all stake money shall be paid back by the stakeholder and referee. S. S. Merrill of Lynn shall be made final stakeholder and referee. Gate money, after 10 per cent. net profit, which shall be paid W. J. Morgan, to be equally divided. Each party and the referee to hold one of these agreements, same to be handed referee and to be destroyed at close of races.

(Signed)

W. J. MORGAN for RALPH TEMPLE.
F. L. ALLEY for W. A. ROWE.

After one false start the men got away, and Kingsland at once set a rattling pace. Pope, of the Baltimore Club, tried his best to hold Kingsland, but the Rambler man proved too fast. Then Tyler and Hinds tried Kingsland's metal, but he shook them and increased his lead. A good fight for the other places was kept up, and the order of finish was as follows: Kingsland, Tyler, Clotworthy, Hall, Le Cato, Hinds, F. Eisenbrandt, Pope, Beatty, Bresee, Eigenrang, Day, Denmead, Reynolds, E. Eisenbrandt, Mott, Weddekind, Snyder, Sultan and Warwick.

This gives the cup to the Maryland Club, that team scoring 61 points, the Ramblers 57, the Baltimores 51 and the Centaurs 41.

Only the first four to finish were timed, Kingsland's being 31.20 (1.16 more than last year, when he also finished first); Tyler's, 33.11 1-5; Clotworthy's, 33.24; and Hall's, 33.26.

The race was witnessed by over 5000 people, many of whom were ladies.

Another victory will make the cup the property of the Maryland Club, which was victorious last year.

RACES AT QUINCY, ILL.

PERCY STONE, Frank Mehlig and Harry Gordon got back from Quincy this morning and state they had a fine time. The boys were treated royally during their stay there and if I am correctly informed, part of them were quartered at the Mayor's residence.

The wheelmen's ball, on the night of the first day, was a grand full dress affair. The races resulted as follows: Hill climbing, John Stout in 1m. 21s.. First day's races: half-mile dash, Lumsden 1st in 1m. 23s; Stone 2d; mile dash, Percy Stone 1st, Lumsden 2d; 5-mile professional, Knapp 1st, Crocker a close 2d. Time, 18 1-2m. 3-mile professional, this was the race of the day and was won by Crocker in the remarkable time of 5m. 1s., Grant Bell 2d, Knapp and Neilson distanced.

Second day's racing: half-mile amateur race—Percy Stone, first prize; A. E. Lumsden, second.

Half-mile juvenile race—Kirk Shawgo, first prize; Montie Levy, second.

One-mile professional race—R. Neilson, first prize; N. G. Munger, second.

One-mile safety race—A. E. Lumsden, first prize; Colie Bell, second.

One-mile unicycle race—Bert Meyers, first prize; Harry Gordon, second.

The prizes in all races were gold medals.

On account of the cold weather the attendance was very small. The first days races were on a fine one-half-mile track and the second day's events were contested on an eight lap cinder track in Highland Park. LINNEUS.

MAINE DIVISION RACES.

THE first annual race meet of the Maine Division of the L. A. W. was held at Fairfield Thursday, Oct. 11th, and was attended by representatives from Portland, Saco, Biddeford, Augusta, Skowhegan, Lewiston, Belfast and Bangor.

The majority of the cyclists arrived in Waterville Wednesday night and attended a grand ball gotten up for their especial benefit by the Kennebec Ramblers, of that city. It was a very enjoyable and brilliant affair, and one long to be remembered by the visitors. The next day was bright and cold with hardly a cloud in the sky, a perfect day for a race, the only drawback being a slight breeze. In the afternoon the wheelmen repaired to the Fairfield grounds, three miles from Waterville, where a large audience was assembled to witness the exciting races which took place, of which the following is the official programme:

Officers of the day—Referee, Chief Consul F. A. Elwell, who had the management of the whole affair on his shoulders; judges, A. L. Cummings of Biddeford, C. C. Tewksbury of Portland, and G. C. Priest of Belfast; starter, Fred H. Neal of Fairfield; clerk of course, J. O. Whittemore of Fairfield; timers, Dr. F. A. Crossman and A. E. Cilleg of Fairfield.

List of entries—One-mile L. A. W. championship, R. T. Patten, of Skowhegan, and C. S. Myer, of Fairfield. Patten won in two heats. Time, 3.25 1-4 and 3.59.

One half-mile L. A. W. championship, G. W. Barnes, Portland; Will Baker, Skowhegan; and W. M. How, Waterville. Barnes won the first heat in 1.38; Baker the next two in 1.47 and 1.48 1-2.

One-mile dash—free for all amateurs—for Pope cup, Patten, Wyer and Wm. Windle of Lynn, Mass., the latter handicapped 100 yards. Windle won in 3 minutes, and directly afterwards gave an exhibition half-mile dash in 1.23 3-4.

Three-mile L. A. W. championship, Patten, Wyer, W. G. West, of Portland, and C. Crosby, of Bangor. Patten won in 10.55.

Prizes—Gold and silver medals.

THE WARWICK PERFECTION BICYCLE.

THE name of Warwick among bicyclers is almost a household word, made famous by their specialties in certain parts of the construction of a bicycle. This article, however, will deal more specially with the product of the Warwick Cycle Co., of Springfield, the head of the concern being one of the original Warwicks of the above mentioned fame.

Having occasion to be in Springfield the other day, we made it our pleasant duty to call at the factory of the Warwick Co., which is situated in a commodious brick building at the juncture of Broad and Hanover streets. We found Mr. Geo. T. Warwick, the President, and Mr. George K. Tapley, the Treasurer, and having expressed a desire to pick up facts in regard to their particular make of machine, we were courteously shown over the factory, and were shown the machine in its different stages of construction, as well as perfected. The factory is well stocked with new and specially constructed machinery, as it is the intention of this company to manufacture every part of the bicycle with the exception of the rubber tires. They will construct their own backbones, rims and forks from steel furnished them from the best furnaces of Sweden. Mr. Warwick informed us that an order of five and one-half tons of this Swedish steel was expected to arrive daily at their factory in Springfield. There are at present thirty-five men engaged in the manufacture of this bicycle, and they have partially completed over one thousand machines which will be ready for delivery about the middle of winter. This firm is the youngest to-day in the manufacturing family of this country. The enterprise is backed by the well known mechanical skill of Mr. George T. Warwick, whose inventions of the specialties used on this bicycle alone are sufficiently important and valuable to place his name among the most prominent originators and inventors in the cycle business.

All the parts of this machine are made of drop forgings, and in the great racks were the different parts, stamped from the very best of Swedish steel, and we were much impressed with the excellence and evident skill of the workmanship in making the dies shown therein. In showing the bicycle complete, Mr. Warwick stated (and the facts bore him well in his statement) that the machine was "original" from the top of the handle-bar to the lowest edge of the rim.

We will now take the machine piece by piece, and show wherein its claimed advantages lay. In the first place, the front fork and the backbone are of the well-known Warwick pattern. The thickness of the tubing being gauged so that where strength is most needed there it is the thickest. During 1887 there were over five thousand sets of these backbones and forks sold in England alone, a splendid comment as to their estimated worth and excellence.

The handle-bars are made on the principle of the forks and backbones. Instead of being made of tubing of the same gauge the whole length, the thickness of the tube is made much greater close to the head, the spot where almost always they bend or break under special or extra trial. It has also been found that by applying these methods in case of a bend they are much more easily straightened than in the case where the tube is the same thickness the whole length. They are made to taper very gracefully to the handles, and are of the usual cowhorn shape. The handles, instead of being parallel or at right angles with the handle-bar, are placed on a slant so that the back part of the handle-bar points inward. This gives a much more natural position to the hand than if they were placed at right angles. The handle-bar is detachable, and is placed on the head of the machine by means of a tapering and long socket. On the back of the head a small lug projects, and on the back of the socket, which fits over the head, is a corresponding lug. These two lugs are held together by means of a screw. To still further make the head firm and solid in position the locknut, which also receives the upper cone of the backbone neck, is screwed down into position and held there by means of a milled edge. This is kept from turning by means of a dog, which in turn is held in position by means of a small screw, fastened into the handle-bar socket on the inner side.

The brake is an entire departure from that ever seen before on an ordinary bicycle, and is of the pattern known as the "direct action plunger." By the adoption of this style of brake the brake lever is brought directly under the hand, instead of in front of it, as in the ordinary form of brake. It is very powerful, and the least pressure is required to bring about the desired results of any brake that we have ever seen.

The dust cap is made so that it covers the entire head, and makes the introduction of dust and dirt into the steering centres an absolute impossibility. In fact a feature of this machine, and one which pleases us exceedingly, is the great care and skill which has been shown in making all the bearing surfaces actually dust proof.

The rims on the wheels are an improvement on the original Warwick pattern, from the fact that only one set of holes is bored into the rim, thus enhancing the strength, and by the method of inserting the spokes, which we shall now describe, does away with the necessity of removing the tires in case of a broken spoke.

The spokes are tangent and each one is separate, being headed into the hub in such a way that the spokes can be removed in case of a necessity. The method of fastening the spoke to the rim is as follows: The spoke proper has a fine thread cut on to the end. On to this a nipple is screwed. The upper part of the nipple is enlarged, something after the manner of a pin head. On the outside of this there is a still larger nipple with a smooth inner surface, which fits close to the first or small nipple. It is made so that the natural gauge of the wire has free play but the headed nipple will not pass through. This large nipple has a screw on it made to fit the corresponding thread cut through and into the under side of the rim. This is screwed up until the head of the small nipple comes against the inside shoulder of the larger one, which is, of course, on the inside of the rim, and by screwing or unscrewing it the spoke is tightened or loosened, according to requirements. The beauty of this spoke is that it can be inserted by anybody who knows enough to put a screw into a thread, and by this means the rider, in case of an accident, is enabled to put in a spoke at a cost of some five or six cents, without the necessity of going to a repairer, and having a tire removed at a cost of some fifty cents or a dollar.

The tires are made with a deep section, that is to say, in section they are egg-shaped, and are molded so as to fit snugly into the rim, with a slight shoulder projecting over the edge of the rim. These tires are made so that they have to be forced over the edge of the rim, they being made the exact circumference of the inner or concave surface. There is a core inserted in this tire, which strengthens and holds the tire in place, without any cement being used, but to make it doubly sure, and to keep out the dust and dirt, cement is used. We are told by Mr. Warwick that they would guarantee these tires from coming loose, after having once been properly inserted. The rubber is of the very best quality, and is elastic and tough in the extreme.

We now come to the bearings, which are dust-proof, and are of a peculiar construction, inasmuch as the adjustment; instead of being lateral is made vertical, it being held that the wear on the balls and bearings is vertical and not lateral, and therefore the adjustment should be also vertical. The axle is grooved to receive the balls in the usual manner, and the bearing surfaces attached to the fork are made in halves. These two sections are enclosed in a solid steel case. A cap is screwed into this case in front, holding the sections in place and making them absolutely dust-proof. An adjustment is made from the under side of the bearing, by means of a screw through the solid steel case. This screw is turned so that it presses up against the lower section of the bearing case. As soon as a proper adjustment is secured, the screw is fastened by means of a locknut. The back wheel bearings are also ball, and the adjustment is also vertical, but the method of securing the said adjustment is very ingenious. The spindle is grooved to receive the balls, and the case which holds the balls in the wheel hub is made in three sections. On the face of these three sections a scroll is cut. A cap which covers the bearings, screws into the hub. On the face of this cap a scroll is cut also, and this fits into that of the three sections above alluded to. The result is that when this scroll is turned it draws the sections together, and by means of a locknut the adjustment is held perfectly rigid. It can be understood that this adjustment, by means of engaging the thread of the scroll work on the casings and cap, and by turning the latter, these sections are drawn toward the centre of the spindle. In this way the vertical adjustment is secured. This bearing is absolutely dust-proof.

The pedals are also ball, and the adjustment and air-tight excellence are similar to those employed on the front wheel.

The anti-vibration adjustment, which is one of the most original features of the bicycle, we have already described and is as follows:

Inside the bearing frame and underneath the fork is a spring made of steel and rubber. The steel takes the strain and the rubber takes the vibration; thus, vibration is reduced to a minimum. This is a point that cannot fail to be of inestimable value. By means of a set screw the bearing can be perfectly adjusted to the weight of any rider. For a heavy man the screw is tightened, which closes the spring, allowing it to receive the extra weight. The bearing is simple, jointed to the bearing frame, which gives an elastic and easy motion when the wheel comes in contact with rough surfaces. Another device holds the frame rigid in such a manner as to take up all side strain.

We now come to the saddle, which is also designed to reduce vibration. The saddle is suspended upon springs of India rubber, which play an important part. Another great feature of the saddle is the side rocking motion, which will be heartily endorsed by every wheelman who has the good fortune to possess one. By means of an India rubber buffer, the saddle yields to, instead of resisting the shocks to which it is subjected. A simple but most ingenious device renders the leather non-stretchable. This point cannot fail of appreciation, as every wheelman knows that a saddle when once wet by perspiration or rain is more or less injured, and sags to such an extent as to make riding decidedly uncomfortable. Two thin strips of sheet steel extend the length of the underside of the saddle by which any stretching is absolutely prevented. Underneath, and being a portion of the saddle is a neatly arranged leather case, which on being opened, reveals pocket holders for oil can, wrenches, etc. It is compact, out of sight, but easy of access.

We were then shown by Mr. Warwick the frame work and wheels of their new the description of which in full will appear in these columns in the course of a few weeks. Briefly, the form of the frame will be such as to enable both sexes to ride it. Great strength is secured by means of the use of double tubing for the frame. A great feature of the machine is its steering. It is a well-known fact that the objections to the usual steering of the safety is its sensitiveness. To overcome this difficulty has been the aim of the Warwick Cycle Co. The device in brief is as follows: The steering centres are similar to those commonly used, but instead of continuing the steering head so as to attach the handles it is cut off short, and on the side nearest the rider a semicircle of gearing cogs are cut. About three inches back of this head another socket is made, into which an upright steering rod is inserted, and at the top of which the handle-bars are attached. On the outside of this steering rod, which is made to turn in a socket, is another set of gearing cogs. These engage the cogs first described. On the same principle as gearing down, the turn of the handle-bar is transferred to that of the steering wheel only in one half a degree. In other words a turn of the steering rod of say one half an inch transfers the motion of the steering wheel just one half, i.e., one fourth of an inch. These two sections of gearing are held firmly together by means of an eccentric, which in turn is pressed against the opposite surface by means of a stiff spiral spring. The anti-vibration bearings will be attached to both front and back wheels, and the bearings will be similar in every respect to those of the ordinary. It is expected that these wheels will be completed and on the market in the course of a couple of months. As before stated, we shall give a more exact description of this machine later.

LEAGUE HEADQUARTERS:
12 Pearl Street, - - - Room 27.
ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary.

THE politicians are trying to prove that American laborers get larger wages because they do more and better work than do the Englishmen in their own country. A case in point: The C. T. C. with 21,000 members employs thirteen clerks and gets out a monthly paper. The L. A. W. with 12,000 members employs two clerks and issues a weekly paper. Let the eagle scream.

Missouri Hotel.

The Arcade House has been appointed League Hotel at Higginsville, Mo. Regular rates, $2.00 per day, meals, 50 cents. To L. A. W. members, $1.50 per day, meals, 35 cents. Yours truly, W. M. BREWSTER.

Maryland.

Mr. E. P. Hayden is this day appointed representative to the State Board.
The Barton House is appointed League Hotel at Hancock, Washington Co., Md. Regular rate $1.40 per day. L. A. W. rate $1.25. Respectfully yours, ALBERT MOTT, Chief Consul.

Pennsylvania Appointment.

I have appointed as representatives for this Division, W. D. Supple, 505 Market st., Phil., Thomas Hare, Phil. Very respectfully, GEO. A. JESSUP.

Missouri Consuls.

I have appointed Local Consuls for this Division as follows, viz:
Columbia, Mo., Prof. H. C. Penn.
California, Mo., W. D. Sheriff.
Fredericktown, Mo., W. Nifong.
Grant City, Mo., W. N. Hotelling.
Farmington, Mo., John Koen.
Mexico, Mo., G. S. Pasqueth.
Jonesburg, Mo., H. S. Rittenhouse.
Unionville, Mo., Frank Hale.
Fraternally, W. M. BREWSTER, Chief Consul.

Connecticut Division Board of Officers Meeting.

A meeting of the Board of Officers of this Division was held in Hartford on the afternoon of Saturday, Sept. 29th, for the election of delegates and to transact any other business that might be presented.
The meeting was called to order at 2.30, Chief Consul Larom in the chair.
On motion of Mr. Brockway it was voted to pay the expenses of the delegates who should be chosen to represent the Division at the National Board of Officers' meeting.
Stephen Terry, of Hartford, and Henry C. Ward, of Middletown, were elected delegates.
Chas. G. Huntington, of Hartford, and C. L. Brockway, of Middletown, were elected alternates.
The plan of adopting the Cyclist, the only cycling paper published in Connecticut, as a division organ was discussed at some length, and a committee, consisting of the Secretary-Treasurer and David J. Post, was appointed to get terms, etc., and to report to the Board at a later meeting.
Upon motion of Mr. Post a salary of $25.00 was voted the Secretary-Treasurer for the ensuing year.
Adjourned. E. A. DE BLOIS, Secretary-Treasurer.

Tennessee Board of Officers' Meeting.

The Board of Officers of the Tennessee Division met in Clarksville, October 10th, at 5.30 P. M. The Board was called to order by Chief Consul Wilson.

The Chief Consul reported that active Local Consuls were being appointed over the State, provisions were being made concerning League hotels, and that he had sent out recruiting circulars over the State. The Secretary-Treasurer reported a small balance in the treasury, and all Division debts as paid up to date. The question as to the possibilities of issuing a road-book was discussed, and it was agreed that a special committee of five be appointed by the C. C. to investigate the matter and report to the Board. It was also agreed to instruct the Local Consuls to have sign boards put up before the beginning of another season.

The following Standing Committees were appointed:
TOURING—C. J. Scherer, Memphis, Chairman; L. C. Hessler, Knoxville; T. C. Petri, Nashville.
FINANCE—F. N. Smith, Clarksville, Chairman; W. Klyer, Memphis; J. D. Herndon, Clarksville.

RULES AND REGULATIONS—J. C. Combs, Nashville, Chairman; J. R. Scates, Union City; R. W. Slusser, Memphis.

IMPROVEMENT OF HIGHWAYS—Ed D. Fisher, Nashville, Chairman; John S. Miller, Clarksville; Jos. McCampbell, Knoxville.

RIGHTS AND PRIVILEGES—Robert Rhodes, Jr., Nashville, Chairman; P. E. Cox, Franklin.
Vacancy in the last committee to be filled later.

There being no further business, the board adjourned.
J. R. WILSON, Jr., Chief Consul.

Tennessee Appointments.

I hereby appoint the following special committee on Road-Book: C. J. Scherer, Memphis, Chairman; Ed. Fisher, Nashville; G. A. Wilkinson, Chattanooga; L. C. Hessler, Knoxville; B. A. Patch, Clarksville.
This committee will please find out the cost etc. of printing a road-book with suitable maps and other information, submitting the plans to the C. C. as soon as possible.

Mr. L. C. Hessler has been appointed Local Consul for Knoxville. Fraternalty, JOS. R. WILSON, Jr., C. C. of Tennessee.

Connecticut Division.

I have appointed the following committees for the Connecticut Division L. A. W.:
Improvements of Highways—T. W. Gillett, Danbury, Chairman; Wm. Darrow, New London; J. H. Pomroy, New Haven.
Rights and Privileges—Wm. Collins, Meriden, Chairman; Dr. C. R. Upson, Waterbury; E. A. Todd, New Haven.

Touring—J. H. Whiting, New Haven, Chairman; Edwin B. Gager, Birmingham; Stephen Terry, Hartford.

Racing—L. A. Miller, Meriden, Chairman; H. H. Chapman, Hartford; A. G. Grundle, Hartford.

Rules—H. W. Loomis, New Haven, Chairman; Dr. T. S. Rust, Meriden; E. Steward Sumner, Bridgeport; I hereby appoint the Local Consuls from this date.

C. E. LAROM, Chief Consul.

Proceedings of the Annual Meeting of the New York State Division held in Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 4, 1888.

The meeting was called to order at 5.30 o'clock P. M., the Chief Consul presiding.

The reading of the minutes of previous meetings was dispensed with without objection.

Vice Consul Bull taking the chair, the Chief Consul submitted his annual report.

To the members of the New York State Division L. A. W.:
While this report is only supposed to review the work of the Division during the past year, I would call your attention to a few facts and figures which will demonstrate the practicability of organization, and show the progress we have made in the past three years.

Previous to Dec. 31st, 1885, I cannot find any official record of the status of the Division, but I know that at that time we had less than one thousand members, about eight hundred, I believe, and there was due the Division from its Treasurer about $75.00. I cannot find from the records that we had any organization except in name. No practical work had even been attempted, not even the appointment of Consuls, and to illustrate the condition of affairs at that time, I find a matter of record, the National Board of Officers at their fall meeting, held in Springfield, Mass., Sept. 6th, 1885, instructed the Treasurer of the League to withhold sufficient funds from the New York Division to settle the claim which the National Treasurer held against the New York Division, unless the Division should settle within fifteen days.

Dec. 31st, 1885, I find our financial condition improved with a total membership of 1028, and $793.11 to our credit in the treasury, but no evidence of having inaugurated any movement towards the proper organization of the Division.

Our advancement since Dec. 31st, 1885, is best illustrated by the following figures: Total membership, 2318; cash on hand, $804.74; net worth, $1089.89. Since May, 1886, we have perfected an organization that is a power in itself. We have one hundred and seventy-five Consuls, all active in the discharge of their duties and giving us an enthusiastic word and correspondent in every assembly district in this State.

We have compiled, published and distributed a road book, covering an edition of 2150, at a cost of over $600.

We have secured the enactment of a law which defines our position on and protects us in the use of the highways of this State, and incidentally opened to our members that small tract of land known as Central Park, which had been closed to us since the advent of the bicycle and tricycle, despite the efforts of the leading cycling clubs of New York City, and the combined efforts of leading lawyers and about $10,000.00 spent in the effort.

We have inaugurated a movement looking towards the improvement of the highways of this State, and it is proposed to give this the same hearty support that secured the passage of the "Liberty Bill."

We are also endeavoring to have erected at intersections and crossings of highways suitable guide boards, and it is proposed to agitate this movement until every township in the State complies with the law in this matter.

During the progress of organization and accomplishment of the work as noted above there has been dispatched from the Chief Consul's office over 25,000 communications, to say nothing of the letters received and answered by the committees having the work in charge.

The Committee on Touring assumed and performed all the work connected with the compilation and distribution of the road book. As a result of their labors, the members of this Division were presented with the most complete and correct book ever published.

The Rights and Privileges Committee, prepared and secured the enactment of the "Liberty Bill" besides attending promptly to the many cases which are continually being referred to the committee, and which entail an endless amount of correspondence.

The Rules and Regulations Committee prepared new Constitution and By-Laws, as those under which the Division was organized were found entirely inadequate. This Committee also conceived and perfected the plan by which the State was divided into districts for the purpose of election of Representatives on a more equitable basis, and in this New York was immediately followed by all of the larger State Divisions.

In my annual report submitted to the Division last September, I recommended that the Secretary-Treasurer be relieved of all duties except the handling of the funds, that his work be assumed by the Chief Consul and that the Chief Consul be allowed $400.00 per year for clerk hire. I have been criticized severely by some for recommending this change, on the ground that it is a centralization of power, and gives too great a control of the Division matters to one officer. I wish to draw attention to the fact, however, that the recommendation made by me and acted on by the Division at their last annual meeting did not transfer to the Chief Consul any power delegated to the Secretary-Treasurer by our Constitution, but merely assigned additional clerical work to the office of the Chief Consul.

The clerical work of the Division should, in my opinion, always be delegated to one officer, and that officer should be provided with sufficient funds to pay for the work performed. This officer can either be the Chief Consul or the Secretary-Treasurer. To me it does not seem a centralization of power, but a business-like method of dealing with the work connected with our organization.

As it will be necessary to revise our Constitution and By-Laws to conform with the new Constitution and By-Laws of the National body, I would recommend that in the revision a more explicit and definite provision be made for the nomination and election of the Executive officers and Representatives. That the supervision of the count of the mail vote be delegated to a committee composed of the Chairman of each standing committee, instead of the Rights and Privileges Committee. That all the clerical duties of the Secretary-Treasurer, except the handling of the funds and counting the mail vote be delegated to the Chief Consul, and the Chief Consul be allowed $400 per year for clerk hire.

I would also recommend the revision of the New York Road Book and the publication of a Road Map of New York State. The book and map to be furnished to members of the League at $1.00 and to the public at $1.50. I am also in favor of making the book, as far as possible, a general road book, covering as much territory as possible outside of New York State, and on publication of the road book, such measures shall be used as will best bring it to the attention of the general public with a view to an extended sale.

I would also recommend that in event of any organized effort being made to repeal the act entitled, "An act in relation to the use of bicycles and tricycles," enacted in the Legislature, the Chief Consul centrally passed by the Division use every effort to defeat the movement.

In conclusion, I desire to thank the members and officers of this Division for the hearty support extended to my administration, and during the year on which we are entering, I shall endeavor to so conduct the affairs of my office as to merit a continuance of your support and confidence.

Respectfully submitted, GEO. R. BIDWELL, Chief Consul.

On motion of Dr. Butler, the Chief Consul's report was received and the recommendations contained therein, adopted.

The Chief Consul presented a financial statement of the Division which was ordered read in the sum mary, the detailed report after being audited by the Financial and Audit Committee to be published in the official organ.

On motion of Mr. C. H. Luscomb, the Constitution of the L. A. W. as adopted at Baltimore, was adopted as the Constitution of the New York State Division.

The Rules and Regulations Committee then presented for the consideration of the Division, new By-Laws consistent with the new Constitution, with the statement that they were presented to the meeting that they might receive any criticisms necessary and that they might go to the Board of Officers with the recommendation of the Division as here assembled.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member."

Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M. on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

"WAY DOWN IN MAINE."

Maine had her first L. A. W. Meet, at Fairfield Park, Oct. 11th. There were several interesting events, including the half and mile L. A. W. Championship. Some of the Pine Tree boys rode Columbias, and those Columbias carried the first and second men over the tape winners in every event.

WHY WE BLUSH.

WE acknowledged satisfaction after winning first and second in the greatest one hundred mile road race of the year—at Buffalo—where only six riders finished, and ONLY FIVE of the six rode VICTORS.

We added this to our list of "Battle Flags" side by side with such world's events as Clarksville, Crawfordsville, Big 4, Boston—all 100 mile road races, open to the world, and contested by all the large makers—and modestly retired.

We blush, because after all this glory---when a bicycle maker went clear South and got up a race at Nashville, Tenn., to try to show the usefulness of his bicycles, the said maker putting up the prizes in order to stimulate the game---three naughty boys without our knowledge or permission, wanting to make a sure thing of scooping all the prizes offered, bought VICTORS and entered the race.

Well, before we could stop them, they were off and away and at the finish came to the front in 1, 2, 3 order, taking all the prizes---bicycle, medals, shoestrings and all!

It wasn't the thing, and we apologize. We don't want the earth. We only want riders to know that VICTORS are built to get there suddenly, and we are very willing to give the other fellows a chance.

We make the VICTORS, but we are not the "largest makers in the world"---only the best.

SHURMAN AT IT AGAIN.

The members of the Lynn Cycle Club took a trip down to Portland. The party comprised J. H. Young, J. H. Shurman, A. H. Carsley, E. G. Bergholtz, J. F. Allen, J. F. Dow, J. H. Littlefield, A. W. Lewis, and A. Wiswell. On their arrival in Portland, and after a good breakfast at the Preble House, the Portland Wheel Club took the visitors in hand for a run to Prout's Neck, a distance of some fourteen miles. On the way out the party passed Spurwick Hill, an eminence that has never been climbed by a cyclist. To the surprise of the Down Easters, Shurman announced that he would ride up the hill if any one of the Portland men would ride down. This was very promptly agreed to, as the local men thought the hill unrideable. Some of the men rode down the hill, as also did Shurman, and then on arriving at the bottom Shurman turned round and rode to the top, to the amazement of those who had never seen Shurman ride. This was on Sunday, and the achievement of the Lynn man made the locals anxious to see what the visitor could do with Park Street Hill, a terror to Portland wheelmen, and one that has never been climbed more than twice in succession. So on Monday the party repaired to the hill, and after Carsley, Allen and Littlefield had climbed it once and cried enough, Shurman went at it and went up and down six times without a dismount. To say that the Portland men were dumbfounded is putting it mildly. Shurman rode his Springfield Roadster. [Will some Portland reader kindly give us the grades of Spurwick and Park Street Hills, and oblige?—Ed. BICYCLING WORLD.]

We give you the facts. Draw your own inference. But remember our prices are moderate, our goods warranted against defective material and workmanship for one year; absolutely safe against headers, speedy and a good all around road wheel. Catalogue free.

EDITORS:

C. W. FOURDRINIER.

J. S. DEAN.

BOSTON, 26 OCTOBER, 1888.

WE are very sorry that we have awakened the ire of our friend, Mr. Jno. A. Wells, by expressing our opinion as to what constituted an "ordinary road wheel." We held that every machine kept in stock by any maker was a road wheel. This we think is sound and logical, and we notice Mr. Wells does not take exceptions to that particular ruling, but when we go on to say that a combination of 48-inch gearing and 6 3-4-inch cranks we would consider a fair minimum and maximum, he flies into a "conception fit," and says we are ignorant, stupid and biased, and otherwise says obstreperous things about us.

Now let us see how far out we are in our decision, and how ignorant we really are.

Starting with a 48-inch gear and 6 3-4 crank, we will take other gears and see what length of crank is necessary in order to preserve the ratio of increase. We do not present these figures as being exact, but they are near enough:

48 inch gear	- - - - -	6 3-4 inch cranks
52 inch gear	- - - - -	about 7 5-16 inch cranks
54 inch gear	- - - - -	about 7 7-8 inch cranks
57 inch gear	- - - - -	about 8 1-2 inch cranks

As to the different makes, we find:

Veloce	- - - gear	52 inch,	6 1-2 inch cranks
Victor	- - - gear	54 inch,	6 3-4 inch cranks
Swift	- - - gear	54, 57 inch,	7 inch cranks
Singer	- - - gear	51, 54, 57 inch,	6 3-4 inch cranks
Rambler	- - - gear	52, 60 inch,	6 or 7 1-4 inch cranks
Ivel	- - - gear	54 inch, 6 3-4 or 6 1-8 inch cranks
Humber	- - - gear	52 inch,	7 1-2 inch cranks

The Rambler has an extension attachment which can be put on to any stock wheel, thus making the crank adjustable from 6 inches to 7 1-4 inches.

We hope the above tables will prove of value to Mr. Wells and to other of our readers. We hold that any wheel that can be bought in stock or is catalogued as being a stock machine is an ordinary road wheel, and we think this ruling will be accepted, Mr. Wells to the contrary notwithstanding. Our table taking the 48-inch and 6 3-4 for a basis is only intended as a comparison, but the table of actual gears on road machines will prove an interesting guide in case the question of stock gear comes up again.

THE MASSACHUSETTS BICYCLE CLUB.

THE Boston Herald printed last Saturday the news that this old standby was about to disband. To corroborate the statement we called on one of its chief officers and was told that the announcement was premature, and was much regretted by the members themselves, as tending to hurt the future of the club in the event of a desire on the part of the members to stick together and continue the organization. That there is a lack of interest, the afore-said officer did not contradict, but he expressed a strong hope that in the spring a new life might be infused into the now almost paralyzed body, and that the Massachusetts Club would live to duplicate its brilliant achievement of the past.

A strong effort will be made, and we hope with success, to carry the club along, though it may be on less pretentious lines. For the good name of cycling we trust the Massachusetts Club, one of the oldest and most honorable in the land, will continue in existence for many years to come.

MR. DUCKER ON THE L. A. W. RULES.

Editor Bicycling World: Your remarks in the issue of the 4th, regarding the changing the rules of the L. A. W. at the Buffalo meeting, by which a novice was one who had not won a prize up to date of entry instead of event as the rule, is a just one. The L. A. W. rule is wrong, and should be changed to conform to other rules of the best and largest sporting organizations in the world. In the case of the Buffalo meeting, I only did what has been done at every Springfield meeting, and it is recognized as a just change by all. Our racing rules are weak, and any one that has had a large meeting once on their hands knows full well that it is a matter of impossibility to adhere to the rules, except on general principles. Should the League undertake to enforce the rules, every amateur that raced at Buffalo would have to be disqualified, and why? Because we offered a prize of larger value than $50, and yet no one will question the wisdom of the change. Just as long as our rules are in an incomplete condition, just so long will race meeting managers have to use their own judgment in the matter.

The remarks of your correspondent as to why Abbot Bassett is no longer chosen referee at the large meetings, a position which he is so competent to fill, can be easily answered. Secretary Bassett is too busy with the details of League work to be giving his valuable time to race meetings. For the fidelity with which he is attending the business of the League, great credit is his due. I have not a doubt but that other places than Buffalo have asked the genial Secretary to favor them with his presence, and got the same reply that we did, "Too busy."

Secretary Bassett has hit the key note as to the greatest evil of the race track, and that is the presence of those men on the track who have no business there, and who above all should by example stay off. These very men, who as a general thing are the men who feel that by reason of their position or being a member of the club have an indisputable right to go wherever they please, are the hardest men to deal with, and are the ones who take offense if asked in a kindly way to please keep off the track. The evil must be abated, and I trust that the talk will be kept up till next season, and then the managers will make an effort in endeavoring to keep the track clear, whether interested in the races or not.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 12, 1888.

HENRY E. DUCKER.

A CHALLENGE TO NO 3507.

Editor Bicycling World: I will ride a road race with Mr. 3507, for a $100 solid gold medal, 100 miles or over, each party to deposit $100 in Wichita Bank to pay for medal, the winner then gets his $100 back, also the medal. If it should rain or roads be rough or sandy, each man, if he chooses, can walk or ride his bicycle, or run. Under no consideration will the race be off, first man in, run, walk or ride his bicycle gets the medal. Take your choice of roads, I here have two of them: First, Wichita to Salina; second, McPherson to Arkansas City. I shall be willing to go to Peabody and return, but the distance is only 87 miles by rail and only 70 by wagon road, and 100 miles we must make or over. If this suits, write me at once, and I'll come and make final agreement. I choose J. H. Everest for one of the judges, race to come off 1st. of November, 1888.

GEO. W. SCHOENHUT, 385.

NEW YORK.

"HAWKSHAW."

CYCLING and elephants don't as a rule seem to have any affinity for each other, in fact I don't recall but one elephant who took to cycling, and he was a professional and earned his living by riding what was called a bicycle in a circus. But a recent decision of the circuit Court at Nashville, Tenn., once more brings the elephant and the rights of wheelmen into juxtaposition. It appears that Forepaugh paraded through the streets of that city with his circus, and among other attractions of the pageant was an elephant. An on-looker's horse, whose olfactory were of too tender an order to stand the odor of elephant, showed his objections with the usual display of "horse sense" by running away and smashing up things in general. The owner sued for damages, on the ground that the appearance of the elephant in the streets was a nuisance per se, and that the owner should be made liable for all damages resulting therefrom. The judge instructed the jury to find for the defendants, as he said it was not necessary for the owner of the elephant to so perfume the animal as to make it suitable to the delicate nostrils of the plaintiff's horse. This decision is of value to cyclers, as it is another lesson to the "road hog," demonstrating once again that in the eyes of the law he does not own the entire roadway, but must take his chance upon it equally with all others, and because something may scare his four-tooted slave it does not necessarily follow that the object scaring his horse has no rights upon the highway. Continual dripping of water upon a stone will at last wear it away, and upon this principle perhaps the continual drumming of the foregoing facts into the heads of horse owners may, in a thousand years, cause them to become aware of the existence of other people's rights upon the public highways.

AN exhaustive illustrated article on city wheelmen and their club houses, in the last issue of the New York Sunday World, was from the pen of Mr. C. A. Sheehan, of the Manhattan Bicycle Club. The entire affair reflects much credit upon this energetic young wheelman and upon the subject he so impartially portrayed.

I UNDERSTAND that Mr. Coyne, who suffered a compound fracture of his leg, through being run over by a careless driver in Central Park, has compromised his suit for damages against the driver for $3000 cash. Sometimes the amusement of running down and injuring wheelmen comes high, and Mr. Coyne's case seems to be one of the most expensive kind.

THE new athletic track of the Berkeley Athletic Club bears the particularly anglicised title of the Morris' Dock Oval. I am afraid that the praiseworthy efforts to hold a first-class amateur race meet on Saturday will not meet with the success that it would have had it been held earlier in the season, however, every wheelman in and around this city should feel it a duty that he owes to himself and to the cause, to labor in every way to make this affair a success, and I hope that we may see by the numbers of them present what an interest wheelmen have in those who are interested in them and their favorite sport.

It has often been a source of wonder to me why cycling should have proved so attractive to doctors. If you have noticed the fact, almost a majority of those high in power in the councils of wheeling are bearers of the title of doctor. I believe that the cause for this is two fold. Differing as the medicos do upon the merits of allopathy and homeopathy it is a relief for them to find in cyclo-graphy a curative school in which all of the warring "opaths," of whatever denomination, may agree, and again, it must be indeed pleasant for them to be able to find in it a prescription as easy of taking as of prescribing, and hence their admiration and adoption of wheeling.

At last wheelmen here have got themselves mixed up in the athletic war now going on between the N. A. A. A. and the newly organized Amateur Union. A rule of the Union forbids athletes from competing in any games not held under its rules, with one exception, and that is of such as are run under the approved rules of the L. A. W. Now the recent "championships" of the N.

A. A. A. had among other events a two-mile bicycle race, and Messrs. Powers, Hanson and Wieners competed. This event was not stated to be held under L. A. W. rules, and under the strict interpretation of A. U. rules these gentlemen are ineligible to start in any other games than N. A. A. A. ones, or purely League affairs. As the A. U. has under its jurisdiction almost every athletic club of any prominence in this country, with the exception of the Manhattans and the Missouris, it looks as if the above gentlemen had got themselves into a muss, the ultimate result of which it is not easy to foretell.

It is to be regretted that so well known a writer as Joseph Howard should have found it necessary to speak, or rather to write, disparagingly of wheelmen here in so widely read a journal as the Boston Globe. While his remark that they are a "nuisance" and "care nothing for nobody" may be ungrammatical, it is nevertheless to a large extent true, many riders thinking, or acting as though they did, that the roads were made for their sole use. In fact it cannot be denied that the much-abused road hog has a close relative and prototype in the ranks of wheelmen, and that sooner or later he will become the subject of some legal action which will put a stop to his arrogant and idiotic idea of sole possession of the public highways. When this day does come I hope that the large number of intelligent and well behaved riders, whose good name is made to suffer by the ill-advised actions of these thoughtless ones, will not fail to vindicate themselves by aiding in the suppression of this crying "nuisance," for such it undoubtedly is.

PORKOPOLIS NOTES.

"STAR."

To ride at the top of one's speed and only make stops for the purpose of swallowing stimulants is not the way to get either the greatest pleasure or the greatest benefit from the use of the wheel. The only time when their use is at all justifiable is when it is a case of get there at all hazards. The belief that they add strength to the rider is all a mistake, for he who resorts to them is simply making drafts on his store of vital energy that must be honored the following day. Cycling is a sport that requires a temperate life for its fullest enjoyment. It is utterly incompatible with dissipation of any kind whatsoever, and he who is leading the life that ends in an early grave soon finds that he must either reform or give up the wheel, while to him whose blood is free from alcohol and the virus of disease its proper use is not only a source of pleasure but enables him to go about his business with a clear brain, invigorated muscles and every organ performing its functions in a healthy manner.

THERE are several points on the Harrison Pike that should be called Rut-land.

JOE HOSEA is said to be extremely fond of Pearls, especially those found near Cleves, Ohio.

TOM SCHULTZ attributes "Toot" High's phenomenal success as a photographer to the frequent use of a certain talismanic expression.

PIGMAN and Schultz have such a bad attack of "camera" fever that they went to Miamitown a few Sundays ago and took everything that "Toot" High had left.

AMOR HALL, while crossing the slippery car tracks at Fifteenth and Elm, attempted to tip his hat to a passing damsel with the following result: A muddy coat, a smashed tile and a broken handle-bar.

THE horrible noise emitted by the whistles of the youthful wheelmen that nightly parade our asphalt streets is a painful evidence of the negligent manner in which the fool killer has been discharging his duty.

THE "Veloce Club," of Cincinnati, with an actual membership of twenty-two, has just been organized. The officers are: President, Carey; Captain, F. Keppas; First Lieutenant, W. Keppas; Second Lieutenant, W. Wise; Treasurer, J. Hatfield; Secretary, W. J. Straus. The club expect soon to fit up suitable headquarters.

MR. H. W. LONGLEY, President of the Cincinnati Bicycle Club, who has ridden almost every day for the last four years, is doing a great deal, in a quiet way, to demonstrate the utility of the wheel as a practical means of locomotion for the business man in the transaction of his business. In inclement weather he wears a long rubber coat that is split half way up the back, the lower part being tied about his legs with tapes. He does not confine his use of the wheel to the city but takes it with him when he goes out on the road, and claims that he not only saves more than the cost of his machine each year in street railroad fares, but is able to transact more business in less time than he could without it.

QUITE a number of wheelmen have mistaken notions as to the effect of a rain on the roads. They see that quagmire on Spring-Grove avenue and immediately jump at the conclusion that all the roads are in the same condition. They do not seem to know that such roads as the Colerain, Harrison, Lexington, Independence, Alexandria, Licking and similar turnpikes are in better condition on the second day after a rain than at any other time. Even the Captain of one of our local clubs is laboring under this same mistake, for he recently postponed a run to Venice, Ohio, simply because it had rained two days previously. A solitary wheelman, however, who ventured out, found the road from the foot of Mt. Airy hill to Venice—a distance of twelve and one half miles—smooth, free from dust and perfectly dry.

CHICAGO.

THE "STROLLER."

than any cyclist in Chicago, there being about eight left in the little wheel of his bike at present, and about a third of them out in the large wheel, but he manages to get there just the same.

THE Chicagoans have eight applicants for membership to act on at their next meeting.

VAN SICKLEN has gained some eight pounds since his accident at Buffalo, but he is not the same old Van yet by any means.

THE Fort Dearborns give a smoker Tuesday evening next to the Englewood Club to talk over consolidation with them, I am told.

CARLSON, of the Fort Dearborns, is a candidate for County Surveyor, and I trust all wheelmen will vote that way without regard to politics, as Mr. Carlson is an active wheelman and will use his influence for good roads at all times.

THEY say Oliver swears by Davis now on account of his deciding vote for "Verax," as a delegate to the business meeting of the L. A. W., and also that as a result of this healing of differences a consolidation of the Illinois and Lincoln Clubs may be looked for at any time, in order to keep up with the Fort Dearborn-Chicago consolidation, and thus be able to hold their own in League politics.

I UNDERSTAND that "Gus" had an article all prepared for a leading daily here, on cycling in Chicago and the Dearborn Club in particular, but that "Verax" got wind of it and got up an article descriptive of the Lincoln Club, profusely illustrated, which was published in a Sunday paper, and now the other paper that had engaged "Gus," refuses to publish his article, and so he mourns the loss of $25, the price of the article, and his loss of time and labor, to say nothing of a string of powerful adjectives that would not look well in print.

THE Dearborns voted to consolidate with the Chicagos, and the Chicagos hold their meeting the 25th to see whether they will do likewise; each club to clean off their indebtedness and form one club, clear of debt, under the name of the Chicago Cycling Club. This is the proposition as passed at the last meeting of the Dearborns, and rumors are flying thick and fast as to the manner in which the proposition was passed, it being a stormy night and only a quorum there. Skinkle is pleased, Cory, the Treasurer, and Randall, the President, although formerly the best of friends, now do not speak, Carlson threatens to get out an injunction or resign from the club, and I expect to see the fur fly soon.

NEW JERSEY NOTES.

"RATCHET."

interested in these contests, and depended upon them to relieve a somewhat dull season. Election day, however, will not be entirely devoid of sport on the Irvington-Milburn course. The ten-mile handicap road race of the Elizabeth Wheelmen will take place in the morning with eleven or more starters. I understand that the Kings County Wheelmen will run a twenty-five-mile race in the afternoon, and also that the Hudson County Wheelmen will hold a club contest; so that there will be something to help kill time.

WHERE is James Purvis-Bruce? Does any one know? Will any one tell?

ABOUT twenty-five "Wanderers" took a spin from Orange to Pine

Brook and Morristown and return on Thursday, 18, and had a very pleasant run.

A NUMBER of Newark knights of the wheel visited the handsome club house of the Elizabeth Wheelmen on Wednesday evening, 17, and were very hospitably received. The trip was made a-wheel, and three tandems were along. The E. W. have placed electric lights in their house.

MR. EDITOR, unless all the local papers are incorrect, you were misinformed in regard to the ten-mile race of the Orange Wanderers, on the 15th. The race took place over a course from a point on Central avenue, east of Grove street, up Central avenue to Harrison street, to Centre street, to Central avenue, to the starting point and repeat; instead of over the Irvington-Milburn course. Lindsley's time for five miles was 22m. 30s.

SYRACUSE.

"SALINA."

Now that the evenings are lengthening the cycle club rooms present a very lively aspect. Nearly every night one may find from ten to fifteen members about the rooms, making merry and having a big time generally. In the "parlor" those of a literary turn of mind may enjoy themselves to their heart's content, and the card room has its frequenters, but the billiard room seems to have the greatest attraction for the boys, and the revenue from the games played is no small amount.

THE moustache craze has struck the boys, and not a few are now troubled with the "hair lip."

THERE is some "guessing" as to who "Salina" is, but at the present stage of the game every one is at sea, and we still remain in cog.

It's a funny thing, that when a man gets a good thing he won't stick to it. As an example, the office of Secretary and Treasurer in our club is a "good thing," but our present incumbent says "he'll be blessed" if he wants it again, even if he does get the magnificent salary of ten dollars per annum!

At a special meeting of the club, held a week since, it was decided to obtain two rooms adjacent to our present ones. With these extra rooms we will be very nicely fixed, and we hope that those of our members who are constantly crying for a change will quit it and take the advice of the old lady, who said she obtained much comfort "from that verse in the bible, 'grin and bear it.'"

CHICAGO.

ITEMS.

HURRAH for the Chicago Cycling Club, the leading cycling organization of America! This club represents the combined membership of the Chicago Bicycle Club and the Fort Dearborn Cycling Club, and has a roll of 200 members, with assets of more than $2500. Certainly a fine showing, and one that should make its members feel proud of their record.

THE club has the old club house on Lake avenue, a fine, brown stone, four story affair, together with the elegant rooms of the Chicago Bicycle Club next to Kinsley's, on Adams street. It has all the oldest and best cyclists of Chicago on its rolls, and certainly leads all other organizations for riding supremacy, whether it be on the track or on the road, at hill climbing or mileage.

THE down-town rooms afford a convenient meeting place for members during the day, and will be the place of all others for visiting wheelmen to make themselves at home. The privileges of the down-town rooms should bring in a large number of members from the North and West Sides. The dues, $1.50 per month, entitle members to privileges of both club houses, and I understand that they will be reduced to $1.00 per month as soon as practicable.

OF course the Chicago Club loses its standing in the League, and the League loses one of its oldest clubs, in fact as old a club in the League as any, being represented at the organization of the League at Newport. After some discussions among the members it was decided that any benefits accruing to the club because of its League standing could be had as well if those members who wish to join would do so individually, and in this I think the club was right. One of the officers of the Chicagos told me that the average cycling life of the entire membership was nearly five years. What other club can show such an average?

LUMSDEN proved himself a winner at Quincy last week, defeating Percy Stone without difficulty.

HALF a dozen of the Chicagos enjoyed a 70-mile run through Wankesha County on the 7th. The roads were reported as being in fine condition. The heretofore "never climbed but once" Lake-side Hill (all who have been that way know it) was ridden five times without a dismount by Thorne, on his Victor safety, a feat that was believed impossible. He also climbed Waukegan Hill three times last month without a dismount. We are backing him for the champion hill climber of this "burg."

THERE is some talk of the Englewood Cycling Club joining the new Chicago Cycling Club. Think it will be a good move. "United we get there, divided we don't."

A HILL-CLIMBING contest, a follow-my-leader run, and a hare and hound chase are talked of for next month, after which we will lay aside our wheels and enjoy the social features of our various clubs, for it is in winter that the in-door and social attractions of a club impress one with the fact that he is getting his money's worth.

NEWS

AND COMMENT.

OUR exchanges still teem with articles from the pens of the Rowe-Temple factions. Recrimination and charges fly back and forth thick and fast, and very wordy pyrotechnics they prove to be. We could print columns of these spicy articles, but we know the tastes of our readers well enough to appreciate that we have had enough of the unclean business. We have had our little say, told our little story, and now we desire to bury deep the very memory of the whole affair. Its odor is not savory, neither is its material such but what the handling of it leaves stains on the fingers. We are aware that the common belief is that "Populus vult decipere." Well, if that is so, we desire to be counted out as one of the "people," as we hate to be deceived.

H. G. CROCKER telegraphs us as follows: "I have personally visited the Richmond, Va., track, and I find it in perfect condition."

"LARRY" OVERMAN is back in town, and he made us a short call last Monday. Mr. Overman reports one of the best seasons ever known in the history of his firm.

THE members of the Eck team are recipients of elegant gold medals from the Directors of the Belgrave Road grounds, Leicester, in commemoration of the establishment of records on their track.

W. S. MALTRY is engaged to appear at the Berkeley Athletic Club Tournament to-morrow afternoon (27) and he will also appear at the New Haven Bi. Club's entertainment in the evening of the same day.

ELLIOTT M. GRAHAM is the permanent owner of the Renaud medal given to members of the Louisiana Cycle Club. It took several hard races to finally capture it, but E. M. seemed equal to the emergency.

THE many friends of Mr. W. C. Overman will join us in wishing him happiness in his new state of "double blessedness." Mr. Overman was married Thursday, Oct. 18, at the Hoffman House, New York, to Miss Jennie Baldwin of New York City.

THE employees of the Overman Wheel Co. at Chicopee Falls have an excellent brass band. Not only as makers of a wheel do they desire to be known, but also by their capacity to insert air into brass tubes and thus produce sweet sounds do they hanker after notoriety.

FRED WOOD, the English pro., has left Leicester for good and will take up his abode at North Shields, at which place he will pose as "mine host of the Ferry Hotel." The departure of Fred for his new home was the occasion for a great meeting and presentation of a fine diamond pin to the popular pro.

THE tie between the Dorchester and Cambridgeport clubs will be run too late for publication of results in this issue. It was the intention of Clark, of the Dorchesters, to have gone on to New York the first of this week and train for the Berkeley Club races, but he was loyal to his club and stayed over to run the tie off on Thursday.

THE Harvard Bicycle Club's annual fall road race will come off Nov. 8th, probably over a course starting at Mt. Auburn and going through the Newtons in a loop back to the starting point. There are already seventeen entries, and more to come. The limit man will get fourteen minutes in fourteen miles, so that the finish ought to be close.

SIGNS of the season. All our exchanges are full of accounts of indoor entertainments, receptions, bowling parties and other amusements peculiar to the hebern wheelmen. Notwithstanding that Jupiter Pluvius seems to be in command just now, we think the social phase of club life has been struck a little too soon by some of the wheelmen.

HONORS to N. J. Wilhelm, of Reading, Pa., by his admirers and fellow members of the Reading Club. The affair took the shape of a complimentary banquet at the Five Mile House. The beauty of the affair was that it was sprung on Mr. Wilhelm only the day before the event. It was a most delightful dinner, and the "successful racing member" was duly appreciative.

Is "crookedness" confined to professionals ranks? We ask this because it is claimed that Mr. C. B. Hill, whose recently recorded ride of 293 miles within 24 hours, as has been reported, took the train for 45 miles of the distance claimed. Be it to the credit of the manufacturers of the wheel Hill rode, that they are the parties who charged Hill with the fraud. Hill owned up.

"SENATOR" MORGAN, in his letter on the Buffalo tournament to the Cyclist, allows his personal feelings to run away with his judgment. The "Senator" is not content in slating the Buffalo management for alleged unfair treatment of his team at this tournament, but he pitches in and asserts that the prizes awarded to the amateurs were "snide." On the contrary, we have heard the prizes spoken of as being excellent.

Sports Afield, a comparatively new sporting journal published at Denver, Col., finds a place among our exchanges. As the name implies, it is a paper devoted to all out of door sports, including cycling, hunting, fishing, rifle and trap shooting, the breeding of thoroughbred dogs, base ball, and all kindred sports. The paper has a breezy flavor, it is excellently printed; it also has a general air of "fat prosperity."

A CORRESPONDENT from Yellow Springs, Ohio, wants to know if there is any harm in using vaseline to cover up the bright or nickel parts of a bicycle, and to protect same from rust during the winter's storage. There certainly can be no harm in the use of vaseline. An excellent compound, and one that will resist dampness, is a mixture of vaseline and tallow. The mixture to be of a consistency easily applied with a brush.

We took occasion to write Mr. J. B. Kaercher, asking for the gear of Mr. Wells' wheel, in his attempts on Pittsburg, and we find that it was a 48-ipch, with 7 3-8 cranks. If this machine is "stock" of the maker, then Mr. Kaercher is wrong in throwing it out, but if the gear or the crank are not regular stock, then Mr. K. was right. We notice that Mr. Wells speaks of Coningsby's wheel having 8 5-16 cranks; if that is so, we cannot call the wheel he rode an "ordinary road wheel," because no dealer or manufacturer sells that length of crank as stock. In the case of Mr. Wells there were special rules as to the wheel to be ridden, but in the case of Coningsby we are not aware that any rules existed on that point.

AN Associated Press dispatch, dated St. Louis, Oct. 21, states that "two soldiers at Jefferson barracks, under arrest for desertion, escaped last night, after fatally assaulting Sentries Kennedy and Welch. The deserters were Thomas F. Lynch and a recruit named McCurdy. Sentry Kennedy was cut down with an axe, in the hands of Lynch, while McCurdy beat Welch into insensibility with the butt of a revolver he had taken away from the first sentry." Can it

The Coventry Machinists' Co., Ltd., Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sirs—Lately I have been out riding on the "SWIFT," and it has been seen and examined by nearly all the wheelmen in the city; they all had to try it (as a matter of course), and the result is that two of the boys wanted to trade their American Champions for a SWIFT Safety.

I must say that without exception every one that tried it pronounced it a perfect machine, easy running, light and very rigid; the chain adjustment, and hinges on mudguards, diamond frame, and the lamp, all strike the fancy of every one. None found any fault with it, something that is very unusual here, for whenever a new wheel makes its "debut" here it is at once pulled to pieces by criticism.

Yours truly, be possible that the "new recruit" alluded to above is A. A. McCurdy of ill-flavored cycling fame? A muffled drum beat and a rattling volley of bullets will be the end of this poor misguided man, who ever he be.

L. A. W. No. 451 writes: "A word if you please, concerning rail road rates on bicycles. Having occasion to bring mine from Clinton, Conn., to this place, some 650 miles, I find that the N. Y., N. H. & Hartford, or "Consolidated," charge 50 cents for 75 miles, and an additional 25 cents for over 75 miles, i. e. I paid 75 cents from Clinton to New York. The N. Y. C. & H. R. R. check free over their lines, the owner signing a release. The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern check free without release. The Erie and Pittsburgh, a branch of the Pennsylvania line, don't check, but take one's wheel along without any grumbling, and I note that a small "tip" insures a very careful handling of your wheel. Our point, too, in case of a safety. I took off my pedals and packed them beneath the saddle, then turned the handle-bar lengthwise with the machine, and set it there, thus making a snug affair to set up inside of the car, and every baggage man spoke of the improvement. I think if wheelmen will do what they can in their little way, our wheels will receive full as good treatment on the railroads, as if we exact too much from the men who handle them."

EVERY once in a while we have to chronicle an epidemic of kleptomaniacs among a certain class of men who look on cycles as good game. We seem to have struck such an epidemic now, and we would suggest, as a partial preventative, the use of a good lock and chain. Just now the Bradford, Pa., wheelmen complain of being victimized, and the Express thus describes the thief and his modus: "This particular thief is described as being of rather heavy build, weighing about 180 pounds, light complexion, blonde hair, a fluent talker and usually dressed in a bicycle uniform, age about 21 or 22 years. He very properly claims Auburn his home (it probably will be if he keeps on in his present business much longer), and is careless about his name, traveling under several aliases. His particular "lay" is to become acquainted with some member of a bicycle club, get invited to the club house, and after enjoying the hospitalities of the club for an evening, quietly mount a wheel on leaving and make off with it. He has successfully played his game at Bradford, Pa., and at a small town near there, and was last heard from at Tonawanda, where he succeeded in picking a wheelman's pocket of $20.60 last week. A member of the Ramblers' Club of this city is reported as having lost a wheel last Thursday and there is a possibility that this enterprising thief is the guilty person."

SYNER—OSMOND.

Wheeling is happy, in fact the editor of that paper fairly bubbles over the fact that Syner has beaten Osmond in his great one-mile match race. Two attempts were made before the race was decided. The abortive attempt was brought about by the breaking of a spoke in Syner's wheel. Osmond, in a sportsmanlike manner, waived his right to the race and ran him again. Syner won the match in the very slow time of 3:35 4-5. Hence the hilarity of Wheeling over the defeat of Hillier's protege.

RICHMOND (VA.) RACES.

SOME Richmond cyclist has been writing all over the country, stating that the track for our bicycle races will be in a terrible condition, and that it was the wish of the committee that the meet should not be a success. I wish you would deny this in toto. We have had miserable weather, and thinking we could not get the track in perfect shape by the 23d and 24th, we have postponed the meet until Oct. 29th and 30th, and we give you the assurance of the Exposition management (all of the highest repute) that the track will be in as good condition for bicycle racing as any similar track in the country. There has also been some misunderstanding about hotel rates. There are many clean, orderly places where a night's lodging on new beds can be obtained at 50 cents, and meals in all the principle restaurants at usual prices. The hotels on American plan have rooms from $1.50 to $4 per day.

With the present number of entries the meet is an insured success. A. H. MEYER, Chairman General Committee.
 H. C. JONES, Director General.

BERKELEY ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION RACE.

THIRTY-FIVE entries have been received for the Berkeley meet, including Windle, Halsted, Kenneth Brown, Van Benschoten, Harry Hall, Jr., Wise, J. W. Powers, Greenleaf and Davis of Harvard, Baggot, Caldwell, and others. There are twenty-two men in the mile-handicap and almost as many in the two-mile handicap. In the half-mile scratch race there will be a great fight between Davis, Windle and Halsted. The track is being put in splendid shape. The prizes excite universal admiration. All New York has been placarded and the meet has been thoroughly advertised.

SPECIAL TRAINS.

The races will be started promptly at 2.30 P. M. A special train will leave the Grand Central Depot, Forty-second street and Fourth avenue, at 2 o'clock, reaching the grounds at 2.17. A number of regular trains run from the Grand Central Depot during the afternoon. Admission to grounds, including excursion railroad fare, seventy cents.

Take Sixth or Ninth avenue "L" train to 155th street, from which point trains will leave on the New York and Northern Railroad at 2.10 and 2.20 P. M.; six minutes to grounds. Tickets, including fare from 155th street to grounds and return, sixty cents. Tickets on sale at New York and Northern Railroad depot at terminus of "L" road.

The grounds may also be reached a-wheel, as follows: Up Seventh avenue to Macomb's Dam bridge, and directly up Central avenue a short distance, when, on left side of road, a sign will be seen, reading: "Berkeley Oval, 5 minutes' drive." This road will bring direct to the grounds.

Brooklyn cyclists with wheels may reach the Grand Central Depot by ferry from Broadway, Brooklyn, to Twenty-third street, New York City, thence across to Fourth avenue and up Fourth avenue to depot.

RACING AT PHILADELPHIA—THE GREAT 100-MILE ROAD RACE.

LAST Saturday afternoon the first of the races for the five mile challenge cup of the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club was held on the track of the Y. M. C. A. Athletic Club, in West Philadelphia. The cup, which is a magnificent silver trophy, about 20 inches in height, is held by the winner, subject to a challenge from any active member to race within thirty days' notice. Sixteen entries, (but ten starters) for the first race, on Saturday, promised a lively contest, nor were the some two hundred spectators—a fair sprinkling of whom were ladies—disappointed. The weather was raw and blustery and the heavy wind and soft track prevented anything like fast time. As the racers were variously handicapped, ranging from 1-2 to 2 laps, and as the track is a five lap one, the race was no sooner started than the men were so mixed, that one could scarcely tell t'other from which. Following are the starters, handicaps and finish: J. W. Draper, 1-2 lap, 1; D. A. Longaker, 1 1-2 laps, 2; Jno. G. Fuller, scratch, 3; C. L. Leisen, 1 lap, 4; A. Kohler, 1 lap, 5; John A. Wells, 1 lap, 6; L. J. McCloskey, 2 laps, 7; W. W. Randall, 2 laps, 8; L. A. Hill, scratch, dropped out; W. P. Street, Jr., 2 laps, dropped out. Fuller twice rode too close to the curb, and the second time ran in so near to Kohler's wheel that the two collided, and two headers were the result. Fuller's wheel was damaged, so Hill very kindly gave him his, but the delay spoiled all his chances of winning, by Draper—the man he had to fear most—getting so far ahead as to render catching him, out of question. In fact it was in doubt as to whether he could have caught him at all, as Draper rode a plucky race. Before this race, an impromptu contest between the married and single ones was run off, in which Wells and Street, married, scored five points against the same number for Longaker and Randall, single; Wells coming in first, Longaker, second, Randall, third and Street, fourth.

Through Captain Supplees' offices, prizes for all the contestants in the cup race were provided. Draper took a solid silver match safe, Longaker a pair of silver salt and pepper casters, and the rest booby prizes. Everything was voted a great success—especially the presentation of the prizes, which took place at the club house after the races, before an invited audience. President George T. Laing welcomed the guests, and Captain Wm. D. Supplee made the presentation speeches in his usual happy vein.

Howard Pyle, of Wilmington, having challenged McDaniel to a 24-hour road race, the outcome of the matter is that Sporting Life now offers a valuable gold medal, on condition that the race is made a hundred-mile road race. Preliminaries have all been arranged, and the race will be run on Election day, Nov. 6th, starting from General Wayne Hotel, on Montgomery avenue, at 11 o'clock A. M., over a course on Montgomery avenue from city line to Ardmore, returned to city line via Lancaster pike. This course is a triangular one, and has the great advantage of only two checkers being required, as it is impossible to pass them without riding over the entire course. It is rolling in character, over fine Telford roads without any steep hills, and it is hoped that record may go. Entries are open to all amateurs, and any style wheel, and already Dampman, Merrihew and McDaniel—three of the winners of the Buffalo 100-mile—are entered. Entries close with Sporting Life, Philadelphia, at noon, Nov. 3d. Fee, 50 cents.

Pyle will make an attempt on the 24-hour record, having been trained by Daniels, the Springfield Roadster trainer. He started last Friday afternoon, but was stopped by rain after completing 58 miles.

The road race between Wilmington and Reading takes place on Nov. 3d. The Reading team would not agree to a neutral course, as should have been done, but have insisted on the road from Myerstown to Reading, a distance of about twenty-one miles. The Wilmington men wanted the Lancaster pike selected, as being a fine course, and fair to both parties, while the race here would have attracted much attention. Who will go to see it where it now comes off? The road is a poor one, being very hilly and stony. The hills are especially rough and stony, and a crank wheel cannot be safely ridden down them at speed. The general impression here is that it was selected on precisely that very account, so as to give the Star wheels every possible advantage. If Wilmington should win it will be so much more to their credit, while the Reading team, under the circumstances, will not be able to claim the credit they could otherwise have done, if they carry off the prize. "ARIEL."

Philadelphia, Oct. 22, 1888.

THE KODAK.

This week we print an advertisement from the Eastman Dry Plate Co., of Rochester, which brings to the attention of riders one of the most perfect and compact photographic apparatus ever invented. No heavy glass plate to break or carry, and one hundred pictures can be made before the films have to be replenished. We have always held that cycling and photography should be more generally practiced in common, but the cumbersome camera and glass plates, made the combination difficult.

The invention of the wonderful little Kodak has made photography easy for the cyclist, and we expect the Eastman Co. will reap a large reward for producing a camera and outfit that makes the carry of same about as easy as a well filled pocket book.

FROM UNION CITY, TENN.

THINKING probably a few notes from this remote corner of the State might interest some of our brother wheelmen of old Tennessee, I ask you to bear with me while I relate my pleasant and successful trip to the Gibson County fair last Saturday, Oct. 13. This was the first appearance of a bicycle on the programme, and is a special premium, although the fair has been held every year for a number of years. All acknowledge that no feature in the programme created so much interest and enthusiasm. The directors were highly pleased, and say that they will give bicycling a large space in the programme of their fair next year.

Four special prizes were offered for first and second places in the two contests. First—For graceful riding, your humble servant winning first (silver table ware); second, same prize, won by Frank Watts. Second contest—Half mile speed, Frank Watts, first; myself, second; S. H. Davidson, third. Our exhibition was inside of the Amphitheatre, and ten of the prettiest ladies in the State were the judges, and they were so kind and generous that they wanted to tie blue ribbon on all of us. Suffice to say, this was a "gala" day for us poor knights of the wheel. After the races were over, through the kindness of the Association manager, we were introduced to a number of Gibson County's fairest beauties. We possessing the courage of a cyclist did not lower the cyclist's reputation, although many side glances and remarks were over seen and heard, criticising on our shape, especially Frank's calves.

I am trying to push the L. A. W. work in this immediate vicinity, but with little success. However, I have some promises, under the leadership of our genial, enterprising Chief Consul, Mr. J. R. Wilson, Jr. We look forward with bright anticipations to a greatly increased number of new L. A. W. members in this State the coming year.

A TANDEM TOUR IN NORWAY.

By S. Golder.

ILIFFE & SON, LONDON.

ONE of the most interesting little books of travel is that written by Mr. S. Golder, who, in company with Mr. H. J. Leake, made the trip through Norway on a Marlboro' tandem.

The story has appeared in serial form in Bicycling News, and it is now produced in book form together with the excellent illustrations by Mr. Geo. Moore.

The trip only took about eight or ten days, but there is much that is interesting and amusing that occurred during that period. The cost of traveling in Norway cannot be heavy, as the average cost per day is put down by Mr. Golder as being about $1.75, and this he says is a high estimate. In conclusion the author says: "I have cycled pretty considerably in England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, France, Holland and Belgium, and can safely say that for comfort and cheapness Norway is par excellence the place for a pleasant holiday. The invariable politeness of the people, the quaintness of their customs and the grandeur of the scenery blend together, as time goes on, into those pleasurable recollections which are more lasting than the comforts of the moment."

The price of book in this country is fifty cents, post paid, and the BICYCLING WORLD Co. are the United States agents for its sale.

THE ART OF TRAINING FOR CYCLE RACING.

Geo. L. Hillier & T. H. S. Walker.

(Bicycling World Co. United States Agent.)

SINCE Cortis' great book on training there has been no attempt to publish a book on this most important branch of the sport.

The authors of the volume under review are both more than merely competent to speak by the card. In fact we doubt if there is a man in England who has made a closer study of the art of training than Mr. Hillier.

Mr. Walker is the President of the Berlin Racing Association, and is a gentleman who has achieved fame on the racing path as well as his co-author, Mr. Hillier.

The book is the product of vast experience and good common sense, and will prove an invaluable hand-book for the novice or the veteran alike. In treatment the subject has been handled exhaustively; the care and selection of the wheel and parts of same, clothing, foot gear, road racing as well as path, food, how to ride and win a race, and a few hints to trainers.

The book is printed in English, French and German, all under one cover, and it is handsomely bound in cloth.

The BICYCLING WORLD Co. has been appointed exclusive agent for the United States, and all orders booked now will be filled from a shipment expected in a couple of weeks. Price $1.50, post paid. All orders address to BICYCLING WORLD Co., 12 Pearl St., Boston.

AROUND THE WORLD ON A BICYCLE—VOL. II.

FROM TEHERAN TO YOKOHAMA—BY T. STEVENS.

Charles Scribner's Sons, New York.

WHEN we laid down the first volume of Mr. Stevens' unique history of travel, it was with feelings of regret that we could not at once take up the second volume and continue the pleasure of reading one of the, if not the, most remarkable accounts of travel ever accomplished by man. The first volume closes with Mr. Stevens comfortably quartered at Teheran, waiting for the rigors of winter to pass and allow him to continue his journeyings.

The present volume under review commences with a description of his winter life at the home of the Padishah.

In March, 1886, Mr. Stevens bids farewell to his friends and in the face of universal discouragement at their hands started out to cover the country lying between the Persian capital and India.

Turkestan and Afghanistan, the most dangerous countries in the world, had to be traversed, but notwithstanding the prophecies that certain death would ensue if he attempted to pass through Afghanistan the intrepid Anglo-American determined on pushing through.

Before leaving Teheran, the Russian Minister assured Mr. Stevens that his government would permit and aid him to pass through Turkestan, but on reaching Meshid, 600 miles on his way, he was advised officially that the Russian government would not permit him to pass through that country. At the same place and at the same time he received official warning from the British Commissioners not to cross the Afghan frontier. There are few men in this world but that would have at once given up and gone back, but Stevens was made of different stuff, and notwithstanding "refusals" and "warnings" he pushed on, determined to make the attempt at all hazards. After repeated efforts and many miles of weary traveling south along the Afghan frontier, he managed to penetrate into that country unmolested, until reaching Furrah he was placed under arrest. He was treated kindly and urged to turn back; this he refused to do, and so he was escorted to Herat. At this place he was shown the utmost kindness, but as to his ultimate disposition he was ignorant until the Boundary Commission, 200 miles away, had been heard from. At last it came, and the depressing verdict was that he must turn back and find his way to India by some other route. Under guard Mr. Stevens was taken back to the frontier and sent back on his way. This part of the narrative is of the most interesting character.

The 2400 miles back to Constantinople was considerable of a job in itself but it had to be done, and so Stevens-like he accepted the inevitable and got there as quick as he could. From Constantinople he went to India via steamer and rail.

His story of the trip through India is full of interest, as also is his narrative of the "warm" reception he received at the hands of the Celestials while cycling through the flowery kingdom.

This volume contains much that did not appear in the story published in serial form in Outing. The addition of a very interesting table of the itinerary is a valuable addition to the book.

The book is well illustrated, and the only feature that we can criticize is the oversight in not giving a series of maps showing route, etc. We speak by the card when we say that Mr. Stevens' book should be placed on the shelf of every library in the land. As a narrative of travel it is invaluable, and as a monument of human pluck it is remarkable.

"GOOD FOR THE ADAMS EXPRESS CO.," AND ALSO ABOUT LADIES' BICYCLES.

Editor Bicycling World: In July of this year I shipped by Adams' Express from Philadelphia to Washington, D. C., my Humber tandem tricycle, uncrated, leaving it myself at the express office.

I chanced to go down to Washington in the same train with it, and in passing the baggage car noticed the machine within and remarked to my wife that our treasure was all right so far, for it sat in full view and we could both see that it was uninjured.

On our arrival, however, these cheerful anticipations were turned to considerable sadness, for when the machine was delivered to me a wheel was badly buckled, the forward handle-bar bent almost into the seat, the bell smashed, and a stout rubber band, used by me as a brake spring, had mysteriously disappeared—I say mysteriously for the rear handles are cross bars, and the strap could only be put on with difficulty. However, it was gone and so was our peace of mind for that day.

I took it to Mr. H. S. Owens, who very obligingly repaired the damage without delay. So far well enough, but I felt sure that the breakage was not accident; I believed it to be the result of gross carelessness and indifference on the part of some one in the car.

I knew that I had shipped it "at owner's risk," but I rather took that phrase, rightly comprehended, to mean the protection of the company from unavoidable accident than the imposition upon the shipper of injuries caused by reckless or incompetent employees of the company. I did not feel that I had, or wished to make, any claim against the company for money value of the hurt they had inflicted upon my machine, but I thought that to protect other cyclists the man ("wretch," my wife calls him) who had wantonly mashed my tricycle should be hunted up and reprimanded. I thought that thus some check might be put upon similar misadventures.

With these ideas I made a written complaint of my wrongs to the Philadelphia Express Agent and as a result, received the amount of my bill for repairs and the cost of the bell!

This of course did not restore my machine unbroken, but it forms a precedent, and I want my brothers of the League to know it. I did not ask for nor expect money, and it was a spontaneous offering to the Goddess of Justice, from a great corporation to an humble individual. Good for the Adams Express Company! say I.

Apologies for this jaunt to Washington; it's object was to and to have her taught to ride the same. I bought a "Salvo" from Mr. H. S. Owen, and my wife mastered it the first week; the second week she took trips to Cabin Johns, the Great Falls, and other places, and felt in good form for a trip to Dingman's Ferry and thereabout, which we proposed taking immediately upon our return to Philadelphia. This, unfortunately, we were unable to do, but at least I had the satisfaction of introducing these beautiful machines to the Philadelphia Bicycle Club, of which my wife and I are members and to Philadelphia. I hope soon to see the graceful affairs flying about everywhere. My wife's "Salvo," "Ye Jim," weighs forty-four pounds, and is a perfect little beauty, with a finish like a jewel. It is geared to fifty inches, and it "pushes" my "Veloce" up hills when my wife and I are out together.

If the ladies could but realize the superiority of grace, lightness, speed and ease of a woman's bicycle above a tricycle the three wheels would have to go and go at once. A pretty woman in a trig habit, darting along on a bicycle, looks like some graceful bird skimming along the earth. No knee movement, no bending of the shoulders, no walking up hill, no lagging behind the swiftest husband or brother. My wife often says, when we pass a lady on a tricycle, "ah, if that girl only knew."

However, I know I must not write a book about it, even though I am a decided enthusiast upon my subject. L. A. W. 968.

TRADE NOTES, CLIPPINGS, AND ALL SORTS.

THE Gormully & Jeffery Mfg. Co. are the largest manufacturers of leather sundries in the trade. They make four saddles, seven tool bags, besides numerous other articles such as bells, etc.

Mr. J. P. HALL, of Albany, Oregon, has enjoyed a 400-mile trip through Southern Oregon, to Coos Bay and return. He crossed the Coast Range Mountains twice, and travelled 150 miles over a rough mountain trail, over which no bicycle had ever passed. The machine ridden was a Columbia Light Roadster.

R. F. PAINTER, of Greenfield, is a cyclist who carries his 45 years with as great ease as though he were only 25. He lately came to Boston to try our roads and of course he had to visit Corey Hill. After surveying the eminence he came to the conclusion that he would "have a go" at the back part, the part that has not very often been ridden. In the presence of a goodly company he started and succeeded in climbing it, although the surface was in horrible condition. His mount was his ordinary Springfield Roadster.

ONE of the "triggist" children's tricycles is that just put on the market by the Overman Wheel Co. It has tangent spokes, and has an air of beauty and high-tonedness, marvelous when we consider this beautiful little machine can be bought for $25.

THE bicycle thief is abroad, why not buy one of those locks and chains made by the American Railway Equipment Co., 45 Broadway, New York. They are just the thing to head off the festive and expert cycle thief.

THE Ironmonger, a trade journal of high standing, has lately published some very interesting articles on the American cycle trade. The first article was on the productions of Messrs. Gormully & Jeffery, and the last one on the Pope Mfg. Co. The Cyclist reproduces both articles.

We had the pleasure of trying one of the new Singer safeties the other day, and we can bear witness to the excellence of its running qualities. We soon mastered the steering so that we could run it without hands. Although the machine was geared up to 57, we found no difficulty at all in driving it up good stiff hills.

THE London Standard has an account of the start of ten cycling tourists from the Normal College for the Blind, at Norwood. A four and an eight in hand were used, the steering done by men with perfect eyesight, the rest being stone blind. There is a world of pathos in the mere thought of these poor blind men traveling through scenes of beauty and not able to enjoy same.

THROUGH the courtesy of Mr. Ross, the American manager of the Singer Co., Miss Pauline Hall was given the use of that firm's "latest" in the form of a lady's bicycle. It is the only one in the country at present, though a large invoice has been ordered ready for next season's trade. Miss Hall was unqualified in her praise of this splendid little machine, and was especially pleased with the speed she could get out of it, as well as the great ease in steering.

THE Harvard Bicycle Club has challenged the Technology Club to a team road race, giving them the choice of course, distance and number of men to compete, the race to come off about Nov. 11th. If the Tech should accept an interesting race should result, as both clubs have a number of good men, though Harvard's riders train almost entirely on the track.

A SMALL expenditure in advertising in a judicious selection of newspapers is often contemplated by persons who have not a clear idea as to what publications should be taken or the cost; they consequently find a difficulty in carrying out the plan without having the cost exceed the amount contemplated. Such persons do well to send the copy of the advertisement and a check for the amount of money to be used to Geo. P. Rowell & Co.'s Newspaper Advertising Bureau, 10 Spruce street, New York, and leave the selection of papers and the number of insertions in each to be determined by their experience and judgment. In that way the advertiser gets the best service possible for the money he expends, and the work is promptly done—no time being lost in correspondence.

LEAGUE HEADQUARTERS:
12 Pearl Street, - - - Room 27.
ABBOT BASSETT, Secretary.

MARYLAND has issued a small card folder for the pocket. It contains a list of hotels and rates, and also a list of consuls. This will be convenient for tourists. It is not enough to appoint a hotel and publish it in the BULLETIN. Every consul should be furnished with some such lists as this, that can be handed to tourists. The example of Maryland is a good one to follow.

STATE Divisions have the power to make such rules as they choose for their own government, but these rules must be consistent with the League Constitution. In several States the League Constitution was not carefully studied, and rules have been passed which vary from it in very important particulars. All such rules are null and void, and must be changed.

Kansas Division.

The third annual meet was held at Topeka, Oct. 4, 1888, in club rooms of Topeka Wheelmen. Meeting called to order, with Chief Consul W. C. Bradley in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Messrs. A. J. Henley as Chairman, E. R. Jewett, H. S. Hall, E. W. Bowles and W. Taylor as the Racing Committee, were elected by ballot.

The following were nominated and the Secretary allowed to cast the ballot, as the Touring Committee:
J. H. Everest, Lyons, 1st—Wakeny District.

O. A. Hughes, Larned, 2d—Larned District.
P. B. Pulsiter, Concordia, 3d—Concordia District.
C. S. Davis, Junction City, 4th—Junction City District.
E. A. Trussell, Leavenworth, 5th—Leavenworth District.

T. W. Metcalf, Olathe, 6th—Topeka District.
Lee Patrick, Ottawa, 7th—Ottawa District.
Harry Lesh, Wichita, 8th—Wichita District.
The Secretary-Treasurer read his report, and on motion was accepted.

A communication from the Ottawa Wheelmen, inviting the Kansas Division to hold its next meet at Ottawa was read. Chief Consul W. C. Bradley placed A. Jos. Henley in the chair while he spoke of the advantages of holding the next meet at Ottawa. On motion, that the Board of Officers be notified that it was the sense of this meeting that the next meet of the Kansas Division be held at Ottawa, was carried unanimously. Mr. W. E. Swift spoke in regard to an ordinance about to pass the City Council of Topeka, prohibiting cyclists from riding over a certain bridge, and to dismount on meeting a faction horse. On motion, and carried, the Secretary was instructed to write to the Rights and Privileges Committee in regard to this, and ask their assistance if necessary. On motion, and carried, the annual dues to be $1, or same as last year. On motion, and carried, that the Division have an annual tour, and the Touring Committee to work on the same at once.

On motion, and carried, a vote of thanks was tendered to Topeka Wheelmen for their hospitality, use of rooms, etc. Adjourned.

OTTO H. WULFEKUEHLER,
Sec. Treas. Kansas Div. L. A. W.

NOTES. After the meet the Board of Officers had a meeting and decided that the annual meet of Kansas Division for 1889 be held in Ottawa. Time not stated. Kansas Division has now 150 members and $95.75 in the treasury.

Rhode Island.

The Committees of the Rhode Island Division for the coming year will be as follows:

Finance—Chas. S. Davol, Warren; Nelson H. Gibbs, Providence; Geo. C. Newell, Pawtucket.
Rights and Privileges—Jos. C. Ely, Providence, Chairman; Geo. L. Cooke, Providence; Dr. J. H. Morgan, Westerly.

Touring—Geo. L. Cooke, Providence, Chairman; Chas. H. Howland, Providence; Jas. L. Spiers, Providence.

Rules—O. M. Mitchell, Providence, Chairman; H. L. Dyer, Newport; Arthur Knight, E. Greenwich. The appointment of the Racing Committee will be deferred. Fraternally yours,
CHAS. S. DAVOL, Chief Consul,

New York Division Constitution.

The New York State Division L. A. W. is hereby reorganized under Sect. 2 Article 2 of the Constitution of the League of American Wheelmen, said Constitution being adopted as the Constitution of this Division.

By-Laws.

ARTICLE 1.

Sect. 1. The membership in this Division shall consist of wheelmen resident within the State and eligible under article 3 of the Constitution.

Sect. 2. The annual dues shall be the sum of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per member payable to the Secretary of the League on or before the first day of May in each year.

Sect. 3. The officers of the Division shall be Chief Consul, a Vice Consul, a Secretary-Treasurer and Representatives as provided for in article 4, section 2 of the Constitution.

Sect. 4. The above officers shall hold offices for the term of one year, or until their successors are chosen, and shall constitute the Board of Officers of the New York State Division of whom eleven personally present shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

ARTICLE 2.

Sect. 1. Two meetings of the Board of Officers shall be held in each year, the annual meeting in the month of September, and the semi-annual meeting in the month of February, the time and place for holding said meetings to be selected by the Executive Committee, thirty days notice thereof to be given through the official organ.

Sect. 2. Special meetings may be called by the Executive Committee. Upon the written request of not less than fifteen members from at least three election districts, the Chief Consul, shall call special meetings.

Sect. 3. There shall be an annual meeting of the Division in the month of September at the time and place for holding the annual meeting of the Board of Officers; notice of said meeting to be given through the official organ at least thirty days prior thereto.

Sect. 4. At regular meetings of the Board of Officers the order of business shall be as follows:

1. Calling Roll. Reading minutes of the last meeting.
2. Report of the Chief Consul.
3. Report of the Secretary-Treasurer.
4. Report of Standing and Special Committees.

5. Communications from the National Assembly.
6. Election of Delegates to the National Assembly.
7. Unfinished, new and miscellaneous business.
8. Adjournment.

Sect. 5. At special meetings of the Board, no business shall be transacted except the such as is specified on the call.

Sect. 6. At meetings of the Division, business of general interest to the organization may be transacted.

ARTICLE 3.

Sect. 1. It shall be the duty of the Chief Consul to preside at all meetings of the Board of Officers and of the Division; appoint all committees not otherwise specially provided for; fill all vacancies, caused by death, resignation or removal in the Board or its committees, except in the case of Representatives from League Clubs (such vacancies shall be filled by an election in the club where the vacancy exists) shall appoint Consuls and League Hotels, as in his judgment shall be for the interest of the Division, and wheeling generally; shall report to the Board of Officers at its annual and semi-annual meetings, fully all the work done by him, together with such suggestions and recommendations for the future, as he may deem of interest to the Division. He shall be allowed such sums annually for the expense of his office, as shall be fixed by the Board of Officers at its annual meeting.

Sect. 2. In the absence of the Chief Consul, the Vice Consul shall preside at all meetings and perform all duties appertaining to the office of Chief Consul, and in the event of the Chief Consul's death, removal or resignation, shall succeed to his office until the next ensuing annual election.

Sect. 3. The Secretary-Treasurer shall, at all times, have a complete alphabetical and geographical roll of the Division Membership, arranged in Districts as hereinafter specified; he shall record the proceedings at all meetings of the Board and the Division, shall receive and disburse all monies; and shall receive and in the presence of the Committee on Rights and Privileges open and canvass all the mail votes and certify the result thereof to the Chief Consul within five days thereafter and shall cause the same to be published in the official organ, and generally perform such duties as appertain to his office. A bond shall be required in the sum of three thousand dollars ($3000.00) for the faithful performance of his duties, and he shall pay out no monies except upon the order of the Executive Committee. He shall be allowed such sums annually for the expenses of his office as shall be fixed by the Board of Officers at its annual meeting.

Sect. 4. It shall be the duty of Representatives to attend punctually all meetings of the Board of Officers, and of the Division; ascertain and promote the interest of the Division in the districts they represent, and assist the Chief Consul in carrying on the work of the organization in such ways as he may direct.

ARTICLE 4.

Sect. 1. Any wheeling club in this State which shall have in its By-Laws a provision requiring every active member to be a member of the Division, the annual dues being paid by the club, shall be a League Club, and entitled to all the privileges accorded League Clubs under the Constitution.

Sect. 2. Any League Club failing to renew its membership on or by the first day of July in each year, shall cease to be a League Club and its Representatives in this Board shall thereupon cease and determine.

Sect. 3. Representatives from League Clubs ceasing to be members of the clubs from which they were elected, shall thereupon cease to be officers in this Board.

ARTICLE 5.

Sect. 1. For the purpose of electing general Representatives, the Division shall be divided into districts as follows:

First District—New York, Richmond and Westchester Counties.

Second District—Kings, Queens and Suffolk Counties.

Third District—Columbia, Greene, Rensselaer, Albany, Saratoga, Washington, Warren, Hamilton, Essex, Franklin and Clinton Counties.

Fourth District—Wayne, Oswego, Cayuga, Jefferson, St. Lawrence, Lewis, Herkimer, Oneida, Madison, Onondaga, Seneca, Yates, Ontario, Steuben and Schuyler Counties.

Fifth District—Chemung, Broome, Chenango, Otsego, Delaware, Sullivan, Ulster, Dutchess, Orange, Putnam and Rockland Counties.

Sixth District—Niagara, Orleans, Genesee, Wyoming, Erie, Livingston, Cattaraugus, Chautauque and Monroe Counties.

Sect. 2. Each district shall be entitled to one Representative for each one hundred members of the Division residing therein, on the first day of July in each year.

Sect. 3. At its semi-annual meeting the Board shall appoint a committee of three, whose duty shall be to nominate suitable candidates for Chief Consul, Vice Consul and Secretary-Treasurer, and to report the same to the Secretary-Treasurer on or before the first day of June; the Secretary-Treasurer shall cause the same to be published in the Official Organ on or before the first day of July.

Sect. 4. On or before the first day of June, in each year the Chief Consul shall appoint a committee of three in each election district, whose duty shall be to recommend suitable nominations for general Representatives from their respective districts: such nominations to be sent to the Secretary-Treasurer of the Division on or before the first day of July. In event of the failure on the part of these committees to perform this duty, the Chief Consul and Secretary-Treasurer shall nominate. All nominations to be published in the Official Organ, on or before July 1st.

Sect. 5. The Secretary-Treasurer shall prepare and distribute to the Division on or before the 20th day of July, a blank ballot containing the names of the officers to be filled and the number of General Representatives to which the district is entitled.

Sect. 6. All ballots shall be signed by the member voting and returned to the Secretary-Treasurer of the Division, on or before the 15th of August.

ARTICLE 6.

Sect. 1. There shall be the following standing committees consisting of three members each:

1. Executive and Finance, to consist of the Chief Consul, Vice Consul and one member to be elected by the Board from the Division membership.
2. Rights and Privileges.
3. Rules and Regulations.
4. Improvement in the Highways.

Sect. 2. Chairmen of the Standing Committees if not members of the Board when chosen shall be members of that body during term of office.

Sect. 3. The Executive Committee shall have power to expend such sum as may be necessary in the management and conduct of the affairs of the Division but no unusual or extraordinary expense or obligation shall be incurred without the consent of the Board of Officers.

Sect. 4. The duties of the Standing Committees shall be as defined in the By-Laws of the National Association.

ARTICLE 7.

Sect. 1. Any officer of the Division may be removed from office for malfeasance or dereliction of duty, by a two thirds vote of the members present at any meeting of the Board of Officers, provided that written notice of charges shall have been served on him at least fifteen days prior thereto and that he be given an opportunity to be heard. All charges shall be preferred to the Executive Committee which may suspend the Officer so charged pending the investigation.

ARTICLE 8.

Sect. 1. These By-Laws may be amended by the Board of Officers at any regular meeting by a two thirds vote of the members present, provided that two weeks notice of such amendments shall have been given through the Official Organ.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The following is a list of applications for membership received up to date, and published in accordance with Article III. of the Constitution, which is as follows:

"Any amateur wheelman, in good standing, eighteen years of age or over, shall, with the indorsement of two League members in good standing, or of three reputable citizens of the United States or Canada, be eligible to membership in this League upon payment of an initiation fee of one dollar, and such dues for the year as may be provided for in the By-Laws. Upon the approval of the Board of Officers, or a committee thereof, two weeks after the publication of the name in a list of candidates in the official organ of the League, the applicant shall become a member."

Tickets will be issued seventeen days after the publication of names.

Candidates will please notice if their names and addresses are correct.

Members are requested to examine carefully these lists as they are published, and to report errors and omissions to the Secretary. In order that no objectionable person may unite with the League, members are given the right to protest, but such protest must be received by the Secretary within two weeks from the date of publication, and contain specific charges so far as it is possible to make them. All such communications will be considered confidential.

The application list is closed at 10 A. M. on the Monday preceding day of publication. All applications received after that hour must go over to the list of the following week.

Up Eagle Rock Hill on a Bicycle.

One of the most astonishing feats ever yet accomplished on a bicycle was performed by Mr. John Schoefer, of the Brooklyn Bicycle Club. He rode an ordinary crank machine from foot to top of Eagle Rock Hill, near Orange, N. J. The hill is over a mile in length and has a continuous grade of about one foot in ten. Its surface is of macadam. Other bicyclists have succeeded in climbing the hill on "safties," but Mr. Schoefer is the first to succeed in the attempt on an ordinary bicycle. A very strong wind blowing directly down the hill made fast time impossible.

Mr. Schoefer's mount was an ordinary fifty-one inch Columbia Light Roadster, with a racing saddle placed very near the head.
